

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 250

Chapter 250 Christina was scared by Gregory's expression .

She had never seen him like this before .

So cold , so terrifying His gaze was like looking at an enemy with a blood feud .

There was no trace of any affection between husband and wife left in his eyes .

This version of Gregory was even more terrifying than when he had thrown Brittany out last time .

I- Christina carefully stepped inside .

Whats going on ? No matter what had happened , she had to appease Gregory .

Today's situation with Brittany had gotten too out of hand .

She had tried every way she could , but nothing could calm the anger of the Levine family .

They were determined to hold Brittany accountable .

Follow new episodes on the Crushnovels5.Com

Right now , Brittany was still at the police station .

They said Daisy had a ruptured eardrum , but Christina didn't believe it .

It was just a slap .

There was no way it could be that serious .

But now that things had gotten this bad , Christina had no other choice .

Only Gregory could step in to resolve the situation .

Whats going on ? Gregory glared at Christina with a look that could kill .

I should be asking you ! What did you and Brittany do out there ? Dominick sent people over to take back everything he'd given us ! What ? Christina was utterly shocked .

No wonder all the antique paintings on display were gone .

Suddenly realizing something , she rushed to check the jewelry she'd hidden away .

Sure enough , everything was gone .

My jewelry ! Christina was on the verge of collapse .

Lately , she'd been relying on her private stash of money and selling off some of her jewelry to support Brittany .

Supporting Brittany hadn't required much , so she'd left the more expensive jewelry Dominick had given her untouched for the time being .

She had been planning to sell those jewels if Gregory ever refused to let Brittany back into the family .

The money could buy Brittany a big house .

But before she could even put that plan into action , this disaster had struck .

She knew that just having Gregory apologize wouldn't be enough to calm down the Levines .

A gift was definitely required .

She'd already resigned herself to part with one of the jewels Dominick had given her to make amends with Daisy .

But now , they were all gone .

Why did you return my jewelry ? Christina's turn to lose her temper , she screamed at Gregory hysterically .

Without the jewelry , how could she save Brittany ? Gregory lost it completely when Christina yelled at him .

In a fit of rage , he kicked her hard in the shoulder .

Christina cried out in pain , falling backward and hitting the back of her head on the floor .

The pain was excruciating , leaving her grimacing and unable to sit up for a long time .

She could only lie there , groaning .

You think I wanted to return them ? Its because of your stupidity ! Why on earth did you mess with Paisley again ? Why ? Gregory was seething .

The Sullivan family's only chance for a comeback was through Paisley .

Christina not only failed to help mend things with her but managed to cause trouble and make everything worse .

I already kicked Brittany out of the family .

I turned a blind eye to you supporting her all this time , but now she's using our family name to assault someone from the Levine family ! She even ruptured the girl's eardrum !

Don't tell me you didn't know about this ! I knew .

Christina was well aware of the situation and had come back to Gregory for this very reason .

Forgetting her pain , she scrambled to sit up , crawled to Gregory's feet , and clung to his leg , crying and begging .

1/1