Chapter 1491 The Doctor...

Fang Qiu hung up.

He took a look outside.

“Don’t run around. I’ll be back soon.”

Then...

Fang Qiu went straight out quickly. Wandering around the residential area crashed by huge waves, he looked for suitable tools.

At the same time...

“Beep.”

His phone rang. Fang Qiu took it out and saw the location of the transport plane sent by Li Ji. With a closer look, he knew it was near the coast.

He was about three kilometers away from the senior engineer and the others.

Fang Qiu saw the location...

He observed carefully. After confirming the direction, he continued to search.

Soon after...

On the coastline, he found a wooden boat smashed beyond recognition by the enormous waves. It was so severely damaged that it could not go into the sea. However, it could be used as a way of transportation.

After all, the super typhoon destroyed the city, and he needed some way of getting around.

Most importantly, they were pressed for time.

The Nirvana Organization had already arrived here. Once they found the bodies in the library, the organization would wreak vengeance on the team of 20 people led by the senior engineer.

Therefore, Fang Qiu had to send them away as soon as possible to ensure their safety.

In addition...

This group of people was starving. Even if he had found something to eat for them, they couldn't regain their strength in a short time. It would take too much time if they walked over like this.

With this in mind...

Fang Qiu pulled up the rope tied to the boat's bow and quickly returned the same way he came.

When Fang Qiu came back, everyone had finished eating.

They ate all the fish and even drank up the fish soup.

"I've contacted our country. They've sent a rescue transport plane here. I'll take you to the boarding point."

After saying that, Fang Qiu immediately took everyone out of the room. Soon, they came to the coastline.

“Get on the boat!”

Fang Qiu called out.

They all got on the boat without demur.

Surprisingly...

Everyone thought Fang Qiu would row the boat out to sea. They saw Fang Qiu pull the rope connected to the boat’s bow and put forth his strength.

Like a boat tracker, he put the rope on his shoulder and pulled the entire boat forward by himself. He moved countless times faster than a boat tracker.

The others were sitting on the boat.

More than 20 people, led by the senior engineer, were startled by Fang Qiu. No one had expected this: after they boarded the ship, they didn’t go to the sea but moved along the beach.

“What the hell?”

In shock, everyone stared at Fang Qiu before them. They became increasingly appalled by what they saw.

But...

They felt much more relieved at the thought that Fang Qiu was on their side.

Three kilometers was not a very long distance.

Under the impact of the sea waves, the ground turned very wet and slippery. Thus, it was not difficult for Fang Qiu to pull the boat. But Fang Qiu deliberately slowed down to ensure the safety of the people on the boat.

It took about six or seven minutes for them to arrive.

“Alright.”

When they arrived at the destination, Fang Qiu asked everyone to get off the boat and said, “The official transport plane of Phlippeanes should be here soon. It will send you to take the plane back to Huaxia.”

When everyone heard that...

They nodded and thanked Fang Qiu one after another.

When they thought back on the matter...

If Fang Qiu had appeared a few minutes later, all 20 of them might have died!

Fang Qiu had saved their lives!

Sure enough...

After a short while...

Just as everyone was thanking Fang Qiu, the Phlippeanes official transport helicopter arrived.

After the helicopter landed, Fang Qiu sent everyone in it and waved goodbye to them. Then, he turned around and returned to Larboe!

Although Fang Qiu had completed the mission...

He didn't want to leave here immediately.

At present, Larboe was the worst affected area. So, Nirvana Organization members sneaked into this place to kill.

He had encountered a small team on the island. When saving people, he met another group.

In other words...

The Nirvana Organization must have a base or a temporary gathering place here.

To prevent the Nirvana Organization from murdering innocent people, Fang Qiu had to find their evil lair as soon as possible and destroy it!

With this aim...

Fang Qiu first flew quickly toward the three islands he had visited before. When he got close enough, he scanned them with his Divine Consciousness.

It turned out that no unusual energy aura was on the three islands. It meant no one from the Nirvana Organization was on the three islands.

After Fang Qiu confirmed the safety of the people on these islands...

Fang Qiu quickly returned to Larboe and came to the place where he had saved some people. With his Divine Consciousness, he instantly sensed a group of people emitting energy auras.

Those people did not hide in the periphery of the typhoon. Instead, they ran to a bell tower only 50 to 60 meters away from the typhoon eye.

“An eighth-class expert with two opened meridians?”

Sensing it, Fang Qiu raised his eyebrows.

Unexpectedly...

In Nirvana Organization’s nest in Larboe, the strongest fighter was an eighth-class Martial Superior with two opened meridians.

Well...

The incapable guru he had just slayed must have brought them here.

Under his Divine Consciousness, Fang Qiu was sure there were no Nirvana Organization members in other places of the city. Right away, he moved and rushed straight to the Nirvana Organization’s nest.

Fang Qiu came to the bell tower.

He quietly entered.

He found more than 30 people in the bell tower. Including the dozen people he had just killed, there were 50 Nirvana Organization members in total!

Without hesitation...

Fang Qiu wiped out all of them.

For him, people inferior to the eighth-class Martial Superior with two opened meridians were no different from ordinary people. These people couldn't even notice his arrival before they stopped breathing!

However...

That eighth-class Martial Superior with two opened meridians was obviously more vigilant than the others.

When Fang Qiu slaughtered the others, he immediately noticed that some people had mysteriously died. Without wasting time thinking, he found a window, jumped down, and ran wildly into the dilapidated building.

Fang Qiu was not in a hurry.

Locked by his Divine Consciousness, the enemy could never run away.

After slaying all the people in the bell tower one by one, Fang Qiu turned around to chase after the fleeing eighth-class Martial Superior with two opened meridians.

Under his Divine Consciousness...

Fang Qiu clearly sensed that the eighth-class Martial Superior with two opened meridians had fled to a building in the safe zone.

When he quickly caught up with him...

Fang Qiu was surprised to see the expert come out of the building with another man. It seemed that he would take the man away.

Fang Qiu looked closer...

It was an old man.

Judging from his dress, he should be a local doctor.

At this sight...

Fang Qiu was not in a hurry to rush out. Instead, he hid himself and secretly stared at him to see what he wanted to do.

Was it worth it for him to deliberately come and take away a local doctor?

There...

“Hurry up. Let’s go. All the others are dead!”

The eighth-class Martial Superior with two opened meridians grabbed the elder’s hand, trying to take him away by force.

Unexpectedly...

“Don’t push me.”

The old man swung his arms and said, “I will stay here and continue to save people. I want the people here to stay away from pain. In addition to killing people, I can also save them. If you want to leave, you can go away without me!”

When the eighth-class Martial Superior with two opened meridians heard his words...

His face fell. Anxiously and angrily, he turned to leave.

Just then...

“Whizz!”

A cold glint of sword flashed across the air.

The eighth-class Martial Superior with two opened meridians didn't even have time to react. His face stiffened, and he fell dead backward!

The old man was stunned.

Fang Qiu showed up and looked at the elder before him with a frown.

“Can I see the rest of the patients first?”

The old man looked at Fang Qiu with a smile.

“Okay.”

Fang Qiu nodded and replied.

He had already seen a group of disaster-hit residents lining up in the old man's room, waiting to see the doctor.

“Thank you.”

With Fang Qiu's permission, the old man nodded gratefully. He returned to his room, sat back at the diagnosis desk, and continued to accept patients.

He examined his patients very carefully.

He detailedly explained the cause and process of the illness for each patient. His instructions were proper and correct.

Aside, Fang Qiu waited patiently.

After over an hour, the old doctor finally finished seeing all the patients.

When the last patient left...

“Since you’re a doctor, why did you join the Nirvana Organization?”

Fang Qiu asked, “Don’t you know how evil the Nirvana Organization is?”

The old man looked at Fang Qiu and said, “It is a doctor’s duty to cure diseases and save lives. The Nirvana Organization aims to relieve people from suffering. Our beliefs are the same.”

“No.”

Fang Qiu immediately shook his head and said, “They are completely different. Doctors are lifesavers while they take away people’s lives!”

“What you see may not be true.”

The old man shook his head and said, “I’ve seen too many people suffer before they died. In the last time of their lives in this world, they are doomed to die, and no doctor can cure them. Why can’t we help them eliminate the last pain when they are at death’s door?”

“Since doctors can’t save them, they might as well accept death calmly. Why do we have to make them suffer when they are dying?”

With this...

The elder sighed softly and continued, “Although this is inhumane, someone has to do it.”

“You can’t cure them because your medical skills are not good enough.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and retorted, “It’s human nature to struggle for life. Since they can still feel pain, it proves that they have the power to survive. Pain indicates that they all have strong survival instinct. No one has the right to take other people’s lives!”

“Really?”

The old man shook his head disapprovingly and said, “In fact, people in this world are destined to die when they are born. No one can escape from this fate. It’s just a matter of time.”

“So, those people have worked hard for their whole lives. If they eventually get a good death, it will be a perfect ending for them.”

“But nowadays, most people will die of illnesses in pain!”

“Those who are seriously ill will feel even more miserable. They never exercise or take good care of themselves throughout their lives. All their pains are concentrated in one day. How could anyone bear that kind of agonizing pain?”

After the old man hurled the question at Fang Qiu...

He continued, “I wanted to help them. I saw the Nirvana Organization make a move, so I got to know them. I agreed with their ideas and decided to join them.”

“So far, I have killed a few people. Do you know the glow of satisfaction? I felt satisfied when helping patients to get rid of their pain. They smiled at me with gratitude even before they died. Can you understand my feeling of satisfaction at that time?”

Chapter 1492 Unable to Judge

Fang Qiu heard his words.

Suddenly, he felt the smile on the elder’s face very terrifying. He looked like a perverted and murderous lunatic.

He was indeed saving people. By killing his patients, he helped them get rid of their pain. From this point of view, his original intention was not bad. However, with such a good original intention, he talked about killing rather indifferently. And he experienced a pleasant sensation when taking away people’s lives?

“You’re talking nonsense!”

Fang Qiu was furious. Boiling with rage, he said to the elder, “You view the world only from your point of view. Never have you asked your patients what they are thinking. You impose your thoughts on others and let others bear the consequences of your inferior medical skills!”

“My medical skills are ordinary.”

The old man said calmly, without blushing or panting, “But even for those with excellent medical skills, how many people can they save in this world?”

“These people living in misery might as well choose to die!”

Fang Qiu frowned.

He asked coldly, "Who defines pain? What is pain? Do you know who is in pain and who is not? Do physical sufferings bring people pain? Won't these people feel pain after their death?"

"Sure."

The old man took it for granted and said, "I can see their pain. I won't arbitrarily judge other people's pain, but I can see it with my own eyes!"

"I can see their pain from their looks and feel it from their emotions. This feeling of empathy supports me to help them get rid of their pain!"

Fang Qiu chuckled.

In his eyes, the old man was so obsessed with his belief that he couldn't extricate himself.

He was an extremely stubborn and self-centered old man.

"I admit that everyone in the world has pain."

Fang Qiu said, "But for everyone born in this world, the ultimate purpose of life is to stay alive. Pain is just something that everyone must experience. However, you threaten others with what they must experience and end their lives. Do you think that is the right thing to do?"

"What's wrong with it?"

The old man smiled faintly and said, "People should be happy in the world. Only happiness is the meaning of our lives. If we can't even live happily in the world, what's the point of living?"

When the old man spoke of this...

He suddenly took out a dagger from his waist. Then he looked at Fang Qiu indifferently and said, "Honestly, I'm in pain too. I also want to shake off my pain."

Then...

He raised the dagger and stabbed it into his chest without hesitation.

Throughout the process...

The old man was expressionless!

Opposite him...

When the old man committed suicide, Fang Qiu didn't stop him. He just stood aside and watched. The old man fell dead to the ground with a poker face, losing all his vitality. Only then did Fang Qiu sigh in his heart before turning to leave.

As he walked...

Fang Qiu couldn't help shaking his head.

He couldn't judge the old man. It sounded like he was right, but in reality, he was wrong.

Especially, the elder, seized with crazy ideas, said he found pleasure in killing. When Fang Qiu heard these words, he could hardly tell if his real intention was good or malicious. However, Fang Qiu was sure that his deeds were evil!

Perhaps...

The elder still had a conscience. The Nirvana Organization had killed innocent people. The elder considered himself a Nirvana Organization member and killed people. Therefore, he felt guilty for his evil deeds.

However...

The root cause of their evil behaviors was the Nirvana Organization. That was why he was determined to eliminate it!

Fang Qiu left Larboe.

But he did not return to Bintar. Instead, he went straight to Santana, a city on Phlippeanes's coastline.

