

EVERYTHING IS TOO EASY AFTER MAXING MY TALENTS

Chapter 2

Heaven-shattering Start

He looked at the introduction of the Gold talent, Infinite Deduction.

Li Yueming felt that he had peaked.

This was really a heifer taking a plane.

This is so awesome!

The talents in the simulation mark were divided into seven levels.

From low to high: Gray, White, Green, Blue, Purple, Red, and Gold.

But now...

It was only his first simulation, but his talent level was already maxed out.

If he could not get a C- score,

He might as well find a pillar and kill himself!

He took a deep breath.

He calmed himself down.

After a while, Li Yueming finally calmed down.

His consciousness had already left the main body of the real world and was in a hazy mess.

With just a thought, he could immediately enter the Reincarnation World.

However, there was no hurry.

He had to test the effect of the Gold talent first.

In his first reincarnation, the mark gave him additional information.

This was undoubtedly very precious information to Li Yueming. Through this information, he could activate his talent and deduce.

“Activate Infinite Deduction!”

[Deducing the information of the simulated Reincarnation World...]

[Information deduction complete...]

[Deducing the identity of the simulated Reincarnation World...]

[Identity deduction complete...]

[0 years old: You were born in a sewer with no resources. The conditions are extremely harsh. You are only 70% full every time you feed.]

[3 years old: Because there are no contraceptives, your parents gave birth to a sister for you on a dark and windy night. This made things worse for your already poor family.]

[5 years old: Because of the pressure, your father encountered danger when he was looking for food. Although he was lucky to survive, he lost an arm because of it. From then on, you started to starve every other day.]

[8 years old: Because of frequent hunger, your body is very weak, and your development is slower than other children.]

[10 years old: Looking at you, who is getting weaker by the day, after a night of arguing, my parents decided to sell your sister. That night, there was a little meat in the dinner that they had not seen for a long time.]

[12 years old: After selling your sister, the family’s situation improved slightly, but your disabled father and thin mother still can’t provide enough for you.]

[14 years old: You were seriously ill and your parents didn’t have money to treat you. You’re dead!]

He looked at the blood-red words “You’re dead” in his mind.

Li Yueming was speechless.

According to the deduction.

Under normal circumstances, he would have died of illness when he was fourteen.

If he did not change his fate, his score at the end of this simulation would definitely not be too high.

But now, he had the talent of Infinite Deduction.

In a sense, he had an extra cheat like a story compared to ordinary Reincarnators.

One had to know that

What was the greatest danger in the Reincarnation World?

Of course, it was the uncertainty of the future!

You would never know what kind of natural or man-made disaster you would face in the next second.

However, with the Gold talent of Infinite Deduction,

He could make the best choice based on the deduction results.

Moreover, deducing the story and script was only one of the ways to use the talent.

More ways of using it were still waiting for him to discover.

Now.

He had yet to officially enter the Reincarnation World.

He could already predict what would happen in the Reincarnation World a few years or even more than ten years later.

It could only be said that it was indeed a Gold-grade talent.

The effect was simply too powerful!

He changed the key information slightly.

Li Yueming activated his talent again to deduce.

He was looking for a way to change his fate.

The result was the same.

Basically, no one had successfully lived to adulthood.

They either starved to death or got killed by an unknown plague or flu.

Even the closest deduction to adulthood died a few days before because of a man-made disaster.

It seemed that it would be very difficult to change the deduction results of the simulation world without changing the known information.

Everything could only wait until it was officially born!

Thinking of this,

Li Yueming did not waste any more time.

With a thought, he skipped the development stage of the fetus and started the official reincarnation simulation!

Planet 3-024.

August 9, 4227, the year of the Cataclysm.

In a sewer under Fallout Shelter 0911.

There were five or six women in ragged clothes standing in the dilapidated wooden house.

At this moment, women were surrounding a pregnant woman lying on a wooden bed.

A long time had passed, but there was no movement in the delivery room.

Outside the simple delivery room, a middle-aged man in his thirties was sweating profusely from anxiety.

In this cataclysmic era where there was a lack of medicine,

Pregnant women giving birth were no different from walking through the gates of hell.

Moreover, because the living environment was very harsh, the survival rate of mother and child birth was very low.

It could be said that the longer the labor lasted, the more dangerous it was.

Still.

Clearly, this time.

God was on their side.

He waited for an unknown period of time.

Finally.

A baby's cry suddenly came from the room.

"Wa, wa, wa!"

The child's voice was very loud and clear. It sounded like a boy.

The man, who was already anxious, smiled.

Surrounded by a group of delivery women, a wrinkly baby boy was carried out.

Looking at the child in front of him, the man was at a loss for a long time.

It was as if he could not believe that this was his son.

What the f*ck...

Wasn't he too ugly?

At the same time.

The reincarnated Li Yueming also sized up his father curiously.

'Well...'

His clothes were torn and patched, and his face was unshaven.

He looked a little sloppy.

However, he remembered that this world was an apocalyptic wasteland.

Li Yueming was relieved.

The scene of father and son staring at each other was a little comical.

Fortunately, Li Yueming quickly looked away and began to wail.

He had no choice. He was hungry.

Only a crying child would be fed.

Surrounded by a group of women, Li Yueming was carried back to the delivery room again.

Taking this opportunity, Li Yueming met his mother in this life.

It was a woman with delicate features and a very thin body.

He laid on his mother's body and sucked hard on the milk.

After eating until he was 70% full, there was not a drop left in her mother's body.

Li Yueming felt very depressed.

Damn it.

What kind of heaven-shattering start was this?

Starving right from the start.

How was he going to live in the future?
