

Medical M 391

Medical Master

Chapter 391: Amazing Moxibustion

“You’ve just caught a cold. Why are you yelling for help?”

Fang Qiu rolled his eyes at Zhou Xiaotian speechlessly.

“Alas.”

Zhou Xiaotian stared at Fang Qiu with a sad face. He desperately said, “Catching a cold is really not a big deal, but the oldest and the third oldest are so crappy. They insisted on treating me when they didn’t know how to at all. They’d totally seen me as their guinea pig. Then I’ve gotten worse, and I couldn’t even attend the classes, and could only ask for a leave and went back to the dorm to rest. Now I don’t even have the strength to walk. I really feel like dying.”

“That’s better.”

Fang Qiu pursed his lips and said, “If you really die, I’ll have a much quieter living condition.”

“No way, the youngest.”

Zhou Xiaotian looked at Fang Qiu with a look that said he had lost all hope in life, saying, “I’ve always seen you as my best buddy and I can sacrifice my life for you. Now, I’ve merely caught a cold, and you’re going to abandon me so heartlessly and so ruthlessly?”

“Get off me now!”

Zhou Xiaotian was feebly lying on the ground and grabbing Fang Qiu’s thigh. Like a germophobe, Fang Qiu wanted to keep Zhou Xiaotian away from himself as far as possible.

It was supposed to be a great show.

If it were in the usual days, Zhou Xiaotian would have definitely put on a full show, acting to the very end.

However, today was different.

“Well, never mind.”

Gently sighing, Zhou Xiaotian loosened his grip and feebly stood up. He covered his chest and coughed loudly until his nose turned red. Then, he walked to his desk to sit behind it while saying, “To be honest, you’re finally fuck. Since the oldest and the third oldest haven’t come back yet, treat me quickly. Otherwise, they will definitely mishandle me to death.”

“What good timing.”

Hearing Zhou Xiaotian’s words, Fang Qiu felt slightly stunned and then he tittered and smiled, “I’ve just learned a new treatment. Since you beg me sincerely, I’ll manage to treat you.”

“Don’t.”

Hearing that it was a new method, Zhou Xiaotian immediately opened his mouth reluctantly. “Use the herb soup or acupuncture. What’s the point of a new method? What if you worsen my condition like those two idiots?”

Fang Qiu said, “Rest assured. I’m not like the oldest and the third oldest. This new method will definitely work.”

“Well... then alright.”

Zhou Xiaotian hesitated and then nodded and said, “You’re the spokesperson of our University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine. I’ll give you my life to be your guinea pig. If your new method doesn’t work out, just wait and see.”

“Go sit for a while. I’ll prepare myself by getting the necessary materials and tools.”

After saying that, Fang Qiu immediately rushed out of the dorm.

A few minutes later, Fang Qiu returned to the dorm; several moxa sticks and pieces of ginger slices appeared in his hand.

Zhou Xiaotian asked, “Huh, what are these?”

Fang Qiu said, “These are moxa sticks made from mugwort.”

“Moxa sticks?”

Zhou Xiaotian was stunned and said in doubt, “Don’t you burn them to disinfect things? How do you cure a disease with them?”

“Indeed, mugwort can disinfect things, but it can do more than that. Its most important use is to be applied in acupuncture to cure diseases.”

While explaining, Fang Qiu walked over to Zhou Xiaotian.

“Moxibustion is also part of acupuncture. When you learn it, you’ll know.”

While saying that, Fang Qiu asked Zhou Xiaotian to take off his top.

“I see that you’re feeling feeble in your limbs, and you don’t seem to have a serious fever. You cough and your nasal discharge is clean, and you don’t perspire over your body. These are typical symptoms of a common cold.”

Saying that, Fang Qiu thought about it and added, “To cure a common cold, one should get rid of the cold and discharge the dirty air in the patient’s lungs.

“When cured with moxibustion, the main apertures are Fengchi, Dazhui, Hegu.

“The accompanying apertures are Fengmen, Waiguan if the patient catches a cold. If the patient has a nasal obstruction, it will be Yingxiang aperture. If he coughs, they will be Chize and Lieque apertures.”

“As for the type of moxibustion, it’ll be ginger moxibustion.”

After saying that, Fang Qiu started.

Acupuncture therapy was also called moxibustion. It was a natural therapy where mainly moxa sticks and moxa rolls made from mugwort were lit to heat the human body’s apertures to keep it healthy and cure diseases.

Ginger moxibustion was an acupuncture theory from ancient medical books. Recorded in the “Compendium of Acupuncture and Moxibustion” was this: Cut ginger into slices, each about a coin thick. Place them on Sheshang aperture and heat up.

He chose four from the main and accompanying apertures.

Fang Qiu fetched the ginger slices and pricked them with needles in the middle of the slices to make several holes. Then, he placed the slices on the apertures he had selected. Then, he picked a moxa stick to put it on the slices and then lit it up.

This time, Fang Qiu had picked big moxa sticks, which were all the size of a thumb.

Sitting on the chair, Zhou Xiaotian lay his upper body on the desk with his back facing Fang Qiu and his arms stretching out to both sides.

Then, on the Fengchi aperture on Zhou Xiaotian's neck, Dazhui aperture under his neck, and Lieque aperture on his wrist, Fang Qiu quickly lit up the moxa sticks and started the moxibustion.

Zhou Xiaotian didn't dare to move a muscle and asked, "The youngest, how long will it take?"

"About 10 minutes."

Fang Qiu opened his mouth to say, "Treating a cold like yours, I need to burn four zhuangs on every aperture."

Zhou Xiaotian asked in doubt, "Bumps?"

Fang Qiu explained. "It's zhuang, a measuring unit in moxibustion. Every burned moxa stick is called a zhuang."

Zhou Xiaotian understandingly answered and did not speak anymore. "Well, I see."

Fang Qiu continued to accompany Zhou Xiaotian in the treatment.

Soon, 10 minutes passed.

The moxibustion ended.

Fang Qiu took the ginger slices off Zhou Xiaotian and then patted the latter, who had already fallen asleep.

"Aargh!!!"

Being patted by Fang Qiu, Zhou Xiaotian straightened up with a swoosh, blankly looking around. When seeing Fang Qiu, he finally collected himself. He wiped the saliva around his lips and asked, "Is it finished?"

"Yes."

Fang Qiu smilingly nodded and said, "How are you feeling now?"

Hearing that, Zhou Xiaotian sniffed out of habit.

"Well, my nose isn't blocked anymore."

After sniffing, Zhou Xiaotian felt his eyes light up and said, "I don't have a runny nose anymore. Just now, I was so feeble that I felt terrible. I was feeling hot all over my body like I was having a fever. Now, I'm alright and I don't feel dizzy anymore either."

Saying that, Zhou Xiaotian immediately stood up, sniffed again, and twisted his head around.

"Fine, I'm really fine."

Voices of pleasantly surprise rang from Zhou Xiaotian's mouth.

He felt like reborn from head to toe. Zhou Xiaotian only felt the energy all over his body. He looked like nothing but a patient!

"So amazing."

Shouting in surprise, Zhou Xiaotian looked at Fang Qiu and said, "It's just been 10 minutes, and I've actually recovered. It looks like I'll use your acupuncture to cure myself if I catch a cold later. This works really fast."

“You can’t.”

Fang Qiu immediately shook his head and said, “Though moxibustion is a great way to stay healthy, and many people have been using it since it’s easy to operate. But, there are contraindications. If you blindly use it before you understand it, it will seriously damage your body.

“In ‘Treatise on Febrile Diseases’, there are contents about the contraindications of moxibustion.

“First, a floating pulse should be eased by perspiration. Heated by the fire, the heat cannot get out from anywhere. Because of the heat, the disease can, for example, make one feel heavy below the waist, and that is called the mistreatment by warming therapy.

“Second, in the case of the Taiyang disease, if when heated with fire, the patient doesn’t perspire, he must feel restless and might develop delirium if the treatment continues. He’ll have blood in the stool, and that is called a fire pathogen.

“Third, a patient with Yin and blood deficiency should not be treated with acupuncture. Because this kind of patient has a body of heat. When the heat of moxibustion gets into his body, it will definitely increase his inner heat and cause him dysphoria. When the heat spreads in the body, his body fluid and blood will be lost, and his tendons, vessels, and muscles will all be damaged.

“Fourth, a patient with a floating pulse should not be treated with acupuncture. Since he has the inner heat, it should not be treated in a way you use to treat the heat due to deficiency. When his inner heat increases because of the one from the outside, he will lose the body fluid and the heat will spread in his blood.”

Hearing that, Zhou Xiaotian pursed his lips and said, “Can you speak human language? Just tell me those contraindications in plain words. Do you really have to quote some obscure essays?”

Fang Qiu said in a despised tone, “Go read for yourself.”

After that, he directly turned around and walked to his desk.

It was at that time.

“Crack!”

It was the sound of someone pushing open the door.

“The fourth oldest, have you been feeling better? What about I treat you in some other ways?”

The moment the dorm door was pushed opened, Sun Hao’s evil smile appeared.

Looking into the dorm, Sun Hao was stunned.

Beside him, Zhu Benzhen was also stunned.

Changing his face, Sun Hao asked in surprise, “The youngest, you’ve come back?”

Fang Qiu nodded. “Yes.”

Walking into the dorm, Zhu Benzhen sniffed and said, “Well, there’s a funny smell in our dorm.”

“It’s mugwort.”

Fang Qiu opened his mouth to explain. “I’ve just performed moxibustion on Xiaotian, burned some moxa sticks. So there’s a smell.”

“Moxibustion?”

Sun Hao and Zhu Benzhen were stunned and both turned their heads to look at Zhou Xiaotian.

Sun Hao asked, "How are you feeling?"

Sun Hao said, spreading his arms. "I've recovered. Can't you see that?"

Zhu Benzhenɡ felt surprised and he walked up to Zhou Xiaotian to check for himself. "Really?"

Zhou Xiaotian said, "The youngest has done it himself. So can I not recover?"

Then, after the two's checking, it turned out that Zhou Xiaotian had really recovered from the cold.

Well, 15 minutes ago, Zhou Xiaotian was having such a serious cold that he couldn't even continue the classes and had asked for leave to return to the dorm to rest.

How did he recover in a blink of an eye?

Zhu Benzhenɡ and Sun Hao were all shocked.

Zhu Benzhenɡ asked, "The youngest, you've learned moxibustion?"

Fang Qiu nodded and said, "Yes, I've just learnt it."

Hearing that, the three people looked at each other and respectively smiled wryly.

"The youngest, I really don't want to say this, but I have to. You're a fucking monster. You've just come back, and you came back with another new skill."

Sun Hao looked sad and said that. Then, he said, "Hurry up, teach us how to perform moxibustion."

“No problem.”

Fang Qiu immediately answered and said, “Moxibustion is much easier than acupuncture and it’s also relatively easier to learn.”

After saying that, Fang Qiu immediately started to teach.

Because it had been simple, it didn’t take long for the three people to learn it. As for the detailed things, they could only learn them in books.

At night, Fang Qiu continued to practice his mental power.

He practiced until it was midnight when his three roommates had all fallen asleep, but Fang Qiu didn’t.

Previously, he had been feeling that he was about to break through on his metal power, but he always failed to find that breakthrough point.

Tonight, the feeling that he was about to break through hit him again.

This time, the feeling that he was about to break through was tenser than ever.

“Swish swish...”

Before his eyes, the brick hung in midair was swaying back and forth under the control of Fang Qiu’s mental power.

The brick could not challenge Fang Qiu in the least anymore.

“I feel like even if I add the weight, I won’t progress much. It’s like I’ve walked into a dead-end hutong.”

“Then how can I break through?”

Staring at the brick swaying back and forth, Fang Qiu pondered.

Medical Master

Chapter 392: Breakthrough of the Mental Power

“Moving objects...”

“Since my mental power is to move objects, then why do I have to use the thread?”

Thinking like that, Fang Qiu looked up at the rope that was tied around the brick and had hung the brick in midair.

Right, since his mental power was to move objects, then, why must he use a rope to hang the brick? Why couldn't he use his mental power to make the brick float by itself?

Thinking about this, Fang Qiu found his eyes brightened.

He'd found the right direction!

“Come!”

Shouting in his heart, Fang Qiu immediately controlled his mental power to wrap the brick.

After several breakthroughs, Fang Qiu could clearly feel that he could feel his mental power more and more clearly. It was like the internal Qi, then, it was also like a part of his body.

With his increasingly powerful mental power, the feeling became truer and more obvious.

Now, Fang Qiu could even freely, just like using his both hands, control and drive his mental power.

Sure, just like using hands and legs, when using mental power to do things, if he exceeded the limit of his mental power, Fang Qiu could also exhaust or even hurt himself.

It was like asking you to lift a heavy object that weighed 100 kilograms; even if you managed to lift it, you could not hold on for long. If you kept exerting all your strength to do it, you could only end up disabling yourself.

Under Fang Qiu's control, his mental power poured out, quickly wrapping up the brick which was swaying back and forth in midair. Then, it stopped the brick from swaying.

