

Someone recognized him. This foreign old man was the real boss!

He was in charge of this place.

Everyone was dumbfounded and surprised. Why would he come here?

The elderly grey-haired man hurried in and made his way through the crowd to a guy. He bowed his head politely and said, "Young Master!"