35 % (+23) The behind the scenes director chuckled , Ladies , go ahead .

With that , he moved a little farther away but continued lming them .

It couldnt be helped ; it was just too beautiful .

One was a beauty queen , and the other was a screenwriter whose looks rivaled that of a movie star .

Surely such a scene couldnt be captured anywhere else but this set .

Just then , an unpleasant voice interrupted them .

Sheela , what are you doing here ? Come over and rehearse your scene with Sam .

Sam Salter was the male lead of the show , a fellow artist from Sheelas company .

The voice belonged to their mutual manager .

As of now , Paisley was mostly satis ed with the cast , with one exception : Sam .

He wasnt the actor Paisley and Cary originally wanted for the role .

Instead , he was bundled with Sheela by her company .

The message was simple : if they wanted Sheela for the lead , they had to take Sam as the male lead .

Otherwise , no deal .

In other words , they were using Sheelas popularity and box of ce pull to boost Sams career .

Gary was so eager to have Sheela that he had no choice but to agree .

This was already the second show where Sheela had to carry Sam .

The company continued to market them together , not caring at all about the backlash from Sams fans .

Paisley had done most of her homework on the cast before the contract was signed , so she already knew about this .

Therefore , she wasnt fond of the manager or the male lead .

But she didnt say anything , since her only condition before signing was that Brittany wouldnt be cast in the show .

Other casting decisions were left to the director and producer .

Didnt you already rehearse the scene ? Why do you need to do it again ? Paisley didnt bother to spare the managers feelings and directly asked .

The manager looked at Paisley with an unpleasant expression , then ignored her and continued speaking to Sheela , Hurry up , dont keep Sam waiting Standing behind the manager , Sam looked over at them with a dismissive sneer .

Sheela tightened her grip on the script , giving Paisley an apologetic smile .

Sorry , Ms.

Vaire , ill go now .

Paisley didnt want to make things too awkward for Sheela , so she nodded .

Okay , go ahead .

If you need anything , just ask me With that , she handed Sheela her business card .

Sheela gladly accepted the card and , under her managers urging , walked toward Sam .

Sam glanced at Paisley and sneered , Whats there to rehearse for a crappy script ? The manager patted Sam on the shoulder .

Dont say that .

If you perform well , youll de nitely blow up when it airs .

Sam grumbled , totally acting like the king of the world , and said to his assistant , Go get some snacks .

Put it on my tab .

Ill treat the whole crew ? Laity walked over with a playful expression , watching Sheela leave , and asked , Youd think with Sheela being a top tier celebrity , how could her agent treat her like this ? She doesnt seem to respect her at all ? Mind your own business ? Paisley withdrew her gaze and went back to reading her script .

Fine Lucy posted in response , then turned around to see a crew member , who had somehow appeared behind Paisley , staring at her intently .

Paisley heard the voice and turned around , spotting a man in the crew uniform .

Do you need something ? 35 % The man quickly waved his hands , looking a little awkward .

No , nothing .

I am just passing by .

After speaking , the man .

hurriedly ran off .

+23) Lucy walked up to Paisley and said , That guy was de nitely staring because youre so pretty ! This kind of thing happened often , so Lucy wasnt surprised anymore .

Paisley ignored her and continued reading the script .

After a while , it became noisy outside the studio .

Gary , who was lming , lifted his head from the monitor , annoyed .

Whats going on outside ? The staff member who went to check quickly returned .

A few food trucks are parked outside , saying theyre treating the whole crew to dinner .