Then, once he had the idea, Fang Qiu immediately tried to support the entire block with his mental power. "Rise!"

However, it turned out that the brick, which he could easily sway, did not move at all.

"Hmm?"

Fang Qiu opened his eyes wide and secretly exclaimed. "So heavy!"

It was completely different from the way he used to practice with, and he also felt a much heavier weight than before.

He felt as if he were going to single-handedly support a falling rooftop, which nearly despaired him.

If it were in the usual days, Fang Qiu might give up for now and try to figure out other ways to continue hammering his mental power, but not today.

Because when he tried to use his mental power to lift the brick, Fang Qiu clearly felt that he was even closer to the breakthrough point.

It was like when he exerted all his mental point to one point and focused on doing it, the breakthrough feeling would become stronger.

Bit by bit, it was getting stronger.

“Er!”

His face turned red because of the exertion. Blue veins on his face bulged, and muscles all over his body couldn't be more tightened. At that time, Fang Qiu finally found the brick move.

Though just a little, the brick was really lifted by his mental power!

Focusing on it, he found the rope used to hang the brick wasn't as tightened as before. Instead, it had greatly loosened up.

However, even though it was like this, Fang Qiu still did not stop.

Instead, he tightly gritted his teeth to keep exerting his strength.

At that moment, the feeling that he was going to break through became tense like never before!

“Aargh... rise!”

Ferociously shouting in his heart, Fang Qiu heavily pushed out all of his mental power at one time.

It was at the next moment.

“Rumble...”

Something directly boomed in Fang Qiu's head. It was like something had exploded. Fang Qiu felt his vision blurry.

His brain nerves had been very tightened. Now, at that moment, they suddenly relaxed. Because of the previous continuous exertion of his mental effort, he felt his brain very tired; however, now the feeling of exhaustion also completely vanished, like it had never appeared before.

Without the slightest feeling of fatigue, he felt like reborn.

Before his eyes, he felt his vision return to normal.

When his vision completely became clear, before Fang Qiu's eyes, he still saw that brick. However, the only difference was that the brick was no longer hung by the rope in midair; instead, it entirely floated in the air. Even, the rope used to hang the brick was now completely coiled up on the brick.

"I've broken through."

Fang Qiu was a little stunned.

He didn't expect the breakthrough to come so quickly and so suddenly.

"Hmm?"

While feeling stunned, Fang Qiu suddenly everything in the space around him much clearer. He could not only feel his mental power which was supporting the brick, but also the Heaven and Earth energy around him.

The energy was slowly floating like it had been a stream of water.

Even, Fang Qiu could also feel dust floating in the air.

He felt like he had connections to everything on earth.

He had an idea and secretly sat up. Glancing at his three roommates in a sound sleep, he secretly exerted his internal Qi to block the three roommates' eyes and ears, then, he sat cross-legged on the bed.

"Swoosh."

He waved his right hand.

His mental power spurted out.

In an instant, many things in the dorm rose by themselves, including books and pens on desks, and brooms and shovels at the corner of the dorm. Even, the three roommates' clothes also floated.

The originally spacious dorm instantly became crowded.

This was a very marvelous feeling!

Enjoying the feeling, Fang Qiu held on for three minutes. Then, a feeling of fatigue assaulted in his mind and he felt short of mental power. Then, he hurriedly put back all the things floating in midair back to their places. Then, taking a deep breath, he feebly lay back on the bed.

"Too strong!"

At that moment, Fang Qiu had finally believed that, as recorded in "Theory of Bonesetting", mental power could adjust bones back to their places.

Fang Qiu did not expect that his mental power could develop to such an extent either. It was no different than the supernatural in movies.

If he continued to break through, in the end, not to mention these tiny objects, he might be able to easily control even cars.

Under such a condition, wasn't it just a piece of cake to restore bones back to their places?

Thinking about that, Fang Qiu grew more expectant about his mental power in the heart.

However, he also knew that he could not force to break through. If he wanted to grow strong, he could only cultivate bit by bit.

Because he had used too much of his energy before, Fang Qiu started to close his eyes to restore his energy.

However, it turned out that once he closed his eyes, he found he could see internally.

His eyes, no, his mental power, to be precise, should be like an X-ray machine in the hospital. As long as his mental power moved, he could clearly see every part of his body, even viscera in his belly, and tendons, vein, and meridians in his blood and muscles.

"Th-this is..."

Fang Qiu was very surprised.

He should see, inside the meridians, internal Qi was flowing like water.

Shocked, Fang Qiu thought that since he could see himself internally, did that mean he could also see through others?

Thinking like that, Fang Qiu moved his body. He directly opened his eyes and flew beside Zhou Xiaotian's bed. Then, he used his mental power to observe Zhou Xiaotian. However, it turned out that he found himself unable to see through Zhou Xiaotian.

When he intended to turn around to get back, Fang Qiu reached out to pull the quilt for Zhou Xiaotian.

However, it turned out that when his fingers touched Zhou Xiaotian, Fang Qiu found that through his fingers, his mental power quickly spread over Zhou Xiaotian's body. Then, the entire situation inside Zhou Xiaotian's body completely represented itself in front of his eyes.

It was like an X-ray.

Zhou Xiaotian's viscera were completely clear in every detail!

"This..."

Fang Qiu was dumbfounded.

This kind of ability was really too powerful.

It was nearly a walking X-ray machine, even could be called a highly advanced version of Absolute Touch!

Absolute Touch was already very helpful.

Then wouldn't the see-through ability come in even handier?

While he was feeling enormously shocked, an extremely audacious thought popped into Fang Qiu's head.

"Since I can see through things, and can also freely control my mental power and internal Qi. Then like Western Medicine's surgeries, can I directly perform surgery inside a patient's body without opening him up?"

Thinking about that, Fang Qiu was a little stunned by the audacious thought of his; however, at the same time, he increasingly thought it possible.

He almost wanted to have a patient for him to try it right now.

“A patient?”

While thinking, Fang Qiu suddenly thought of Zhou Xiaotian, who had previously fallen ill. Then, his eyes lit up and he turned around his head to look at the three roommates.

He didn't hesitate and immediately started to examine the three people's bodies.

Anyway, they were all good buddies. Moreover, he could also examine their bodies to see if they had any diseases by the way. Why not?

However, after the round of examination, he found all of the three in good health, without any diseases.

“Surely young men have strong bodies.”

Fang Qiu felt helpless.

He could only smile wryly and then fall asleep.

The next morning, as usual, Fang Qiu cultivated and did morning jogging.

Because they had learned the way to practice Qi from Fang Qiu, in the early morning, students practicing their Qi could be seen everywhere in the school.

The scene greatly gratified Fang Qiu.

Finishing breakfast, when it was about 8 o'clock, Fang Qiu directly headed to the hospital.

Recently, he had many things to attend to, thus he hadn't seen a patient in a long time. The acupuncture department had been popular because of him, however, in the past few days, it gradually lost popularity again.

However, as Fang Qiu just arrived at the hospital, the news that Dr. Xiao Fang started to see patients immediately spread over.

Hearing the news, the patients, who had already registered, immediately swooshed back in line to re-register. They all wanted to register to see Dr. Xiao Fang.

"We only need to register to see a general doctor to see Dr. Xiao Fang. It's so great."

"Right. The specialist doctors only see a limited number of patients in one day. Though Dr. Xiao Fang's ability is definitely at the specialist level, I still want to keep registering to see a general physician."

While queuing, they were having small talks. They did not get restless because of the long line at all. Instead, every one of them spoke merrily when talking about Dr. Xiao Fang.

Meanwhile, in other departments, when they got on duty, the doctors saw there had been many registered patients on their computers. However, when they officially started to see patients, they found many of them absent. The patients wouldn't come even the doctors called their names again and again.

Just when they were feeling puzzled, they heard the news that Dr. Xiao Fang had come to see patients. These doctors instantly understood that patients all turned to Dr. Xiao Fang's office.

This kind of situation made every one of them shake their heads and bitterly smile.

It was in the acupuncture department.

Outside Fang Qiu's consulting room, the waiting room was full of people; patients even waited along the hallway. A young nurse was sent to help in front of Fang Qiu's consulting room, collecting medical records and calling names.

Because they had all registered with sequential numbers, they did not worry that their sequences got mixed up, or someone would cut in line or something.

However, in the consultation room, Fang Qiu did not stop for a second to carefully examine every patient.

Once he started seeing patients, he did not stop until it was noon.

However, though he had been seeing patients for the entire morning, their diseases could all be solved by acupuncture. None of them had a serious disease that needed the use of mental power.

Until it was afternoon, supported by a middle-aged man, an elder man walked into the consulting room.

Medical Master

Chapter 393: Also So Inhuman!

"Hello, Dr. Xiao Fang."

Having helped the elder man walk to the desk, the middle-aged man greeted.

"Good afternoon."

Fang Qiu smilingly answered and then gestured him to help the elder man to sit. At the same time, he said to the elder man, "How are you feeling, mister?"

"Al-alright."

The elder man sat down and raised his hand. Because of the old age, on the elder man's face, one could not see any expressions.

Fang Qiu asked, "How old are you, mister?"

"He's 82."

The middle-aged man said, "It's all because of this disease. Otherwise, he would be in good health now."

Fang Qiu sat down and asked, "What's the disease, tell me."

The middle-aged man said, "The examination result says his both carotid arteries are blocked. 50% of the left carotid artery and 80% of the right one is blocked."

Fang Qiu pursued. "When did you discover it and how?"

"It's about one month ago. In the first, he just felt limb in the leg. He couldn't walk on his own and often said he felt dizzy."

While looking at the elder man, the middle-aged man said, "We sent him to the hospital to have color ultrasonography on his carotid arteries on the very day, and the doctor suggested setting up stents, but my old man didn't want them. We tried to persuade, but in the end, we found rejection in his body, so we gave up the idea. And he doesn't want surgeries either. After all, he's of such old age and there are risks. What if something happens to him?"

Fang Qiu nodded while answering. "I see."

"In the way I see it, I guess Western Medicine can't treat him without big operations, so both he and I want to try Chinese Medicine. That's why we came here."

While saying that, the middle-aged man looked at Fang Qiu and smiled a little awkwardly. "In fact, when I just came, I wanted to register to see someone in the Chinese Medicine medical department, but I heard many talking about you while queuing. I thought acupuncture was a part of Chinese Medicine, so I directly came to you.”

Hearing that, Fang Qiu somewhat felt kind of sad.

Why did people only think of Chinese Medicine when Western Medicine failed them? Why did they only want to try Chinese Medicine when they thought all hope was lost?

“I’ll first examine him.”

After saying that, Fang Qiu started diagnosis.

After using Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease, Fang Qiu found the elder man’s body had been weak from the torture. It was no wonder that he was already having difficulty in speaking at only 82.

After the examination, Fang Qiu reached out to feel the elder man’s neck.

It looked like he was examining, but in fact, he was secretly controlling his mental power to inject into the elder man’s neck. With a closer look, he indeed found obstructions in the elder man’s both carotid arteries.

In this case, it would be easy to dredge them with internal Qi.

However, internal Qi was too strong, while the elder man’s body and carotid arteries had been very weak. With mistreatment, you could damage arteries which had already been weak. Therefore, using internal Qi to dredge was obviously not the best way.

When internal Qi was not an option, Fang Qiu could only mental power.

“Mister, please follow me.”

Thinking about that, Fang Qiu stepped forward to help the elder man walk to the acupuncture chair to sit.

Then, he fetched a moxa stick.

On the right, about a palm away from the elder man's neck, Fang Qiu directly lit them. When the burning moxa stick was lit and gave off the medical power, Fang Qiu used his internal Qi to push all of them into the elder man's apertures.

Meanwhile, his mental power surged and quickly permeated into the elder man's right carotid artery. While leading the medical power, he cleared obstructions from the arteries.

After the clearing, those obstructions quickly dissipated and vanished under the erosion of the medical power.

The regular blood flow in the arteries was also restored.

"Hmm..."

Just when they were cleared, the elder man grunted. He sounded like he was enjoying it, but at the same time, he also sounded he was suffering from it.

By his side, the middle-aged man cocked an eyebrow.

He was completely unable to understand what Fang Qiu was doing.

Was this Dr. Xiao Fang really that amazing like everybody had said?

Did he really possess that amazing medical skills?

However, before his eyes, it wasn't medical skills that this Dr. Xiao Fang was using, right?

The middle-aged man was very anxious.

Because before his eyes, apart from lighting the moxa stick held in Fang Qiu's right palm and using Fang Qiu's left hand to feel the elder man's neck, Fang Qiu did nothing else.

Even, with his posture, Fang Qiu really resembled those who practiced witchcraft like dancing as if they had been possessed in the folk culture.

Could it cure diseases?

The middle-aged man doubted in his heart, especially, when he heard the elder man's grunt, he grew even more anxious in his heart.

At that time, Fang Qiu stopped his action.

He turned around and stood on the elder man's left and continued the previous set of actions.

