

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 236

Chapter 236 With that logic , most of them concluded that the problem likely lay with Paisley herself .

Thinking this , the ladies began cautiously glancing at Lauren .

They all now knew that Paisley was Laurens former daughter- in law .

Lauren had originally felt dissatisfied with Christina , thinking it ridiculous that a mother could be so unconcerned about her own biological daughter .

But hearing her explanation now , she started to feel that it made some sense .

Lauren knew just how stubborn Paisley could be .

Otherwise , she wouldnt have insisted on divorce back then , walking away from her husband and son , leaving everything behind .

Looking back , even though Marissa had stirred the pot , Dominick hadnt cheated .

At most , he just neglected Paisley a bit more than he should have .

And about Grayson , Lauren had to admit , she had spoiled him too much back then .

she hadnt said good things about Paisley in front of Grayson , which led him to develop a poor opinion of her .

But still , he was her son .

Was it really necessary to be so resolute and just give up on him ? Grayson was just a kid .

He could still change if Paisley decided to teach him .

Now that Sonny was a bit older , he was much more sensible than when he was younger .

But Paisley just wouldnt change her mind .

Dominick was still hung up on Paisley , refusing to even look at other women .

Grayson constantly cried for his mom , asking for her .

And most importantly , Paisleys daughter was the granddaughter Lauren had always dreamed of having .

So no matter what , she had to win Paisley over .

At that moment , Lauren looked at Christina again and suddenly felt a sense of camaraderie .

She dropped her previous scrutinizing gaze and took Christinas hand .

It hasnt been easy for you either .

Seeing that things were turning in her favor , Christina immediately lowered her head and pretended to wipe away tears .

Diana didnt say anything , just sat there quietly watching the drama unfold .

From school days , she had said Lauren was stupid , but Lauren never admitted it .

If it werent for her strong family background , with her cockle personality , how could she have possibly married into the Vanderbilt family ? Brittany also secretly breathed a sigh of relief , but inside , she hated Paisley to the core .

Damn Paisley , if it werent for you , I wouldnt have to publicly admit that Im adopted .

The word adopted had always been a sore spot for Brittany .

But now , in order to avoid arousing suspicion from the other ladies , she had no choice but to say it .

After the previous lesson , Christina didnt dare to recommend Brittany too aggressively .

She could only let Brittany go sit with the other young ladies .

If she found a few young ladies she could get along with , making friends could still be useful for networking .

Brittany naturally understood Christinas intent , so she smiled and walked over to join other young ladies .

The ladies present were all daughters or daughters in law of top families .

Brittany had nothing but the status of Paisleys younger sister , The Sullivan family was nothing compared to these top tier families .

In front of them , they were barely a watchdog .

In this environment , Brittany could only lower her status and cater others deliberately .

Every word she spoke was aimed at pleasing the others .

However , this lowly attitude didnt win her any favor from the other young ladies .

Instead , it only invited ridicule .

Could you stop pretending to be so innocent ? Its so fake , its disgusting , said Daisy Levine , whose mother had recently been subtly humiliated by Christina in front of everyone .

Seeing Brittany now , Daisy was in no mood to be nice .