Bintar was behind the typhoon while Santana met it head-on!

Santana was the first place where the super typhoon had invaded. As such, this city had no time to take any protective measures.

The super typhoon came suddenly and left quickly. However, it caused heavy damage to Santana!

In addition, the local climate was changeable. Since the rainstorm had not stopped, the disaster was still going on.

That was because...

There were two islands next to Santana. Because of the terrible weather, many residents living on the islands fell into the sea. Many people were injured, infected, and became seriously ill.

In the high sky, Fang Qiu rushed from Bintar to Larboe. He glanced at Santana from a distance and found it severely affected by the disaster.

Thus...

He hurried to Santana in the first place.

On the way, Fang Qiu texted Li Ji and told him about the Nirvana Organization. Then, he asked Li Ji to send him the information about Santana's current situation.

Soon...

Fang Qiu received a text message from Li Ji.

Two highly-skilled doctors, Xu Lai and Yang Qingfu, had been sent to Santana with their team. Since there were too many patients, the two highly-skilled doctors had not rested for a few days. They had been busy treating and saving people.

After learning about this, Fang Qiu immediately sped up and crossed the sea to get there.

Fang Qiu knew that...

Other regions were in a much better condition than Santana. Especially in Bintar, the rescue work had almost been completed.

As for the areas that were not so seriously damaged, people were still amid rescue missions. No extra men could be sent to help Santana!

Fang Qiu flew all the way.

After he crossed the sea...

Fang Qiu came to Yeagan. It was mainly in the inland area of Philippineans. This city had received the notice of the disaster in advance. With precautions, it wasn't seriously affected by the disaster.

At this time, the people in this city had begun repairing their homes.

Fang Qiu rested there for a while.

He continued to rush to Santana, which was 150 kilometers away.

Early the next morning, Fang Qiu finally arrived at the temporary rescue station in Santana.

Because it was located in a remote place, the temporary rescue station here was a huge tent. A small tent was set up near it.

Fang Qiu had just arrived.

He heard a commotion in the temporary rescue station. It seemed that something had happened.

No one paid attention to Fang Qiu when he walked in.

After listening carefully, he learned that the two highly-skilled doctors, Xu Lai and Yang Qingfu, had fainted from exhaustion. After all, their high-intensity work had lasted for days.

Right now...

Everyone was discussing what to do.

“Where are they?”

Without wasting any time, Fang Qiu rushed into the crowd and found doctors of Chinese Medicine and Western Medicine in the Huaxia medical aid team. Then he asked directly.

Hearing the question, everyone was stunned at first.

Then, when they took a closer look and found it was Fang Qiu, they were pleasantly surprised.

“They are in the lounge, the small tent on the left outside.”

A young Chinese Medicine doctor pointed to the lounge as he spoke.

After he said that...

Only then did Fang Qiu know that the small tent was a lounge.

It could provide those seriously ill patients or overworked rescue workers with a peaceful environment to rest.

In the tent...

There were two small wooden beds.

At this time, two highly-skilled doctors were lying on the bed.

Fang Qiu hurriedly went up to examine the two highly-skilled doctors.

After making sure that they were fine, they let out a sigh of relief.

He came out of the tent.

When Fang Qiu was about to enter the big tent, he suddenly saw a group of children surrounding the tent and guarding outside. He didn't know where they came from.

“What are you doing here?”

Fang Qiu looked at one of the children and asked.

“We want to stay here and watch over the two doctors.”

The child said with an innocent look, “They helped us. They are asleep, and we can protect them. We won’t allow bad people to hurt them and others to disturb them.”

When Fang Qiu heard his words...

He felt like crying with relief, his eyes turning red.

He reached out and touched the child’s head.

Then, Fang Qiu hurried into the big tent.

“I’ll take the place of the two highly-skilled doctors.”

Fang Qiu spoke up.

After he made the request...

Members of the rescue team immediately nodded.

One stood up and told Fang Qiu they had adopted Binter’s medical treatment pattern with established procedures. The two highly-skilled doctors were responsible for diagnosing patients and deciding the treatments.

“Let’s begin.”

Fang Qiu nodded knowingly. He sat down at the diagnosis desk and began to see patients.

There remained two queues. They didn’t start a new line or merge into one line. In a very organized way, patients in the two lines took turns to see the doctor.

In addition, Fang Qiu was fast when examining patients. As such, the whole process of handling patients proceeded at the same speed as when the two highly-skilled doctors were here.

Like this...

Fang Qiu kept accepting patients.

But there were too many patients in this place. Because the area was remote, all the patients around this place were sent to this rescue station.

In this case, Fang Qiu didn’t know how many patients he had seen.

In the blink of an eye...

He started in the early morning. The time passed quickly, and night suddenly fell.

The lights in the tent were also turned on.

Fang Qiu was still seeing patients and writing prescriptions.

“Whoosh, whoosh, whoosh...”

After diagnosing a patient, Fang Qiu quickly wrote down a prescription and habitually handed it to the doctor beside him. Afterward, he was ready to accept the next patient.

Just then...

“Eh?”

A surprised voice was heard.

Confused, Fang Qiu looked back. It was highly-skilled doctor Xu Lai who had taken his prescription.

After a busy day, Fang Qiu didn't notice the two highly-skilled doctors had woken up.

“You made this prescription?”

Holding the prescription, the highly-skilled doctor Xu Lai asked in surprise.

“Sure.”

Fang Qiu nodded affirmatively.

“Well...”

The highly-skilled doctor Xu Lai frowned. Then he stepped forward and reached out to feel the patient's pulse.

Fang Qiu quickly made way for him.

“Alas.”

After seeing the patient, Xu Lai suddenly sighed softly. "I didn't expect you to get such remarkable attainments in prescriptions. No one in the younger generation can compare with you."

Hearing his praise, Fang Qiu was slightly stunned, feeling flattered.

Just then...

"Let me see the matchless prescription."

The highly-skilled doctor Yang Qingfu also walked over quickly. With a curious look, he took the prescription from Xu Lai. After a closer look at it, he was confused and also performed the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease to check on the patient.

"That's right."

"With this skill, no one in the younger generation can better him!"

The highly-skilled doctor Yang Qingfu exclaimed.

"Seniors, you flatter me."

Fang Qiu shook his head modestly in response.

Chapter 1493 Only a Holy Doctor Is Qualified

The two highly-skilled doctors were ready to take over Fang Qiu's job.

However...

Just as they sat back at their diagnosis desks, other members of the Huaxia rescue team and local officials came over. They strongly advised them to have a meal first. After all, they had just woken up from a coma and hadn't eaten anything all day.

The two highly-skilled doctors accepted their suggestion.

They were indeed hungry.

Fang Qiu went on doing their jobs. After the two highly-skilled doctors had some food, he handed over the diagnosis work to them.

Of course...

Fang Qiu didn't leave this place.

After leaving the diagnosis desk, he moved aside and turned to do medical treatments for those patients.

Compared with others, Fang Qiu was much faster when doing therapies. As a result, the whole treatment process quickened a lot.

At one o'clock in the morning...

"Fang Qiu."

Xu Lai and Yang Qingfu were seeing patients. Suddenly, the two highly-skilled doctors turned their heads and called Fang Qiu together.

"Huh?"

Fang Qiu had just finished curing a patient. Hearing that, he was stunned.

“Come here.”

The wiry highly-skilled doctor, Yang Qingfu, waved at Fang Qiu and said, “Come and see this patient. Look at the treatment plans from the two of us.”

Fang Qiu heard that...

He was stunned.

Immediately, he walked up.

“Here’s the thing.”

Xu Lai told Fang Qiu with a smile, “We both diagnosed the patient’s illness condition but came up with different treatment plans. We are not exactly asking you to choose a better one. Instead, we want you to examine this patient and tell us your therapy.”

With this...

Xu Lai stood up and let Fang Qiu sit at the desk.

Meanwhile, the two highly-skilled doctors looked at Fang Qiu encouragingly.

Fang Qiu saw that...

No longer bashful, he sat at the diagnosis desk and performed the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease.

Of course, the two highly-skilled doctors didn't diagnose through interrogation because of the language barrier. Therefore, even if Fang Qiu had learned to speak Tagalog, he didn't ask any questions. Instead, he just felt the patient's pulse.

The examination was over.

Fang Qiu found the patient got problems like chest distress, palpitation, chest-back pain, poor appetite, and insomnia. Evidently, these symptoms were caused by excessive loss of blood.

"May I see your prescriptions and treatment plans?"

Fang Qiu asked.

Xu Lai and Yang Qingfu, the two highly-skilled doctors, exchanged a glance and put their prescriptions on the table.

Fang Qiu looked at them carefully.

However, he found that...

Although their treatment methods were different, their prescriptions were largely the same — they both chose the Gualou Xiebai Decoction.

"How is it?"

When Fang Qiu finished checking their prescriptions, the highly-skilled doctor Xu Lai asked.

Fang Qiu did not answer.

Instead, he picked up a pen and added one ingredient to their prescriptions: cassia twig!

“That’s the complete therapy.”

Finishing writing, Fang Qiu said.

When the two highly-skilled doctors saw it, they immediately laughed.

“Why would you add cassia twigs?”

The highly-skilled doctor Yang Qingfu asked.

Fang Qiu pursed his lips and said, “Seniors, you chose mild medicinal materials. First of all, this is a safe method. It can avoid conflict with the patient’s vital Qi. In the past, when we could get good quality medicinal herbs, your choice would be great. But we are now in the disaster area.

“After all, medicinal herbs here are with different qualities.

“The moderate herbs you chose won’t act directly upon problematic places like heavy drugs. Instead, you intend to fluctuate the patient’s Qi with a moderate prescription. This could stimulate the body’s immune system to work. However, the herbs nowadays are not as good as those in ancient times. Thus, your treatment methods could hardly be effective.”

The two highly-skilled doctors listened to his detailed explanation.

They looked at each other and smiled.

“Great.”

Yang Qingfu, the highly-skilled doctor, exclaimed with a smile, “Keep pace with the times.”

“With these advanced treatment concepts, you are capable enough to be a highly-skilled doctor.”

The highly-skilled doctor Xu Lai echoed with a smile.

“Seniors, you flatter me.”

Fang Qiu responded modestly, making a fist-and-palm salute to the two highly-skilled doctors.

The two highly-skilled doctors smiled but said nothing.

Fang Qiu quickly got up, returned to his seat, and continued to treat patients.

In a twinkling...

It was dawn.

Fang Qiu took a look around and found that they had seen most of the patients. The condition after the disaster had turned for the better. Everything could work well even without him. It wouldn't take long for other doctors to see all the patients.

“Seniors.”

Fang Qiu stepped forward and said to Xu Lai and Yang Qingfu, the two highly-skilled doctors, “I've seen most injured people here. There should not be many more patients coming, so I will leave and check up on the third rescue team.”

“Alright.”

Xu Lai nodded.

“Yi Banxian, Bu Chunqiu, and Yu Qing have been transferred from your first rescue team to the third rescue team. Yet, the situation there seems to be quite severe.”

Yang Qingfu, the highly-skilled doctor, said with a smile, “Go and look at the three old guys. If they are not in good health, ask them to rest. If they insist on working continuously, they may fall ill instead of curing others.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and smiled.

It seemed that...

These highly-skilled doctors were indeed fond of joking with each other.

Of course, Fang Qiu wouldn't tell Yi Banxian and the other two highly-skilled doctors about what he had heard.

Soon...

Fang Qiu said goodbye to everyone.

He rushed to the location of the third rescue team.

The third rescue team was in Bayag between Bintar and Santana. It was close to a giant freshwater lake rarely seen in Phillippeanes.

It was in the inland area.

Because it was a vast open territory with many houses and trees, the super typhoon swept over and caused extensive damage. Lots of people were injured.

The distance between the two places was 125 kilometers.

At the crack of dawn, few people were on the road. By taking this chance, Fang Qiu flew away.

He came to the third rescue station.

Fang Qiu found it looked much better than the one in Santana. At least there were wooden houses here.

This spacious wooden house was shaped like a warehouse. Many round wooden pillars supported this house one meter above the ground. It was the third rescue station.

Besides this rescue station...

There were three similar wooden houses around it. One of them seemed to be the lounge prepared by the local official. One was the office where the local official communicated with the Manilla authorities, and the third was marked as an operating room.

Seeing the operating room, Fang Qiu immediately learned that the losses caused by the disaster in this area must be serious!

Fang Qiu stopped at the operating room.

With a closer look, he saw all kinds of surgical instruments inside. Besides Western Medicine tools, there were lots of Chinese Medicine instruments.

