The billionaire and his son want me back novel Chapter 52

Chapter 52 Once they reached the hotel room .

Marissa swiped the room card and turned to the sta with irritation .

Why arent Dominick and I on the same oor ? Dominick and Grayson had been placed in the top oor presidential suite , while Marissa had been assigned to an executive business suite ours below , alongside Julian and the other guests and classmates .

The sta member gave an apologetic smile .

Tm sorry , Ms.

Prescott.

 \sim

We only have three presidential al suites in total.

One is occupied by Br Beaumont, and another is reserved for Mr.

Vanderbilt .

What about the third oner Marissa pressed , unwilling to let it go .

David maintained a polite smile and patiently explained .

The third suite has been set aside for a very important guest , per Mr.

Beaumonts instructions .

Hearing that .

Marissa clenched her jaw , annoyance ashing in her eyes .

She couldnt fathom who this so called important guest could be , w deemed more signi cant than her .

Marissa had come here with a clear purpose to create the image of a close and intimate relationship between herself and Dominick in front of everyone .

She wanted the world to believe she was destined to become the future Mrs.

Vanderbilt .

But now , she didnt even have the privilege of stayınır on the same oor as Dominick .

Just then , Alexis joked with a grin .

Oh , come on .

Marissa and Dominick are practically family already.

Why not just share a ro an issue .

For all she knew, they might have already She gured that since they were getting married soon anyway, sharing a room shouldnt the art issue.

crossed that line long ago Judging by the expressions around the room , it was obvious that Alexis wasnt the only one thinking same asumption .

way everyone else seemed to have the Under the watchful eyes of everyone : Marissa turned to Dominick , hoping he would let her share a room with him , She gured the presidential suite was spacious enough , with more than one bedroom .

It didnt matter which room she slept in as long as they shared the same key card .

But to Marissas surprise, Dominick shook his head and said, Its not appropriate for Marissa to share a room with me Even though he saw Marissa as a younger sister, he knew she wasnt his real sister, and that distinction mattered to him.

Besides , he wouldnt even share a room with Kayla there were still boundaries between men and women .

Dominicks response nearly made the smile freeze on Marissas face .

Follow new episodes on the CrushnovelS.Com

Even Alexis , who had been teasing moments ago , felt the awkwardness and quickly clammed up .

Uh ... Doms right Marissa said sti y, trying to ng to smooth things over.

It really wouldnt be appropriate for me to share a room room with h him richt Then, forcing a smile, she turned to Alexis.

Hey, we havent caught up in ages.

I have so much to tell you .

Why dont you stay Itll be like an old school sleepover we can talk all night .

in With that one sentence , Marissa dispelled the tension in the room .

Alexis smiled and agreed readily getting to spend more time with Massa was something she was happy about Dominick nodded .

Alright then .

Sonny and I will head up rst Marissa watched as the elevator doors carrying Dominick and Grayson slid shin , and her unile nally disappeared .

Her face turned cold .

I wonder who that VIP is , Alexis muttered , now gossiping with the others .

Nathaniel actually reserved the presidential site for them Another chimed in , 1 heard from Nathaniels assistant that back when he was in Lynford , he was really into horseback riding .

He even invested in last years international equestrian competition .

For the opening gala , hes gone all out and invited last years three day eventing champion