Chapter 661: It Finally Started!

“This streamer is funny.”

“This live streaming seems to be much more relaxing than the live broadcasting of the news.”

“What a lovely streamer.”

The audience was laughing merrily as they paid Luo Jialong compliments.

Among them were some of Luo Jialong’s devoted fans, but they were undoubtedly submerged in the crowd due to the large number of people watching the live streaming.

In addition to his fans, among the 15 million viewers, some of the audience were regulars and some were only occasional viewers of the live streaming. The remaining half had never been involved in online live streaming before.

When they watched it now, it seemed that the live streaming was quite interesting.

“Guys, let’s send him some gifts.”

The administrator of the live streaming room said.

Although there were too many people and comments on the bullet screen, the room administrator had a special mark, so the color of his words was different. Therefore, when he sent his comment, it was immediately seen by the streamer’s fans.

In the blink of an eye, the streamer's fans immediately started to give out gifts!

It immediately aroused the curiosity of the other viewers watching the live streaming. The rich people who were watching the live streaming from other platforms did not want to be outdone by others, so they immediately began to compete with the streamers' fans.

When they saw this, those who had never watched any live streaming before became even more curious. Many people also joined in sending gifts.

Although it seemed that there were not many people sending gifts, there were 15 million people in the live streaming room.

These 15 million people's luxurious gifts flooded in the live streaming room. At a glance, all kinds of virtual planes, sports cars, rockets and many others, appeared one after another from different angles, almost covering the entire screen.

Fortunately, there was a button that could help people block the information about the gifts in the broadcast room, so that everyone could watch the live streaming with ease.

While some people were giving out gifts crazily, many people heeded what the anchor said and rushed to the bathroom. It seemed that they were really afraid that they would get sick if they didn't go to the toilet now and miss the critical moment of the live streaming.

As a streamer, Luo Jialong was overjoyed when he looked at the gifts filling up the screen.

Facing these 15 million viewers, he didn't feel so nervous anymore. He immediately began to chat with the viewers.

It could be seen from the numerous comments on the bullet screen that they really liked to listen to his chat.

It lasted for more than ten minutes.

When it was almost time, all the representatives of the medical conference started entering the hall.

“I saw Fang Qiu.” First, Luo Jialong pointed the camera at the 32 members of the executive committee who were filing into the hall. He turned his head, looked around, then immediately whispered and pointed the camera at Fang Qiu, from a distance.

Fang Qiu, who was dressed in a suit had just entered the meeting hall. He then turned his head and smiled toward the direction of the camera of the online streamer.

Fang Qiu was a guru.

He could clearly detect everything within a radius of 20 kilometers, not to mention the entire meeting hall. In fact, when the meeting started on the first day, he was already clearly aware of the presence of the online streamer.

Therefore, as soon as he walked into the hall, he smiled toward the direction of the camera of his mobile phone.

It was nothing to Fang Qiu.

However, for the 15 million viewers who were watching the live streaming, it was an extremely rare footage.

“Wow, Fang Qiu just smiled.”

“Oh my god, how can Master Fang Qiu be so handsome?”

“What should I do? I am falling in love with Fang Qiu.”

“Honey, look at me!”

“My husband just smiled at me.”

“I didn’t expect Master Fang Qiu to look so stylish in his suit.”

“What a pity! If Fang Qiu had worn a Chinese Tang costume, it would be much better.”

As people left crazy and enthusiastic comments on the bullet screen, all kinds of gifts flooded the room again. Luo Jialong was ecstatic when he saw that.

Actually, Fang Qiu had also thought about wearing a Chinese Tang costume.

But he couldn’t find any here!

After arriving in Switzerland, Fang Qiu had been busy attending to a stream of unending tasks. In order to wear a Chinese Tang costume, he even tried to ask someone to tailor it for him. However, the tailor said that it would take at least a month.

It would be too late.

There was nothing he could do.

In this case, Fang Qiu could only wear a suit.

In Huaxia, “Manager, the profits of the gifts in Luo Jialong’s live streaming room have increased to one million.”

The CEO of the Fire Dragon Internet Entertainment Interactive Technology Company wiped his sweat, went back to the office and sat down. When he was about to watch the live streaming, he suddenly heard his subordinate’s report.

“One million?” The CEO was shocked.

Although the name of the company sounded particularly prestigious, the company only had one live streaming platform named Fire Dragon. The platform was doing well and they did make some money. However, even as the CEO, he had never expected that he could earn one million in less than half an hour.

With this incredible speed of making money, would he be able to compete with the richest people in the world?

However, there was a limitation to this. Once this live streaming was done, this mode of making money so crazily would be completely gone.

However, this was just the beginning of his business.

There would definitely be more and more opportunities like this!

“Okay.” The CEO looked at his subordinate who rushed into his office and nodded with satisfaction.

“Manager, although the rewards here are minimal, the number of other streamers’ viewers has also begun to drop sharply. It’s less than one-tenth of the previous number now. The decline in popularity has caused many streamers not to do their own live streaming. Some of them have even gone to watch other streamers. We did not state that they were not allowed to watch other streamers’ shows before, it can’t be regarded as a violation of the rules if they go to Luo Jialong’s live streaming this time. How should we solve this problem?” The subordinate said.

