

indignantly.

"I don't think I did anything wrong to her. She was the one who didn't know any better!" Brayden shook his head coldly.

Brayden told the others, "Do you want to die or live? Are you going to be dragged down by Karen? I don't want to! She's not even one of us. Who is she to me?"

He walked to Loomis's side and bowed his head politely. "Master!"