

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 253

Chapter 253 35 +23 ) The next morning at 10 , Gregory and Christina arrived at a serene and picturesque estate per Dylans instructions .

This was Byrons retreat , a place so exclusive that even the Beaumont family members needed his permission to visit .

Gregory and Christina had never seen anything like this in their lives .

The most luxurious house theyd ever encountered was their current small villa , which they only managed to acquire thanks to Dominicks help .

But with the Sullivan familys business declining , even that villa might not last much longer .

Nervously following the servant who was leading the way , they couldnt help but marvel at the stunning scenery surrounding them .

The estate was breathtaking , with beautiful views at every turn , leaving them both dazzled .

Before long , they were brought to the entrance of a traditional and elegant building .

A short but sharp eyed man stood there , and upon seeing only Gregory and Christina , he frowned , Why are there only the two of you ? Where is Brittany ? Gregory felt a wave of frustration when he heard Brittanys name .

To ensure Brittany could meet Byron on time today , Gregory had swallowed his pride and begged the Levine family all night , hoping theyd agree to a reconciliation and release Brittany .

However , Christina , who had previously begged Gregory to help Brittany , suddenly urged him not to seek out the Levine family .

Gregory assumed Christina was acting strangely because she didnt want Brittany to return to the Beaumont family .

Ignoring Christinas objections , Gregory went to the Levine family that very night .

If Brittany was con rmed as part of the Beaumont family , Gregory believed that his relationship as her adoptive father would guarantee the Sullivan family a bright future under their protection .

But as expected , the Levine family shut the door in his face .

They refused to offer any apologies or settlements and insisted that Brittany face the consequences of her actions .

Despite Gregorys repeated pleas , the situation didnt improve .

With the Beaumont family connection still uncon rmed , Gregory didnt dare escalate the issue .

If Byron found Brittanys police station record disgraceful and refused to acknowledge her , it would be a total loss .

For now , Gregory had to endure and focus on passing the meeting with Byron .

Gregory offered a attering response .

Brittanys been feeling down lately and went on a trip .

I tried to get her back overnight , but something came up on her end , so she couldnt make it .

Thats why its just the two of us here .

Dylan listened to Gregorys somewhat reasonable explanation without commenting further .

Christina quickly chimed in , But weve brought adoption papers and Brittanys photos .

We can show them to Mr.

Beaumont rst .

Though clearly dissatisfied , Dylan accepted the situation and said , Fine .

Come with me .

The two of them nodded eagerly and followed Dylan down a long corridor before entering a break room .

Sitting in front of the central coffee table was an imposing elderly man , whose gaze carried an innate authority .

Just being looked at like that made Gregory tremble slightly .

Christina was even more visibly shaken her body trembling along with her nerves .

She kept her head lowered , not daring to meet Byrons piercing gaze , which seemed to see through everything .

So , you two are the adoptive parents of Brittany ? Byrons deep voice broke the silence .

Yes , thats us , Gregory nodded repeatedly .

Gregory broke into a cold sweat , terrified that Byron would blame them .

However , Byron simply nodded in understanding and even asked with concern , Why is she upset ? Gregory felt a bit stuck , unsure of how to respond .

After all , it was just an excuse he made up on the spot .

Christina , however , stammered out , Oh , its nothing serious .

Just some disagreement with her friends .

Byron nodded .

It wasnt uncommon for little girls to have small spats with their friends .

Let me see what youve brought , Byron said , getting straight to the point .

Gregory breathed a sigh of relief and quickly nudged Christina .

Christina took out the adoption documents and a recent photo of Brittany from her bag and handed them over .

Byron barely glanced at the documents , only con rming they were from the Angel Orphanage .

Then he picked up Brittanys photo and studied it carefully .

This is Brittanys latest photo , Christina explained .

Byron nodded , staring at the photo for a long time before nally saying , She does resemble Enya a little .

He put the photo down and explained to Christina and Gregory , Enya was my younger sister .

Then , as if something clicked , he looked at Christina .

You , you must know Enya , right ? Hearing this long forgotten name , Christina suddenly found it difficult to breathe .