The CEO was speechless when he heard that.

It was actually a popular entertainment strategy for the viewers among the platform streamers. First of all, it became popular with famous streamers. When they were doing live streaming, they could direct the viewers in their live streaming rooms to enter other people’s live streaming to see what the other streamers were doing.

In the beginning, the famous streamer took advantage of this method to bring traffic to the new streamers. It could also be regarded as a promotion.

Later, more and more streamers started to do it. Then it began to get out of control. Some streamers conducted events such as “an army coming to propose marriage”, among other things. At present, very few streamers would do this because they would be accused of breaking the rules.

After all, it was obvious that they were stealing other people’s hard work to make money by broadcasting other people’s live streaming.

However, they didn’t have to do that at any time.

But today, these streamers had to do it. Maybe it should not be regarded as stealing the hard work of others, but trying to divide the traffic of viewers!

“That’s fine.”

The CEO thought for a moment and said, “I promised that all the rewards during the live streaming will be given to Luo Jialong. Since there are other streamers on the platform transmitting, the profits of rewards will definitely be divided. From this point of view, it will not do any harm to our platform. Instead, it can increase our income.”

“By the way, go and see if the streamers from other platforms are secretly transmitting our live streaming!”

The CEO suddenly thought of this serious problem.

As the subordinate looked into it, he found that many people were really doing it.

“They, they are so nasty!”

His subordinate was enraged.

“Check the live streaming of all the platforms in real time immediately. Then call each platform and ask them to stop their streamers from infringing the rules. Otherwise, we’ll see them in court!”

The CEO was also furious.

Although the broadcast on other platforms could also be regarded as a diversion of traffic, compared with their interest, this was not so important.

“Remember, check the time. When Fang Qiu officially starts to give a speech, record the video immediately if you see any platforms transmitting and then send a lawyer’s letter to them!” The CEO ordered.

“Yes, sir!” His subordinate immediately replied.

Soon, the transmitting of many live streaming platforms was successively shut down or banned due to violation of the rules. Soon, Luo Jialong’s live streaming room became the only place to watch Fang Qiu’s speech on the whole network.

Under these circumstances, the number of people in the broadcast room kept rising!

The CEO of the Fire Dragon had to add a few more servers before he could completely stabilize Luo Jialong’s live streaming.

Time ticked by.

At eight o’clock in the evening in Huaxia, it was 1 p.m. in Switzerland.

The third day of the World Medical Exchange Conference officially began.

All the people watching the live streaming were sitting up straight and extremely focused. Finally, it was about to begin.

As the meeting began, one of the 32 members of the executive committee, as well as the host of the meeting, walked to the podium.

“Now, what we are going to have is a speech on traditional Chinese medicine.”

“Chinese Medicine is an indispensable part of the development in the world now. Without the support of traditional medicine, there will be no modern civilization like what we have today. So now, can traditional medicine still keep up with the current technology era?”

“Now, let’s welcome the Chinese Medicine doctor from Huaxia, Fang Qiu!”

When he said that, all the 3,000 people present turned to look at Fang Qiu, in unison.

“Phew!” Fang Qiu took a deep breath and then stood up.

“Clap, clap, clap...”

The audience broke into applause.

However, it was completely different from the rapturous applause that other people got. The applause Fang Qiu received was sparse and sounded a little awkward.

But it was a different scenario away from the actual site as countless viewers who were watching the live streaming were clapping with excitement.

Fang Qiu’s home was filled with cheers.

Jiang Miaoyu, who was hiding in the bedroom and watching the live streaming, tried her best to suppress the excitement and did not dare to make a loud noise.

At this time, “Miaoyu?”

Mrs. Jiang's voice suddenly sounded, together with a knock on the door. She said, "Come out and watch TV for a while. We can watch the live streaming on TV. Now your classmate is on. Come out and let's watch it together."

Hearing that, Jiang Miaoyu had no choice but to come out and watch with her family.

In the northeast, Xu Miaolin grinned at Holy Doctor Chu. He looked so proud, which made Holy Doctor Chu sneer.

At the foot of a remote mountain outside Jiangjing, Zhu Benzhen and the other two, together with Zhao Shanlin stopped eating in the factory. All of them stared at the screen motionlessly, looking like scarecrows.

In Luo Jialong's live streaming room, all kinds of comments flooded the bullet screen.

"You finally showed up. Fortunately, I didn't give up."

"Fang Qiu is so handsome!"

"With your upright posture, I'm going to be your devoted fan!"

"He finally came. Fang Qiu is finally here."

At the scene, in the face of the sparse applause, Fang Qiu still turned around with a smile, bowed and nodded to the audience. Then he stood straight and walked to the stage. The host left the podium to him. Fang Qiu bowed to the host and then walked up to the podium.

Along the way, his actions and manners were very gracious.

Medical Master

Chapter 662: Chinese Medicine Can Cure the Disease!

“Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen. My name is Fang Qiu. I’m a Chinese Medicine doctor.”

In the face of all the people present, Fang Qiu was not nervous at all. He spoke sincerely and at a measured speed, “I’m really honored that I was invited to attend the World Medical Exchange Conference. I would like to express my gratitude to the staff that did the preparations for this conference. They gave me a chance to deliver a speech on stage. I’m honored to be able to stand here and deliver a speech.”

