

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 476

After Qin Jun received the contract, he didn't give it much thought. He was familiar with the way these bosses did things, and he knew they just wanted a way to give him some money.

Liu Qingqing was rather sincere, so he didn't decline her offer.

Not to mention that the rare recipe from Qin Jun had brought great value to the company.

"Hi Mr. Qin, I'm the general manager of Huadong District and also President Liu's secretary. My name is Bi Ran. Please feel free to contact me at any time if you need anything" Bi Ran introduced herself.

She then passed his name card to Qin Jun. She treated him with great respect for several reasons.

Firstly, Qin Jun had been President Liu's doctor all this while, and Bi Ran felt great gratitude for him.

Secondly, Qin Jun was now a major shareholder of Stratus Beauty with a 15% stake in the company. That made him the second boss in the company and also Bi Ran's superior.

Lastly, Bi Ran felt that the way President Liu behaved towards Qin Jun was a bit weird. What if he became her "lady boss" in the future?

Liu Qingqing has passed her prime days, but the influence of this female entrepreneur was comparable to that of a superstar's. Even Su Wenqi didn't even reach her level of publicity when her scandal had been exposed in the past.

Qin Jun then went home to rest. When he reached home, Aunt Feng was still watching Wang Dongxue's live stream. He briefly took a look at her stream and found that she had achieved a high level of popularity. Her other fans would regularly send her gifts regardless of whether he supported her online.

Many companies also approached her to be their brand ambassador, so she was able to earn additional money from advertising. Wang Dongxue was only a college student, but her income had exceeded that of an ordinary white-collar worker, and she wasn't even streaming full-time.

Wang Dongxue's stream was about to end soon. Just as Qin Jun was about to text her, she called him.

"Jun, what are you up to?" she asked.

Qin Jun answered, "I just finished watching your stream."

"Oh really? Haha. One of my close friends just invited me to go shopping for cosmetics with her. Would you like to come along?" she said in response.

"Sure," he uttered and hung up the phone.

Qin Jun took a taxi to pick Wang Dongxue up. He thought about buying another car since the expensive sports car he owned was only a two-seater. It wasn't conducive if he had more than one passenger.

He considered investing in an SUV or a seven-seater to make things easier in the future.

Upon reaching the university, he waited at the main gate for a while before Wang Dongxue and her friend came out.

"Jun, this is Lingling. You've met before," Wang Dongxue introduced her friend.

Qin Jun nodded in acknowledgement. Lingling was one of the few friends that Wang Dongxue had in university, and he was certain that they had met a couple of times before.

“Jun, right? Dongxue is obsessed with you. She can’t stop talking about you in class and she even calls your name when she sleeps during class,” Lingling said to Qin Jun.

Wang Dongxue blushed and countered her, “Lingling, what are you talking about? Who’s sleeping in class!”

Lingling giggled in response.

Qin Jun shook his head and said, “Come on, let’s go. Do you two still want to shop for cosmetics?”

“Yes, our skincare products are almost finished. We need to go to the mall to grab some new ones,” said Wang Dongxue.

Qin Jun didn’t care much about the products that they were going to buy since there were so many brands in the market. Even though he just got to know Liu Qingqing, he didn’t offer any suggestions and just went along with the two ladies.

The three of them took a taxi to the mall downtown. They just got off the taxi when a BMW skidded in their direction.

It had just rained heavily, and there were puddles on the road. With a splash, Lingling was drenched all over.

“What the hell!” she shouted.

The two ladies were infuriated. It was obvious that the road was full of puddles, and the driver shouldn’t have driven so quickly.
