

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 192

Chapter 192 Upon hearing the name Godard .

Paisleys brow twitched A man named Godard from Monterá , with a villa here and all those people outside Could Max be from the prestigious Godard family of Blearerat Seeing the confusion in Paisleys eyes , Max nodded .

Yes , Im from that Godard family Paisley nodded , but she didnt let her surprise show .

She had seen her fair share of people from powerful families .

While the Vanderbilt family didnt have the long history of the Godard family , they were still considered a top family .

The only difference was that during Dominicks generation , the family had fewer heirs .

As for the Godard family .

Paisley didnt know much about them .

She rarely interacted with people from Monterá , so her knowledge of the Godard family was limited .

Since youre from the Godard family of Monterá , what brings you to Harrowfell I Paisley casually asked .

After speaking , she realized she had asked too much .

Of course , if you dont want to share , thats ne .

I was just asking .

Max smiled warmly .

Theres nothing I cant say .

I came to Harrowfell to nd someone .

Hmm .

Paisley nodded , not pressing any further .

She wasnt really interested in who he was looking for .

She had only asked out of curiosity .

Seeing that Paisley didnt ask any further , Max decided to continue on his own , Tm looking for my sister .

Oh , Paisley responded , still not particularly interested .

Noticing that she didnt seem to care much , Max felt somewhat defeated .

He continued , Im not the biological child of the Godard family .

I was adopted by my father .

You were adopted too I Paisley was surprised Seeing that Paisley seemed a little more curious , Max continued , Yes , adopted .

The person Im looking for is my fathers biological daughter .

My father and mother met here in Harrowfell and secretly married , But later , due to some twists of fate , they separated .

After my father returned to Monterá , he lost his memory and forgot about my mother .

By the time he remembered , my mother had passed away , and their daughter was missing .

My father and I have traveled back and forth between Monterá and Harrowfell , searching .

But we havent found her .

Maxs face clouded with worry as he thought about his father .

Even though my father has forgotten about my mother , he never remarried and has always been alone .

When the elders of the Godard family pressured him to either marry or leave an heir , he decided to adopt me .

All these years , he has never given up on searching for my sister .

Its become his lifelong regret .

Paisley listened quietly as Max spoke about his adoptive father .

Inside , her emotions were anything but calm .

In comparison , their fathers were so discerns .

Maxs father , though he never even met his daughter , never gave up searching for her .

Meanwhile , Paisleys father had hurt her again and again , leaving her utterly scarred.

Not all men were terrible .

She had simply been unlucky , having only encountered the worst of them so far .

Max noticed a faint sorrow in Paisleys eyes and asked , Am I talking too much ? He found it amusing he wasnt usually a talkative person .

But Paisleys initial lack of interest in his words had provoked a determination in him to keep talking , saying more than he normally would Ultimately , though , these stories had little to do with her .

Paisley shook her head , offering a faint smile .

Not at all .

Im just happy for your sister .

Her father and brother never gave up on her .

Unlike herself she had always been the one left behind .

Taking a deep breath , Paisley stood and walked to the window , stretching her body , which felt exhausted after the acupuncture session .

In truth , she was merely trying to mask the growing sadness in her eyes After all , who wouldnt want to be someone so loved by her family I Max watched her gracefully by the window , as though her silhouette revealed the hidden sorrow in her heart .

His chest tightened unexpectedly .

Unconsciously , he placed his hand over his heart , surprised by the peculiar sensation .

Before long , Leo returned with the medicine.

Paisley removed Maxs acupuncture needles and gave him some instructions before preparing to leave .

As before , Max was able to walk normally immediately after the procedure .

He personally escorted Paisley to the villas entrance , ready to walk her out , but she stopped him .

Thats enough .

The rain hasnt stopped yet , and your leg just underwent treatment .

Its better for you to stay in and rest .

Max nodded obediently .

He was a patient who always followed his doctors advice .

Turning to Leo , h he said , Take Paisley home .

No need Paisley replied .

Its not far .

Without waiting for Leo to fetch an umbrella , she stepped into the rain and quickly ran toward her house .

Max stood there , staring blankly at her gure disappearing into the rain .

Beautiful , isnt she ? Leos teasing voice came from behind him .

Max snapped out of it and turned to glare coldly at Leo .

Leo quickly covered his mouth , muttering , Yeah , I know , I talk too much .

The rain poured all night and only stopped by the following morning .

Dragging ber tired body , Emery arrived at her shop .

The moment she stepped inside , she noticed something was off with her staff .

Whats going Before anyone could answer , her eyes fell on the unexpected visitor seated in the center of her shop .

Dominick ! You scumbag ! Who invited you here ? Emerys reaction was immediate and erce , like a wildcat ready to ght .