

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 544

Listening to Joe cursing endlessly on the other side of the phone, Xyla felt overjoyed. After she ended the call, she paced about elatedly. Suddenly, she noticed that Richard still looked extremely worried. Thus, she quickly comforted him by saying, “Richard, don’t worry! Uncle Joe is going to kick up a fuss soon. This time around, there will be no escape for Taylor!”

It was different this time. In the past, all the dirt on Taylor had been nothing but fabricated rumors. However, the information they had on him was the truth. It was enough to put Taylor in jail, let alone defame and bring down ‘Doctor Invincible’. Even so, Richard couldn’t help feeling extremely apprehensive as he studied the growing interest on the internet...

Michael had intended to cut off internet access in the house after Stanley left The Imperial to allow Sophia to rest for a few days while she concentrated on making more cured meat for New Year’s. Contrary to his expectations, Sophia walked out from the kitchen before Stanley left and bluntly asked Michael, “So, what do you plan to do?”

Looking at her expression, he knew that she had seen the news. He was worried that she might be suffering from shock caused by revisiting her past trauma. Thus, he subconsciously glanced at Nicholas. Nicholas could scan Sophia’s emotions in real-time and perform any immediate responses as required. As if understanding what he was thinking, Nicholas replied, “Mom is doing great! Rest assured, Dad! Mom is very strong!”

Even so, he still felt very anxious. “You don’t need to bother about this. I will handle it.”

However, Sophia knew that the other party didn't just want to destroy Michael's new movie—they wanted to drag her down too. "No. Let me handle things this time."

There was a strange light shining in her eyes, and she still had the same thought in her head, *Who the hell do you think you are, son of a b*tch?!*

As the news broke out, it elicited various responses from both the fan groups of the two washed-up male celebrities as well as the students studying at Bayside University.

In the past, the names 'Taylor Murray' and 'Sophia Edwards' were often associated together. For example, Taylor, who rarely made appearances at public social events, had made an appearance together with Sophia at the birthday party of the Harper Family's daughter. On another occasion, Taylor, who had been absent from the campus belle contest at Bayside University for many years, suddenly became a judge for the event and gave the previous campus belle, Natasha Mitchell, zero points. Back then, Sophia had been in the picture too—the two of them had collaborated on the program. Similarly, Taylor, who normally kept a low profile, had taken on a high-profile role by joining the International Esports Tournament. During the competition, the two of them had been working together again. Lastly, when the indecent photos of Sophia had been circulated all over the Internet, the first celebrity to stand up and speak for her had been Taylor. In recent years, Taylor Murray, who normally kept a low profile, had been making frequent appearances, especially in the last two years. Upon closer inspection, Sophia seemed to be present every time he appeared!

Unexpectedly, this couple with an age difference of more than ten years turned out to be husband and wife! Moreover, Sophia was the minor Taylor had spent 80,000 to buy and groom into his wife?! Taylor was suspected of being involved in the buying and selling of underage girls?!

After the news broke out, Xyla waited for 'Doctor Invincible' to be taken down from cinemas in advance to make room for her movie to increase its screening slots. Then, the box office earnings for her movie would have a comeback. The two leading actors of 'Doctor Invincible' had suffered from scandals. Furthermore, she had arranged for many people to raise complaints about the movie. Thus, she was certain that it would be removed from the cinemas early.

As winter and summer vacations were domestic film protection months, cinemas could only show domestic movies. 'Doctor Invincible' was considered foreign intellectual property, as it was produced by a foreign team. However, it had two Cethosian actors as the leading actors. Therefore, it had been classified as a domestic product and remained showing in cinemas during the domestic film protection months. Since the classification of the movie was inherently subtle, it would definitely be taken down early if something were to happen. By then, it will be the time for 'Legend of Fan Lihua' to shine!

Thus, she waited and waited. Two days after the scandals broke out, the ghostwriters had posted complaints by the thousands every day. Even so, 'Doctor Invincible' was not forcibly removed from the cinemas. Moreover, it continued to bring in revenue of approximately 200 million per day despite having been released nearly half a month ago! More shockingly, the ticket sales of the movie were boosted after the large-scale scandal had been revealed! Conversely, 'Legend of Fan Lihua' was doing poorly. Not only was the 500-million-dollar production suppressed by 'Doctor Invincible', but its box office earnings couldn't even compare to other newly-released domestic indie movies and cartoons!

No! That's impossible! The two leading actors of 'Doctor Invincible' have been defamed! So, why isn't it falling from grace?! Why are the ticket sales still so high?! The only things she did every single day were to monitor the box office earnings and endlessly criticize 'Doctor Invincible' and Taylor Murray—so much so that it left her disheveled and crazy. Then, she frantically called Joe. As soon as the call went through, she questioned, "Why haven't you sued Taylor Murray? Hurry up and sue him! He abducted your daughter!"

In response, Joe cursed at her, "You crazy motherf*cker! My son-in-law is an Academy Award for Best Actor winner as well as the largest shareholder of Asco International! How could I possibly sue him?! You're insane!" After that, he hung up viciously.

*Xyla, the stupid b*tch!* Although Joe had indeed had the impulse to cause trouble for Taylor, Taylor had unexpectedly called him up instead. At the time, he had fallen to the ground suddenly and nearly knelt before Taylor! *F*ck! With such a powerful son-in-law, I'd be crazy to try and sue him!*

After being hung up on by Joe, Xyla froze in shock. Then, she quickly called Faye. The moment Faye answered the phone, she coldly told her, “Xyla, stop struggling. That movie is doomed to fail. You better not interfere with me as I mingle in the entertainment circles. Now that Taylor Murray is my brother-in-law, I can get whatever I want and whatever I need in the entertainment circles—”

Before she could finish, Xyla lost control of her emotions suddenly. “You prick! A*shole! All of you are c*nts! The Edwards Family are all motherf*ckers! Don't forget who helped you out back then! If it wasn't for my family, you would have died—” “You're insane.” Without waiting for her to finish speaking, she hung up on her fiercely and blocked her number.

Inside the freezing Huff Residence, Xyla, who was all alone and helpless, cried in despair.

At the same time, Richard of the Harper Family was also monitoring the scandals related to ‘Doctor Invincible’. Despite spending a large sum of money to hype up the scandal, it turned out to be useless again... Aside from the ghostwriters who were being paid, the fans seemed to have a mediocre response toward the scandals. They seemed indifferent toward the scandals. Rather, they seemed to find it funny instead.

“Oh, my idol. He truly is the world's richest, highest-quality, and most eligible bachelor! Since he couldn't find a wife, he was reduced to spending 80,000 to buy himself a wife! This is very believable.”

“It's a harsh path that a washed-up male celebrity of the ‘three noes’—no endorsements, no variety shows, and no announcements—has to take to find a wife! He has already fallen so far that he has to make cured meat for a living! I'm begging you; please have mercy on him! It's very difficult for him to make cured meat at his age!"

"Shocking! He was once a world-famous Academy Award for Best Actor winner! After he lost his popularity, he couldn't get jobs nor find a wife! So, he had to spend 80,000 to buy an underage girl to become his wife!"