Standing by the window, he could still smell the faint smell of blood.

He frowned secretly.

Fang Qiu quickly walked into the rescue station.

He went in and looked around.

There were indeed a lot of disaster victims here.

What was worse, unlike the previous two rescue stations, almost all the patients in this one were seriously injured. These people were with their heads broken and bleeding or suffered fractures.

Right now...

In the rescue station, the six highly-skilled doctors were still busy treating these patients.

At a glance...

In addition to the three highly-skilled doctors, Yi Banxian, Bu Chunqiu, and Yu Qing, three other highly-skilled doctors were assigned here in the first place. They were Yang Juanyong, Lu Chengze, and Zhou Shizhan.

Because they were busy seeing patients, the six highly-skilled doctors didn't notice Fang Qiu's arrival.

Fang Qiu did not go over to disturb them.

Instead, he secretly examined the bodies of the six highly-skilled doctors. After ensuring they were fine, he found a place to treat the patients.

Compared to patients in other places...

Most people here suffered external injuries, and a few were internally wounded.

Most importantly, very few people had diseases.

In this situation...

Fang Qiu fully used his skill of boneset.

He was extremely fast.

Anyone who came could immediately be treated on the spot.

Before long, he had cured more than a dozen patients.

However...

Just as Fang Qiu fully adapted to the quick rhythm, a patient suddenly ran over. He had no wounds and said that he had suffered internal injuries. His face looked very strange. Anyway, his face and eyes appeared abnormal.

Confused, Fang Qiu examined him.

“Gee?”

As a result, Fang Qiu found that the patient was not suffering from internal injuries. He was poisoned!

Watching the treatment method the patient got from a highly-skilled doctor, he raised his eyebrows slightly. The highly-skilled doctor’s therapy was okay. It was just that the treatment speed was relatively low.

The worst thing for a patient being poisoned was that the toxin stayed in his body for a long time.

No matter what kind of toxin it was, it would cause damage to the human body if it stayed there for too long. Therefore, the best treatment for poisoning cases was to remove the toxin from the patient’s body as soon as possible.

“Wait a minute.”

Fang Qiu told the patient. Then, he walked up to Zhou Shizhan, who was diagnosing other patients.

After greeting him respectfully, he explained the situation to the highly-skilled doctor Zhou Shizhan. After that, he told him his treatment plan.

“Eh?”

Hearing what Fang Qiu said, Zhou Shizhan was stunned at first. Then, his eyes lit up as he looked at Fang Qiu in surprise and said, “I didn’t expect you to have such a deep understanding of poison.”

“I was lucky enough to learn some.”

Fang Qiu answered modestly.

“Not bad.”

Zhou Shizhan, the highly-skilled doctor, smiled with a nod and said, “The treatment you proposed is very good. Just treat the patient with it.”

“Yes.”

Fang Qiu nodded and immediately went back to treat the poisoned patient.

Over there...

After Fang Qiu came over to ask the question...

The other highly-skilled doctors also noticed his arrival. At once, they gathered around and asked each other. When did this guy come? How could he treat the patients without anyone noticing him?

It seemed that he had cured a lot of patients!

They asked each other questions.

However, no one knew when Fang Qiu came.

In the end, everyone focused on the matter that Fang Qiu consulted the highly-skilled doctor Zhou Shizhan.

After they listened to Zhou Shizhan's remark...

Everyone looked at Fang Qiu with satisfaction, their eyes full of admiration.

"Indeed. Fang Qiu lives up to his reputation."

After his comment, Zhou Shizhan couldn't help sighing with emotion, "If Xu Miaolin hadn't done it before me, I would have accepted him as my disciple."

"Seriously? Forget about it."

Yi Banxian said with a teasing smile, "If you want to take this boy as your disciple, you must be a holy doctor at least."

The others nodded in agreement.

Chapter 1494 The Lost Acupuncture Technique

Once again, the six highly-skilled doctors put all their energies into treating patients.

There were many patients and doctors. The diagnosis desks of six highly-skilled doctors were arranged in a row. They accepted and diagnosed patients at the same time. As for the other doctors of Chinese Medicine and Western Medicine, they treated these patients according to the prescriptions given by several highly-skilled doctors.

At first, there was not enough time for this team of Western Medicine and Chinese Medicine doctors to handle all the patients in time.

But after Fang Qiu joined them, the speed of their treatment quickly increased.

Unfortunately...

Such a good state didn't last long before — a patient broke the scene in good order.

“Eh?”

It was Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, who received this patient.

When he took the patient's pulse, he found something wrong with his condition. After a careful examination, he frowned deeply and said, “Your disease is the same as the strange one recorded in ancient medical books. How did you get this disease?”

The patient was confused.

He couldn't understand what Yu Qing was saying.

But nearly them...

Yu Qing's questions attracted the other two highly-skilled doctors nearby, and they looked over.

"What's the matter?"

Bu Chunqiu, the highly-skilled doctor sitting on the left side of Yu Qing, asked.

"What's the disease?"

The highly-skilled doctor Lu Chengze on Yu Qing's right side also asked curiously.

"It's a rare disease."

Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, frowned. While thinking about it, he replied, "There's a cure for this strange disease, but we must use an acupuncture method of flying needles driving Qi. But that method has been lost. I'm afraid it's not easy to cure him."

The other highly-skilled doctors also turned their attention to them.

Full of curiosity...

In addition to Yu Qing, the other five highly-skilled doctors came to feel the patient's pulse one by one. They discovered that the patient's condition was exactly as Yu Qing had said. The acupuncture method of flying needles driving Qi must be used to raise and adjust the patient's Qi.

The six highly-skilled doctors racked their brains for ideas. But after pondering for a long time, no one found a solution.

Since these highly-skilled doctors could do nothing about it...

How could those doctors of brightness treating patients behind them find a way to deal with it?

The six highly-skilled doctors were stumped by this unexpected case.

For a moment...

No one knew what effective prescription should be written.

Chinese Medicine doctors could do nothing about it. While those Western Medicine doctors were treating symptoms and not the root cause. They were also at the end of their resources when it came to such a strange disease.

"Do you have any other methods?"

The highly-skilled doctor Yu Qing asked.

After he said that...

The others frowned. If there were a way, they would have said it long ago. Why must they waste time puzzling over the problem for so long?

“Oh, I almost forget it.”

Just when everyone felt utterly at a loss, the highly-skilled doctor Zhou Shizhan sitting on the right side, suddenly said. He pointed to Fang Qiu, who was treating other patients behind him, and added, “Maybe he knows a way!”

After he said that...

Everyone felt enlightened.

Fang Qiu was right here! Though this young guy had not yet officially become a highly-skilled doctor, he was equally competent and even more powerful.

Perhaps this guy had a way.

“Fang Qiu.”

Yu Qing didn't stand on ceremony and called Fang Qiu.

“Uh?”

After curing one patient, Fang Qiu handed the next patient to other Chinese Medicine doctors. Then he quickly turned around and walked toward the six highly-skilled doctors.

Seeing them staring at him, Fang Qiu was slightly stunned and asked, “Seniors, what is this about?”

“Let me ask you.”

Before the others could speak, the highly-skilled doctor Yu Qing asked directly, “Do you have a way to drive the patient’s Qi?”

“Activating Qi.”

Fang Qiu was stunned.

“Yes.”

Yu Qing nodded affirmatively.

“Then, I want to try the acupuncture method.”

Fang Qiu said.

“Eh?”

The six highly-skilled doctors were stunned and asked curiously, “You can do it?”

“When I stayed at the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, I almost finished reading all the ancient books of Chinese Medicine there. From them, I learned some acupuncture methods of flying needles driving Qi.”

With a nod, Fang Qiu continued, “Flying needles driving Qi is a medical terminology about acupuncture methods with needles. It refers to some specific acupuncture methods. First, viscera in the five elements mutually reinforce and neutralize each other. Methods like reinforcing mother viscera for treating a deficiency of child viscera and purging child viscera for treating the excess of mother viscera should be used.

“Second, when performing the reinforcing method, first apply nine shallow punctures then nine deep punctures with the correct breathing. Feel the Qi movement and wait for the desired sensation. It is also called crossing blockages moving Qi.

“According to The Ode to Acupuncture Needles, there are four ways of crossing blockages moving Qi when doctors need to get over the barriers and make the Qi reach the desired destination.

“The second method is to White Tiger Shaking Head. According to The Ode to Acupuncture Needles, doctors shake needles like white tigers moving its head. When withdrawing the needles, they move them forward along a semi-circle round and retreat along a semi-square. Like ringing a bell, they should move needles left and right and pause occasionally, making needles vibrate.

“The third method is Black Tortoise Probing Cave. It’s recorded in The Ode to Acupuncture Needles. Doctors stick needles into their patients in three directions before withdrawing them. They should repeat the process like a turtle searching underground in all directions.

“The fourth method is Red Phoenix Fluttering Wings. According to The Ode to Acupuncture Needles, doctors stick needles to the deepest part and move them upward. Then, they insert needles a little deeper when the desired sensation comes. Afterward, they fiddle with needles vertically and horizontally, twisting them around.”

Speaking of this...

Fang Qiu continued, “Besides, many other ancient books about medical skills or acupuncture methods mentioned it. The flying needles driving Qi method has been lost, but I have carefully studied it. By using the strong points of all others, I finally learned this method.”

After he said that...

The eyes of the six highly-skilled doctors immediately lit up.

“Has he learned this method?”

“Tell me about it.”

Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, said.

“Then I’ll give you a few examples.”

Fang Qiu nodded and said, “In The Ode to Acupuncture Needles, doctors applying the Divine Dragon Wagging Tail shouldn’t push or withdraw their needles after sticking them into the patients. Also, they can’t raise or lower needles. Instead, they must slowly wiggle needles left and right. In the process, they could stimulate their patients’ Qi.

“However, in Acupuncture Questions and Answers, the author Wang Ji described this method differently: when manipulating needles, doctors should insert needles into the desired depth of the acupoint, moving and pressing them slowly like handling a rudder. In each acupoint, needles should be moved to the left and right for the time of five breaths. Doctors press needles and shake them like a dragon wagging its tail. Gradually, they could clear the way and activate the circulation of Qi.

“He proposed to shake needles in each acupoint for five breaths. He described the time of acupuncture!

“In addition, Li Ting also mentioned in Introduction to Medicine: the doctor should use two fingers to press down on the needle tip and direct it toward the affected area, like steering a boat, holding it without turning. Move the needle on the left, then on the right, slowly rotating it nine times, even up to three times nine which is twenty-seven times. Qi will pass through the meridians.

“On this point, it is pointed out that the Divine Dragon Wagging Tail should not be limited to pass blockages and joints. It should be applied to the affected area.

“Yang Jizhou, in Compendium of Acupuncture and Moxibustion, referred to this needling technique as the Black Dragon Wagging Tail. The Black Dragon Wagging Tail can be used for nourishment. It is applied to the joints. Doctors slowly withdraw and support the needle, like operating a boat’s rudder in a river. The process allows the Qi to flow throughout the body.

“If an invigoration method can collect Qi, it is purely nourishing. Otherwise, a purgative method should be adopted. Doctors should suit their actions to changing conditions.

When he said that...

Fang Qiu added, “The White Tiger Shaking Head method also has used the strong points of all others.”

When the six highly-skilled doctors heard all of this...

They all nodded with satisfaction.

Yi Banxian brought the patient to Fang Qiu.

After briefly measuring his pulse, Fang Qiu immediately began treating him with acupuncture.

The six highly-skilled doctors watched aside.

When they witnessed Fang Qiu’s skill, their eyes lit up.

Soon...

Fang Qiu was done.

“Oh, I forgot to record it.”

Beside him, Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, slapped his forehead and hurriedly said to Fang Qiu, “Hurry up and perform the acupuncture again. Wait for me to shoot video of him.”

When Fang Qiu heard that...

He inserted the needles again.

After the highly-skilled doctor Yu Qing shot the video...

“Great. That’s great.”

He came forward, patted Fang Qiu on the shoulder with satisfaction, and said, “You have made a great contribution to the inheritance and development of Chinese Medicine. You have rendered outstanding service to the development of Chinese Medicine.”

“No, you overpraised me. I’m a student of Chinese Medicine. This is what I should do.”

Fang Qiu replied modestly.

The six highly-skilled doctors were even more impressed with Fang Qiu.

Just then...

“Clatter, clatter, clatter...”

There was a sudden rush of footsteps.

The rescue station's floor was quite high above the ground. Thus, anyone running on it would make a loud sound.

They turned to look.

