Chapter 249

Chapter 249 * .35 % 2 Gregory looked grim as he watched Julians people come to the house and take back all the items Dominick had previously He didnt care much about the expensive supplements .

But he truly felt heartbroken about the antique paintings and calligraphy Those were treasures he never even dared to dream about .

He hadnt had them for long yet , and they were already taken back .

But the problem was , he couldnt say anything , nor could he stop it .

This was something Dominick had given to the Sullivan family for free , so naturally , he could take it back .

It wasnt until everything had been moved out that Gregory nally mustered up the courage to approach the leader of the group and cautiously asked .

Excuse me , why did Dominick decide to take these things back ? He remembered that when they hosted Dominick , he had personally said that he and Christina had received these gifts because they were Paisleys parents .

Although some bad things had happened that day , Dominick hadnt taken the gifts back afterward .

Gregory had once thought that maybe Dominick had forgotten about it or just didnt care .

After all , he was the president of such a large corporation .

How could he possibly take back gifts he had given ? But since Dominick stopped caring for them , the Sullivan familys business had been getting worse by the day .

It seemed like all their partners had somehow gotten the word and were all starting to break their contracts .

As for the Jackman family , they had gone even further and openly declared that they were done dealing with them .

But from what he knew, the Jackman family hadnt benefited from this and had even been punished by Dominick .

Now , they were struggling to survive .

Of the few remaining partners , the most powerful one was the Levine family .

Originally , Gregory had thought about picking out a couple of the gifts Dominick gave him and sending them to the Levine family .

This would help curry favor with the Levine family and maintain their business relationship .

But the reality was cruel .

Dominick had sent people to take back those gifts .

The leader of the group scotted when he heard Gregorys question .

You still have the nerve to ask ? 1- Gregory was taken aback .

From the way he was speaking , something must have happened behind the scenes .

But he had been so busy with the companys problems recently that he hadnt had time to deal with anything else .

The only ones who could have angered Dominick were Christina and Brittany .

Soon , the leader of the group gured out what Gregory was thinking .

When your wife comes back , ask her .

Youll understand then .

After saying that , he didnt say anything else and left the Sullivan family .

Gregory was furious .

He paced back and forth , trying to call Christina , but couldnt get through .

He was so angry he was about to smash his phone when suddenly , he received a call .

Where the hell have you been ? he angrily asked , but as soon as he heard the voice on the other end , his face turned pale .

Mr.

Levine ! No , I didnt mean you .

What do you need from me ? Gregorys attitude was now extremely humble .

He held the phone and kept nodding and bowing as though Chris Levine .

were standing right in front of him .

Just a short while ago , he had walked proudly in front of Chris .

And Chris had been polite to him too .

But all that had been because of Dominicks support behind him .

Now , without Dominicks strong backing , and with all his other partners leaving , Gregory had no choice but to act like a servant to please Chris , the last remaining big partner .

However , things were beginning to spiral beyond his control .

Levine , please ! 35 % But Ces dit even give him the chance to nish his sentence and hung up the phone immediately .

Just like that , his last Gegory slumped down on the sofa .

He knew it was over .

Bankruptcy was just around the corner .

At that moment , he thought of Furey and urgently called her .

As expected , the call was rejected coldly .

Ungrateful dryer Gregory angrily threw his phone on the ground .

-Honey , whats going on ? When Christina came home , she noticed that the house had changed .

All the antique paintings and calligraphy were gone ..

You sell have the nerve to come back ? Gregory glared at Christina , his eyes full of malice .

At that moment , he wished he could tear her apart .
