

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 123

Chapter 123 Marissa chuckled in herself , thinking .

Kayla is definitely a good weapon .

Then , she looked up at Paisley , curious to see how Paisley would react to being accused of faking the bid .

Marissa thought .

Paisley , I dont believe you do have 33 million dollars .

If Paisley really has 33 million dollars , why would she live in such a place She had been to Paisleys house to pick up Grayson .

Paisley lived in a very ordinary neighborhood .

Kaylas words stirred up a storm .

People began to speculate .

She dares to fake a bid openly ! Impossible , right ? But that lady doesnt even have a proper seat .

Shes sitting with those poor kids ... At that moment , Diana , who had been silently observing , sailed and said in a neutral tone .

All guests who are allowed to enter the venue and participate in the bidding have gone through a financial verification process .

Ms.

Vanderbilt , you didnt know that ? Kayla froze , thinking .

I indeed knew nothing about that .

She had come with Marissa today , thinking they were just meeting Nion .

It wasnt until she arrived at the venue that she realized it was an auction , and Nions painting was one of the items up for bid .

But if I didnt know , did Marissa not know either ! Kayla thought , turning to look at Marissa Marisa gave an awkward smile and was actually irritated by Dianas interference .

I knew .

I just didnt expect Ms.

Sutton would have bidding qualifications .

I thought there was some misunderstanding Kayla , convinced by Marissas explanation , turned her focus back to competing with Paisley .

Paisley remained calm and kindly reminded her , Ms.

Vanderbilt , if you dont raise your bid , the painting will be mine .

Kayla started , quickly shouted , Forty million dollars .

Forty million Tifty million Fifty million No matter how much Kayla offered Paisley countered with five million more .

The auction hall had become so quiet that one could hear a pin drop , with only the voices of Paisley , Kayla , and the auctioneer filling the air .

The auctioneer was so excited that his voice was nearly giving out .

Kayla , too , was stunned .

She never imagined she would be driven into such a corner by Paisley .

Kayla had bid up to 55 million dollars .

Though she came from the Vanderbilt family , the funds she had at her disposal were limited .

She lived mostly on pocket money , and at most , she could expect some dividends at the end of the year .

At this point .

Kayla was feeling drained .

She looked at Marissa for help , thinking .

If I keep raising the bid , Ill definitely run out of money .

Then have to ask Dom for it .

Hopefully , Marisa will help me talk to him so I wont get scolded too badly Marissa , sensing Kaylas thoughts , realized she couldnt make any promises .

She and Dominick werent married , so she didnt have the right to ask him for money on Kaylas behalf .

Marissa began to regret bringing Kayla here .

Follow new episodes on the CrushnovelS.Com

She hadnt expected Kayla to be so impulsive , and she hadnt expected Paisley to have this kind of financial power .

Marissa looked at Paisley , her eyes filled with complex emotions .

Well , Ms.

Vanderbilt , are you raising the bid ? Paisleys tone remained light , as if 55 million dollars was nothing to her .

The auctioneer began the final call , Ms.

Sutton bids fifty million dollars .

Fifty million dollars once .

Fifty million dollars twice .

Fifty- ve ... Sixty million .

Kayla gritted her teeth and finally shouted the amount .

Then , she anxiously looked at Paisley .

This sixty million dollars was the maximum she could offer Oh my .

Sixty million dollars , the crowd gasped in shock .

No one had expected Nions painting to reach a price of sixty million dollars .