Right there...

The person who ran in was the local official.

"What's up?"

Lu Chengze, the highly-skilled doctor assigned to this place from the beginning, stepped forward and asked.

"There's an outbreak of disease."

The official said with a serious face, "I come over to inform everyone first. I hope everyone will disinfect regularly and isolate those infected people. The patient will be sent here in a while. We haven't yet figured out what the disease is. I hope you can hold a consultation to find a solution."

These highly-skilled doctors immediately nodded.

Such a thing was not a surprise to them.

After all, epidemics would often break out after disasters. Thus, everyone began to prepare for the arrival of the patient.

At the same time...

Western Medicine doctors also took out disinfectants and sprayed them everywhere to disinfect the area thoroughly.

The local official turned the operating room into an isolation room. He didn't dare to let other injured people and patients contact the contagious patient.

Soon after...

Everything was ready.

The patient was sent here.

As soon as the patient arrived, Western Medicine doctors immediately went forward and disinfected the way the patient passed. Eventually, the patient was sent to the isolation room.

The six highly-skilled doctors held a consultation for this patient in the isolation room. Meanwhile, Fang Qiu continued examining and treating patients in the rescue station.

In the isolation room...

The patient was lying on the bed. After a careful examination, the six highly-skilled doctors hurried out and began the consultation outside.

However...

In the face of the patient's condition, the six highly-skilled doctors couldn't help frowning during the consultation. They felt that all their treatment plans were inappropriate.

Helplessly...

The six highly-skilled doctors could only ask the local official to get the other four highly-skilled doctors from the other two rescue points. Then, they could have a consultation together.

Soon...

Ten highly-skilled doctors gathered.

The four doctors who had just arrived checked the patient. Right after that, they participated in the consultation.

However, they couldn't figure out a suitable treatment plan after a long time. At last, they chose a compromise method and began to give the patient medicine.

Chapter 1495 He Can be A Highly-skilled Doctor

After the ten highly-skilled doctors determined the therapy...

Then, they personally decocted the herbs for the patients.

After the patient took the medicinal potion, the ten highly-skilled doctors observed him outside the isolation room. They wanted to see this patient's changes and if he was getting better.

However...

After they waited for a long time, nothing happened.

It proved that there might be something wrong with the prescription made by the ten highly-skilled doctors.

For a moment...

The ten highly-skilled doctors couldn't help frowning.

They made this prescription after a lengthy consultation. No one had expected it to be ineffective.

Notably...

They were all highly-skilled doctors.

There were only 51 highly-skilled doctors in Huaxia and the world!

Here...

In the rescue station...

The local official found Fang Qiu.

"I heard that your medical skills are the best in Huaxia. I've also heard about what you have done in Murica. Please go out and see that patient as soon as possible."

Fang Qiu was diagnosing his patient. Hearing that, he instantly found another Chinese Medicine doctor to take his place. Then, he went out with the local official.

Fang Qiu didn't ask any questions.

Since the local official had come to ask for his help, the consultation of the ten highly-skilled doctors did not work.

There...

Outside the isolation room, the ten highly-skilled doctors frowned. Seeing the local official coming out of the rescue station with Fang Qiu, they couldn't help smiling wryly.

Of course, they didn't blame the local official. After all, they didn't cure the patient in the first place.

The earlier they found a cure for the infectious disease, the better.

Thus...

The local official certainly would take the initiative to invite Fang Qiu over.

Soon, Fang Qiu and the local official came to the door of the isolation room.

"Seniors."

Fang Qiu first nodded to the ten highly-skilled doctors. Then, he entered the isolation room and felt the patient's pulse. Meanwhile, he performed the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease.

The examination was over.

Fang Qiu also frowned.

He walked out of the isolation room.

“Brat.”

Yi Banxian stepped forward and handed Fang Qiu a prescription, saying, “This is the prescription that the ten old guys worked out together. Is there any problem?”

Fang Qiu took it and had a look.

There was indeed nothing wrong with it, but why was it ineffective?

Fang Qiu felt extremely puzzled.

Looking at the prescription made by the ten highly-skilled doctors, Fang Qiu was lost in thought.

Of course...

He was not thinking about why this prescription was ineffective. Instead, he had been flipping through the ancient prescriptions in his mind. While searching among these prescriptions, he constantly combined the same type of prescriptions.

Seeing that Fang Qiu was deep in thought, they didn't want to disturb him and waited quietly.

After some time...

Fang Qiu pulled himself out of his thoughts.

“Seniors, I want to change the prescription.”

Fang Qiu said.

“Uh?”

Hearing this, the ten highly-skilled doctors frowned in unison.

In Chinese Medicine, there were rules for changing prescriptions.

It was natural for a master to change his disciple’s prescription. Doctors with superior skills could also alter the prescriptions of the less competent ones. However, how could a young man modify the prescription of many experienced Chinese Medicine doctors? Besides, they were all highly-skilled doctors.

That didn’t sound right.

Nevertheless...

The ten highly-skilled doctors also knew why Fang Qiu made such a request. He didn’t mean to offend them but did this to heal the patient and find a cure for this disease. Therefore, after a start, they let go of the negative thought.

“How do you want to change it?”

The highly-skilled doctor Li Zhengtang came forward and said, “During the consultation, we discussed for a long time and made this prescription. After all, there is no precedent for such a contagious disease.”

“Change it.”

The highly-skilled doctor Bu Chunqiu nodded and said, “Write down the prescription in your mind and let us old guys study it.”

“Okay.”

Without hesitation, Fang Qiu found a piece of paper and a pen. Quickly, he wrote down the prescription he thought of and handed it to the ten highly-skilled doctors.

As soon as the ten highly-skilled doctors got the prescription...

They gathered together and began to study it.

However, some highly-skilled doctors kept nodding during the process, while some repeatedly shook their heads. There seemed to be both reasonable and unreasonable points.

They studied it for a long while.

“Young man, come here.”

Yi Banxian waved to Fang Qiu and asked, “How did you come up with this prescription? What’s your treatment idea with this prescription?”

“I combined ideas from the ancient book of prescriptions that Yu Qing gave me and made this prescription.”

Fang Qiu replied, “Here’s what I’m thinking. The rhizome of Chuanxiong, mahuang, bugbane, radix Puerariae, purple perilla, the root of Dahurain angelica, and rhizoma cyperi have distinct medicinal fragrances. They can stimulate the flow of vital energy, resolve the exterior, and dissipate cold.”

“When peony is added, the prescription can gather yin energy and suppress sweat. With the rhizome of wind-weed, it can treat yin deficiency by reinforcing body fluid and nourishing the blood. The pathogenic heat would be harmful to nutritive Qi. Thus, we should add the root of herbaceous peony to regulate and nourish the blood. In addition, the root of large-flowered skullcap could clear dryness-heat while the root of licorice could reconcile various ingredients...”

Fang Qiu explained in detail.

The ten highly-skilled doctors listened carefully.

The more they heard, the more firmly they believed Fang Qiu's words.

Fang Qiu explained the property of medicine and the auxiliary functions of each medicinal herb in his prescription. Moreover, the functions of different compatibility of medicines did not conflict. Instead, the effect of these medicines was enhanced.

After that...

The ten highly-skilled doctors looked at each other and kept nodding.

They could tell that...

Fang Qiu made this prescription based on the strengths of all quarters.

There seemed to be reasonable and unreasonable aspects. But after they listened to his explanation, those unreasonable points surprisingly became reasonable. As for those reasonable things, they became even more credible to them.

This discovery lit up the eyes of the highly-skilled doctors.

"I think this prescription is pretty good."

Yu Qing made no attempt to hide his admiration for Fang Qiu and said, "We can try this prescription!"

"Sounds not bad."

Bu Chunqiu also nodded. He looked around at the others and asked, "What do you think?"

"That's it!"

Yi Banxian said, "The ten of us have been studying the case for so long, but we haven't found anything useful. The prescription has practical concepts and steps for treatment. There is no need to doubt it. The result will come out after we try it, right?"

After he said that...

The other highly-skilled doctors nodded in agreement.

Seemingly, when facing such a contagious disease, all the highly-skilled doctors chose to focus on the disease. No one cared if a young junior surpassed them.

After they confirmed it...

Fang Qiu went to get the herbs from the rescue station.

Then, he decocted the potion himself!

Half an hour later...

The medicinal potion was ready. Fang Qiu poured out a bowl of it. After cooling it, he sent it to the isolation room and asked the patient to drink it.

The ten highly-skilled doctors observed the patient's condition outside the isolation room through the window.

Obviously...

All their faces were full of expectations. They were looking forward to seeing the remarkable effect of Fang Qiu's prescription.

If it didn't work, they might not prevent the expansion of the disease in time.

The patient finished drinking the potion.

Fang Qiu immediately walked out of the isolation room and watched with others.

Five minutes passed by, but nothing happened to the patient.

After five minutes...

The patient's complexion began to change. He looked better and better. Gradually, his color rose.

When everyone saw this...

They became more anxious to see the good result.

Obviously, the prescription made by Fang Qiu began to take effect. However, this small effect was not enough to fully prove that the prescription was effective. Whether it worked or not depended on the situation later.

Fang Qiu immediately went in to examine the patient.

Then...

After the examination, he found that his prescription was indeed effective.

The patient was much better, and his physical condition was improved continuously.

When Fang Qiu was aware of this...

He immediately smiled and waved to the ten highly-skilled doctors outside the isolation room.

Seeing this, the ten highly-skilled doctors also walked in.

Full of curiosity and expectations, the ten highly-skilled doctors took the patient's pulse to examine him.

But before the ten highly-skilled doctors finished their examination, the patient sat up on the bed. He was no longer as powerless and painful as before. Instead, he thanked Fang Qiu with tremendous excitement and happiness.

When doctors checked up on him again...

He was alright!

The patient had completely recovered.

This time, the ten highly-skilled doctors were all surprised. No one had expected Fang Qiu's prescription to be so effective.

Of course...

The ten highly-skilled doctors generously delivered all kinds of compliments to Fang Qiu.

"No wonder you are called a miracle-working doctor. Well done."

Yang Juanyong laughed and said.

“In reality and name, he is the most outstanding talent of the younger generation in Huaxia Chinese Medicine. He is the hope of our Chinese Medicine.”

Yi Banxian said.

“I thought you were only good at boneset, but I didn’t expect you to be an expert in utilizing herbs.”

Li Zhengtang also said with a gratified smile.

“This prescription is excellent.”

Zhou Shizhan, the highly-skilled doctor, patted Fang Qiu on the shoulder, saying, “Merely because of your excellent skills in choosing medicinal materials, you can be a highly-skilled doctor.”

Before that...

Zhou Shizhan had witnessed Fang Qiu’s profound understanding of poison. With his remarkable ability to make prescriptions, Fang Qiu could credibly be called a highly-skilled doctor.

“Besides his ability in choosing herbs, he can be regarded as a highly-skilled doctor because of his excellent acupuncture skills.”

The highly-skilled doctor Yu Qing said.

When the others heard that...

They suddenly remembered something. Not long ago, Fang Qiu cured a patient with the long-lost flying acupuncture method of flying needles driving Qi. With his impressive acupuncture skill and profound study in acupuncture, he was qualified to become a highly-skilled doctor.

The local official had invited over many Chinese Medicine doctors and doctors of brightness for help. When they heard those highly-skilled doctors' compliments for Fang Qiu, they couldn't help looking at Fang Qiu enviously.

In their eyes...

Every talent with great fame must be worthy of the name.

Since Fang Qiu enjoyed such a great reputation, he must be a talent of immense capacity.

Afterward...

The ten highly-skilled doctors wrote a new prescription based on Fang Qiu's prescription. It could strengthen people's bodies to prevent the spread of the plague.

After they finished writing the prescription...

The ten highly-skilled doctors handed over the two prescriptions to the Huaxia leader.

When receiving the two prescriptions, the Huaxia leader was amazed. It was difficult to define the plague, and he didn't hold out much hope for a cure for this infectious disease. He only hoped that his people here wouldn't be infected.

Even though he knew Fang Qiu was here, he didn't expect anything like this. After all, how could the plague be handled so easily?

But against all his expectations...

The treatment for this plague had been successfully developed.

Without hesitation...

And pleasantly surprised...

The Huaxia leader handed over the two prescriptions to the Philippine authorities and asked them to treat patients with the two prescriptions.

These Philippine officials were also afraid that the plague would spread. Therefore, they immediately began to use the two prescriptions from Huaxia upon receiving them.

As expected, these methods worked.

In this case, the news that the Huaxia rescue team found a solution to the plague immediately spread to all the other medical aid stations in Philippines!