As soon as he spoke, all the people present were stunned.

It was not because of Fang Qiu’s politeness and humility, but because they could not understand a single word he said at all!

Since Fang Qiu could not wear a Chinese Tang costume, he chose to speak in Mandarin at this international conference, which was the language he was most fluent in.

Not only the people at the conference, but those who were watching the live broadcast were also stunned.

Even they instinctively believed that Fang Qiu would only give a speech in English at the World Medical Exchange Conference because he spoke in English at the previous interviews and all the other people gave a speech on the stage in English.

But they did not expect Fang Qiu to speak in Mandarin.

However, it saved Luo Jialong the trouble of having to do a translation.

As a streamer, Luo Jialong secretly breathed a sigh of relief, even as he felt excited.

Under the stage, everyone began to whisper.

Of course, they were people who were invited to attend the meeting from those organizations, which were related to medicine, equipment and other things about medicine. All those who participated in the discussion of the medical conference wore headsets, so they were able to hear the translation at any time.

On the stage, Fang Qiu did not care about the whispering.

He continued to speak in a steady tone, "Today, I'm going to give a speech about traditional medicine."

"I believe that everyone here knows that traditional medicine has been developed for thousands of years. Take Huaxia Chinese Medicine as an example. The first medical book, Inner Canon of the Yellow Emperor, was written more than 3,000 years ago during the Huaxia civilization's development five thousand years. Since it was published, the book is still in use, up to now."

"I know that people will say that the ancient things from thousands of years ago are useless in this modern era of science and technology."

"But what I want to tell you is that Chinese Medicine is completely different from modern medicine."

"If modern medicine is for curing diseases, then Chinese Medicine is about curing people!"

When some people heard this, they all scoffed because they felt that Fang Qiu was joking.

What did he mean by curing a disease?

What did he mean by curing people?

How could it cure people?

Compared with those who scoffed at what he said, there were also some people who were aware of Chinese Medicine and had tried to study it. They naturally understood what Fang Qiu meant.

However, they did not nod in agreement with Fang Qiu's speech. Instead, they continued to watch Fang Qiu and wanted to see if Fang Qiu had gotten his own cognition theory systematically. If he did, what was his theory?

On the stage, Fang Qiu continued.

Although he wanted to interact with the people on the scene, there was a time limit to his speech. He had to finish the speech in half an hour, so he could only proceed according to his script.

"Maybe you are confused about why I put it this way."

Fang Qiu smiled and said, "First of all, I want to tell you a key point."

"This key point is the difference in the cognition of diseases between modern medicine and Chinese Medicine!"

"First of all, the disease in traditional Chinese medicine is named based on the nature of the cause. It can also be named based on prominent symptoms or the pathogenesis."

"Most of the diseases in modern medicine are named after pathogen or certain causes of some lesions, or after some special changes in the body."

"Then, how can modern medicine and Chinese Medicine treat patients?"

"In terms of treatment, Chinese Medicine is focused on using medicine to correct the twisted nature of the human body, so that what has been damaged can reach a new state of balance. There are many diseases that are not rooted in the patient's body. This is the basic definition of Chinese Medicine."

"As for modern medicine, the main technique is surgery. It directly cures the patient's diseased region through anatomy. Its development relies on the progress in the development of medicinal chemistry and science and technology. With the help of medical equipment, it can cure the disease by using chemical drugs."

Fang Qiu said this slowly and his tone was very calm.

Why did he say so much?

Why was his analysis so detailed?

In fact, it was because Fang Qiu clearly knew that if he wanted everyone to recognize Chinese Medicine, he had to let everyone know about Chinese Medicine first.

“I believe you heard it clearly.”

Fang Qiu pursed his lips and said, “One is to improve the human body to cure the disease so that the disease will no longer be rooted. The other is to make the overall improvement of countless human bodies by targeting the disease.”

“Although both methods can cure diseases, I believe that you will have your own opinion on which method is better.”

“As for my take on it, I will say what we always say in Huaxia— Chinese Medicine can cure the disease while Western Medicine cures the symptoms.”

As soon as he said that, comments and gifts poured forth at the same time in the live streaming room.

Almost all the audience who were watching the live broadcast applauded.

“He’s right! Awesome!”

“That’s right. Fang Qiu is right. Chinese Medicine can really cure the disease. Western medicine can only cure wherever is hurting. It doesn’t care about your body at all.”

“There’s no need to choose. I’ll definitely choose Chinese Medicine.”

“You can be well only if you are in good health. Now I finally understand why some patients who did not have any fatal illnesses died after they were cured by Western Medicine doctors. Because Western Medicine did not cure the root cause and the body. It was obviously a kind of complication caused by the etiology. But many Western Medicine doctors only treated the symptoms. They did not care about the root cause of the disease at all. Therefore, after using so many drugs, it did not work the way they wanted it to. On the contrary, it also damaged the patient’s health!”

“Our Huaxia Chinese Medicine is better.”

“Fang Qiu is so awesome. He should challenge Western Medicine in this way!”

Fang Qiu continued on the stage.

“Modern medicine and traditional medicine. Let me be brief. We just call modern medicine as Western Medicine and use Chinese Medicine to represent traditional medicine.”

