Ill say this one more time you are Sonnys biological mother .

Not matter what , you have a responsibility to take care of him until hes eighteen .

Thats the law ! Dominick jabbed a finger toward Paisleys phone , his frustration rising .

Go , call that guy and tell him not to come .

Not some pretty boy who- He stopped when he saw Serena , her big innocent eyes staring at him , looking a bit scared .

Dominick faltered , the words dying on his tongue .

The sight of that angelic face made it impossible to continue his tirade .

No matter what , you will take care of Sonny this weekend .

Youre his mother , so take the responsibility .

After speaking , he spun on his heel and stormed toward the door , as if to leave no room for further argument .

But just as he was about to walk out , he turned back .

What now ? Paisley asked , barely holding back her annoyance .

Give me your phone number , he said in a low voice , not even meeting her gaze .

Its the same as before .

Youre still on my blacklist , Paisley replied , matter of factly .

Dominick whipped around and glared at Paisley .

Remove me from that damn list , he barked .

Im going to check on Sonny whenever I feel like it Fine , Paisley sighed and rolled her eyes .

Under Dominicks intense gaze , she reluctantly removed his number from the blacklist .

Seeing that string of digits , once so familiar that she could recite it easily , Paisley felt a flood of complicated feelings .

Anything else , Mr.

Vanderbilt ? she said , her tone now all business .

Dominick opened his mouth as if to say something , but when his eyes fell on the two kids watching them , he swallowed whatever words were on his tongue .

He bent down to grab his jacket , which he had tossed on the floor earlier , and turned to Paisley one last time , his voice cold .

Dont let that guy come here .

I dont want anyone messing with my sons well being Paisley rolled her eyes and shot back , Got it .

Can you go now ? But Dominick didnt move .

He just stood there , like he wasnt in any hurry to leave .
