The billionaire and his son want me back novel Chapter 76

Chapter 76 Paisley had been delayed waiting for Emery and the others, so by the time she took the elevator down to the grand ballroom on the hotels rst oor, the cocktail party was already in full swing.

Inside , guests mingled and clinked glasses , their conversations lively and full of energy Since Paisley didnt know many people here , and Emery and Lucy were nowhere to be found , the only familiar face who might exchange a few words with her was Nathaniel , the host of the event .

Paisley planned to nd him , share a drink , o er her congratulations , and leave as soon as possible .

But when Paisley spotted Nathaniel , he was standing with Dominick , Marissa , and a group of people who had been with them at the stables earlier .

Other guests were also discreetly watching Nathaniel and Dominick , clearly interested in their interactions .

Feeling out of sorts, Paisley wanted to avoid any interaction with Dominick and his group in a setting like this.

The last thing she wanted was to become the center of attention .

So , she quietly moved to a corner , picked up a glass of wine , and took small sips .

not as good The moment the wines sharp yet slightly sweet taste reached her throat , she knit her brows gently , thinking .

Hmm ... This is good but not as as the wine I make .

Paisley had a deep appreciation for wine both tasting and crafting it bur she never indulged excessively.

For her, it was about savoring the experience, not losing control.

After marrying Dominick , she had stopped drinking altogether to ensure she could have a healthy pregnancy , Once Grayson was born , the sacri ced a lot for her family , including her love of wine tasting and winemaking , After her divorce from Dominick , Paisley discovered she was pregnant with Serena shortly after , which delayed her return to her passion for wine even further .

It wasnt until last year, when Serena turned two, that Paisley nally picked up her winemaking hobby again.

Even so , it had been nearly six months since Paisleys last drink .

Although the wine here was mediocre, it still managed to awaken Paisleys craving for a drink.

She nished one small glass quickly and was about to grab a second when Nathaniels voice suddenly rang out , startling her so much that her hand holding the glass trembled

He shouted , Oh , thats my mentor Over here , Ms.

Sutton .

•

•

The people in the ballroom had already been keeping an eye on Nathaniel and Dominick

So when Nathaniel suddenly called out, everyone turned their heads, curious about the kind of big shot worthy of being called mentor by Axion Enterprises heir.

Follow new episodes on the CrushnovelS.Com

However, when they looked over, all they saw was the entrance to the hall, anked by ushers and security personnel.

No one else was there .

Well, not quite near the bar by the entrance stood a strikingly beautiful woman in a unique gown.

Everyone present couldnt help but show a look of astonishment upon seeing Paisley .

There were plenty of women who looked stunning in unique gowns, but someone like her, whose elegance and out t complemented each other so perfectly, creating such a breathtaking e ect, was a rarity in real life.

However, the moment of admiration was brief their curiosity about who Nathaniels mentor was q quickly.

took precedence

•

Paisley felt a massive headache coming on .

The whole reason she was standing here in the rst place was to avoid drawing attention.

With so many beautiful women around , she gured no one would pay her any attention

But thanks to Nathaniels shout , now everyone was staring at Paisley .

And then there was Dominick, that jerk his brows furrowed, glaring at her like she owed him money Seeing that she wasnt coming over or reacting and even looked rather displeased, Nathaniel clinked his glass against Dominicks and casually said.

You guys carry on Im going to have a chat with Ms.

Sutton With that , he strode toward Paisley , his signature muscular legs closing the distance e ortlessly. It was only then that the crowd realized Nathaniels so called mentor was tone other than the stunning woman in the unique gown by the door .

Instantly , the room laizzed with murmurs .