“Chinese Medicine and Western Medicine have different treatment ideas and titles!”

“In terms of horizontal comparison, the five internal organs in Chinese Medicine—heart, liver, spleen, lungs and kidneys are different from what Western Medicine refers to.”

“Why is it different?”

“Because Chinese Medicine uses functional titles, while Western Medicine uses organic titles!”

“For example, the kidney that Chinese Medicine refers not only to the kidney but also to the brain. It has something to do with viscera, and also relates to the spinal cord, teeth and hair.”

“And the so-called kidney in Western Medicine only relates to the kidney.”

Speaking of this, Fang Qiu paused for a moment and then said, "For example."

"Alopecia."

"Modern medicine believes that this disease is likely to have something to do with the endocrine system, nerve pressure and the supply of nutrition."

"But Chinese Medicine doctors will tell you that it also has something to do with the kidneys."

"In Huaxia, Chinese medicine doctors usually start from the kidneys to solve the hair problems. This is also what modern medicine doctors don't understand."

Fang Qiu said, "Of course, this kidney is not only referring to the kidney."

Under the stage, people started to whisper again.

This time, it was not those people who were whispering before, but all of the audience!

Because the staff had prepared an autocue, those who could not understand Chinese could clearly see every word of Fang Qiu's speech through the autocue.

In this case, everyone was amazed.

Most of them did not know anything about Chinese Medicine and they knew nothing about what Fang Qiu had said. But now, after hearing Fang Qiu's explanation, they inexplicably felt that it was interesting, as if they had seen a new mysterious field. Even those big shots in modern medicine who had disdained traditional medicine from the very beginning began to feel interested.

None of them had expected that.

Fang Qiu's speech was not just a speech, but had a comparative approach, so as to make people completely understand the differences between traditional medicine and modern medicine.

This kind of comparison was quite interesting.

At least, Fang Qiu did not blindly criticize modern medicine, nor did he think too highly of traditional medicine. Instead, he compared the two according to the facts.

Therefore, everyone gradually accepted it and was willing to listen.

Fang Qiu continued on the stage.

Looking at the audience, Fang Qiu suddenly smiled and asked, "I think what you're really interested in was how I treat heart disease and cure diabetes, right?"

As expected, it immediately attracted everyone's interest as soon as he said that.

Not just the 3,000 people present, even the audience who were watching the live streaming, became curious.

How did Fang Qiu save Mr. Lorry who had a sudden heart attack and almost died on the plane? And how did he cure Mr. Lorry's heart attack completely?

This Chinese Medicine skill could be called a miracle.

How did Fang Qiu do it?

What's more, he healed someone who had diabetes.

Modern medicine doctors could only control, but could not cure diabetes. How did Fang Qiu manage to cure it?

People had so many questions.

In the conference hall, there was dead silence.

Instead of whispering, everyone focused all their attention on Fang Qiu, waiting for his answer.

Seeing that everyone was so concerned, Fang Qiu smiled faintly and said, "Before that, you have to listen to the theory of Chinese Medicine that I'm going to talk about, carefully. Otherwise, even if I tell you my treatment method, you may not understand it. And you may not be very interested."

Most of the people present laughed when they heard that.

"Clap, clap, clap..." He received a round of applause.

This time, the applause was obviously much louder than what he got earlier when he stood up and walked to the stage.

The annual medical conference had been held for decades. From the first conference to this one, no one had ever dared to "threaten" people in the medical conference so boldly.

Fang Qiu was the first one!

Medical Master

Chapter 663: A Single Sentence Amazes 3,000 People

The gifts flooded again in the live streaming room.

"Fang Qiu is awesome!"

“Haha, you have to listen even if you don’t want to. This is our Chinese Medicine.”

“Do you want to learn Chinese Medicine? You have to listen to classes. Don’t zone out!”

Everyone was crazily praising Fang Qiu and teasing.

In Fang Qiu’s home...

Fang Qiu’s aunt pointed at Fang Qiu and scolded his cousin at the same time, “Look, look at your cousin. He can perform so well at the international conference. Look at you. You just can’t stop me and your father from worrying about you. From now on, you have to learn from Fang Qiu. Do you hear me?”

Other relatives and friends of Fang Qiu’s parents burst into laughter.

On the spot, Fang Qiu used one sentence to arouse everyone’s curiosity, raise their spirits, and draw all their attention to himself. Then, he continued his speech.

This time, Fang Qiu continued to compare Chinese Medicine and modern medicine. He combined the overall diagnosis, Yin and Yang and Five Elements Theory, Viscera And Their Manifestation Theory, which included the heart, liver, spleen, lung, and kidney systems, Five Yun Six Qi Theory, the Seven Blood Essence, the Liquid Theory, the Constitution Theory, the Cause Of Illness, the Pathogenesis Theory, the Cultivate Health Theory, Meridians Theory, and so on. His explanation was unusually organized.

Those who were ready to see Fang Qiu make a fool of himself actually listened to Fang Qiu’s speech with great interest.

The audience watching the live streaming also started to have an overall understanding of Chinese Medicine.

What was Chinese Medicine? What were the differences between Chinese Medicine and Western Medicine?

In the past, everyone was confused about these questions. They couldn't really distinguish.