It was like playing Scarecrow Tag.

After performing the exactly same actions, Fang Qiu stopped moving.

The longer he watched, the more depressed the middle-aged man felt.

In his heart, he almost could not suppress his curses anymore; however, it was, after all, the hospital, and he should not shout in anger. Anyway, it would be fine as long as the doctor did not hurt the elder man.

He managed to suppress it.

It was after three minutes.

“Phew...”

Only after having dredged the elder man’s carotid artery with the way he just used did Fang Qiu heave a long sigh. He glanced at the middle-aged man standing aside and said, “It’s done.”

At the same time, Fang Qiu couldn’t help nodding in his heart.

It seemed that his assumption was right; his mental power could really perform the so-called surgeries of Western Medicine without opening up patients.

In Western Medicine, they used the most direct way, where the patients were opened up, to handle causes of diseases invisible to the naked eye, for example, the disease such as obstruction.

Before this, numerous people thought surgeries impossible in Chinese Medicine.

However, now, after trying it personally, Fang Qiu could totally question the masses: Who the hell said there weren’t surgeries in Chinese Medicine?

It was at the same time.

“You finished?”

The middle-aged man looked at Fang Qiu with a completely stunned face, asking, “I’ve looked it up in books. You’re using moxibustion, right? But you didn’t even put the moxa stick on him. Can the medical power work into him? Is it really effective? How many sessions does it take to completely cure him?”

Hearing the middle-aged man’s so many questions, Fang Qiu shook his head and smiled, “No more. He has been cured.”

“What?”

The middle-aged man was stunned and asked in disbelief. “You’re saying my father has been cured?”

Fang Qiu nodded firmly to answer, “Yes.”

“How’s that possible?”

The middle-aged man immediately cocked an eyebrow and said, slightly miffed. “To cure him, the doctors even suggested setting up stents. And we failed to cure him after trying so many methods. How could you just cure him in minutes? Dr. Xiao Fang, stop joking with me. Just tell me the truth if you can’t cure the disease, and you don’t have to make up such lies to coax me. As long as you don’t worsen my father’s conditions, I won’t make trouble for you. Why do you have to make up such things to lie to me?”

It was at the same time.

Fang Qiu asked, “Mister, how are you feeling now?”

“Pretty good. I’m feeling much more comfortable.”

The elder man was just having difficulty speaking, now, he answered exceptionally smoothly.

Fang Qiu said with a smile. “You’ve completely recovered from your disease. Pay more attention to yourself from now on. You’ll gradually grow back in good health.”

The elder man nodded to reply and then got up supported by Fang Qiu. “OK.”

“Dr. Xiao Fang, if you really don’t want to take my father, you can just say it. We can really skip these kinds of unnecessary words.”

The middle-aged man said to Fang Qiu and then helped the elder man, ready to leave.

“This is a hospital.”

Looking at the middle-aged man and the elder man whose backs were facing him, Fang Qiu opened his mouth and said, “If you don’t believe me, you can just have him examined. In this way, you can stop worrying and he can also be at ease.”

“Of course I’m going to have him examined.”

The middle-aged man said without looking back, “If his condition is worsened by you, I’ll need to find you for that.”

Saying that, the middle-aged man helped the elder man out of the consulting room and did not stop for a second to directly have his father examined.

However, it turned out that once the examination results came out, he found his father really had recovered.

After that, the middle-aged man was immediately dumbfounded.

He had seen the entire process of Fang Qiu’s treatment. Fang Qiu only performed those several actions and motionlessly stood for a few minutes, and then cured the disease?

It was nearly too unbelievable!

Shocked, the middle-aged man also thought of the words he said to Fang Qiu before he left the consulting room. Immediately, he felt his cheeks burning.

Fang Qiu helped cure his father’s disease, whereas he angrily questioned Fang Qiu.

The more he thought, the more embarrassed he felt.

Since Dr. Xiao Fang had such excellent medical skills, how would he have the nerve to see Fang Qiu if he had any other diseases later?

“No, I have to fix this today.”

Saying that, the middle-aged man pondered and then hurriedly took out his phone to make a call.

“Honey.”

Once the call was put through, the middle-aged man said, “Quickly, go get a flag. Write ‘To Dr. Xiao Fang of the Affiliated Hospital of UJCM. Magical hands bringing the dying back to life and modern-day Hua Tuo. Inscribe the date, your, my, and Dad’s names.’”

“Well, go look for a shop that makes flags. I’ll text you what’s written on it in detail.”

Half an hour later, a woman ran into the hospital carrying a thing like a brocade box.

At the gate of the hospital, after picking up the woman, the middle-aged man made the elder man sit on the waiting chair in the hall, while he took his wife together with him, rushing to the Fang Qiu’s consulting room in the acupuncture apartment.

They sent the flag and the couple thanked Fang Qiu again and again.

With difficulty, finally, they resolved the embarrassment of having previously questioned Fang Qiu.

Also, Fang Qiu modestly accepted the flag in their continuous thanks, asking the two to quickly attend the elder man.

Soon, the news that Fang Qiu used moxibustion to cure carotid artery obstruction, under the couple's advertisement, soon spread in the entire hospital.

Hearing the news, it created a real buzz in all the departments in the hospital.

Moxibustion to cure carotid artery obstruction?

How was that possible!

This kind of disease could only be cured by surgeries. How could moxibustion cure it?

How on earth did Fang Qiu do it?

Without a doubt, the matter shocked many people.

Meanwhile, the director Su Mudong also heard the news from his subordinates' work reports and instantly feel shocked.

"Using moxibustion to cure artery obstruction?"

"This Fang Qiu, is really a treasure... haha."

While Su Mudong laughed because of having Fang Qiu the treasure, in the meanwhile, Shen Chun and Cao Ze of the orthopedics on the seventh floor were completely dumbfounded.

When in orthopedics, Fang Qiu had done many things that no humans could accomplish.

They didn't expect that after going to the acupuncture department, Fang Qiu was also so inhuman.

Moxibustion was indeed effective against meridian obstructions, but artery obstruction was very different; even if it indeed worked, it would not be too effective.

How on earth did Fang Qiu do it?

Medical Master

Chapter 394: Have Met a Heavenly God!

The entire hospital was stunned!

Everyone could not figure out how did Fang Qiu use such a simple method to cure such a difficult disease?

At that time, even many old specialists were confused.

When they had time, many physicians and old specialists walked to the acupuncture department. Every one of them was full of doubt and ready to ask Fang Qiu how he did it on earth.

However, when they arrived at the acupuncture department, they only found that Fang Qiu had already left.

It was at the same time.

Fang Qiu had just walked out of the hospital.

“You’re sure?”

While talking on the phone, Fang Qiu headed to the school.

“Positive.”

At the other end of the phone, Li Ji's voice rang. He said, "The information about the HNS organization you've given me has been confirmed."

"Got it."

Fang Qiu hung up the phone.

In the consulting room, when he saw Li Ji calling on his phone, Fang Qiu knew it was about this matter.

Back at the school, Fang Qiu immediately packed up his things.

Since the information had been confirmed, he could not falter anymore; he must go to Bhutan right away.

To cut the weeds and dig up the roots!

Packing up his stuff, Fang Qiu immediately booked the latest flight to Lhasa, wanting to enter Bhutan from Lhasa.

It was at that time.

"Ring, ring, ring..."

Fang Qiu's ringtone rang again.

He pulled out his cell phone and had a look.

It was He Gaoming calling.

“Hello?” Fang Qi picked up the phone.

“Master.”

He Gaoming’s flattering voice came. He said, “Well, Elder Yi couldn’t reach you, so he asked me to give you the appearance fee of the previous friendly competition session.”

“OK.”

Fang Qiu understandingly nodded.

He Gaoming asked, “Your card number?”

Fang Qiu replied. “Elder Yi should know that I only accept cash.”

He Gaoming said awkwardly, “Er, it’s in cash.”

“Wait in your detective agency. I’ll drop by now to fetch it.”

After that, Fang Qiu immediately took out two suitcases from the closet.

In the two suitcases, there was cash worth six million in total.

“There’s an hour left. I can still make it.”

Looking at the time, Fang Qiu carried the suitcases and set off. He first withdrew all the money in the account and then deposited the six million into it.

Then, he carried the money he had withdrawn, returned to the school to change into the mysterious man’s clothes. He hurried to He Gaoming’s detective agency and took the money Elder Yi gave to him.

After leaving the detective agency, Fang Qiu directly donated the money to charity houses.

Back at school, he changed back into his usual wear. Holding the bank card which he could use to withdraw six million in total, Fang Qiu couldn't help feeling "I'm rich".

Six million!

"Well, guess I can find somebody to fight if I get no money later."

Tittering, Fang Qiu carried his backpack.

Taking out his phone while walking out of the school, Fang Qiu texted Jiang Miaoyu, his three roommates including Zhu Benzheng, and Xu Miaolin on WeChat, saying he would be occupied and would not come back to school in the next few days.

After texting them, Fang Qiu hurried to the airport. When he got the flight ticket, he was just in time.

Boarding, he set off for Lhasa!

More than four hours later, the plane landed in Lhasa.

He got off the plane.

Walking out of the airport, Fang Qiu carried his backpack and galloped toward Bhutan under the guidance of a map. Though Lhasa was at altitude, Fang Qiu didn't feel a lack of oxygen in the least. Instead, in the fresh air, he felt Heaven and Earth energy richer than that in other places.

Because there were no people on the road, Fang Qiu was very fast.

He galloped all the way.

Just when he was having the time of his life, a roar of the engine suddenly came.

Looking up into the distance, before him, he found three cars appear on a slope halfway up the mountain.

At that time, it was snowing in the sky.

Obviously, the three cars came here for traveling. Also, apparently, they didn't check the weather before coming. Otherwise, never in a million years dared they drive on this kind of road on a snowy day.

Because it was halfway up the mountain and it was a slope, though it was not steep, right beside the road, there was an exceptionally steep cliff!

On the ground, the snow turned into ice, making the road very slippery.

Therefore, the three cars all drove very slowly.

"Still going in this kind of weather? Don't you want to live anymore?"

Fang Qiu thought in his heart.

From his backpack, he pulled out the mysterious man's special mask and wore it on the face, ready to accelerate to rush past them.

However, the moment Fang Qiu rushed out, before him, the two of the three cars in the front had already smoothly driven off the slope and turned to a safe place. However, the third car, when it was about to take a turn, its wheels slipped. Then, the roar of the engine rang. The car made a U-turn on the spot. The rear of the car swung and directly rushed to the cliff beside the cliff. The car was nearly off the cliff.

“This is bad.”

Fang Qiu was shocked in his heart.

Fortunately, he had originally gone all out, ready to surpass the three cars.

When the third car was about to slip off the cliff, Fang Qiu just arrived in front of the car.

He saw that the car could not stop and the rear half of the car had already fallen. Then, Fang Qiu hurriedly rushed forward to grab the hub of the left wheel.

Fang Qiu knew that he could never grab the bumper in front of the car.

With the grab, the bumper would surely snap because of the force that came with the car’s falling. Therefore, at the first opportunity, he chose the hub.

“Rise!”

Grabbing the hub, Fang Qiu secretly shouted deeply. While his internal Qi surged up, he suddenly lifted his right hand.

The huge force should have actually halted the car which had been falling.

People had jumped off the two cars in the front. Seeing the scene, all of them froze.

While at the same time, Fang Qiu exerted his force.

He immediately dragged the car up and forcibly pulled it back on the road.

The people in the car didn’t even dare to think and immediately jumped off the car.

It was a young man.

Seeing the masked man who had bare-handed saved him from the cliff, maybe his knees softened from the terror attack or due to some other reasons, pale-faced, the young directly knelt before Fang Qiu.

“God, thank you for saving my life. Please, save my mother too.”

The young man successively kowtowed.

Fang Qiu hurriedly to walked aside.

He could not take such a huge homage.

After stopping the young man from kowtowing anymore, Fang Qiu then looked into the car in doubt.

He saw on the backseat of the car lying an old lady whose face was as white as a sheet.

“Dear Heavenly God, she’s my mother.”

The young man hurriedly walked over and begged with a miserable face. “My mother is so unlucky to have had terminal gastric cancer. To realize her wishes, I drove her to travel to places despite the snowy weather and should have run into you, dear Heavenly God. I beg you. Please save my mother.”

Hearing that, Fang Qiu flashed forward.

When others didn’t see Fang Qiu at all, the car door opened itself. Fang Qiu appeared in front of the car door and felt the old lady’s pulse.

It turned out that he found the old lady indeed had developed cancer and was about to have the last moment of her life.

Without a doubt, the disease was fatal!

Though Fang Qiu had ways to cure it, he did not bring any things that could be used to cure her. He had no herbs or acupuncture materials.

How could he even try to save her?

An idea occurred to him, and Fang Qiu immediately thought of the experiment he had done.

“Since I can dredge arteries with my mental power, so why can’t I use it to perform surgeries, directly cutting the tumor inside the old lady’s body?”

