

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 62

Chapter 62 Gripping the reins tightly in one hand , she discreetly unpinned the brooch from her chest with the other .

Gritting her teeth , she steeled herself and jabbed it directly into the flank of her white horse , The tall white horse then neighed in pain , a sharp , distressed sound , before bolting forward like a mad creature .

With Marissas panic only grew as she realized she had lost control of the animal .

She knew if the horse couldnt stop in time at the finish line or if something unexpected happened , the consequences could be disastrous .

In her panic , Marissa noticed Paisley getting closer and closer .

Marissa clenched her jaw and decided to throw caution to the wind , Just as her white horse was about to catch up with Paisleys little brown horse , she stabbed the brooch into her white horses flank again .

The new burst of pain sent the already frenzied white horse into a complete frenzy .

Follow new episodes on the CrushnovelS.Com

It reared and thrashed , its body jerking wildly in every direction while its legs kicked out forcefully , Right away , Paisley realized something was off with Marissas horse it looked frenzied .

As soon as it came closer , she braced herself for what was to come The moment the white horse went completely berserk , Paisley tightened her grip on the reins, adjusting her posture and shifting her weight with precision .

Her line brown horse reacted swiftly , leaping high into the air and clearing the arena fence with ease .

It then landed steadily on the other side .

leaving the crowd gasping in astonishment , The horses dark brown tail flicked arrogantly as it huffed and snorted , Paisley smirked , thinking , What a feisty little thing ? She lightly parted its back as if to say .

Good job .

Sitting tall in the saddle .

Right now , she couldve passed for a triumphant warrior queen poised , commanding , her features calm and proud , surveying the world from above .

Before anyone could fully process Paisleys daring move , a shrill scream from Marissa shattered the moment .

On her horses back .

Marissa looked utterly disheveled .

She had completely lost control , and no one dared to approach the maddened white horse .

Dad ! Please , save Marissa , Giyin screamed , tears streaming down his face as he desperately pleaded with Dominick .

Dominick frowned and pondered , I personally chose this horse for Marissa .

Its supposed to be gentle how could it suddenly go berserk As Dominick , Julian , and the security team moved to subdue the horse , Marissas strength finally gave out .

With a terrified scream , she was thrown off , hitting the ground with a heavy thud .

She cried out as a wave of sharp , searing pain coursed through her .

Clenching her teeth , she couldnt even manage a word.

The white horse , now free of its tormentor , let out one final cry and bolted .

However , it wasnt long before the station manager managed to intercepti Strangely , the horse didnt struggle or act out any further .

Instead , it obediently stood still , waiting for someone to take its reins .

Its white tail kept swishing at its haunches , and its eyes seemed filled with grievance .

Grayson dashed over the moment the scene was under control , throwing himself down beside Marissa and sobbing .

Marissa , are you okay ? Dont stare me like that The others gathered around to check on Marissa as well .

Under Graysons frantic cries , she slowly regained her senses , though her face was with tears .

Looking up with trembling lips and tear-filled eyes , she whimpered , Dom ... I almost died just now ... streaked 1/1