After listening to Fang Qiu's explanation, everyone suddenly felt that it was clear.

"So that's what's going on."

"Chinese Medicine is really complicated!"

"The reason why Chinese Medicine has been passed down for more than 5,000 years is that it can specify everything to an incredible extent. After specifying, you can find that the things that have been refined are all connected, just like chess. It seems like an insignificant move, but it is related to the whole chess game."

"That's why we say that Chinese Medicine is broad and profound!"

"I feel like I've just had a lesson, a lesson that I could understand everything he said."

"Master Fang Qiu is totally qualified to be a teacher, isn't he?"

"But he's still a student."

"Mr. Fang may be the first man in the world to give a lesson at the medical conference. Haha!"

Many leaders and teachers of the Chinese Medicine colleges couldn't help but exclaim after listening to Fang Qiu's speech.

"Well said."

"What Fang Qiu said can be regarded as the first class of the Basic Theory of Chinese Medicine. And he made the combination perfectly. It's much more specific than the average teachers. He deserves to be a genius of Chinese Medicine who rises from practice."

“The most incredible thing is that he has just finished his freshman year. Even when the new semester starts, he is only a sophomore!”

Li Canming, the post-doctor, was also watching the live streaming in the capital city.

There was no doubt that he was the one who paid the most attention to the medical exchange conference and Fang Qiu’s speech in the world!

He wanted to see how Fang Qiu was going to prove the existence of meridians.

Seeing the first part of Fang Qiu’s speech, Li Canming sneered and said, “Hmph. It sounds so perfect and reasonable, but so what?”

“Anyone who says it can make it sound impeccable because it has been improved for thousands of years.

“But what’s the point of just saying that?”

“You have to show people the proof.

“Otherwise, how can you prove the existence of meridians which are illusory?”

“Continue... just continue... Haha.”

On the podium...

“In fact, there are still a lot of them.”

While looking at those who were absorbed in his speech and were pleased by learning something, Fang Qiu said, "It's a pity that time is limited. I can just give a general description. It's difficult to explain clearly because I'm not competent enough. Please, forgive me for my limited capability."

As soon as he finished speaking, there was another round of applause in the hall.

The applause this time was louder than last time.

They knew that Fang Qiu should have said most of what he wanted to say. Now it seemed that the main course was coming!

After the round of applause, Fang Qiu said directly, "Now, let me tell you how I cure heart attack and diabetes. These two cases are also evidence of the efficacy of Chinese Medicine. At the same time, I will prove the existence of meridians right here."

As he said that, the live-streaming audience was excited.

Because all the people watching the live stream were from Huaxia. Everyone in Huaxia knew that Chinese Medicine's meridian was a problem that people couldn't understand for thousands of years. When Fang Qiu agreed to attend the medical conference, he had made a bold statement that he would prove the existence of meridians at the conference. Now it was finally time. How could they not be excited?

Compared with the live-streaming audience, the 3,000 people on the spot were somewhat confused.

Why was it suddenly related to the meridians?

However, they didn't reject it. They were just confused.

At the same time, they were also looking forward to it because they were very curious about how Fang Qiu cured heart attack and diabetes.

Fang Qiu said, "As I just said, modern medicine should follow the tradition of the philosophy of Atomism of ancient Greece. Everything should be analyzed from the material world, so as to find the most basic unit of things.

"As for Chinese Medicine, it follows the tradition of the Thesis of Vitality and believes that the origin of things is Qi!

"Qi is a continuum of material, energy, and information. Qi is not a material substance, but a kind of connection. The meridians are the channels of Qi."

Indeed, Chinese martial arts practitioners were well aware of this, because the meridians of Chinese Medicine were the meridians that the martial arts practitioners knew. And Qi was the internal Qi. Because internal Qi was flowing in the meridians, one could be called a real martial arts practitioner.

Fang Qiu didn't use a martial arts practitioner as a metaphor. After all, once Chinese Medicine was involved in martial arts, it would only make people more annoyed and find it difficult to understand.

"For example, if we study it with the modern Atomism and try to find Qi, the entity of meridians, and material structures, we may never be able to achieve it!

"Because meridians are based on the operation of Qi, and meridians are the existence of Qi."

This was also easy to understand.

Martial arts practitioners would not produce internal Qi before they opened their meridians.

Only when the meridians were connected could there be the internal Qi, which also meant that the meridians and Qi existed at the same time.

"According to the western way of thinking, if there is such a structure, it must be a material structure. We can definitely find it through experiments and tests.

“But according to the Chinese way of thinking, the structure is not necessarily a material structure, but more of a relational structure. The material may not be a material entity, but it is more likely to be a relational entity.

“The meridians are a relational structure. It’s definitely not a known material structure such as nerves, blood vessels, and muscles. It’s more likely to be a relation structure of nerves, blood vessels, muscles, liquid, and other parts of the human body, which connects and operates many material structures in the human body.

“That is to say, meridians and Qi can’t be seen.”

Fang Qiu paused for a moment.

All the 3,000 people present, as well as the live-streaming audience, were stunned after hearing what Fang Qiu said.

“What did he mean?”

“I can’t see the meridians and Qi?”

“Since you can’t see it, then what is this about?”

“If he points at the air and says that it is a meridian, then it will be the meridian?”