While thinking of that, Fang Qiu gave the young man a confirming glance and directly got on the car. “Yes, I will.”

The young man was pleasantly surprised and also immediately sat in the car.

Others who had got off the other two cars hurriedly used a warning triangle to block the road.

In the car, Fang Qiu opened his mouth. “Turn on the air conditioner, and set a high temperature.”

The young man hurriedly turned on the air conditioner.

Then, Fang Qiu directly put both hands on the place where the old lady’s stomach was. Then, he closed his eyes to internally see the conditions inside the old lady’s body.

Seeing the tumor lump, Fang Qiu did not hesitate in the least.

He directly turned his mental power into a lancet and cut the tumor in the old lady's stomach.

Meanwhile, while injecting internal Qi into the old lady's body, he quickly split and dissolved the tumor inside the old lady's body, and made internal Qi permeate all over the old lady's body. After having removed all the cancer cells that had spread, he then used his mental power as a thread to stitch up the old lady's wounds.

Of course, it was not real stitching.

Once he withdrew his mental power, the old lady's wounds would be bound to split again.

Therefore, Fang Qiu could only keep transferring internal Qi onto the old lady's wounds, helping and stimulating the recovery of the wounds.

Just like that, after fully spending half an hour, he finally finished it.

After finishing all of that, Fang Qiu again used his internal Qi to help the old lady dredge the meridians all over her body. Then, he heaved a long sigh and said, "It's done."

"Really?"

The young man got pleasantly surprised.

Fang Qiu nodded and got off the car. "Really."

The young man was so excited that he could not say a word, and he hurriedly went to check his mother.

However, at this time, Fang Qiu just got off the car and said, "Take care." Then, he bounced on the tip of his foot and directly rose high into the air. As fast as an immortal, he flew out to continue to head to Bhutan.

On the road, all the people on the three cars blankly stared at each other.

“Did, did he just fly away?”

“Yes, he did.”

“I saw it too.”

“Is he really a, a Heavenly God?”

“We really met a Heavenly God?”

Everyone was a little stuttering from the shock.

In his car, the young man also saw the way Fang Qiu flew away and was also speechless with shock.

“No matter if he’s a god or not, we need to leave this place quickly. This place is too dangerous. If other cars come, there will easily be a car accident. And, no matter if he’s a god or not, first we need to send Aunt to the hospital to have an examination, to see if Aunt has really recovered from the disease or not.”

Soon, the three cars resumed driving forward, rushing to a hospital.

It was at the same time.

Fang Qiu still hurried on with his journey.

Just when he was about to reach Bhutan, the three cars arrived at a hospital in Lhasa at the same time.

After an examination, they found the old lady had really recovered from the disease.

The result had pleasantly shocked the young man so much that he burst into tears.

Finally, he finally did not need to regret not having cared for his parents when they were about to go.

Looking at the examination result, the young man knelt on the spot. To the direction that Fang Qiu had left in back then, he heavily kowtowed three times.

The people who drove together with him all successively posted on their WeChat Moments.

“You might not believe me, but we met a immortal in Lhasa! For my entire fucking life, I haven’t expected that there are really immortals in the world!”

However, people were all making fun of it in the comment section.

Also, many people asked what on earth had happened.

Meanwhile, after climbing over hills and mountains non-stop, Fang Qiu also finally arrived at Bhutan.

After the arrival, Fang Qiu still did not stop for a second, directly heading to the home base of the HNS organization.

Medical Master

Chapter 395: Someone Had Raised the Alarm!

The Kingdom of Bhutan, also known as Bhutan, was a landlocked country between Huaxia and India, located along the southern slopes of the eastern Himalayas.

It wasn’t very big, neither did it have a large population.

This was still one of the world's least developed countries to date.

Bhutan had a great geological diversity, with the northern part having the highest elevations compared to the low-lying south. The elevation decreased from north to south, as though it was part of a slope of a gigantic mountain.

With the exception of the southern plains, Bhutan was mainly covered with steep mountains that made up more than 95% of its landscape. The difference in elevation in Bhutan was also very vast, reaching 7,500 meters above sea levels at its highest elevation and 97 meters at its lowest.

Perhaps because of its small land area with most of its land area under forest cover, and the huge difference in elevations, Bhutan had not developed much over the years.

This was also why Bhutan became the place of refuge for many criminals.

It wasn't a very developed country, so the security wasn't very tight. Moreover, since large swathes of the land were covered in forests, there were many criminal organizations from various countries and wanted criminals who sought refuge in Bhutan. It would be extremely hard for them to be discovered once they arrived in this country and it would be very hard to detect them even if with the help of satellites.

Fang Qiu moved past the Himalayas and entered Bhutan.

He looked straight ahead as he stood on a high peak that was 8,000 meters above sea level.

Fang Qiu could easily see very far because Bhutan was located on a slope.

"Longitude and latitude!"

Fang Qiu dug out his phone, opened the satellite map, and keyed in the coordinates.

Soon, he locked in on his destination.

He immediately enlarged the satellite picture after he locked in on his destination.

He discovered that he wasn't too far from his destination. It was also located at high elevations, so he guessed that it should be along the borders of Bhutan and around 100 kilometers from where he was currently at.

"Swoosh!"

He immediately rose into the air without a second's hesitation and headed straight toward the HNS hideout.

He flew straight for 100 kilometers without stopping.

This was an extremely long distance to the people of Bhutan and a distance of 100 kilometers would end up being a journey of 300 to 400 kilometers because of the numerous mountains. However, this was nothing to Fang Qiu since he could fly!

Fang Qiu didn't have to worry about being spotted now that he was deep in the mountains and forest and immediately rose into the air.

Soon, Fang Qiu was not more than three kilometers away from the HNS hideout. He landed in the forest in order to avoid startling the enemy and ran as fast as he could under the cover of the trees.

He stopped at the peak of a mountain 2,500 meters later.

There was a valley less than 500 meters ahead.

This was a valley that was more than one kilometer wide.

It was surrounded by mountains, but these mountains were not linked together. Instead, these mountains were all standalone mountains. It was extremely convenient to get in and out of this valley since there were exit paths all around.

“They’ve really selected a great location,” he said as he squinted to try to get a better look at the center of the valley.

He spotted several wooden houses that were circled by a wooden fence. This wooden fence circled quite a large area.

It reminded him of the farms in America from a distance.

“Is this their headquarters?” Fang Qiu looked around and focused on an area near these wooden houses.

There were three shipping containers laid out side by side.

It seemed like this was indeed the secret hideout of the HNS organization.

“That’s strange,” Fang Qiu wondered after he spent some time looking around the area. He realized that he had not seen a single person around.

This valley seemed empty.

An idea came to him.

He stopped concealing his tracks and immediately flew into the air, moving toward the shipping containers.

“Whoosh!”

He soon arrived in front of these shipping containers.

Just as he had suspected, these three shipping containers had been welded together to form a huge space.

Strangely, the door to the shipping containers was unlocked, and there was no one inside!

“Something’s wrong,” Fang Qiu couldn’t help but say with a frown after he took a look at his surroundings.

The shipping containers were completely empty with not a single person or thing to be found!

He could tell from the marks on the floor that the things stored inside these shipping containers had been moved away.

“Swoosh.”

Fang Qiu turned and flew toward the wooden houses nearby.

The wooden houses were also completely empty with nothing to be found.

The entire valley was like a ghost town!

“How could this be?” Fang Qiu wondered in confusion.

Then, he immediately sat cross-legged and exerted his Great Hand of Destruction to mobilize the Heaven and Earth energy while he used his mental power to check on his surroundings. However, he didn’t discover anything unusual nearby.

“There isn’t anyone nearby at all?” Fang Qiu was completely at a loss.

It seemed as though someone had raised the alarm, and thus, everyone from the HNS organization had left.

He was at a complete loss because he didn't know how to track these people down.

He was only a year-one college student, so he didn't know where to even begin.

"If only I had mastered some of the sleuthing skills from the army," he exclaimed.

He shook his head and was about to check out his surroundings when he heard the loud sound of a propeller.

"Buzz..."

"Hmm?" Fang Qiu immediately looked toward the source of the noise.

He saw a helicopter that seemingly appeared from nowhere rising toward the sky.

He immediately went on the alert after he saw the helicopter.

He could clearly tell from the design and words printed on the helicopter that it was not from Bhutan.

This could only mean that the helicopter was sent by the HNS organization!

Meanwhile, the pilot of the helicopter stared at the radar on his control panel and his co-pilot held a tiny remote control. After the pilot made sure the helicopter was in position, his co-pilot hit the red button on the remote control.

Then, there were deafening explosions.

“Rumble! Rumble! Rumble!”

The pilots looked down and saw that explosions had rung out across the entire valley, and billowing flames rose toward the sky.

The entire valley was razed to the ground in a matter of a few seconds.

Thick smoke filled the air and blocked their vision.

“Wow...”

The two pilots cheered, clapped, and chuckled gleefully.

Unfortunately, they did not know that there was a faint blue light flickering in the midst of the thick smoke that covered the valley below.

Fang Qiu, who stood in the heart of the valley, had immediately exerted all his internal Qi to form a shield around him the moment he discovered the bombs planted in the valley.

He knew that he wouldn't have been able to flee.

“Huff...”

Fang Qiu was unharmed because he was protected by his internal Qi, but he looked terrible because of the bombs that littered the valley. The force from these bombs was extremely intense. These bombs were produced in Huaxia and utilized the world's most powerful explosive, CL-20.

Fortunately, he was standing in a place where the force of the explosions from two bombs was the smallest. This was how he barely managed to block the bomb blast. If he hadn't been standing on such a good location, he would have been seriously injured, if not killed.

The thick smoke gradually dissipated, and Fang Qiu looked up coldly at the helicopter in the sky.

“Go to hell!” Fang Qiu roared angrily after the thick smoke had dissipated.

After he shouted, he stomped hard on the ground, and a tremendous force suddenly rippled outward, which caused the rocks around him to lift off and rise up into the sky.

He stretched out his right hand and grabbed an airborne rock that was the size of his two fists together.

Then, he channeled the energy of his internal Qi, swung his hand, and sent the rock straight at the helicopter in the sky!

“Swish!”

A shrill sound rang out.

The moment the rock left his hand, it sailed like a meteor falling from the sky. It shot straight up into the sky and landed squarely on the fuel tank of the helicopter.

“Crack!”

There was a loud crack.

He had thrown the rock with such force that it pierced through the body of the helicopter.

The next moment, the helicopter lost its balance.

The helicopter was destabilized, and it plummeted unsteadily to the ground.

It exploded even before it hit the ground.

“Boom!”

The explosion was so bright that it seemed like fireworks had exploded in the sky.

After it exploded in mid-air, the helicopter was reduced to tiny shards of rubble.

After the helicopter crashed to the ground, Fang Qiu immediately flew up and recovered the bodies of the two pilots from the rubble.

He realized that they were normal humans and not another species.

“No wonder they slipped under my radar earlier when I was sensing the energy of Heaven and Earth,” he muttered to himself.

He looked at the blackened valley ahead and couldn’t help but frown.

Someone had clearly sounded the alarm.

The fact that they had planted so many explosives within the valley meant that the HNS organization was clearly prepared for him or someone else to infiltrate their hideout.

He quickly dug out his phone and called Li Ji.

“Senior,” Li Ji said as he picked up the call.

“I’m at Bhutan,” Fang Qiu said and went straight to the point, “someone had sounded the alarm!”

“What?” Li Ji froze in horror before he exclaimed in shock. “What are you doing in Bhutan, and what do you mean by someone has sounded the alarm?”

Fang Qiu told Li Ji what he had been through in Bhutan.

Li Ji was shocked by his words.

He was surprised to hear that the mysterious man had gone to Bhutan and had nearly died.

Clearly, the enemy was very well prepared.

Li Ji immediately understood why Fang Qiu said that someone had sounded the alarm.

“Senior, I’ll definitely get to the bottom of this. Let’s keep in touch,” Li Ji said before he hung up.

On the other hand, in the valley.

Fang Qiu scoured the area but did not find anything unusual, so he was forced to return empty-handed.

At the same time, 50 kilometers away.

Three people sat in a row in front of a computer in a spacious shipping container. There was a large high-resolution monitor behind the computer.

The monitor showed the valley from the up above, and the video showed someone below before the explosions shook the valley. It also showed how this person emerged after the billowing smoke dissipated and how he threw a rock that pierced through the helicopter.

The video was exceptionally clear.

However, the video turned shaky after the rock pierced through the helicopter before it turned black.

This was obviously a feed from the helicopter.

Those three people fell silent after the screen went black.

"I didn't expect our efforts to lay out this trap to come to naught. We didn't manage to trap an entire army as we had expected and couldn't even get rid of this kid!"

Medical Master

Chapter 396: Three Earth Treasures!

"Based on the information I've gathered, this man should be the mysterious man from the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine," a thin man with sunken eyes, long hair, and a high nose bridge said.

The three men stared at each other and the man who had spoken was on the left.

