

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 152

Chapter 152 ne into the villa with Serena , Paisley had a peaceful time for a while .

Life was fairly comfortable , though Maria occasionally grumbled After moving about things During this period , Paisley often received calls and messages from Dominick and the Vanderbilt family .

She ignored them all .

Whenever she blocked one number , theyd use another to keep contacting her .

Eventually , she stopped bothering with it altogether .

Changing her number wasnt realistic either , as the hassle would outweigh the annoyance of their calls .

At the moment , Paisley had just picked up a birthday gift for Millie , one of Serenas kindergarten friends , and was strolling leisurely with Maria and Serena .

Paisley found it quite challenging to choose a birthday gift for a little girl .

After much deliberation , Serena ultimately decided on a pair of crystal shoes just like hers .

According to Serena .

No princess can resist a pair of crystal shoes .

While getting crystal shoes wasnt too hard , finding a pair identical to Serenas was more difficult Although there was a store for that brand at Harrowfell Mall , Serenas shoes were a limited edition global release , with only a few pairs available in the country

Paisley had to call in favors and ask the brands designer to ship a pair from overseas .

Luckily , they arrived just in time , the day before Millies birthday party .

Maria looked at the box holding the crystal shoes , confused .

Its just a pair of shoes .

Theyre crystal , not diamonds .

Why are they so expensive ? Indeed , they were pricey .

A single pair of these shoes cost as much as a years salary for an average worker .

Shoes like this didnt sell for their quality but for the brand .

Serena had fallen in love with these shoes at first sight and insisted on having them .

Aunt Marissa had no concept of money , and Paisley was a doting mother , so she bought them .

The three of them arrived at the jurking lot .

Maria went to the trunk to put things away while Paisley opened the car door and placed Serena in her car seat .

Just as she was about to buckle her in , her phone rang .

Flustered , she didnt check the caller ID and answered the call directly .

Paisley A familiar voice came through the receiver , and Paisley froze mid motion , her hand hand pausing as she buckled the seatbelt .

Follow new episodes on the CrushnovelS.Com

She was about to hang up p when the caller , seemingly predicting her move , quickly said , Dont hang up , please .

Maria noticed Paisleys unusual expression as she approached , so she took over buckling Serenas seatbelt .

You go take the call y .

What do yo you want ? Paisley held the phone and walked a few steps away .

20 Paisley , where have you gone ? Why did you disappear again ! Youre still in Harrowfell , arent you ? Dominicks voice was hoarse , clearly suppressing his emotions .

As if anticipating her response , he continued , Dont say this has nothing to do with me .

Your matters will always be my business .

Paisley took a deep breath and replied with forced patience .

Dominick , its over .

Everything between us ended four years ago That doesnt count Dominicks voice got louder .

That time , you lied to me ? Paisley frowned , How did I lie to you ? Did I lie to you to get you to sign the divorce papers ? Or did I lie to you to go to city hall and finalize the divorce ! i was all voluntary on your part , wasnt it ? She realized she couldnt maintain a civil conversation with Dominick for more than three sentences , There was silence on the other end of the line for a few seconds .

Just as Paisley was about to lose patience and hang up , Dominick spoke again .