“How are you going to prove it?”

Looking at the crowd being confused, Fang Qiu smiled and said, “You’re curious, right? Since you can’t find it, why should I talk about it?”

Under the stage, many people nodded in agreement.

At first, they scoffed at Fang Qiu, but now they unconsciously began to interact with Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu was very satisfied.

This was the effect he wanted!

“Today, I will show you how to find the meridians,” Fang Qiu said confidently.

As soon as he said that, everyone was shocked again!

Of course, the people at the scene were not so surprised. Chinese Medicine practitioners who were watching the live stream were really amazed.

They were very curious about what Fang Qiu was going to do.

They were very surprised. Why was Fang Qiu so confident?

As for the others, instead of being stunned, they were all more expectant.

“However...”

As he aroused people’s curiosity, he said, “Before that, I need to tell you how I cured heart disease and diabetes.”

This was what the 3,000 people on the spot were most concerned about.

“Actually, the treatment of diabetes is very simple.”

Fang Qiu looked at the audience with a serious face and said, “My treatment method is just like what I said just now. The Qi of Chinese Medicine has activated the patient’s pancreatic island, so diabetes is cured.”

All of a sudden, the crowd burst into an uproar as he said that!

“How is this possible?”

“It’s impossible! It’s simply impossible!”

“How could it be activated?”

“Activate the pancreatic island. What do you mean by activating? How can it be activated?”

For a moment, everyone in the hall was talking about it.

Some people even raised their hands and wanted to get up to ask questions.

The originally quiet meeting hall immediately became noisy.

In the live streaming room...

“It caused an uproar!”

“Look, look, those people were amazed.”

“What the f*ck, I’m going to explode, not to mention people on the spot.”

“Fang Qiu’s one sentence just amazed 3,000 people!”

On the spot, Fang Qiu didn't give anyone a chance to ask questions. He said directly, "The activation means using Qi to awaken pancreatic island. This treatment method proves that the theory of traditional Chinese medicine is true. Qi does exist.

"Of course, not everyone can do it. It took me more than ten years of hard work to achieve this!"

Everyone was astonished as they heard that.

"Such a long time?"

"More than ten years?"

"If it's real, it'll be worth it even if it takes 20 years!"

In the live streaming room...

"Damn! Fang Qiu has been practicing Qi for more than ten years?"

"In that case, doesn't it mean that Fang Qiu has begun to practice Qi since he was a child?"

"No wonder he's so good at it. It turns out that he has been practicing the skills when he was still a child!"

"It's also because it's difficult to conduct, it can't be publicized at all even if this method is made public. But this method does prove the authenticity of Chinese Medicine." Fang Qiu opened his mouth and then changed the subject. He added, "As for heart disease, I used the method written in ancient Chinese medicine books, which involves acupuncture points. This acupuncture point is a point in the meridians, which can cure diseases by stimulating it!"

Medical Master

Chapter 664: Acupuncture Points Discovered During Dissection of a Live Person!

“We’ll speak directly about the acupuncture points themselves, setting aside their benefits and groupings for now.”

Fang Qiu looked at the entire audience beneath the stage and spoke, “Does everyone here believe that it’s already extremely hard to prove the existence of meridians, and that there is no way to show that acupuncture points – partial areas of meridians – exist?”

“Let me tell all of you the truth – meridians are things that cannot be spotted by the naked eye, which means to say that we can’t prove their existence by sight alone. However, we can see acupuncture points because they are not neurons!”

The moment he made his statement...

Every Chinese Medicine practitioner seated before the screen became astonished.

“We can see acupuncture points?”

“Why didn’t we know about this before?”

As practitioners of Chinese Medicine, they knew that acupuncture points existed in human bodies and had used them as thus. They had absolutely no idea that these points could be spotted by the naked eye, though.

“Furthermore, how are we going to actually see them?”

Modern medicine science had been developing over these few years, but no one was able to spot acupuncture points as yet.

The practitioners of modern medicine who were present looked very curiously at Fang Qiu as well.

Some of them also looked at Fang Qiu curiously.

They had already researched the human body to great detail and had thoroughly examined every inch of it, but none of them had discovered the existence of acupuncture points.

If that was the case, why did Fang Qiu dare to claim that the naked eye could actually see them?

On the stage.

Fang Qiu grinned upon noticing the curious and doubtful looks on all of his audience members, before continuing to speak. "In fact, all of you may not be very familiar with some bits of history; even the Huaxia people may not know these very well."

"Around BC 1000, more than 3000 years ago, a certain King Zhou reigned in the great lands of the Huaxia people. According to history, he was extremely cruel and performed life dissections on human bodies. In reality, he did that to understand the acupuncture points in our bodies, as meridians could only be seen on live human bodies."

As soon as he finished speaking.

A huge commotion rose among all the Chinese Medicine practitioners who were watching the livestream the moment he finished speaking.

"What?"

"Meridians can only be studied on live humans?"

"That can't be right! The existence of meridians were also not proven during operations on live humans!"

"Is Fang Qiu's claim really true? Are meridians truly noticeable only in live human bodies?"

Aside from the Chinese Medicine practitioners who were watching the livestream, all of the Western Medicine practitioners who were physically present were also stunned.