"Hmm..." their leader, a middle-aged man with graying hair said as his eyes narrowed. He thought for a moment before he said, "Let's not provoke this man in the future. He is very powerful, and I can't tell exactly how powerful he is."

The thin man was shocked by his words.

The plump man with a big belly but a small face on the right looked at the middle-aged man and said as his eyes widened, "Sir, is this man truly as powerful as you make him out to be? I can't believe you can't tell exactly how powerful he is."

"Yes," the middle-aged man nodded and added, "At least, I am not absolutely certain of how powerful he is. After all, he managed to survive the blast and emerged completely unharmed!"

The plump man and the thin man froze in surprise at his words.

Their leader might indeed be powerful, but CL-20 explosives had been planted around the area.

If they had been the ones caught in the explosions, they might not even be able to survive the blast.

“Alright,” the middle-aged man said as he winked. “We’ll stop Huaxia Operation for the moment to avoid attracting too much attention to ourselves. Otherwise, it wouldn’t just be one person coming after us the next time.”

“It is also time for us to move the location of our hideout,” he added.

The plump man and thin man nodded in unison.

“Wait!” the thin man suddenly rose with a start and shouted anxiously, “My Earth Treasure!”

The plump man and the middle-aged man immediately rose to their feet as well.

They looked at the thin man, and the middle-aged man placed a hand on the thin man’s shoulder as he asked, “What’s wrong?”

The thin man balled his hands into fists and clenched his jaw!

“Wait a minute, are you saying that the mysterious man did not leave and had even managed to find our third brother’s Earth Treasure?” the plump man exclaimed in shock.

“This is from the beast that guards the treasure!” the thin man said angrily through gritted teeth. “I’ve always maintained contact with the beast that is guarding the treasure. I’m sure you know that I’ve reared this beast since it was a baby. After I discovered the Earth Treasure that had yet to mature, I killed the beast that had been guarding the treasure and tasked my beast to guard the treasure. However, I just sensed that my beast is in danger.”

“In other words, the Earth Treasure is at risk. However, the Earth Treasure will mature in a few days!” the thin man said as his face turned pale.

“We shouldn’t be too hasty,” the middle-aged man said as he patted the thin man’s shoulder. “We can’t risk exposing ourselves. Moreover, I can’t tell how powerful the mysterious man is, so we might not even be able to kill him even if we were to join forces. We might even put ourselves in danger instead.”

“But,” the thin man said bitterly as he clenched his jaw, “you’re talking about the Earth Treasure that I’ve spent so much effort guarding. I would have extracted it the moment it ripened. Do you know what it feels like for your effort to be for naught?”

...

On a mountain near the valley.

Fang Qiu had intended to leap across the snow-capped mountain and take the shortest route back after he discovered that the HNS organization had left before he came and did not find anything unusual around the area.

To his surprise, he was attacked by a large and vicious beast the moment he scaled to the top of this snow-capped mountain.

It was a huge monkey that wasn’t large compared to the guardian beasts he had come across earlier. It was only slightly larger than an ordinary monkey and Fang Qiu had thought that its size was due to environmental factors, so he was surprised to find that this monkey was extremely vicious. It kept attacking Fang Qiu, so Fang Qiu finally gave it such a terrible beating that it almost died.

Fang Qiu stumbled upon a pleasant surprise when he reached the summit.

It was an Earth Treasure!

An Icicle Flower!

It ranked 54th on the list of Earth Treasures.

It was made from the purest form of ice on Earth. It wasn't a type of plant but rather, it was the physical manifestation of a kind of energy. It looked like an icicle and was often mistaken as such.

Fang Qiu was thrilled to have obtained this Earth Treasure.

"This was a fruitful trip after all," he exclaimed as he tucked the Icicle Flower away. He was glad that he didn't have to return empty-handed.

He glanced at the monkey and was about to set off when the monkey suddenly picked up a rock and threw it hard at Fang Qiu.

"Howl..."

Then, it quickly ran forward, turned to look at Fang Qiu, and screeched out a challenge as it smacked its red bottom.

It seemed as though it was challenging Fang Qiu to follow it.

"Interesting," Fang Qiu thought.

This was the first time he had come across such a strange monkey, so he started to follow the monkey's tracks.

...

In the shipping container.

"Phew.." the thin man finally relaxed when he sensed that his beast was still alive.

“How’re things?” the plump man asked.

“My beast is still alive,” the thin man said wryly. “If the Earth Treasure is gone, then so be it. It isn’t the only one I’ve been cultivating in any case.”

“Cheer up,” the middle-aged man said.

...

The Himalayan mountain range had an extremely high altitude, and almost every mountain was snow-capped.

Fang Qiu followed the large monkey and quickly moved from one snow-capped mountain to another snow-capped mountain.

Fang Qiu finally noticed after they were halfway up the mountain that this mountain seemed to be shaved into half.

There was a cliff that seemed to be set at a 90-degree angle.

“Howl...”

The large monkey ran to the foot of the cliff, picked up a rock, screeched loudly in the direction of the cliff, and started to hit the cliff with the rock.

Fang Qiu immediately looked up and saw a huge cave at the top of the cliff.

There was an enormous eagle in front of the cave that stared at the monkey down below.

“Screech...”

The enormous eagle let out a huge screech before it suddenly swooped downwards. It spread its wings and charged ferociously at Fang Qiu.

“Interesting. It even knows how to join forces with its comrade to attack me.”

“However, beasts are driven by instincts, so how are they getting along so well when there is an Earth Treasure around?”

Fang Qiu suddenly thought of a possibility.

The enormous eagle rushed toward him while the large monkey picked up two rocks and charged viciously at Fang Qiu.

“The only reason why they could live in harmony is that they are each guarding an Earth Treasure!”

He immediately flew into the air, dodged the attacks from the two beasts, clambered up the wall, and rushed into the enormous eagle’s hideout.

The enormous eagle was livid when it saw what Fang Qiu had done. It threw its head back, let out a loud screech, and frantically swooped after Fang Qiu.

The large monkey quickly climbed up the cliff as well.

“I knew it!”

Fang Qiu’s face lit up after he took one look at the enormous eagle’s cave.

He was pleasantly surprised to discover another Earth Treasure inside the cave.

It was the Heavenly Scent Horn, ranked 46th amongst the Earth Treasures.

It was shaped like an antelope horn, and its texture resembled that of a wild mushroom. It was also completely black in color.

“I must be so incredibly lucky to stumble upon two Earth Treasures that have just ripened.”

Fang Qiu chuckled loudly. Then, he gave the enormous eagle a backhand slap, and his Dragon’s Claw shot out from his palm. Then, he leaped forward without a second’s hesitation while the enormous eagle was stopped in its tracks by his Dragon’s Claw. He then picked up the Heavenly Scent Horn.

His curiosity was piqued.

These two Earth Treasures had only just ripened. It hadn’t been that long since they ripened but these beasts had more than enough time to eat these Earth Treasures.

Yet, they didn’t eat these Earth Treasures and even continued to watch over them. Why could that be so?

He thought to himself.

Fang Qiu tucked the Heavenly Scent Horn away, walked out of the cave, and started to engage those two beasts in battle.

...

Meanwhile, in the shipping container.

“Ah!”

The thin man, who had just breathed a sigh of relief and was about to sit back down after his comrades had comforted him, suddenly jumped back up to his feet with a startled cry.

He had sensed the beasts that guarded his first and second Earth Treasures were under attack.

He received a distress signal from both beasts!

“Damn you!” the thin man couldn’t help but curse. “How dare you take my second Earth Treasure even after you snatched the first one under my nose?” he yelled.

He was devastated!

He had spent ages searching for these Earth Treasures!

Yet, they were snatched right under his nose before he even had the chance to eat them!

....

On the snow-capped mountain, these two vicious beasts quickly sustained critical wounds after battling with Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu was about to leave after happily collecting two Earth Treasures when the large monkey issued another challenge by smacking its buttocks. The enormous eagle that circled the air above started to aim its poop at Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu nimbly dodged the poop attack.

“You’re still trying to challenge me?” Fang Qiu was getting a little annoyed.

These two vicious beasts were going too far.

These two beasts immediately headed in the same direction after Fang Qiu started to run after them.

It would have been extremely easy for Fang Qiu to catch up to those two beasts, but he deliberately slowed down as he chased after them.

He was no fool, and he wouldn't act rashly in a fit of anger.

Moreover, why would he be angry after obtaining two Earth Treasures?

He was merely putting on an act.

"Could there be another vicious beast that would lead to yet another Earth Treasure?" he speculated.

They traveled past two mountains before arriving at a tiny valley.

As the large monkey and enormous eagle screeched angrily, a humongous lizard that was as big as an alligator suddenly charged out from the valley.

This lizard was seven or eight meters long and three meters tall.

"I knew it," Fang Qiu couldn't help but chuckle when he saw the lizard.

Since the large monkey could guard an Earth Treasure, the humongous lizard would definitely be guarding an Earth Treasure as well, right?

He jumped past the three beasts, and when he looked down, he immediately spotted a lone bright red fruit hanging from a tree that was about the size of a human and didn't have leaves.

"Oh wow, a fiery fruit!" Fang Qiu exclaimed in shock.

The fiery fruit ranked 390th on the list of Earth Treasures.

According to the Heaven and Earth Treasure Scroll, the fiery fruit was shaped like a fruit, was as red as blood, burned as strongly as a fire, and was as scorching as a flame.

Just as its name suggested, it contained an enormous amount of elemental fire energy.

Fang Qiu would have never thought that the fiery fruit could be found in a valley surrounded by snow-capped mountains.

This might not be a Heaven Treasure but its existence would be enough to cause a huge stir. More importantly, the fiery fruit was extremely beneficial to those who cultivated strong and masculine martial arts.

Those who were troubled by cold Qi would treat this fiery fruit like a treasure because its unique elemental fire property made it far more valuable than ordinary Earth Treasures. It was almost as good as a Heaven Treasure.

Medical Master

Chapter 397: Cultivating Earth Treasures?

It was inside a container 300 li away.

“Poof...”

The skinny man had just been comforted and then sat down. Now, he suddenly jerked up and a mouthful of blood spurted out of his mouth.

“My three Earth Treasures; my fiery fruit!”

“Aargh!!... I’ll kill you!”

He shouted with a pair of bloodshot eyes. He directly jumped and was about to rush out of the container.

Beside him, the middle-aged man and the fat guy looked at each other in blankness.

They did not expect the coming guy to be so capable. Indeed, they had got away, but without any of their Earth Treasures!

However, now was not the time to expose themselves.

The two people hurriedly chased to stop him.

“The third oldest, stop!”

The middle-aged man directly pushed the skinny man down onto the ground, saying, “Did you forget what I just told you? Even if the three of us fight him together, we can’t rival him. And you must know that it takes no ordinary people to beat the three guardian beasts. If you just rush out like this, don’t you think your and your brothers’ lives will be put at risk?”

“Eldest brother.”

The skinny man shouted out loud and said with a pair of bloodshot eyes, “I, I can’t take this lying down. I’ve been waiting for so long to get those Earth Treasures. That’s fiery fruit! Perhaps I’ll break through to seventh-class after eating it. He’s ending my career. I’ll kill him!”

“Look at the big picture!”

The middle-aged man reached out both hands to press them on the skinny man’s shoulders, saying with a solemn face, “For now, we don’t mess with him. We have to endure. Someday, I’ll seek revenge for you!”

“Aargh!!!”

The skinny man roared into the sky. “John Doe, I’m telling you that I won’t allow myself to live anymore if I don’t get back at you!”

On the snow-capped mountain, the large monkey’s butt was stuffed inside a round hole in the ground. The feathers on the huge eagle’s tail had all been plucked out; it was hung in a tree, looking feebly. The giant lizard spread his four feet and opened its mouth wide, with its tongue tilting to one side.

The three fierce beasts had been black and blue from the battering.

Initially, Fang Qiu wanted to provoke the three beasts more, to see if they would run into the next mountain, leading him to the next Earth Treasure.

However, he waited and waited, staring at them for half an hour.

It turned out that he found that the three ferocious beats had been miserably hugging together, not intending to run anymore.

It looked like there was none left.

Fang Qiu touched his chin and thought.

But then again, Earth Treasures were not mushrooms in the mountains; you could not just pick some if you wanted to eat them.

Nevertheless, having brutally battering the three fierce beasts, Fang Qiu toured the surrounding snow-capped mountains again. After confirming there were no other Earth Treasures, then, he climbed all the way to the mountains at higher places. In the end, he climbed over the Himalayas and returned home.

He rushed all the way.

After going back to Lhasa, Fang Qiu directly logged onto the Wulin forum on his phone.

“Earth Treasures Available!”

He had posted it in a simple and direct way.

“Ranked 54th on the Earth Treasure list: Icicle Flower. Ranked 46th on the Earth Treasure list: Heavenly Scent Horn. Ranked 39th on the Earth Treasure list: fiery fruit.

“All of the three available.”

Earth Treasures were to Wulin people what money and beauties were to ordinary people.

