

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 720

For example, the photographers. The ones who worked in the entertainment industry were any different from those who worked elsewhere.

In other words, even if he worked for many famous celebrities, he was still an ordinary photographer.

At that moment, Wang Dandan felt that she was more superior. After all, she had released some popular work and was considered to be truly within the entertainment industry.

However, for Qin Jun, he looked like he was only able to find someone who was barely considered to be in the entertainment industry, just to boost his ego.

Tang Jianqiang smiled, "I see. I guess it doesn't matter then. Please ask her to join us and we will just prepare a seat for her."

Tang Jianqiang had the nerve to act as the host although Qin Jun was the one who looked for this hotel and paid for the meal. Tang Jianqiang was so shameless and had such low self-awareness that he asked for another set of cutlery as though he was the one paying for the meal. Lin Yueyao was speechless and she rolled her eyes in response.

Qin Jun took out his phone and read a message. Su Wenqi was about to arrive soon.

"I will go pick her up in case there's a commotion."

Wang Dandan snickered when Qin Jun finished.

"Commotion? You must be exaggerating. Who is your girlfriend? Is she some sort of a diva?"

“Only a few people recognized me when I came earlier. I assume your girlfriend is not some big shot so why all the fuss about a commotion.”

Tang Wen grinned, “Dandan is right. There are not many people here so why would there be a commotion? Your girlfriend is only a small social media influencer, right?”

Wang Dandan playfully continued, “Social media influencers these days sure know how to fake it. After a few videos, they term themselves as influencers but many of them actually have other ‘shady’ professions. After they have earned enough money, they will go on and look for a so-called ‘plain man’ to marry, so make sure you watch out for such people.”

Everyone was instantly taken aback by Wang Dandan’s words. She deserved to be in the entertainment industry since she was able to talk about such things so daringly.

Many people have also heard about such stories. There were a lot of those who were barely considered to be in the entertainment industry with a ‘shady’ profession, so after they earned enough, they would marry someone plain. Those plain men were termed as ‘scrap pickers’.

Wang Dandan took a look at Qin Jun and thought that he must have been one of those ‘scrap pickers’. It was very likely that he might have found a so-called actor or model in the entertainment industry to make himself feel good.

Qin Jun just ignored them and left.

Tang Min and Lin Yueyao were both confused as they exchanged looks.

They did not know who Qin Jun’s girlfriend was. He could have mentioned her before but they had never met her in person. Today would be their first time meeting her, so they were somewhat nervous.

Especially since Tang Jianqiang's girlfriend was here, both their girlfriends would be compared against each other and it made Tang Min and Lin Yueyao even more curious. If Qin Jun's girlfriend were not any better than Wang Dandan, Tang Wen's family would likely start boasting again.

Not long after, Qin Jun returned with a lady.

She was tall and fair, dressed in sportswear and had a baseball cap on. She looked youthful and had her sunglasses and mask on, with her hair tied up in a ponytail.

Wang Dandan's lips curled, Does she really think that she is a big shot covering herself up like that?"

As soon as she finished, the woman took off her mask, hat, and sunglasses to reveal her beautiful and delicate facial features. She smiled shyly at everyone.

"Hello everyone, I am Su Wenqi."

Instantly, everyone fell silent.

Everyone looked at Su Wenqi in shock and they widened their eyes in disbelief.

A diva?

She is really a diva!