Surgery was the main mode of treating illnesses in Western Medicine.

Countless numbers of surgeries had been performed on live patients, but after so many of them, none of them had noticed any meridians in their patients till this date!

It had been so many years since the first ever surgery, but not one person had ever laid claim to noticing meridians.

“How could be explain that, then?”

On the stage.

Fang Qiu went on, “Speaking from this point of view, modern medicine does not practice studies of live dissections, but rather dissection of dead subjects.”

“As recorded in the annals of history...”

“King Zhou was known to have even split a pregnant woman’s stomach apart to understand clearly what happened to a baby while it lay within its mother’s womb. Eventually, he even caused those below him to be unable to continue, as they felt that it was too cruel.”

“At that time, medical science had understood about 100 or more acupuncture points in the human body.”

At the event.

Fang Qiu’s narration had enticed everyone.

Due to the fact that they were Westerners, they were already very curious about the mysterious history of the East; they just had no time to put in the research. It was only now, upon hearing Fang Qiu, that they came to know about this part of Huaxia history.

“Then.”

*After that, a millennia later...”

Fang Qiu continued narrating, “An emperor called Wang Mang came into existence in Huaxia. He experimented on live subjects like King Zhou, and he discovered another 100 or so acupuncture points in the human body from his experiments.”

“After that, during the Yuan Dynasty, in the time of Yelü Chucai, he was known to person dissections on soldiers who returned from the battlefield close to death. He discovered more than 100 acupuncture points as well.”

“By that time, the acupuncture points taught in the studies of acupuncture in Chinese Medicine could be considered as much more comprehensive.”

After everyone heard what he said.

After hearing him, everyone was shocked.

“So, that’s how the acupuncture points in human bodies were discovered?”

“I used to always feel doubtful as well – all acupuncture points were hidden in the flesh beneath the skin, so how did humans come to discover which spots were actually acupuncture points? So, that’s how they were found out.”

“There really is such history?”

“Damn... I didn’t know about this even after studying medicine for so many years. How did Fang Qiu come to know about it?”

“How many books did Fang Qiu read to obtain such historical information?”

“This is really amazing; how did he manage to uncover historical information of this kind?”

The audience in the studio kept making exclamations in surprise.

In the home of Jiang Miaoyu.

“Do you know if such historical events really happened, Miaoyu?”

Mrs. Jiang asked as she stared directly at the television, engrossed in the program.

“I don’t.”

Jiang Miaoyu immediately shook her head.

“Hehe,” Mr. Jiang chuckled softly.

“Looks like he’s pretty well-learned,” he remarked while looking at the television.

In the Northeast.

“Are you aware about such things, Father?”

Xu Miaolin asked as she looked at Holy Doctor Chu.

“Humph. Of course, I know a little about those things.”

The doctor replied with a grunt, looking unemotional.

Hearing this.

Upon hearing him, Xu Miaolin’s lips twitched. “Looks like he understands a little about those things, but he does not really know much about them,” she muttered absentmindedly while turning her head back.

In Jiangjing.

In a factory building at the foot of a secluded mountain.

“The kid really does know his stuff,” he said.

He had paused to speak after picking out a portion of beef with his chopsticks. He placed the food in his mouth and began chewing on it only after making the comment.

At the event.

“It has been a few millennia since then; he kept saying that they happened a few thousand years ago.”

“So, the people of Huaxia had begun developing medicine at such an early stage.”

“We are not merely talking about the development of medical science here; they have even begun doing dissection 3000 years ago. I have to admit that Huaxia is a country that is really extremely mysterious and amazing!”

“That seems to be the only possible answer – otherwise, the Chinese Medicine practitioners of Huaxia could not have such great detail about acupuncture points. However, why have we not noticed these so-called meridians and acupuncture points while performing surgeries in the past? Why don't we take a peek during operations in future when we get back?"

"No way, that's too sadistic. Also, wouldn't that cause the wound to gape even bigger?"

All of the Western Medicine practitioners who were present began to discuss with the people around them.

Of course.

Of course, everyone was whispering quietly.

Back on the stage.

A thought came to Fang Qiu's head as he observed his words causing a commotion throughout the entire studio.

He continued on, "All of you may feel that I'm trying to prove the existence of meridians in this manner because they are formed by rows of acupuncture points."

His entire audience was stunned.

They began to sit up.

"Is that not true?"

"How else could he possibly prove that?"

Everyone stared at Fang Qiu with a somewhat suspicious gaze.

“Rest assured.”

Fang Qiu laughed as he continued, “I’ll let all of you witness the existence of meridians.”

Now, the entire studio erupted.

The whole audience burst into an uproar.

“Don’t tell me that we can really see them?”

“Could there really be other pathways known as meridians in the human body, aside from blood vessels and the nervous system?”

“It would really be amazing if we can really see them.”

In the livestream room online.

“Incredible!”

“The amazing Fang Qiu nearly freaked me out – I thought he was going to prove it with theories; his last statement caught me unaware! This is really invigorating. What a bold statement to make!”

“I’m still waiting on him; I want to see for myself what meridians really look like.”

“Glory to Fang Qiu! Let these Westerners take a good look at how amazing the study of Chinese Medicine in our country is!”

As all sorts of bullet screens moved around wildly, gifts appeared again in the livestreaming room!