However, Earth Treasures were already useless to Fang Qiu. He only needed Heaven Treasures, so there's pointless for him to keep Earth Treasures. He might as well sell them.

At that time, Fang Qiu just posted on the forum.

Immediately, the post attracted numerous people's attention.

“Holy cow! The mysterious man sells Earth Treasures again?”

“You're a fucking Earth Treasure wholesaler, aren't you?”

“The mysterious man is too mysterious. In just a few days, he sells Earth Treasures again?”

“Do you grow Earth Treasures at home? You've just sold one, and now you're coming back with three?”

“Oh my God! Fiery fruit. It's the fiery fruit!”

At once, all the people on the Wulin forum all cursed in Fang Qiu's thread with enormous envy, jealousy, and hate.

Without a doubt, everyone went mad.

Comparisons were odious!

Meanwhile, sitting in a taxi on the way to the airport, Fang Qiu was also browsing through the posts.

The three Earth Treasures in his hands were all OK, especially the fiery fruit. Even in the entire Wulin, it would definitely sell like hotcakes. However, Earth Treasures were really useless to him, and so was the fiery fruit.

Since he had got the Earth Treasures, he could not let them rot in his hands, could he?

Therefore, without any other ways, Fang Qiu could only choose to put them up for auction.

"Do you grow them at home?"

Browsing through the posts and seeing the reply, Fang Qiu was suddenly stunned and muttered. "Right. Can I grow Earth Treasures?"

Once the audacious thought came into his mind, it grew madly in Fang Qiu's heart.

However, on second thought, Earth Treasures grew from absorbing Heaven and Earth energy and Heaven and Earth essence. How could he possibly grow them?

From that point of view, it seemed unlikely!

While murmuring, Fang Qiu nodded. “No. I have to ask the keeper of Yaowang Mountain in detail when I come back to school.”

In his view, in terms of the skill of cultivation, if the keeper of Yaowang Mountain claimed to be the No. 1, then no one would dare to claim to be No. 2.

After all, the man had spent his entire life on growing herbs and could even grow wild ones. If there was a way to grow Earth Treasures, only the keeper of Yaowang Mountain could think of them.

“Knock knock...”

Suddenly, knocks rang.

Fang Qiu immediately collected himself and looked at his phone.

He found someone had sent a private message to him.

He tapped on it.

“Hi, Senior John Doe. I’m in the auction business and have a small auction agency. I hope you can grant me the right to put the three Earth Treasures up for auction. I promise there’ll be no commissions. RSVP.”

When he saw the message, Fang Qiu secretly shook his head.

He could not trust something like an auction agency on this kind of matter. What if they colluded with someone to say that Earth Treasures were robbed or stolen? Who would he turn to for justice?

Eventually, Fang Qiu still decided to delegate the auction to He Gaoming. With He Gaoming’s shrewdness and passion for money, he would not make Fang Qiu suffer losses.

Shortly after, he got off the car and entered the airport.

“Beep, beep, beep...”

The cell phone in Fang Qiu’s pant pocket suddenly rang.

It was Li Ji calling.

Fang Qiu picked up. “Hello.”

“Senior, I’ve found it.”

Li Ji directly said, “After careful investigation, we’re positive that no one leaked the message. The one who leaked it was the one whose kung fu had been removed by you, the fourth oldest in the HNS organization. From him, we knew that they had a secret way of sending messages and had already sent back the message in advance. Initially, we prepared those bombs for the military force and didn’t expect you would go there earlier.”

Hearing that, Fang Qiu shook his head and smiled wryly.

The people ran off but he got three Earth Treasures.

Was it on earth good or bad luck?

“I see.”

Smiling bitterly, Fang Qiu said, “About the news of HNS organization, I hope you can help continue looking into them. Inform me at the first opportunity if you’ve got any.”

“Got it.”

He Gaoming immediately replied, then hesitated and quickly added, "Senior, well... I heard you're selling Earth Treasures. Do you think you can sell me one?"

Fang Qiu said, "When I come back, go find He Gaoming. You probably know him."

Li Ji nodded. "Got it."

After hanging up, Fang Qiu was going to buy the ticket back to Jiangjing; the cell phone rang again.

This time, it was Jiang Miaoyu calling.

"Hello?"

Picking up, Fang Qiu asked with a smile. "What? Did you miss me?"

"Yes."

Jiang Miaoyu said, questioning the rationality of the answer. "Who else could I miss?"

Fang Qiu happily laughed. "Hehe."

Jiang Miaoyu asked, "Right, where on earth have you been? When will you come back to school?"

"What?"

Fang Qiu asked, "Is anything up?"

Jiang Miaoyu said, "The school has arranged that we'll set off for the capital tomorrow morning because the Young Physician of Huaxia Competition is about to begin. You have to make it back to school and go with us."

"You guys go first and don't need to wait for me."

Fang Qiu thought about it and said, "I can only make it back to school tomorrow. Later, I'll directly find you in the capital."

"OK. Take care. I'm off to class."

Jiang Miaoyu suddenly lowered her voice. Just as she finished speaking, she hung up.

Putting away the cell phone, Fang Qiu bought a flight ticket back to Jiangjing.

After waiting at the airport for a long time, Fang Qiu finally boarded the plane.

When he was back in the Jiangjing city, it was already past 5:40 in the morning.

He took a taxi back to school.

Fang Qiu did not even think about it and immediately took the Heavenly Scent Horn to Yaowang Mountain to find the keeper.

The reason why he chose Heavenly Scent Horn was that Icicle Flower was basically not a plant, fiery fruit was too rare, and only Heavenly Scent Horn was kind of normal.

It was 6:10.

Fang Qiu found the keeper of Yaowang Mountain.

“Mister, can you help to see if the plant can be grown or not?”

Fang Qiu took the Heavenly Scent Horn to the keeper.

Taking the Heavenly Scent Horn, the keeper was first stunned and then started to observe it carefully. He watched it here and there for more than 10 minutes, and then shook his said and said, “The plant is a little strange. It requires very strict growing conditions. It can’t be grown unless we have the same temperature, humidity, soil quality, and sunshine. You can’t absolutely plant them in Yaowang Mountain. It must be hard to find a place with the same conditions. And there seems to be a stricter condition that I fail to see through now.”

Hearing that, Fang Qiu understood.

He knew that the stricter condition the keeper of Yaowang Mountain said was Heaven and Earth energy.

When the outside conditions in every way had reached the standard, he still needed abundant Heaven and Earth energy so he could possibly grow them.

From that point of view, he would temporarily have no hope of growing Earth Treasures.

“The thing looks nice. Here you are.”

After another look at the Heavenly Scent Horn, the keeper then handed it back to Fang Qiu, saying, “You haven’t come here in a long time. While I still have the opportunity, I’ll teach you something.”

After saying that, he took Fang Qiu to tour Yaowang Mountain while talking to Fang Qiu.

After the walk, the keeper had told Fang Qiu the properties, the cultivation, and the processing of all the herbs.

After saying those, the keeper of Yaowang Mountain looked at the herbs all over the mountain with a pitiful face and melancholy said, "In the future, on the Chinese herb subject, you can only count on yourselves."

Fang Qiu asked in doubt, "Mister, did something happen?"

"No."

The keeper shook his head and waved to say, "Go ahead if you've got business to attend to."

Fang Qiu grew more bewildered.

However, he knew that even if he pursued the matter, the keeper of Yaowang Mountain still would not tell him the reason. Therefore, he could only get off the mountain and returned to the dorm.

On the way to go off the mountain, Fang Qiu turned his head back to look.

He found that the keeper of Yaowang Mountain was holding his tool, weeding the fields. His look was extremely serious, full of tender loving care for Chinese herbs.

Returning to the dorm, Fang Qiu pushed open the door.

He found Zhu Benzhen, Sun Hao, and Zhou Xiaotian all in the dorm.

Seeing Fang Qiu, the three people all didn't seem very pleasantly surprised; they didn't seem to be in a good mood.

Fang Qiu asked, "What happened to you? Why a long face, everyone?"

Zhou Xiaotian sighed melancholy. "Alas."

Sun Hao shook his head and let out a long sigh. "Sigh..."

Zhu Benzhenɡ also sighed with a sad face. "Alas."

Fang Qiu pursued. "What on earth happened?"

Zhu Benzhenɡ said, "Our master is quitting."

"What?"

Fang Qiu was stunned and asked, "What the hell is going on?"

"Here's what happened."

Sun Hao pursed his lips and said, "Back then, a pharmacy company had always wanted to poach our master. But our master refused time and time again for the herbs, because he likes the environment in Yaowang Mountain. But now, my master's son is getting married and he hasn't enough money for a new apartment. A new apartment will cost a few million yuan. With my master's a-few-thousand-yuan pay, how can he afford it?

"Our master was so worried that in the end, he decided to leave our school to work in that company."

Medical Master

Chapter 398: Leaving the School Dejectedly

"We can't help with it."

Zhu Benzhenɡ sighed and said, "Though our master is a typical master in seclusion. But in the current society, no matter how capable the master is, he can't go without money."

With that, the three people in the dorm stared at each other and all looked bitter.

They had made a lot of effort to find such an awesome master. However, before they had learned for a long time from him, the master was going. They did not want him to go and it upset them.

Meanwhile, hearing them out, Fang Qiu couldn't help falling silent.

It was no wonder that the keeper acted so strangely.

That being said, like what Zhu Benzhen had said, this was the reality, and there was nothing he could do about it either.

Fang Qiu knew that the keeper was not the kind of man who liked money, otherwise, he wouldn't have stayed at Yaowang Mountain growing herbs all the time.

Thinking about that, Fang Qiu thought there's no way he could help the keeper either.

It was not suitable to directly give him money.

The keeper would definitely not take it, therefore, he could only let things be like this.

Fang Qiu said, "Well, there's no other way. That's how things work. The only thing we can do is to wish him a wonderful journey in his new career."

The three people including Zhu Benzhen also agreed and nodded.

However, the three people still looked sullen.

"Alas."

Suddenly, Zhu Benzhen heaved a long sigh and exclaimed. "I wonder if we'll give up what we like because of the problems in reality like money and power. Will everyone have to experience such pain?"

Hearing that, everyone couldn't help sighing.

"Oh, right, how come you didn't go to the capital?"

Zhu Benzhen remembered that today was the day when he should set off for the capital, so he asked Fang Qiu in doubt.

"I'll go tomorrow morning."

Fang Qiu answered him by saying, "Anyway, it's still four days to the filming. There's no hurry."

After breakfast, Fang Qiu called He Gaoming to meet him in He Gaoming's detective agency.

Then, changing into the mysterious man's clothes, Fang Qiu then left the school.

When Fang Qiu arrived at the detective agency, He Gaoming had long been anticipating Fang Qiu's arrival.

Seeing Fang Qiu, He Gaoming immediately rushed to him, making the gesture to hug Fang Qiu. However, Fang Qiu dodged him.

"Master, you're so badass. You really are. You've actually managed to secure three Earth Treasures more."

He Gaoming did not feel awkward at all. Instead, he was so thick-skinned that he drew his face to Fang Qiu, saying, "Master, since you've got so many Earth Treasures, how about giving me one?"

Fang Qiu said flatly, "Give me the money."

“Nope.”

He Gaoming quickly replied and then hurriedly said, “Look, is money an issue between us, a master and his apprentice?”

Fang Qiu did not catch the bait.

He just directly stared into He Gaoming’s eyes.

“Don’t look at me in that way.”

He Gaoming smiled wryly and his eyes rolled. Then, he immediately drew out five hundred yuan from his pant pocket. While handing it to Fang Qiu, he put on a serious look, saying, “Master, this is the boat fare on the other night. I haven’t found the right opportunity to give it to you. You must take it.”

Fang Qiu’s eyes rolled when he heard this.

Then, without the slightest look of embarrassment, he took the five hundred yuan He Gaoming handed it to him and directly stuffed them into his pant pocket.

Then, the air suddenly froze.

He Gaoming did not say anything either; he just stared directly into Fang Qiu’s eyes.

Fang Qiu did not know what was going on.

What happened to the guy?

The atmosphere was just nice; how did it suddenly become depressing?

The kind of awkward atmosphere continued for a few minutes long.

It was after a while.

He Gaoming, who had been staring at Fang Qiu, suddenly opened his mouth and asked, "Master, how about my Earth Treasure?"

"Hm?"

Fang Qiu was stunned and knew He Gaoming was trying to trick him so he directly asked, "When did I promise to give you one?"

He Gaoming froze.

When he was about to blurt out something, Fang Qiu suddenly turned his wrist inside out and took out the three Earth Treasures.

Fang Qiu said, "These are three Earth Treasures. Someone will come to you for one of them, and you should help me deal with the rest two."

Meanwhile, when he saw the Earth Treasures, He Gaoming's eyes widened.

"Master."

With a pair of eyes fixed on the Earth Treasures, He Gaoming asked, "Can you really bear not giving me one?"

"Yes, I can."

Fang Qiu nodded, not feeling embarrassed at all.

He Gaoming looked awkward all over the face.

He felt helpless.