Chapter 1496 Introducing and Investment

In regard to the post-disaster pandemic...

From the moment it appeared, it had become the focus of many people.

Apart from Huaxia emergency medical rescue team, other countries' medical rescue teams and the local medical organizations of Philippines also began to research at the very beginning of the pandemic, trying to find a cure for the disease.

However...

When all the countries and medical rescue teams couldn't find a cure for the disease or solution, the news came that the medical rescue team of Huaxia Chinese Medicine had settled the problem.

Upon hearing this news...

Everyone was surprised.

“What’s going on?”

“It’s hard to believe. It’s only been two days, and it’s already settled?”

“They’re too fast. It’s incredible!”

“It feels so unreal. How could they find a cure so quickly?”

In the other two rescue stations, the doctors of Huaxia Western Medicine were shocked when they heard the news.

Even the Huaxia Western Medicine doctors were shocked.

The medical rescue teams of other countries were even too shocked to say anything.

“Is there a solution found?”

“The plague has been cured by the Huaxia Chinese Medicine rescue team.”

“Is Huaxia Chinese Medicine so awesome?”

“I only heard about Huaxia Chinese Medicine before, but I didn’t expect it to be so powerful!”

“Could it be a lie? We’ve just started our research and haven’t even had time to do scientific experiments. I can’t believe it has been cured by Huaxia Chinese Medicine.”

For a while...

All the medical rescue teams doubted the news while being shocked.

For the doctors of Western Medicine...

Every outbreak of a plague would take a long time for them to conduct a complete research before finding the final solution to cure the disease.

This plague had just appeared one day, and these Western Medicine teams had not gotten time to do research yet, but it had been cured. Such a thing had never happened around the world before, so they had doubts about this news.

However...

Not long after the news was heard, the prescriptions given by the Huaxia Chinese Medicine rescue team had been passed down.

When they got the prescription, these doctors of Western Medicine couldn’t understand it at all. Chinese Medicine was too profound for them, and it was more difficult to learn than Huaxia literature.

Even though they didn’t understand...

Many of them began to search on their phones at the same time to see what kind of disease this prescription would treat. However, after searching for a long time, they couldn't find it online at all.

After all, this was a unique prescription integrated by Fang Qiu himself. Even if the Internet were connected through the world and all the data of Huaxia Chinese Medicine were uploaded to the Internet, they would never find this prescription.

However, one thing was certain.

From today on, this prescription would be open to the whole world.

Taking into account that the foreign medical rescue teams couldn't understand Huaxianese characters or Chinese Medicine prescriptions, the Philippine official decided to invite all Huaxia Chinese Medicine doctors to make the medicine in a large amount.

Then, they quickly distributed these medicine to the medical rescue teams from various countries.

Soon, all the medical secure teams got the medicine accordingly.

And they, still in doubt, got the patients to take the medicine.

As it turned out...

The patients took the medicinal potion, and it only took about 15 minutes that the medicine worked and the patients' conditions were greatly relieved. Then, under the incredible gazes of the members of the medical rescue teams from various countries, the patients were cured.

The plague was really cured by a pouch of medicinal potion.

What an astonishing result!

All the members of the foreign medical rescue teams felt confused.

“What’s going on?”

“It doesn’t make sense at all!”

“How has it been cured? The virus of the plague has not been extracted yet. We don’t even know what type of plague it is. How did they make it happen?”

“What is the pouch of medicinal potion? And how was it made out? How could this little bit of medicinal potion cure the plague?”

All the members of the foreign medical rescue teams were dumbfounded.

At the same time...

The news was quickly spread to Huaxia by the Huaxia reporters who followed behind Fang Qiu here, and it immediately caused a heated discussion on Weibo.

“The doctors of Huaxia Chinese Medicine have successfully researched and developed a special prescription before the outbreak of the pandemic in Phlippeanes!”

Seeing this news...

The netizens in Huaxia felt extremely proud and excited.

“Chinese Medicine is awesome!”

“They deserve to be the members of Huaxia Chinese Medicine team. They are so great!”

“Ha-ha, it’s so funny. The doctors from other countries have no clue about what the pandemic is, while it has been cured by Chinese Medicine.”

“Are those doctors of Western Medicine from other countries dumbfounded?”

“Now they should have learned what Huaxia Chinese Medicine is and how awesome Chinese Medicine is, right?”

“Medical instruments, research, and examination, none of them are needed. In our Huaxia Chinese Medicine, it just needs to feel the pulse and take the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease to see what disease it is, and it doesn’t need to do research before making a prescription.”

“It really brings honor to Huaxia.”

Compared to ordinary people...

The practitioners in the Chinese Medicine industry were even more excited.

“The highly-skilled doctor is worthy of the title. He is really powerful.”

All the doctors in Huaxia Chinese Medicine industry were particularly excited.

Previously, when they heard the news of what the doctors of Chinese Medicine had done in Phillippeanes, they were already very excited. Now this news was even more inspiring.

Soon...

The Philippinean official also released the same news.

And this news was reposted to various countries around the world one after another.

With the spread of the news, all countries once again came to realize the tremendous power of Chinese Medicine. It might not be seen in other respects, however, in terms of the pandemic, all nations could distinctly see it.

In such a short time, to solve the plague that was about to burst out and prevent the outbreak of the plague, it was not something that ordinary people could make it.

Even the WHO, with the most advanced technology in the world, couldn't do this.

Thus...

It was distinct how powerful Huaxia Chinese Medicine was!

Every country had realized it.

In addition, the international traditional medicine research institute began to discuss the introduction of Chinese Medicine on the agenda right after hearing the news.

At this very moment...

They realized one thing.

The five-thousand-year-old civilization inheritance of Huaxia indeed had its real strength.

After all...

No matter how minor the thing that had accumulated for five thousand years was, it would definitely become unimaginably great up to today.

In this case...

Many departments from various countries began to study Chinese Medicine.

The three countries of Anglan, L'hexagone, and Rashk, which had recognized Chinese Medicine before and directly introduced it to domestics, were very satisfied with the Chinese Medicine going viral. Not only did they increase their care and support for Chinese Medicine, but they also started Chinese Medicine learning courses immediately.

With the support of various policies from these three countries, Chinese Medicine in these three countries began to develop vigorously.

In the next few days...

News related was heard constantly from all over the world.

“Denmyn proposes to legalize Chinese medicine.”

“Poriland officially announces to introduce Huaxia Chinese Medicine domestically.”

“Itali officially holds Chinese Medicine courses. It is suspected to combine Chinese Medicine with the trend, predicting that Chinese Medicine will lead the first year of the next trend!”

“Dubay officially announces to establish a Huaxia Chinese Medicine Hospital. The government will vigorously invest in inviting top Chinese Medicine masters from Huaxia to work there. And meanwhile, they are willing to research and develop Chinese Medicine at all costs!”

...

Similar news kept spreading around the world, one after another.

As for these pieces of news...

Undoubtedly, they were all reposted on Weibo in Huaxia.

So many countries recognized Chinese Medicine and started to develop Chinese Medicine vigorously. It was greeted by jubilation across Huaxia.

This was a cultural output.

And it was a thorough cultural output.

It was inspiring and surprising to everyone in Huaxia.

Through this process...

All people around the world could distinctly see what on earth the medical skill Huaxia Chinese Medicine mastered and what the Chinese Medicine culture was.

It was of great use to the development of Chinese Medicine, as well as to the publicity of the Huaxia.

That was not all.

Many worldwide famous pharmaceutical companies began to come into contact with Chinese Medicine, and they even began to recruit doctors of Chinese medicine to carry out the research and development of traditional Chinese medicine.

These pharmaceutical companies had long coveted the Life-prolonging Earthly Immortal Pill and other traditional Chinese medicine that were hot-sale globally. They had been trying to imitate them but failed.

Now, they finally had a legitimate opportunity to join the market.

At this point...

Not only Chinese Medicine...

The domestic traditional Chinese medicine market also began to jubilate.

Over this period of time...

With the measures and actions taken by the Renyi Group, various counterfeit and inferior medications almost disappeared. Under the requirements of Huaxia, many medicinal herbs began to be graded.

The most authentic medicinal herbs were called super-grade, followed by first-grade, second-grade, and third-grade.

The whole Chinese medicinal herb market gradually became orderly.

Obviously...

Before this...

Everything Fang Qiu had shown on the world stage was based on Chinese Medicine. However, Fang Qiu was so brilliant that no second person in Huaxia could come out to the world like him.

As a result, everyone in the world focused on Fang Qiu.

In other words...

Before that, Fang Qiu's reputation was greater than that of Chinese Medicine.

But it was different this time.

What was shown to the whole world was a collective of Chinese Medicine.

For governments, medical systems, and pharmaceutical manufacturers of various countries around the world, Huaxia Chinese Medicine was a medical power that had not been fully excavated.

That was to say...

Chinese Medicine might be a huge medical treasure house. It also meant that Chinese Medicine would soon become a treasure house!

It could be seen from the Renyi Group in Huaxia.

Only several medicines were on sale.

They could not only launch the international market but also take an absolutely leading position in the face of various famous pharmaceutical companies globally. This was the power of Chinese Medicine.

What if a new medicine could be researched and developed in Chinese Medicine?

It would have magnificent profit value!

To be honest...

Seeing the income of Renyi Group, even the pharmaceutical companies abroad would be jealous of it, not to mention domestic.

And now...

As more and more countries began to recognize and vigorously develop Chinese Medicine, the market would inevitably become larger and larger to an unimaginable extent.

In this case, there was no reason for the pharmaceutical companies not to take action.

Chapter 1497 A Clue of the Third-Ranked Heaven Treasure

In Philippeanes...

The rescue was still going on.

However, as time went by, the super typhoon gradually went away, and the sky, which had been covered by dark clouds for a long time, finally burst into warm sunshine again.

With the dispersal of the typhoon and the rainstorm...

A large number of the injured came out of the rescue station, looking at the sunshine that brought hope and vitality to the earth, and they felt like they had been reborn.

Most of the patients' injuries recovered a lot because of the timely rescue and medical treatment.

Coordinating with the local government's reconstruction team, they started to rebuild their homeland in the sunshine.

Of course...

They were very grateful to the Huaxia rescue team.

Without the Huaxia rescue team, even if the disaster had gone far away and the storm had disappeared, the people on this land would still be trapped in the shadow of the plague.

It was Huaxia Chinese Medicine that gave them a chance to face the sunshine and enable them to see the hope of life.

And they saw everything hopeful.

With the strong support of the local government, everything was developing in a promising direction rapidly.

In this case...

It wouldn't take long for the Huaxia emergency rescue team to return home.

But even so...

No one dared to relax.

The Chinese doctors kept working all out to treat the patients, decocting the medicinal potion, performing the surgery, diagnosing, and bonesetting.

Where there were patients, there were doctors.

Bayag was located right in the middle of several major disaster areas, so the ten highly-skilled doctors never left since they gathered in this area.

Every one of them hung on there to treat the injured. Those who couldn't be cured in other regions would be sent here for treatment as soonest as possible.

Currently...

Most of the patients in the rescue station had basically recovered and could move freely. Some of them went back home, and some of them joined the reconstruction team. The number of patients had decreased a lot.

In front of a hospital bed...

Fang Qiu had just set the bones for a patient with a broken calf and left it to the other doctor to bind it up.

“Uh?”

All of a sudden, Fang Qiu stopped his footsteps and turned to look out of the window to the east.

The moment he paused...

Fang Qiu distinctly sensed an unusual fluctuation of the Qi of Heaven and Earth.

It came from the east.

Fang Qiu frowned upon this discovery.

From the fluctuation of the Qi of Heaven and Earth, he could tell that it seemed to be an unknown creature.

Fang Qiu was puzzled.

And he stepped out of the tent.

Just then...

“Clatter, clatter, clatter...”

With a rush of footsteps, the local official was running over with a nervous look on their face.

“What happened?”

Fang Qiu hurried forward to ask.

“Bad news! Something bad has happened!”

The local official said in a panic, “On the other side of the lake, Banji, which is only 20 kilometers away from here, appeared a big monster. It eats people.”

After he said that...

The local official immediately rushed into the rescue station and notified everyone loudly, "A man-eating monster has appeared in Banji. Everyone, don't go out. Be ready to evacuate at any time!"

A man-eating monster?

Hearing this, Fang Qiu couldn't help but be slightly shocked.

"Could it be a sea monster?"

Fang Qiu was puzzled.

Just then, Fang Qiu heard the nervous voice of the news broadcast.

