

The billionaire and his son want me back novel

Chapter 75

Chapter 75 At Marissas words , Dominicks previously unreadable expression softened slightly .

Youve always been so competitive , he said with a faint sigh She lowered her head , feigning embarrassment .

She knew his words meant he had forgiven her .

She replied .

Well , what can I do ? With someone as outstanding as you by my side , how could I not want to do my best ? Her tone turned playful .

her mood visibly lighter .

Marissa pondered .

I knew it .

With the bond I share with Dominick , theres no way hed stay mad at me over something like this .

Besides , Im the one who got hurt today .

Hes probably upset because I lied .

Now that Ive admitted my mistake , he wont keep giving me the cold shoulder .

Follow new episodes on the CrushnovelS.Com

With that settled .

Marissa glanced around the venue again .

The way people were looking at her had changed , becoming more intense and curious .

And that was exactly the reaction she wanted Earlier , when Marissa had been talking to Dominick , she had deliberately leaned in closer .

No one else knew what they had discussed , but her alternating expressions shy and demure one moment , playful and laughing the next left plenty of room for speculation .

Dominick , who had been keeping a straight face earlier , eventually broke into a resigned expression after hearing a few of her words .

To the onlookers , his exasperated look seemed tinged with a tinge of affection .

With that in mind , everyone present became even more convinced of the rumors circulating online .

They figured it wouldnt be long before the two of them tied the knot .

Dom Nathaniel raised his glass as he walked over to Dominick .

He greeted Dominick with a friendly pat on the shoulder , acting like an old friend who hadnt seen him in ages .

What do you think ? Pretty nice place Ive got here , huh ? Dominick glanced at the spot Nathaniel had just patted and indifferently replied , Its alright Nathaniel grinned with a mischievous air .

Man , youre impossible to please .

Dominick raised an eyebrow slightly but didnt deny it .

Back in school , Dominick and Nathaniel were like polar opposites .

Dominick was the top achiever , a model student excelling in every area .

Dominick insisted on perfections everything he did .

leaving no room for error or failure .

The only failure in his life , as far as he was concerned , was his marriage to Paisley Nathaniel , on the other hand , was the exact opposite .

His grades were consistently among the worst , and he was infamous for his mischievous ways .

With no goals or direction , he lived life on a whim , free spirited and untamed .

He had never done anything with real effort this club marked his first attempt at something serious .

Marissa smiled warmly and greeted Nathaniel .

Its been a while , Nathaniel * || Nathaniel barely spared her a glance , giving h her a dismissive nod .

Yeah .

At his reaction , Marissas smile froze , her face stillening .

She was painfully aware of all the eyes on them .

With everyone watching , Nathaniel had just completely snubbed her , leaving her humiliated .

Nathaniel turned back to Dominick with a curious look .

I saw the news about you two .

When are you guys going to get married ? Nathaniel couldnt for the life of him understand how Dominick , of all people , could be into Marissa .

After all , Nathaniel had written her omelette back in high school .

Dominick frowned and was about to explain that the news was fake when Nathaniels attention suddenly shifted .

Nathaniels expression lit up like hed just spotted a rare treasure .

He broke into a wide grin , waving his arms enthusiastically .

Oh , thats my mentor .

Over here , Ms.

Sutton .