Earth Treasure was very attractive to him in an unusual way.

One could see that from the way he pestered Fang Qiu for it.

Nevertheless, since the mysterious man did not give him any, there was no way he could get it.

After all, he forced to be the mysterious man's apprentice. Until now, the mysterious man hadn't even officially accepted him. If he dared to pocket the mysterious man's Earth Treasures at this time, then, not to mention being his apprentice, he might be beaten to nearly dead by the mysterious man, and also be get rid of his kung fu.

Thinking about that, He Gaoming couldn't help swallowing and then looked at Fang Qiu with eager eyes, saying, "Then, alright. But master, next time, you must remember to keep one for me."

Fang Qiu did not continue the topic; he directly slipped out of the detective agency.

At night, Fang Qiu called the three people including Zhu Benzhen to have dinner with the keeper of Yaowang Mountain to repay him for his lessons during the past days, and also to say goodbye to him.

The atmosphere over the meal was very depressing.

While talking about knowledge on pharmacology for them, the keeper of Yaowang Mountain tried to liven things up with his smiles; the three people including Zhu Benzhen smiled drily all the time to respond to his jokes.

After the meal, back at school, looking at Yaowang Mountain not far away, the keeper helplessly sighed and said, "I'm leaving, and I'm leaving Yaowang Mountain to you in the future days. If there's any chance, I'll come back."

Saying that, the keeper's aged face could not help twitching a little. His pair of bright eyes became covered with murky teardrops.

Yaowang Mountain was a place he had spent a few decades at.

Looking at the way the keeper acted, the four people standing aside all found their eyes turning red.

Sun Hao said with a bitter face, "Don't worry. We will take good care of Yaowang Mountain and never allow others to touch any single herb of yours."

Others all nodded.

"OK, my boys."

Seeing the four people crying, the keeper of Yaowang Mountain instantly wiped the teardrops beside the corner of his eyes and said to the four, "In the future, you must work hard to learn; you must become really useful doctors."

The four people nodded to agree.

"Go ahead now. I should go too."

Looking at Yaowang Mountain for one last time, the keeper turned around to leave with an extremely melancholy and lonely face.

Seeing off the keeper, the four people walked back to the dorm together.

On the way, everyone was down.

“Fang Qiu.”

While walking, Zhu Benzhen suddenly opened his mouth to say, “This time, when you go to the capital for the Young Physician of Huaxia Competition, you must earn a good place. We’ll root for you from here.”

“That’s right.”

Sun Hao tightly clenched his fist and said, “We’ll not only root for you, but also work hard to learn too.”

“We can’t let down the keeper of Yaowang Mountain for the lessons he’s given us.”

Zhou Xiaotian also set a posture that said he would work hard.

After that, the three people’s eyes were all fixed on Fang Qiu.

Under the gaze of the three people, Fang Qiu nodded heavily to answer them, “I will.”

“When I’m rich in the future, I’ll get a really really large herb garden and gather all the capable men to keep them from giving up their dreams because of these secular stuff!”

Zhou Xiaotian righteously said and then immediately became listless and bitterly said, “It’s a shame that I don’t have money.”

While the speaker did not mean it, the listener had remembered it in their heart.

Fang Qiu took a secret mental note of what Zhou Xiaotian said.

Now, indeed, he had become rich. However, with only the amount of the money he had owned, not to mention a garden and manpower, he would find it very difficult to only buy a piece of land. A few million yuan was never enough.

Nevertheless, Fang Qiu believed that there would finally be one day when he had got enough money.

When that day came, he would also gather these people together to pass down and promote Chinese Medicine.

Thinking of that, Fang Qiu secretly clenched his fists.

In his head, there was already an initial blueprint.

The next day, at 5 am, without disturbing his three roommates, Fang Qiu slipped out of the school and went to the airport, boarding on a plane to the capital.

Because of all kinds of delays, until 8 am, the plane finally landed at the capital airport.

Because he went here for the competition, people from CCTV had arranged accommodations for him in advance. It was a hotel right near the CCTV building; it was not a luxurious one but was very nice still.

Arriving at the hotel, Fang Qiu took out his student card and presented it to the front desk clerk. Soon, he received a room card.

The clerk led him upstairs.

Because of the reservations, rooms for the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine students were all on the fourth floor.

After entering the room and dropping his luggage, Fang Qiu asked around and knew that his classmates were all on the same floor. Then, he immediately knocked their doors one by one but found no one was in.

Helplessly, Fang Qiu could only call Jiang Miaoyu.

Picking up, Jiang Miaoyu immediately asked, "Have you arrived?"

Fang Qiu asked, "Yes, I've just arrived at the hotel. Where are you?"

Jiang Miaoyu said, "We went out at 6 o'clock to climb the Great Wall. After all, we can't go to the capital very often. Now, we're almost there."

Fang Qiu asked again, "Where are you now?"

"Now, we're at Zhan Tianyou Memorial Museum."

Jiang Miaoyu said, "We all want to take a look inside the museum to know about the master who designed the railroad of the Badaling Great Wall."

Fang Qiu said, "Well then, you go tour the museum and the pedestrian mall in the Badaling Great Wall park. I'll go find you right now."

"OK."

Jiang Miaoyu nodded and said, "Let's meet at the entrance of the Badaling Great Wall. After our tour, you should make it there too."

Fang Qiu nodded his head and hung up. "OK."

Leaving the hotel, Fang Qiu directly took a taxi to the Badaling Great Wall park.

However, the capital was really too full of traffic. It took Fang Qiu nearly one hour to make it to the park.

Entering the park, he ran toward the entrance of the Great Wall at full speed.

Nevertheless, before he arrived at the entrance of the Great Wall, from far away, Fang Qiu saw a crowd gathering at a shady and cool area beside the entrance.

With a closer look, Fang Qiu spotted one of his classmates in the crowd.

Raising his eyebrows, Fang Qiu thought. "Did anything happen?"

Immediately, he rushed over.

He rushed near them and nudged into the crowd; Fang Qiu immediately saw that the one being surrounded by the crowd was none other than Jiang Miaoyu.

At that time, Jiang Miaoyu was squatting on the ground with her brows knitted; she looked quite anxious.

He turned to look and found beside Jiang Miaoyu, their classmates were all present.

He nudged into the innermost circle of the crowd. Just when he was about to rush to her to ask, Fang Qiu suddenly found the protagonist surrounded by the crowd was actually not Jiang Miaoyu.

Before Jiang Miaoyu, there was another person!

Medical Master

Chapter 399: Shut Up!

An old man!

Precisely, an old man who had collapsed onto the ground.

At that time, the old man's mouth twitched and eyes could not get into focus. He was drooling and he had already passed out.

Jiang Miaoyu squatted on one knee and was taking off the old man's denture. She loosened the old man's collar and helped the old man to lie on his side. She kept cleaning what the old man was throwing up out of his mouth.

Fang Qiu immediately rushed over and squatted on one knee beside Jiang Miaoyu. While feeling the old man's pulse, he asked, "What happened?"

"I don't know. He just suddenly passed out."

Jiang Miaoyu said, not even turning her head around. "I'm guessing it's cerebral bleeding."

Fang Qiu nodded. "Yes."

Fang Qiu carefully felt the pulse and found the old man indeed had cerebral bleeding.

Fang Qiu said, "Let me do this."

Hearing that, Jiang Miaoyu, whose nerves were on edge, suddenly froze. Feeling the voice familiar, she immediately looked up.

"Phew."

Seeing Fang Qiu, Jiang Miaoyu immediately heaved a sigh of great relief.

Her nerves were finally calmed.

Without words, she just trusted Fang Qiu.

Without further thinking, she made way for Fang Qiu.

At that time, in the nearby crowd, suddenly, there was a sudden commotion.

A scream rang. "Dad!"

Then, a woman suddenly pounced on the old man out of the crowd. She did not check on the old man. Instead, she directly blocked in front of Jiang Miaoyu and snapped. "What have you done to my dad?"

"You're the patient's family?"

Jiang Miaoyu did not have anything else on the mind so she hurriedly said, "Here's what happened. Just now, I saw him suddenly pass out, so I came to give him first aid because I've been a medicine major student at the University of Chinese Medicine. Now, the patient's in a critical condition. You need to send him to the hospital right way."

"My dad passed out and you gave him first aid?"

The woman stared at Jiang Miaoyu, suspecting and eyeing Jiang Miaoyu from head to toe.

Jiang Miaoyu seemed to notice something and nodded with great certainty.

Nearby, a student echoed. "I can vouch for her."

Then, a few other students and citizens who had been watching here all nodded.

"I saw it. Your dad passed out and it's the young girl who gave him first aid."

“She’s a good girl. Don’t scam her.”

“She’s so kind-hearted to help you. Why do you suspect her?”

“Why are you like this? There are so many of us here. Could we mistake it? Your father is seriously ill now. Go send him to the hospital now. Why are you suspecting people here like this?”

They all echoed.

At that time, Fang Qiu suddenly rose. Looking at the woman before him, he said, “Your father had as acute cerebral bleeding. Now I’m giving your father first aid. If it’s delayed, your father’s life might be in danger. You’re the patient’s family and I need your permission.”

“No!”

The woman directly refused and said, “My dad’s like this now. How can I let you touch him anymore? I’ll just wait here for an ambulance.”

“Rest assured. I study in medicine and I won’t hurt your father.”

Fang Qiu knitted his brows and said with an anxious face. “You don’t study medicine, so you don’t know how bad your father’s condition is right now. It really can’t be delayed anymore. Even if I can’t cure your father, at least, I can promise to keep your father alive before an ambulance comes.”

“He’s right. When the ambulance comes, your father might be dying.”

“Who will act like you as a daughter? He wants to save your dad and you won’t let him?”

“Do you really want to delay it to kill your dad?”

“The young boy studies medicine. Just let him try.”

“Right. If something really happens, it’ll be too late for you to regret it by then.”

The nearby crowd all persuaded.

The woman stared at Fang Qiu and said, “You said it. You’d promise to keep my dad alive.”

Fang Qiu immediately nodded. “I promise.”

“OK.”

The woman nodded and said, “If something happens then, don’t blame me for making trouble!”

Hearing that, Fang Qiu did not bother saying anything more with the woman before him. He immediately squatted and lightly put the palm on the old man’s head, transferring his mental power to pour into the old man’s brain.

While seeing internally, he slowly removed blood stasis in the old man’s brain with his mental power and internal Qi.

The brain was a very miraculous, yet very delicate place, with numerous possibilities and limitless power. Even a mistake at a tiny spot would lead to a great problem.

Therefore, Fang Qiu acted with extreme caution.

While removing blood stasis for him, Fang Qiu also healed and dredged the old man’s vessels.

Everyone around was very concerned.

The situation lasted for 15 minutes, and then an ambulance finally arrived.

At that time, the old was still in a coma.

A doctor got off the car from the front seat to check on the patient. Two nurses got off from the compartment and spread a stretcher. Under the doctor's instructions, they carried the old man into the ambulance.

The old man's daughter, who was just about to follow into the car, suddenly turned around.

He saw Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu about to leave and immediately pointed at the two people, saying, "You follow me to the hospital together. When my dad wakes up, you can leave!"

Fang Qiu frowned.

Beside him, Jiang Miaoyu also looked at him.

Fang Qiu took a step forward. "Now the important thing is to save him. I don't want to argue. It's OK, but only I will go with you."

"No."

The woman immediately shook her head and pointed at Jiang Miaoyu, saying, "Both of you have to go. Who knows if my dad became like this because of your messed-up first aid and didn't even wake up now? Anyway, you have to go with me."

Fang Qiu felt a little angry. "What do you mean?"

He was about to properly argue with the woman.

At that time, Jiang Miaoyu grabbed Fang Qiu and shook her head at Fang Qiu. Then, she pointed at the nearby watching people and said, "Let's save the patient first."

Hearing that, Fang Qiu nodded agreement speechlessly. "Alright. We'll go with you."

Then, the two people followed the patient's daughter into the ambulance.

Arriving at the hospital, the old man was directly sent into an emergency room.

Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu waited anxiously outside the emergency room, while the old man's daughter ran to the side calling someone.

Fang Qiu held Jiang Miaoyu's hand and asked, "Why didn't you let me argue just now?"

"If the thing explodes, it'll affect many things. It's bad for you."

Jiang Miaoyu faintly smiled and said, "At least, you're now sort of a public figure."

"Actually, you don't need to worry about it."

Fang Qiu shook his head and said, "If a little bit of fame could tie me down, the past days of my life would all be a waste."

Jiang Miaoyu gave a tiny smile.

That being said, she was really concerned about Fang Qiu.

Because she found that, just now, before the ambulance came, someone was recording on their phone. If the thing really spread, it would really reflect badly on him.

Especially, it was the time before the Young Physician of Huaxia Competition.

The most important part was that the old man's daughter was not obviously someone nice. Even, she struck Jiang Miaoyu as unreasonable. If the thing spread and the woman kept making trouble and slandering Fang Qiu, it would be troublesome. After all, these days, merely a dozen witnesses who saw the entire thing could never compete with gossip that could arouse people's curiosity.

