

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 239

Chapter 239 When Lauren saw Diana and Paisley chatting so warmly, she immediately felt a sense of crisis.

She didnt care about anything else, rushing to Paisleys other side and affectionately linking arms with her.

Paisy, youre here.

Hows Rena? When can I go see her? Youve been working so hard lately, youve lost weight, and Im really worried about you.

Laurens face was full of smiles, and her gaze at Paisley was like looking at a precious little treasure.

The other ladies and young women were all stunned.

They had never seen this version of Lauren.

Laurence had never behaved so obsequiously toward Marissa.

Paisley got goosebumps from Laurences overly friendly tone.

She stiffly pulled her arm away from Laurences grasp and replied coldly and indifferently.

Rena and I are fine.

Theres no need for your concern.

Her actions and tone left no doubt about her attitude.

The others watching were shocked again by how confident and brave Paisley was in front of Laurence.

Diana smiled triumphantly at Laurence.

Seeing Laurences face turn as sour as if she had swallowed something bitter only made Diana feel more satisfied.

Diana, whats going on? Why did the police call me here? Paisley asked Diana nearby, still unaware of what had happened.

Seeing Paisleys cold demeanor toward her and her gentle attitude toward Diana, Laurence felt a pang of jealousy.

Her eyes glared at Diana with fury, as though she wanted to pierce her through.

Diana ignored Laurences anger and sighed at Paisley, Youll understand once you see Paisley followed Diana inside.

Upon seeing Paisley, Christina ran toward her as if she had seen a savior and pulled her in front of the two police officers.

Officers, my daughter is here.

Shell be able to mediate now, Christina said, not even sparing Paisley a glance, focusing solely on speaking to the officers.

Paisley glanced around and spotted Brittany with red, swollen eyes clearly from crying.

Across from her was a younger girl with a swollen cheek, obviously from being slapped.

The younger girls mother, likely a member of the same social circle, stood protectively beside her, glaring fiercely at Brittany and Christina.

However, her expression softened slightly when she saw Paisley.

From a quick look, Paisley could piece together most of what had happened.

Brittany must have lost her temper and slapped the young girl.

The girl and her mother refused to accept an apology and called the police.

Typically, the police wouldnt arrest anyone outright in such situations, starting instead with mediation.

But the other side was adamant, unwilling to mediate.

With no other choice, Christina had called Paisley for help.

One of the officers addressed Paisley.

Ms.

Sulli- Sutton, Paisley interrupted.

The officer paused, puzzled, glancing at Christina.

Why did the two daughters have different last names? He quickly moved on.

Ms.

Sutton, let me explain the situation.

The officer neutrally explained the sequence of events to Paisley.

Although Daisy had provoked Brittany verbally, it was a fact that Brittany had hit her.

1/2 20:34 Fri, 14 Feb Chapter 239 Considering Daisys swollen face and her ongoing complaints of ringing ears, it seemed the slap had been quite heavy.

If mediation failed, Brittany could face administrative detention or worse, legal consequences, depending on the severity of Daisys injuries. Donna and Daisy looked at Paisley with mixed emotions.

They werent blind and could clearly see how Laurence and Diana treated Paisley.

If Paisley decided to mediate, they would have no choice but to accept for fear of offending the Vanderbilt and Beaumont families.

But they felt bitterly unwilling.

Paisley, I hope you understand.

We only have this one precious daughter.

Shes been cherished since she was born.

We have never laid a finger on her, and now your sister has slapped her.

Its simply outrageous! If Paisley werent present, Donnas tone would have undoubtedly been much harsher.

Christina and Brittany also noticed Donnas shift in attitude.

Toward them, she had been stern and sharp.

But when facing Paisley, her tone turned into a pitiful complaint.

Brittany felt a mix of relief and increased jealousy and resentment toward Paisley.

Why was she always overshadowed by Paisley? Christina, however, dropped her previous apologetic attitude.

Standing tall, she acted like she had the advantage.

I told you we could mediate, but you insisted on calling the police.

Now Paisley is here, youre suddenly playing the victim.

Donna glared at Christina in fury but held back because of Paisley, her hands trembling in anger and her eyes reddened.

Paisley took it all in, her emotions stirring.

How nice it must be to have a mother who stood by you.

Officers, I think theres been a misunderstanding.

Im not here to mediate.

I just wanted to see what happened, Paisley said.

gently, her tone calm and her gaze soft.

However, there was a hint of complexity in her expression.

Paisley, what do you mean by that? Catching the undertone of Paisleys words, Christina immediately questioned her.

Ignoring Christina, Paisley continued addressing the officers.

This has nothing to do with me, so please proceed as you normally would.

The victims wishes should take precedence.

Donna and Daisy immediately looked at Paisley with gratitude.

Follow new episodes on the Crushnovels.Com

In contrast, Christina and Brittany werent so happy.