The billionaire and his son want me back novel Chapter 63

0

Chapter 63 Dont worry, youll be ne, Dominick said.

He crouched in front of Marissa , trying to check if she was hurt .

Marissa, however, ignored her pain a and threw herself into his arms.

Dom .

I was so scared just now ... Her voice trembled as she clung to him .

Dominick hesitated , his arms awkwardly suspended in mid air .

But seeing her disheveled and crying so miserably , he nally softened .

He wrapped Is arms around her back and gently reassured her .

Its okay .

I wont let anything happen to you.

As he spoke , his gaze instinctively icked toward Paisley .

She didnt so much as glance his way .

By now , she had dismounted her horse and was bughing with her daughter .

His face darkened at the sight , and he felt a faint pang of discomfort gnawing at him .

Graysons sobbing voice broke the moment , asking .

How exactly did you fall o the horse, Marissa? He looked genuinely concerned.

At the same time, a sense of confusion lingered after all, that white horse had been personally selected by their father.

It couldnt possibly have gone wild .

Alexis chimed in , Yeah .

Why would a perfectly calm horse suddenly spook ! This wasnt just just any place it was Axion Enterprises newly opened high end club .

Its clientele consisted exclusively of the elite , and to cater to them , every horse here had been meticulously chosen .

While their abilities might vary , their temperaments were guaranteed .

Something like this simply shouldnt have happened .

Marissa buried her face in Dominicks chest , crying pitifully .

Alexis suddenly had a lightbulb moment .

Like someone whod uncovered a big secret , she exclaimed Could someone have sabotaged you , Marissa ! Alexis words immediately drew attention .

With dramatic air , she turned to look at Paisley , who was entirely uninvolved in the commotion .

The implication was obvious .

Everyones gaze followed hers , landing on Paisley To justify Alexis suspicion , Marissa stopped crying at that exact moment .

Her eyes were red as she choked out , Ms.

Sutton , I get that you wanted to win , but this was such a low blow .

So it really was her .

Alexis shot to her feet , taking on the role of Marissas ercely loyal best friend .

She stormed over to Paisley with righteous indignation .

Paisley chuckled coldly, visibly unimpressed.

She handed Serena back to Maria and strolled over .

Towering over Marissa .

Paisley looked down at her messy state and sneered , Are you saying I made you fall o your horse ? Paisley always knew Marissa was scheming , but she had assumed Marissas petty tricks were limited to stirring up drama between her and Dominick .

Follow new episodes on the CrushnovelS.Com

She hadnt expected Marissa to stoop so low , to the point of harming herself .

She was sure that fall earlier must have hurt Marissa badly .

Luckily , the ground in that area was soft , with no rocks nearby .

Otherwise, Marissa would we su ered far more However, Paisley realized she had underestimated just how low Marissa could stoop.

She had assumed that Marissa made the horse go berserk simply to disrupt the race and avoid admitting defeat .

But Paisley hadnt expected the real bombshell to be waiting right here .

Grayson suddenly rushed over and shoved Paisley hard .

Spreading his arms protectively in front of Marissa, he shouted, Its de nitely you .

Youre the one who hurt Marissa .

Youre nothing but a wicked woman .

He then re ected bitterly, Back then, it was Paisley who gave Marissa that cake with mango in it, causing the allergic reaction that nearly cost Marissa her life and landed her in the hospital.

Afterward , Paisley tried to avoid responsibility by insisting on divorcing Dad .

a way to let you down.

And now , she almost got Marissa killed again .

You really cant expect anything good from Paisley .

She always nds a w Paisley stumbled back after being shoved by Crayson .

The anger burning in his gaze immediately reminded her of the day before her birthday four years ago .

1/1