At that time, after the call, the old man's daughter walked to them.

The woman was short and plump. When she looked at others, her eyeballs were lifted to the corners of her eyes. Moreover, when she walked, she swayed her hips, which struck people as cheesy.

"You two."

From afar, the woman reached out to point at Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu, snapping at them. "Which school are you in? Show me your student cards and your IDs, all of them. If anything happens to my dad, I'll go to your school!"

"Are you fucking sick?"

Unable to suppress the anger in the heart, Fang Qiu directly berated. "We saved your father. It's fine if you don't say thanks. Now you even want to blame us?"

"Hmph."

The woman coldly snorted and said, "Who knows if you saved him or hurt him? Hurry and show me your student cards."

Fang Qiu was furious.

He also knew that arguing with this kind of woman just would not work out.

Immediately, completely ignoring the woman, he grabbed Jiang Miaoyu's hand to leave.

The woman hurriedly stopped Fang Qiu. "He hasn't recovered and you want to leave?"

"Hmph."

Fang Qiu coldly snorted and just gently exerted his internal Qi and directly sent the woman back.

To his surprise, after being pushed away, the woman was first stunned.

Then, she suddenly tore her own collar and and shouted out loud. "Someone picked up a fight with a woman..."

Once the shout rang, people in the corridor of the hospital all rushed over.

At that time, two men trotted and rushed out from a turn of the corridor. "Who, who knocked out my dad?"

"Which bastard dares to hurt my sister?"

The shouts rang over.

The two people quickly rushed to them and surrounded both Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu.

"Kid, you're courting death?"

"You dared to touch my family?"

"Stay fucking here today and don't move. Or I'll kill you!"

The two people walked to them and cursed, ferociously staring at Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu.

“You want to pick up a fight?”

Fang Qiu stood in front of Jiang Miaoyu to protect her. He asked with a sneer and then said, “We’re in a hospital.”

“That’s right.”

Fang Qiu turned his head around to look at the unreasonable woman and said, “If you don’t want your father to die, then shut your hole. This is an emergency room!”

Hearing that, the woman hurriedly stopped talking.

In whispers of the people around, she stared at Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu with a resentful face.

Fang Qiu coldly snorted and was ready to leave. “Hmph.”

However, the two men stopped him once again.

The unreasonable woman even rushed to them. Reaching out her hand like a shrew, she directly grabbed toward Jiang Miaoyu’s hair.

“Fuck you!”

Fang Qiu cursed and grabbed the woman’s hand, turning her wrist inside out with a swoosh.

The woman cried from the pain. “Ouch!”

Before him, the slightly older man shouted. “How dare you touch my wife?”

“Release my sister.”

The slightly younger man also angrily shouted.

The two people all stared at Fang Qiu with unkind faces.

“I’ll tell you this one last time. Run while you still can!”

After that, Fang Qiu suddenly exerted more force, causing the woman to cry louder in pain.

After that, Fang Qiu then tossed her hand aside.

Medical Master

Chapter 400: Leave Your Contact Information!

“You, you dared to hit me?”

Being tossed away to the side by Fang Qiu, the woman instantly went crazy. While shouting like she had been greatly wronged, she waved her hands, ready to rush to Fang Qiu to fight it out.

However, it was at that moment.

“Crack!”

The door creaked open.

Then, a doctor went out of the emergency room and shouted fiercely. “Cut it off.” He glared at the woman who was yelling curses and asked, “Who’s the patient’s family?”

“Me, it’s me.”

Stopping the yelling, the woman hastily tidied her clothes and hurriedly ran to the doctor’s side and asked, “Doctor, how’s my father?”

“He’s safe.”

The doctor glanced at the woman angrily and said, “He’s just in a coma for now.”

“But, there’s a problem.”

Hearing that, the woman immediately tensed up and quickly asked, “What kind of problem?”

“A problem I can’t quite see through.”

The doctor said with a frown, “In the beginning, judging from the symptoms, your father should have acute cerebral bleeding. But, we didn’t know why we couldn’t find blood stasis in your father’s brain. But after the examination, we’re sure that your father had cerebral bleeding. We even find vessels with signs of breaking. The vessels were fixed after breaking and causing cerebral bleeding. Who did it?”

“Well?”

The woman was stunned and didn’t seem to really understand what the doctor said. She asked at once. “Doctor, just tell me. Did my father stay in a coma because the first aid someone gave to him?”

After saying that, she jerked her head back with a swoosh and glared at Fang Qiu, looking as if she wanted to swallow people alive and to fight desperately.

“Who told you that?”

The doctor rolled his eyes at the woman and said, "I'll tell you this. The reality is exactly the opposite. If that someone hadn't gone out of their way to give him first aid, your father might have passed away!"

Hearing that, the woman instantly felt dumbfounded.

At the same time, the woman's husband and younger brother also froze.

"Hmph."

However, Fang Qiu just sneered, grabbed Jiang Miaoyu's hand and strode forward, ready to leave.

"Wait a minute."

Seeing Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu about to leave, the woman rolled her eyes around and immediately said, "I won't stop you if you want to go, but please leave your contact information, so I can thank you after my father wakes up."

Fang Qiu twisted his head back and asked, "You want to have our contact information so that you can scam us once something happens to your father, right?"

Hearing the words, the woman was instantly choked with surprise.

She was exactly thinking of that.

She did not worry about her father's cerebral bleeding at all. Instead, she feared that her father would wake up too early. After all, it was not every day that she could scam people like this.

Therefore, she had decided that she would make Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu stay here in every way. Anyway, she must get enough beneficial results.

Fang Qiu held Jiang Miaoyu's hand and walked away. "Let's go."

Seeing that, the woman sank her face.

She immediately threw a glance at her husband and younger brother.

“Where are you going?”

“We ask you to leave your contact information. Can’t you hear us?”

The woman’s husband and younger brother looked at each other and then immediately walked over, intending to stop Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu.

However, just when the men reached out their hands in front of Fang Qiu, Fang Qiu directly struck out, instantly knocking the two down without the slightest hesitation.

The two were dumbfounded.

The did not even know what happened but then they both fell down on the ground.

Meanwhile, the woman suddenly screamed. “What are you doing?” She pointed at Fang Qiu and cursed. “Why are you hitting people? How can you do this? We wanted your contact information so we could thank you. Why did you hit them?”

The woman acted like she would not let Fang Qiu go. While cursing, she even stood with her hands on her hips, acting like she would end this with a verbal war.

However, it was at that time.

“Swoosh!”

Fang Qiu moved his feet and directly flashed to the front of the woman.

In the blink of an eye, he rushed to her from five meters away.

The woman was instantly shocked. The airflow that Fang Qiu brought was like a cold wind, making her feel chilly behind her neck.

“I’ve been putting up with you since the beginning, but as a man, I don’t want to hit a woman. But, if you dare to curse one more time, don’t blame me for breaking my principles!”

After saying that and fiercely glaring at her, Fang Qiu then turned around to leave.

Grabbing Jiang Miaoyu’s hand, he walked into the elevator.

Seeing Fang Qiu walking into the elevator, the woman instantly did not care about anything in anger. She pointed at Fang Qiu and cursed with an angry face. “You, wait for it. One day I’ll find your school, you little brat!”

Hearing that, Fang Qiu darkened his face.

He sneered. “Humph!”

A mass of internal Qi instantly rushed out ferociously.

There was an extremely crisp and huge sound. “Bang!”

People saw the mass of internal Qi hit the woman’s face like a slap with its full force. Instantly, the woman was slapped swirling for a few times in the air and then fell to the ground.

When she stood up again, half of her face was swollen like a rubber ball.

The woman cried and shouted in pain. "Aargh, aargh..."

However, she looked around again and again but found nobody there around her. Nevertheless, she really felt the pain and her face was also so swollen that it looked awful.

Thinking for a while, the woman felt her blood curdling.

She thought if she had run into a ghost.

As the saying went, you did not fear a ghost knocking on your door if you were not guilty. The woman, obviously, had done too many bad things. Just after that, she was so frightened that she couldn't help shivering and even wanted to escape out of the hospital.

It was in the elevator.

"How can there be such a person in the world?"

Jiang Miaoyu sadly held Fang Qiu's arm and said with an aggrieved face, "It's you who saved his father. Even the doctor said so. Why did they still abuse us?"

"Have you heard something like this?"

Fang Qiu stroked Jiang Miaoyu's head to comfort her and said with a smile in the meanwhile, "When the forest is big enough, there will be all kinds of birds. When there are so many people in the world, naturally, there will be all kinds of people."

However, Jiang Miaoyu feared after that. "If you hadn't come, I really don't know what I would have experienced today."

Indeed, as a girl, if she really was caught up with the family. Who could she turn to for help?

The most important thing was the people who had been watching just then now was nowhere to be seen.

Once entering the hospital, the woman would not care if anyone's watching, it would be the best for her if she could just scam Jiang Miaoyu.

"Don't worry."

Looking at Jiang Miaoyu, Fang Qiu said smilingly, "I've got your back. If someone dares to hurt you, I will hurt him 10 and 100 times more."

Jiang Miaoyu raised her head to look at Fang Qiu, her big eyes shining brightly. "Really?"

Fang Qiu nodded to answer her, confirmed. "Really!"

Jiang Miaoyu tilted her head and leaned it on Fang Qiu's shoulder with a happy face. "OK."

Arriving on the first floor, Fang Qiu held Jiang Miaoyu's hand and walked toward the outside.

It was at this time.

A shout, accompanied by pattering footsteps, rang. "Wait a minute,"

Fang Qiu and Jiang Miaoyu turned around to look at the same time. "Hm?"

They saw the coming man was none other than the doctor who walked out of the emergency room.

"Young man, I want to ask you something."

Catching up with him, the doctor did not beat around the bush and directly asked, "What kind of first aid did you give to the old man?"

Fang Qiu answered, "Just the regular first aid procedures."

"I'm not talking about this..."

The doctor immediately shook his head and wanted to express himself more clearly, however, suddenly, something seemed to occur to him; he suddenly smiled, "If that's what you said. You're a very responsible and virtuous man. These days it's rare to see people like you, so I want to make you my friend. Can I have your number?"

Hearing this, Fang Qiu changed his face. "Why did he sound so weird?"

However, Jiang Miaoyu couldn't help bursting into laughter. "Pfft..." Then, she tightly grabbed Fang Qiu's arms; it looked like she wanted to tell the doctor that this man had been taken.

The doctor instantly fell speechless. "Hang on, that's not what I mean." Though more than 30 years old, he still looked young and in his early 20s.

Fang Qiu smilingly replied. "I know." Then, he gave his number to the doctor.

He did not worry about it at all.

Anyway, even if the doctor had Fang Qiu's number, he could never find out who Fang Qiu was by the number. Therefore, in terms of giving him the cell phone number, Fang Qiu did not mind it too much.

Taking down the number, the doctor asked, "What's your name?"

Fang Qiu answered, "John Doe."

“Hm?”

Fang Qiu was stunned and then suddenly smiled, saying, “Rest assured. I was not trying to get the identity information out of you. It’s simple. I just want to know you.”

Fang Qiu nodded.

The doctor asked, “Do you know why?”

Fang Qiu shook his head. “I do not.”

The doctor said, “Because, I’ve smelled strong Chinese herb smell on you. And thinking about the first aid you gave to the old man, I guess you must be a Chinese Medicine. My old man is also a somewhat capable experienced Chinese Medicine.”

Fang Qiu was curious. “If that’s so, why did you study Western Medicine instead of Chinese Medicine?”

“Well, there’s a story behind it.”

The doctor shook his head and said, “When I was little, I thought the traditional Chinese Medicine was outdated, and only Western Medicine could cure people because the patients could see everything when the Western Medicine doctor treated them. For example, when you had a car accident, you would need surgery. But, when I grow older, now, I kind of regret it.

“From what happened today, you should see how tense the physician-patient relationship now is.

“To be honest. You Chinese Medicine doctors are the best. I almost want to quit.”

Hearing that, Fang Qiu frowned and asked, “You don’t mean it, do you?”

“Why not?”

The doctor bitterly smiled and shook his head. Then, he moved his hands to directly lift up his clothes. Pointing at a knife scar on his lower abdomen, he said, "This is from three years ago. Back then, I didn't ace the surgery and got stabbed by the patient. Even now, the scar still hurts sometimes."

Jiang Miaoyu became shocked.

Fang Qiu was also stunned. He didn't expect that a doctor was willing to sacrifice so much but instead met with a heavy knife blow.

Fang Qiu reached out and gently touched the doctor's scar, and at the same time saw internally using his mental power. "Let me take a look."

It turned out that the reason why he was still hurting from the scar sometimes was the inside nerves were still not fully grown.

He had an idea and immediately nourish the doctor's scar with his internal Qi, carefully growing the damaged nerves back.

"Hmm?"

The doctor was stunned and looked at Fang Qiu with a surprised face, saying, "Why don't I feel the pain anymore? So amazing?"