

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 231

Chapter 231 Diana reached the door , standing with an air of authority by the ornate door , making her seem especially majestic .

Christina froze for a moment upon seeing Diana .

She hadn't seen this lady the last time she came .

Just as she was about to wonder who she was , the elegant lady spoke up .

Whats going on ? Why all the shouting ? The security guard quickly explained , Mrs.

Beaumont , this lady claims to be a member of the club , but her name isn't on the list .

Diana furrowed her brows , clearly displeased .

Christina felt panicked .

She had just heard the guard address the woman as Mrs.

Beaumont .

That must be the lady from the Beaumont family , right ? Was she doomed now ? Would she never get in ? Not on the list ! Just add them .

problem solved , she said .

The security guard froze for a moment , confirming he hadn't misheard and quickly nodded .

Christina was also stunned .

She looked uncertainly at Diana , only to see her walking over with a warm smile .

You are- Christina hurriedly responded , Christina Sullivan .

Her answer was not so confident .

She knew all too well that with the Sullivan family's influence and status in Harrowfell , she didn't stand a chance of mingling with the members of this exclusive women's circle .

The last time , she had begged the wife of a business partner , giving gifts and hosting dinners for ages , just to get introduced to the group .

She had thought this club was a lifetime membership deal , just a casual social circle for wealthy women to chat and hang out . As long as she attended once , she assumed she'd be welcome to join any future gatherings .

Her plan was to bring Brittany along again this time .

If the women here casually shared some resources with Brittany , it could make her life much easier .

And if Brittany managed to catch the attention of a particular lady and got introduced to her son , she might even end up as a wealthy wife someday .

But unexpectedly , after that first time , Christina never received another invitation .

She only found out about this gathering when she saw a post from the lady who had introduced her on social media .

It turned out the club had been meeting regularly , but she had been left out .

By the time she refreshed her feed , that post was gone .

It was clear she had been blocked from seeing any future updates .

Suddenly , resentment , frustration , and all kinds of paranoid thoughts flooded Christina's mind .

Now that the Sullivan family no longer had Dominick's support , their influence had clearly waned .

Gregory was struggling to keep himself afloat , with one partner after another pulling out .

He obviously had no energy to care about Brittany .

This club was Christina's only remaining avenue to access connections and resources , so she had to get Brittany in today .

At this moment , Christina looked nervously at Diana , waiting for her next words .

Diana smiled and took Christina's hand .

Mrs.

Sullivan , please , come in .

Christina was both surprised and astounded as she followed Diana inside .

Behind her , Brittany suddenly called out , Mom ! Only then did Christina remember Brittany .

She quickly stopped and excitedly waved her over .

Brittany , come here quickly Moments ago , Brittany had wanted nothing more than to distance herself from Christina , but now , hearing her call , she quickly ran over with little hurried steps .

Brittany smiled politely and greeted Diana .

Diana looked at Brittany with a pleasant expression , nodded , and said , Come Brittany , who had seen her fair share of the world , was still stunned as she followed Diana inside .

It felt like stepping into a magical garden , in stark contrast to the bleak , wintry landscape outside .