Immediately, he rushed into the rescue station and watched the TV on the wall.

Then...

The pictures on the news came into his sight. A place called Banji, which was located on the east coast of Philippeanes, was attacked by a huge-sized unknown creature, causing heavy casualties.

Many people were severely injured!

Some people were even dragged into the water and eaten by the monster.

Seeing the bloody and brutal scenes, Fang Qiu couldn't help getting angry.

No wonder he felt something wrong just now. How could there be an unusual fluctuation of the Qi of Heaven and Earth in that direction? Now it seemed that it was not an ordinary monster at all.

Fang Qiu suppressed the anger in his heart.

As the local official asked, Fang Qiu went back to his room to rest and shut the door. Then he immediately took out the human skin mask, disguised as John Doe, and rushed to the east coast 20 kilometers away.

Soon after...

Fang Qiu arrived at Banji.

The people who were originally here had been evacuated.

There were zero ordinary people on the coastline.

Fang Qiu looked into the middle of the sea...

He saw a huge sea monster and a group of super metahumans.

Fang Qiu then looked at the sea monster carefully.

It was an extremely huge monster. The size of its body was like that of a giant lizard, and it had sharp teeth like those of an electric eel.

Its limbs were similar to the forelimbs of a sea lion.

Its huge-sized body had reached an astonishing length of 15 meters, just like a giant whale!

“Mosasaurus?”

When Fang Qiu saw this monster, his face changed dramatically in an instant.

As recalled...

He had seen this creature in high school history textbooks. It was a kind of monster called “Mosasaurus” that lived 98 million years ago.

It was mentioned in the history book that this kind of monster indeed evolved from a giant lizard. It was a semiaquatic monster. Whether it was in the water or on land, they could fit in with ease.

Fang Qiu also remembered some other information about Mosasaurus he had learned in high school.

Mosasaurus was a very irritable monster. They could fight to the death with their own kind, often injured their opponent all over, and even smashed them into pieces!

Of course, Mosasaurus was equally cruel and violent in dealing with its prey. According to the archaeological reports, in many regions of the world, many cases showed various sea creatures, which were named after “Dragon” and in size of over 5 meters, had died during fights with Mosasaurus, for only a large-sized Mosasaurus could have such fierce and violent power!

Fang Qiu was shocked.

He didn’t expect that the creature living 98 million years ago would appear in today’s world.

Fang Qiu wondered, “What is going on?”

“Has it been living up to now?”

“Could it be that it has been hiding in the sea all the time?”

In shock...

Fang Qiu saw that the super metahumans, who were assigned by the local government, were frantically attacking the huge Mosasaurus. It could be seen that the Mosasaurus had come ashore, but all the super metahumans worked hard together to push it back into the water, little by little.

However, this Mosasaurus was so terrifying that the local super metahumans already suffered great losses even before they could force it back into the sea!

Fang Qiu cast a glance at the blood-stained area in the sea.

He became furious. Without hesitation, Fang Qiu immediately rushed up to join the combat. He threw his fist and punched the Mosasaurus pouncing toward him fiercely.

“Pow!”

There was a loud sound.

All the super metahumans around were startled.

They had suffered heavy casualties because of such an attack by the Mosasaurus.

They all knew that they were not able to resist such a bump from the Mosasaurus. If they had tried to block it, it would have only ended up with severe injuries.

But before them...

The man who suddenly showed up shook the Mosasaurus's body with a punch.

Mosasaurus did not cause any harm to this man. Instead, it was hit back by the man's punch.

The local super metahumans were all astonished.

“Who is this man?”

“How could he fight to a draw with this terrifying sea monster?”

“Is he a reclusive master in our country?”

While they were wondering...

Fang Qiu didn't slow down his attacks.

After a punch, he caught up with the Mosasaurus and threw another fierce punch, and then another one.

He threw three punches in a row to the Mosasaurus.

The Mosasaurus' highly holding head and his mouth with electric eel-like sharp teeth were pressed into the sea.

“Swoosh!”

The Mosasaurus was furious and threw his head out of the seawater.

However, what greeted him was another punch.

“Pow!”

Another loud sound was heard. The Mosasaurus has just thrown his head out of the water, it was smashed down hard by Fang Qiu again.

This time...

The Mosasaurus was scared.

It didn't dare to raise its head again. Instead, it twisted its body and quickly dived into the sea.

"I'll kill it. There won't be any danger here in the future."

Fang Qiu said to the local super metahumans without looking back. Then he immediately chased after the Mosasaurus.

He chased it all the way.

Wherever the Mosasaurus went, there was not a single fish left.

"It seems that this guy is probably affected by the super typhoon. Without food, it has to go ashore to attack people."

Fang Qiu guessed inwardly.

The Mosasaurus moved very fast. After all, it was an ancient creature.

Fang Qiu chased all the way into the sea and kept diving deeply.

At last, he chased after the Mosasaurus to the high seas.

When he dived to the bottom of the sea, Fang Qiu found a huge sunken ship under the sea, which was more than 200 meters long.

It seemed that this sunken ship was the lair of this Mosasaurus.

Fang Qiu immediately kept chasing after it.

After returning to its lair, the Mosasaurus was unwilling to give in again. Fang Qiu quickly made his moves without hesitation!

His internal Qi burst out.

In the fierce combat with the Mosasaurus, the huge ship, which was already in tatters, soon fell apart.

The Mosasaurus was furious at the scene.

All of a sudden, the Mosasaurus opened its mouth wide and rushed to bite Fang Qiu wildly with electric currents full of its mouth. However, its body size was too large, and Fang Qiu's was small and flexible, so Fang Qiu could easily dodge with a quick move.

Fang Qiu clenched his right hand.

The divine sword was formed and was about to slash down.

Just then, Fang Qiu suddenly noticed that under the twisting of the Mosasaurus' body, something was swept over by the water flow and rushed under his eyes.

Without hesitation...

Fang Qiu stretched out his left hand and grabbed it.

Then, he quickly dodged the attack of the Mosasaurus and took a closer look.

Surprisingly, it was a sheepskin scroll.

There were two words written in ancient Chinese characters on it: Yuan Yang.

At the sight of these two words...

Fang Qiu was suddenly in high spirits.

“The third-ranked Heaven Treasure? Is it Yuan Yang Fruit?”

Thinking of this, Fang Qiu was delighted.

Fang Qiu immediately put away the sheepskin scroll.

Just then, the Mosasaurus attacked fiercely again.

“Space-splitting Sea-cracking Sword!”

In the face of the huge-sized Mosasaurus, Fang Qiu waved his right hand, and the divine sword immediately burst out a dazzling light. In an instant, it cut the Mosasaurus in half!

Fang Qiu killed the Mosasaurus.

Then he glanced around again. After making sure that there was nothing else, Fang Qiu floated to the surface of the sea and came to a coast nearby.

He took out the sheepskin scroll.

Fang Qiu spent quite a while deciphering it. It turned out that the sheepskin scroll recorded an ancient person found a place, which seemed to have some traces of the Yuan Yang Fruit. That place seemed to be the current Atranssy.

Fang Qiu guessed that the people on the ship at the bottom of the sea should have wanted to go to Atranssy to find the third-ranked Heaven Treasure. Most likely, they had encountered marine perils and died there.

Fang Qiu murmured, "This is the only clue.

"If I can find the third-ranked Heaven Treasure, the old master's injury will be cured.

"I have to make some time to go to Atranssy to look for it!"

Then he quickly returned to Philippeanes.

Chapter 1498 Eight Highly-Skilled Doctor Certifications

In Philippeanes...

The effect of the incident with the sea monsters was quickly eliminated, and the news of the sea monster appearing on the east coast did not spread out. All countries kept paying attention to the reconstruction of Philippeanes after the disaster.

And meanwhile...

In Huaxia...

With the rise of Chinese Medicine all over the world, many domestic capital forces also started their moves.

After all, Chinese Medicine was the national essence passed down and developed by Huaxia ancestors over 5,000 years. It would be fine if this national essence did not become a tool for making profits, and even if it did, it must be only beneficial to the Huaxianese.

How could they let the foreigners take advantage of it?

Apart from that...

Compared with foreigners, the major capital forces in Huaxia could absolutely take every advantage. If foreigners wanted to have a share of Huaxia Chinese Medicine, they would not be happy to see that.

After all, in this era of great health, Chinese Medicine, which had finally woken up from a deep sleep, would be a very good project for investment.

And most importantly...

Huaxia was the source of Chinese Medicine all over the world. The capital forces in Huaxia could completely grasp this source. Not only could they gain benefits from it, but also all the merchants and growers related to Chinese Medicine and Chinese medicinal herbs in Huaxia could gain big profits.

This was how Chinese Medicine was supposed to look while being developed.

It didn't even need to calculate. Just thinking about how much profit the Chinese Medicine project would bring, not to mention the major domestic capital forces, even the Huaxia government would not easily share it with other countries.

If the foreigners wanted to get a share, they had to show some sincerity at least, right?

For example...

How to develop Chinese Medicine?

How to support the development of Chinese Medicine in their local areas?

How to promote Chinese Medicine to all people in demand?

Not only the capital forces at home and abroad, but the domestic government also quickly joined forces with the Chinese Medicine Association and began to strongly support and control the external output of Chinese Medicine.

In Jiangjing...

In a certain neighborhood...

“According to the latest report, over 100 countries around the world have officially recognized the legal status of Chinese Medicine. At present, more than 80% of these countries are vigorously supporting and cultivating doctors of Chinese Medicine.

“The establishment of the first Huaxia & Europa Chinese Medicine University is officially announced today. It is located in Zecria. The University has officially started to contact the top-notch doctors of Chinese Medicine domestically, striving to build the largest university of Chinese Medicine in Europa.

“The countries in Aesia announce that they will visit major Chinese Medicine schools in Huaxia soon. They are interested in signing cooperation agreements with appropriate Chinese Medicine schools to supply and export talent, and meanwhile, it is most likely that they will establish joint schools in their local areas.

“The market demand for Chinese medicinal herbs keeps increasing. It is running short of super-grade and first-grade medicinal herbs. A large number of second-grade and third-grade medicinal herbs have been pre-ordered. At present, the domestic medicinal herbs cultivation market becomes popular again!”

Xu Miaolin sat on the couch in the living room, watching a series of news reports on TV.

The smile on Xu Miaolin’s face became brighter and brighter.

“It has been years.”

While watching TV news, Xu Miaolin couldn’t help but sigh. He murmured, “It’s been so many years. Chinese Medicine is finally going to reverse and rise, with a sign of prosperity!”

Without doubt...

Seeing the good news one after another, the seniors in the Chinese Medicine industry were the most excited ones.

Xu Miaolin was a classic example.

Xu Miaolin had been fond of Chinese Medicine since he was a child, and he loved it. But he seldom got supported. Back then, Chinese Medicine had a particularly high reputation among folks in certain places, but it was just because of its magic and mystery.

In their point of view, Chinese Medicine was very powerful because it could cure diseases, and the treatment methods of Chinese Medicine were very magical. However, they didn't know what the real Chinese Medicine was.

When Xu Miaolin was young...

The decline of Chinese Medicine made him very painful, but he did not give up.

Xu Miaolin believed that one day, Chinese Medicine would rise, and the world would know what Chinese Medicine was. He also believed that one day, the whole world would recognize Chinese Medicine as the best medical skill in the world.

Therefore, he devoted his whole life to this career.

He hadn't even married yet.

And...

Finally, after waiting for so many years, he saw that Chinese Medicine was about to rise.

At the thought of the hardships and bitterness he had been through over the years and the promotion and development of Chinese Medicine put into life by old generations for 5,000 years, he couldn't help but feel a lump in his throat.

At the same time...

A figure popped up into Xu Miaolin's mind.

It was Fang Qiu.

Two years ago, when Chinese Medicine was in decline, the majority of those in Huaxia did not have a favorable opinion of Chinese Medicine, and most feedback they had on any random topic about Chinese Medicine was all questioning.

The world had been dominated by science and technology, so everyone thought that things that could not be explained by science were wrong. However, Chinese Medicine could not be explained with science because science had not developed to the level to explain Chinese Medicine, which they never thought about.

That was when Fang Qiu came along.

As an ordinary college student, Fang Qiu let the whole world get to know the Qi of Chinese Medicine and that Qi was something that science could not be explained but indeed existed.

He let everyone know that doctors of Chinese Medicine could judge the gender of the fetus by feeling the pulse of a mother-to-be.

He let everyone know about meridians in Chinese Medicine, which all scientific instruments could not locate in the human body but they indeed existed.

And he let the world know that there was no such thing as an incurable disease, but only that medical skills were not proficient.

