Seeing that Paisley still wasnt moved , Sam grew tired of talking to her .

Tch , ungrateful .

After saying that , he headed straight toward the food truck outside .

The manager followed along after rolling her eyes subtly at Paisley .

Sheela walked over to Paisley uneasily .

Im so sorry .

Paisley smiled at Sheela .

Why are you apologizing ? It has nothing to do with you .

Seeing Sheela lingering by her side , Paisley asked , Arent you going over to eat with them ? Sheela stared longingly at the delicious food , visibly gulping .

I need to lose weight .

Paisley glanced at her stick thin gure .

Sam was buoyed by all the praise .

He started to feel a bit smug .

Dont be shy , everyone.

Eat as much as you like .

Its on me ! On you ? A cold male voice suddenly sounded from behind him .

Sam froze , turning around to meet a pair of equally cold eyes .

The man towering over him forced Sam to look up just to meet his gaze .

But it wasnt long before Sam was overwhelmed by the mans intimidating aura , unconsciously stepping back and hiding behind his manager .

Gary , who is this ? The manager , who had spent years navigating the entertainment industry , instantly recognized that this man wasnt ordinary .

One look , and she could tell he was someone important .

Gary glanced at the man , startled , before respectfully addressing him , Mr.

Vanderbilt .

Dominick stood there , his cold eyes scanning the crowd gathered around the food truck he had arranged .