It was precisely because of what he had done.

With his leading the doctors of Chinese Medicine to constantly struggle in the international arena, Chinese Medicine could come to this point and officially take the first step toward prosperity.

“What a brilliant brat!”

Thinking of Fang Qiu, Xu Miaolin couldn't help shaking his head with a smile. He murmured, “He's doing so well. Why did I take him as my disciple back then?”

At the thought of the 300,000 Huaxia coins apprentice fees...

Xu Miaolin couldn't help smiling.

What nice memories!

...

Ten days later...

It was February 13th, the day of the Huaxia Lunar New Year.

Fang Qiu and the ten highly-skilled doctors, as well as all the members of the emergency medical rescue team, took the same plane and arrived at the capital airport.

So far...

The emergency rescue trip to Philippeanes was completely over.

Under the close monitoring of all the countries, the super typhoon did not pass by any other countries after it swept across Philippeanes. Instead, it returned to the sea, gradually weakened, and disappeared.

In this situation, Philippeanesian didn't know whether to laugh or cry.

Nevertheless...

The Philippeanesian people came out of their pain because of the in-time rescue. After the emergency rescue and construction these days, almost over half of the places, which had suffered from the disaster, had been rebuilt.

As the super typhoon disappeared, those children were sent to the government-run welfare home, where they could recover with the help of professional psychologists.

All regions gradually regained their vitality as usual. Everyone came out of the shadows and was ready to welcome a brand new life.

As for this result...

There was no doubt that all the members of the Huaxia rescue team were happy to see it.

On the day the plane landed in the capital airport...

Netizens even organized a large number of volunteers to welcome the Huaxia emergency rescue team at the airport. The whole airport was densely packed. Unlike the fans of the stars, these volunteers were very polite and well-behaved.

They did not make noises or disturb other travelers.

At the exit of the safety passageway of the airport, a group of officials from the Ministry of Public Health was standing in the passage, which had been divided by the safe line in advance.

They were the first to know the schedule of the Huaxia emergency team returning home, so they came here early to welcome the team to return in triumph.

Soon after...

Under the expectation of everyone...

The whole Huaxia emergency medical rescue team came out from the safety passageway.

“Welcome back triumphantly, everyone.”

The leader of the Ministry of Public Health immediately applauded with smiles while greeting everyone.

Followed his applause...

“Clap, Clap, Clap...”

A warm round of applause was heard from the group.

Everyone on the medical rescue team turned to look.

It was not until then that they saw the dense crowd standing outside to welcome them.

At the sight of this scene...

Everyone smiled, particularly happy.

“Welcome back home.”

“Thank you for your hard work, everyone.”

The leader of the Ministry of Public Health came forward and shook hands with everyone one by one. He said, “Thank you all for your great efforts and hard work. Thank you all for winning glory for Huaxia. I have prepared a welcome party for you, and by the way, let’s celebrate the new year in advance.”

Then...

The large group of people walked out of the airport with great joy.

When Fang Qiu was about to get in the car...

“Excuse me, Fang Qiu.”

Suddenly, a voice was heard.

Fang Qiu turned around in confusion.

“Come here.”

Yu Qing beckoned to Fang Qiu and said, “We old guys have something for you.”

Hearing that...

Fang Qiu hurried to greet Yu Qing.

“This plate is for you. You deserve it.”

Yu Qing directly took out his Highly-skilled Doctor Certification and handed it to Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu was overjoyed inwardly.

He thanked Yu Qing immediately.

“And mine, too.”

Li Zhengtang took out his plate and said, “I didn’t give it to you earlier because I wanted to see if you could do it in the long run. Now I’ve got the conclusion as I wished.”

“Here you are. Take it.”

Huang Zhengren laughed, took out his Highly-skilled Doctor Certification, and gave it to Fang Qiu.

“You all give it to him. If I don’t, it appears that I am so mean.”

Bu Chunqiu also handed his to Fang Qiu.

Following that, other highly-skilled doctors, Yang Qingfu, Lu Chengze, Xu Lai, and Zhou Shizhan, all handed over their Highly-skilled Doctor certifications to Fang Qiu.

Hence, Fang Qiu already had eight plates of Highly-skilled Doctor Certification in his hand.

Previously, at the reminder of Xu Miaolin, Fang Qiu had carefully confirmed that he lacked 11 Highly-skilled Doctor certifications in total, and now he got eight at a time!

To become a highly-skilled doctor, he only lacked three plates.

“Thank you for your recognition. I do appreciate it.”

Fang Qiu hurriedly bowed to express his gratitude.

“No problem.”

Yi Banxian came out and laughed out loud. “Brat, you are worthy of it. Look at the domestic and international news. Our Chinese Medicine will rise, and you are the greatest contributor. The key is that all ten of us know your medical skills very well.

“Your medical skills have reached the highly-skilled doctor level, and your character is quite good. So, you are worthy of our recognition!”

The group of high-skilled doctors all nodded in agreement.

“Congratulations!”

The leader of the Ministry of Public Health came over, patted Fang Qiu on the shoulder with a smile, and said, “It seems that we will have another highly-skilled doctor in Huaxia soon, and that is a young highly-skilled doctor. Haha...”

“We must celebrate for such a joyous thing.”

“Let’s go. We’ve arranged a welcome party for you guys.”

Chapter 1499 Three Plans for Next Year

In the evening...

After attending the welcoming dinner party, Fang Qiu took the flight to Beijiang directly, heading for the cultivation base.

After all...

The Renyi Group was a large-scale company with some other subordinate companies and foundations, and everyone was waiting for his year-end summary.

Back at the cultivation base...

Fang Qiu first walked around the base and found that it was fully constructed. The cultivation areas in all directions had grown Desert Cistanche.

And the building complex in the middle of the base was all constructed, too.

It was just like a downtown. In addition to the staff dormitory, canteen, and places for entertainment and fitness, there was a cyber cafe, KTV, bar, supermarket, and so on.

After all, the land of the cultivation base was too large. It would be a waste to keep it empty.

Besides, with the completion of the construction of the whole base, more and more people came to work in the cultivation base. There were nearly 10,000 people working in the base currently.

After walking around the center of the base, Fang Qiu noticed that almost all the shops were rented to outsiders at a high price, and they were requested to offer the membership price.

“These are all He Xue’s ideas, right?”

Seeing the rules for these shops, Fang Qiu shook his head with a bitter smile. He muttered, “She really won’t let go of a tiny profit.”

As soon as his voice faded...

“This is not a tiny profit.”

A familiar voice suddenly sounded behind him.

Fang Qiu turned around in astonishment.

He saw that...

He Xue seemed to have been standing there for a while.

“Where did you come from?”

Fang Qiu was puzzled.

“There’s a coffee shop nearby.”

He Xue shrugged. She pointed to the nice commercial building behind her, saying, “Boss, since you don’t give benefits to employees like us, who suffer high pressure all year round, we have to find some ways to relieve. In such a large place, we deserve to have a cup of coffee sometimes, right?”

Hearing that...

Fang Qiu gave a bitter smile.

He had nothing to refute about this.

Sure enough...

He clearly remembered that he found He Xue in a coffee shop when he invited her to join the company. Back then, He Xue sat in the same coffee shop every day. Thinking back carefully, He Xue seemed to have a special affection for the coffee shop.

“Good. Nice job! That’s a good idea.”

Fang Qiu said with an embarrassed smile.

“Boss, you are absent here for 300 days a year. As your subordinates, we are busy dealing with various affairs all year round. So it’s fair to get some benefits for ourselves, isn’t it?”

He Xue said with a smile.

“Sure, it’s quite fair.”

Fang Qiu hurriedly echoed.

“By the way...”

He Xue smacked her lips and said, “This is really not a tiny profit. Now the number of employees in our cultivation base has exceeded 10,000, and I plan to increase it to 50,000 next year. If we want to build a factory, I am sure that the number of employees will exceed 100,000.

“So, the price of the stores in this small-scale commercial center can not be low. The total rent is up to a few million Huaxia coins a year, and this is only for now. As the number of employees increases, the price will multiply. The prospect is immeasurable.”

Fang Qiu could not say anything but give He Xue a thumb-up.

“Where there are people, there are markets.”

He Xue stepped forward, reached out to pat Fang Qiu on the shoulder, and said, “Tiny profit is also profit!”

“I can not agree more.”

Then Fang Qiu rolled his eyes and said, “See, I just came back, and I’m going to make the end-of-year summary. Since there is everything here, I don’t need to ask someone to prepare them. Help me invite the managers of the foundation and the executives, who are responsible for the warm uterus patch products, to have dinner together tonight. It’s my treat.”

“I’ll do.”

He Xue nodded with understanding and then started to contact those persons.

In the evening...

Jiang Miaoyu, Jiang Mengjie, the top ten Young Chinese Medicine Doctors of the first season, headed by Luo Jie, and Wei Dong, who had been promoted to the senior executive of the foundation, as well as Zhang Xinming and others, were all invited to the cultivation base.

They got together in a high-end restaurant.

“Thank you for your hard work during this period of time.”

After the waiter served wine to everyone, Fang Qiu stood up, held a glass of wine, and said to everyone, “Guys, thank you for your hard work. The achievements you have made are distinct to all of us. I hope you can keep it up, and I believe you can do it better next year. Please enjoy the dinner and have a good time.”

After that, he drank it up in one gulp.

Everyone followed and bottomed up happily.

After dinner, they went to KTV and then went to have a barbecue.

They were chatting and laughing and had a great time through the night. They didn't rest until five o'clock the next morning.

Fang Qiu sent Jiang Miaoyu back to her dormitory.

After that, Fang Qiu began his morning exercise. He ran a few laps in the base. Then he slightly ran internal Qi a few times to improve his mental state to the best.

Then Fang Qiu went straight to the newly built conference room.

The conference room was located at the end of the cultivation base.

It was a house built entirely of glass walls. These glass walls could reflect the sunlight, but they would not affect the people inside.

Standing in the conference room, one could look around and see the whole cultivation base.

Seeing this brand-new conference room...

Fang Qiu couldn't help but signed inwardly, "He Xue is really a treasure. She is smart, considerable, and capable."

At 8:00 a.m.

Zhou Xiaotian, Zhu Benzhen, and Sun Hao came to the conference room with Zhao Shanlin.

They hadn't seen each other for a long time, but they were still very enthusiastic. As soon as they saw Fang Qiu, they kept inquiring about the situation in Philippines, the disaster, the sea monster, and so on. They had a great time chatting with Fang Qiu.

At 8:30 a.m.

Led by He Xue, Yang Ningyuan and Li Qihua got to the conference room.

"Since everyone is here, let's get started."

Fang Qiu announced the meeting began.

Everyone immediately took their seats respectively.

"Let me start by reporting the figures for the whole year."

He Xue opened her notebook with a serious look and said to everyone, "Our group has gained a lot this year. According to the finance record, our group's profit has reached 20 billion Huaxia coins in the past year, and this is the net profit.

"Moreover, this is just the first year. I believe that the number will become bigger and bigger in the future. Next year, it will be at least double.

"So far, most of our main products are made from Desert Cistanche. Other medicinal herbs, such as Snow Lotus, dendrobe, etc, have not been fully developed yet.

"Once the cultivation and research of these medicinal herbs are fully developed, coupled with the fact that traditional Chinese medicine will be more popular across the world, I am sure that our Renyi Group will become the biggest beneficiary."

He Xue finished her report.

Everyone nodded with great satisfaction.

It was just the first year, but they had earned 20 billion Huaxia coins, and that was under the situation of undersupply.

Afterward...

As long as they could ensure the product quality and the supply, fortune would come to the door on its own initiative.

“The performance is pretty good.”

Fang Qiu nodded with a smile and said, “It’s a good start. Let’s take out 30% of this year’s profits and share it with everyone.”

Hearing this, everyone was very happy.

Especially Zhu Benzhen and the other two.

After becoming bosses for so long time, they hadn’t seen money except for what Fang Qiu gave them last year. Now they were finally going to get it!

When everyone was very happy, a voice was heard.

“Excuse me, President Fang.”

He Xue stared at Fang Qiu and said with a smile, “It’s the end of the year. It’s okay if you don’t make a summary but directly give out benefits to everyone. However, please give some guidance on next year’s plan, will you?”

After she said that...

Everyone turned to look at Fang Qiu.

Indeed...

The development of enterprises could not always go on unchanged.

Although the profits of the first year were pretty good and the future was bright, Fang Qiu had to make the necessary plans.

“Yes, I will.”

Fang Qiu nodded with a smile and said, “In fact, I’ve been thinking about a plan for a long time, but I haven’t found a chance to say it. Since we are up to this point today, I’d like to tell you about the plan. Please feel free to share your opinion later.”

Everyone was a little surprised at this.

It turned out that Fang Qiu really had his plan.

Fang Qiu said, “As you all know, I’m a Chinese Medicine practitioner.

“Nowadays, Chinese Medicine is well-known internationally because of the medical assistance to Phillippeanes, but at this time, we can’t slack off. We should lay a good foundation at home. The most important thing for Chinese Medicine is to promote and develop domestically.”

Everyone nodded in agreement.

After all, Chinese Medicine belonged to Huaxia. The development of Chinese Medicine in the world was based on Huaxia.

Only when the foundation was well built, the global development of Chinese Medicine would be more productive, and the Chinese Medicine group would have more room to gain greater profits.

“I propose to build an amusement park themed on traditional Chinese medicine.”

Fang Qiu continued, “All the facilities in this amusement park can be matched with the various stories of Chinese Medicine. For the public, Chinese Medicine is still a little old-fashioned and dogmatic, so we can have a try.

“In addition, we can conduct an investigation of the medicinal herbs cultivation base across Huaxia and set up a large “Yaowang Mountain” based on a new base to grow all kinds of Chinese medicinal herbs.

“We can advise the travel agencies and study tour companies to work together, enabling the students to learn about Chinese herbs, find Chinese herbs, and even collect them by ourselves, while getting close to nature or going on a hike.”

Hearing that...

Everyone in the conference room raised their eyebrows and forced a smile.

“Um, President Fang, are you dropping everything to promote Chinese Medicine?”

Yang Ningyuan shook his head with a bitter smile.

“I haven’t finished yet.”

Fang Qiu smiled and continued, “Thirdly, I want to acquire a catering team. In the name of Renyi Group, I want to set up a brand based on medicated diet and take the high-end route!”

“This is workable.”

Zhu Benzhen immediately nodded and said, “Well, why do we have to take the high-end route? Shouldn’t we be closer to the civilians?”

“Superiors acting and inferiors imitating.”

Before Fang Qiu could answer, He Xue said with a smile, “Nowadays, the higher-end it is, the more money we can make. If we make money, other people in the catering industry will take action accordingly. They don’t need to invest much in the cost, and they can snatch the middle and low-end markets.

“In this way, not only can they make money, but they can also provide a good method and route for the promotion of Chinese Medicine.

“Our boss, President Fang, is playing a big game again.”

Chapter 1500 Super Online Store Plan Is Scheduled

“So that’s it.”

After hearing what He Xue said, everyone suddenly understood and gave Fang Qiu a thumbs-up.

Businessmen were always focused on interests.

However, all the attendees worked in this industry, and they knew a lot about Chinese Medicine. Naturally, they knew very well that the development of the Chinese Medicine industry was closely related to that of Chinese Medicine.

Therefore, in the case that the Renyi Group would develop better and better, it was the right thing to do by promoting the development of Chinese Medicine and the Chinese Medicine industry at the right time.

Of course...

No one thought that Fang Qiu did this out of selfishness.

After all, from the beginning, Fang Qiu's goal in entering this industry was to promote the development of Chinese Medicine. Now Fang Qiu's plans could be considered continuing to carry out the plan to promote Chinese Medicine."

The most important thing was that Fang Qiu himself was a gold brand, and so was the Renyi Group. As long as these two gold brands were in the industry related to Chinese Medicine, they would not lose money.

As for making money, the Renyi Group had earned more than enough to spend. What was the point of making more money?

"That's right."

Seeing that everyone was giving him a thumbs-up, Fang Qiu couldn't help laughing and said, "He Xue is right. In addition, our medicated diet brand won't accept any franchise stores. We only do direct sales and assign ten doctors of Chinese Medicine to each restaurant.

"From the moment the guests enter the door, we will recommend dishes and services based on the types of pulse. In this way, we will not only get ordinary dining expenses but also higher service fees. The service fee is supposed not to be less than seeing a doctor.

“Of course, this is not mandatory. It’s okay if the guest doesn’t accept the recommendation of feeling the pulse. The recommendation of feeling the pulse can be set as our special service.”

At this point...

Yang Ningyuan and Li Qihua immediately looked at each other, and their eyes lit up.

Who were they?

They were the top plutocrats in Huaxia.

They had an in-depth understanding of the current plutocrats’ world.

In this era, consumers no longer pursued things at low prices and good quality. Instead, they just pursued prices. If they purchase something cheap, others would look down upon them, and vice versa.

It was a little weird logically.

However, this was also the way of social development. This situation would definitely gradually weaken and disappear after everyone in this world was equally rich in the future, but at least the current situation would last for a long time.

In such a situation, various high-end brands had become tools for many plutocrats to show off their wealth, as well as a token between the high-level figures to attract each other.

Once Fang Qiu’s concept of the medicated diet restaurant became true, together with the influence of Yang Ningyuan and Li Qihua, this restaurant would inevitably become the top-scale food and beverage brand in Huaxia and a place for many plutocrats to exchange ideas.

In the future...

The rich across Huaxia would do their best to merge in there.

The plutocrats went to find business opportunities to make more money. The rich went to cling to the plutocrats to make profits. And the moneyless went in with the rich to broaden their horizons and look for opportunities of making money.

In this way, how could the medicated diet restaurant not go viral?

Others might not have noticed it.

But the three business persons, Yang Ningyuan, Li Qihua, and He Xue, saw through the potential development of the medicated diet restaurant at a glance.

“Alright.”

Fang Qiu smiled and said, “These are the general plans for our Renyi Group next year. Well, apart from these, there is another plan that was ready to be put into action.”

“Another plan?”

Zhou Xiaotian was stunned. He quickly asked, “What is it?”

“The super online store plan!”

Fang Qiu smiled and said, “This plan has been put forward and prepared for so long. You haven’t forgotten it, have you?”

Hearing that...

Everyone shifted their eyes to He Xue.

Well, if Fang Qiu hadn't mentioned it, they would have forgotten this plan. They wondered if He Xue had carried it out.

Surprisingly...

He Xue immediately opened her notebook and turned to a page, which recorded the super online store plan. She said, "In fact, this plan has been ready for a long time. However, it hasn't been put into action because of the reorganization of the Chinese Medicine market and the supply of our Chinese medicinal herbs that have not reached quantity in demand.

"However, with the establishments of indigenous medicinal herb cultivation bases across the country, the current quantity of medicinal herbs has matched that demand.

"This plan relies on the clinics and medicine delivery channel, as well as opening the sales channel of local specialties in the countryside. Now, the Three Billion Foundation is completely mature. The development of the Internet becomes more and more scientific and technological. And people's pursuits become more and more simple.

"Healthy food, local specialties, and so on, should be very popular!"

Everyone nodded in agreement.

They were fully aware that...

Fang Qiu was trying to help the people in the countryside become rich.

Fang Qiu said, "Honestly, this plan can't make money for us.

"But, we can build up our reputation through this matter. I hope to get everyone's support. After all, this is a big step forward for social development. If the countryside develops, it will be of some help to the Renyi Group."

"I agree."

Zhao Shanlin said, "This is a great thing with immeasurable merit. Life is short, and we can't spend all the money we make. Since society has given us trust and value, we should repay it."

"I agree, too."

He Xue nodded and said, "A businessman can't blindly seek for interests only. Don't be paranoid. We should do what we can to benefit society.

"Since our country strongly supports us, we should also support the development of the country in return."

Yang Ningyuan nodded and said, "Without the support of the national government, the Renyi Group wouldn't have become what it is today. So I have never objected to your donation, Fang Qiu. You can make a move when it's necessary and spend money when it's needed. Anyway, we are not short of money!"

"Yeah."

Li Qihua looked at Fang Qiu with appreciation and nodded in agreement, saying, "We've made enough money. It's time for us to pursue something lofty."

Fang Qiu nodded with a smile.

Then Fang Qiu waved his hand and said to Zhu Benzheng and the other two, “You three don’t need to express your opinions. Pass!”

After he said that...

Zhu Benzheng and the other two, who were about to speak, immediately held it back.

“Why did you ignore us? We are shareholders, after all. We just have a little fewer shares, don’t we?”

Zhou Xiaotian said with a dissatisfied look.

Instantly...

The serious atmosphere in the conference room became relaxing, and everyone burst into laughter.

They laughed for a while.

“Oh, I almost forget.”

Yang Ningyuan spoke again. Then he looked at Fang Qiu and asked, “Are we going to go public?”

“Since our products were sold abroad, a lot of fund companies both domestic and abroad have contacted me for cooperation, but I have never agreed.”

Hearing that, Fang Qiu responded immediately.

“No, we won’t go public.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and added, “We don’t make a listed company or cash out. We are a conscience enterprise.”

Yang Ningyuan and Li Qihua looked at each other and made no comment.

“Alright.”

After the meeting, Fang Qiu looked at the clock. It was already past 11 o'clock. He immediately stood up and said, “It’s lunchtime. How about we have lunch together?”

Everyone agreed.

Then, they went to the restaurant for lunch together.

After lunch...

Everyone went back to their work separately. Yang Ningyuan and Li Qihua returned to the capital together.

Fang Qiu walked around the cultivation base alone before returning to his office.

After a short while...

“Knock, knock, knock...”

Someone knocked on the door.

“Please come in.”

Fang Qiu said and looked up.

The door opened.

It was Jiang Mengjie who came in.

“Why are you here?”

Fang Qiu was surprised.

“Why? Can’t I come here?”

Jiang Mengjie asked with a smile.

“Don’t take me wrong.”

Fang Qiu shook his head with a bitter smile and said, “I mean, you had a lot of drinks last night and had fun so late. Shouldn’t you be asleep in the dormitory? Why did you get up so early?”

“It’s the holiday now. Of course, I should cherish this little free time.”

Jiang Mengjie responded with a smile and then asked, “By the way, when are you going back? I’ll go with you, okay?”

Fang Qiu was stunned.

When he was about to answer...

Another familiar voice was heard.

“Hey, you guys got up so early.”

Fang Qiu looked over and saw Jiang Miaoyu walking into the office. Jiang Miaoyu said, "I thought I was the first to get up. I didn't expect you to get up earlier than me."

Fang Qiu looked at Jiang Miaoyu with a smile.

And Jiang Miaoyu fixed her eyes on Jiang Mengjie. It seemed that she had heard Jiang Mengjie's invitation to Fang Qiu, yet Jiang Mengjie kept looking at Fang Qiu.

"Oh, I almost forget."

Fang Qiu quickly turned around, looked Jiang Mengjie in the eyes, and said, "I have something to handle here, so I'm not going home for the time being."

"In this case..."

Hearing this, Jiang Miaoyu immediately walked over to Jiang Mengjie and said to her, "How about we go back together? We can keep each other company along the way home."

"Sure."

Jiang Mengjie nodded with a smile.

Sitting at the office desk, Fang Qiu smiled awkwardly.

There was no other choice.

Fang Qiu had to drive Jiang Mengjie and Jiang Miaoyu to the airport in person.

After seeing the two girls off at the airport, Fang Qiu bought a plane ticket to Jiayang County and flew directly there.

He disguised himself as John Doe and came to the relic.

As soon as he entered...

Fang Qiu saw that everyone was practicing with each other.

After all, the Qi of Heaven and Earth in the relic was too strong, and together with the guiding techniques he taught them, caused everyone to absorb the Qi of Heaven and Earth very fast. Of course, it had to be consumed before they could continue to absorb new ones. The only way to consume it was to fight each other.

Perhaps it was because they had been holding it in for too long.

As soon as Fang Qiu showed up...

He Gaoming, who was practicing in the field, immediately led everyone to rush to Fang Qiu and attack him without a word.

Fang Qiu moved and immediately fought with his brothers.

As a result...

The group of strong men was beaten back by Fang Qiu one by one.

“Good, good.”

After beating back his brothers, Fang Qiu nodded with satisfaction.

Through the fight just now, he could tell that everyone's strength had greatly improved. The strongest one, He Gaoming, had reached the level of a ninth-class cultivator with one opened meridian.

Li Boqing, who was guided by Fang Qiu and became a fifth-class cultivator on the island, always kept up the pace with He Gaoming. Under the guidance of the Sword Fanatic, Li Boqing had quickly broken through to a ninth-class cultivator with one opened meridian.

As for the eight men, who formed the sword formation with He Gaoming, their strength had reached the level of an eighth-class cultivator with two opened meridians. And the other brothers were stable at the level of an eighth-class cultivator with one opened meridian.