After all...

There were so many viewers, and there would always be a few who like to make a show of how great they were.

Giving away a large number of gifts in the presence of so many others would definitely attract the attention of everyone who was watching the livestream, and they might even become famous overnight.

As such, there was a large increase in the number of gift donors, and they were also of the really extravagant kind.

.....

At the live event.

“I need a volunteer.”

“I’m going to let him see!” Fang Qiu proclaimed, addressing the entire audience as he stood atop the stage.

“Wow... ”

Another commotion was caused in the audience.

The audience members raised their hands in succession, every one of them wishing to become the volunteer.

After all, this might very well be the first and only chance they will be able to see meridians and acupuncture for themselves. Which practitioner of Western Medicine would not want to?

At the other end.

The executive committee member-cum-host, who had been seated all this while, got up and glanced in the direction of the secretary-general, who was sitting in the middle of the 10 seats at the high platform behind them,

The secretary-general nodded his head slightly to signify his approval.

After all...

This was a lecture, and not time for teaching via live demonstration.

Originally, performing live demonstrations and seeking for volunteers at a medical conference was forbidden.

However...

The secretary-general's approval overrode anything else; no one could forbid anything that he agreed on.

For the secretary-general.

Even though traditional medicine had existed since a very long time ago, it could still be considered as completely new territory in terms of open discussion. For example, the world still did not really understand Chinese Medicine.

Even since Fang Qiu easily cured him of diabetes, the secretary-general was full of confidence in traditional medicine.

If the discipline could officially start to grow after today, it would be an honor dedicated to him, and his name would be recorded in the annals of history!

In this way, it could be regarded as his honor. He would leave his name in history!

This was a good opportunity.

Of course, there was no way the secretary-general was going to pass up such a great opportunity.

The host held the same thoughts as well.

The hostess also had the same idea.

He hurriedly got up after receiving the secretary-general's approval and walked up to the side of the podium. He addressed the audience with his own microphone, "Originally, live demonstrations are not allowed in medical conferences. However, for the sake of traditional medicine's advancement and to prove that it really works, the secretary-general has decided to grant an one-off exception this time."

"To avoid any controversy in future, I will pick the volunteer for this demonstration."

While they were talking.

As he spoke, the host rolled up a piece of paper into a ball and stood at the center of the stage as he continued, "Whoever catches this piece of paper will be the volunteer."

After that.

He shut his eyes after speaking and flung it away instantly.

Everyone had primed himself or herself to snatch the ball.

However...

The host did not fling the ball of paper into the audience below. Instead, it strangely ended up to the right of the stage, right where the representatives-cum-executive committee members from 16 nations were seated.

Everyone present was stunned the moment the ball landed.

All the people present were stunned.

Because.

That was because coincidentally it had dropped into the hand of Henry, the representative from France.

He.

He was the same person who went onstage during the first day of the conference and mercilessly attacked traditional medicine and Fang Qiu.

In the livestream room online.

“Pick me, pick me!”

“Damn. If I knew this would happen, I would have paid for my own expenses and attended the live event. I want to see it myself too!”

“I want to see too; I wish I could experience it as well!”

“Please conduct a live session back home, Fang Qiu. I want to experience and see it for myself too!”

In the living broadcast room.

In the livestreaming room, the bullet screens that filled the entire page were filled with various forms of envy, jealousy and hatred.

However, the expression of every member of the audience changed when they saw the ball of paper fell into Henry's hand!

Medical Master

Chapter 665: We Can See Meridians via Insight! Attainment of Immortality?!

"It is him?"

"Heaven is really just!"

"Wasn't he the one who badmouthed Chinese Medicine on the afternoon of the first day?"

"Just as well, this is the chance to call him out."

"Attack him back, Fang Qiu!"

"Prove that Chinese Medicine is credible and take him down without any mercy!"

Everyone in the livestreaming room had temporarily cast aside the feelings of envy, jealousy and hatred aside and started sending bullet screens like mad, eager to see how Fang Qiu would counter attack.

Back on the stage.

"Representative Henry?"

The host swept his gaze beneath the stage and only turned his head back, looking confused, as he realized that no one had got up. It was at this instant that he saw Henry get up, the ball of paper in hand.

In fact.

In truth, Henry had wanted this opportunity very much as well.

However, it was a pity that he was a representative and had no way of competing with the audience seated beneath the stage.

Even so, he had made up his mind. Since he was onstage anyway, it did not matter who was selected to come up for the demonstration; he could observe from a close distance. He was definitely going to see what Fang Qiu could actually come up with.

Little did he expect that the ball of paper would land up in his hand.

This paper ball actually fell into his hands.

It made him happy beyond measure.

“Obviously, God is helping me.”

Henry looked at Fang Qiu with a sneer as he walked toward the podium with the paper. “I’m also very keen to witness for myself how something impossible can be made possible!” he said.

“You’ll see soon enough.”

Fang Qiu replied with a laugh and looked calm.

After that.

After he finished speaking, Fang Qiu turned around to look at the electronic timer hanging on the wall.

It was 25 mins past the hour on the timer, which meant that there was still five minutes left; Fang Qiu's speech was about to end.

However...

However, this did not let Fang Qiu feel anxious.

Instead, Fang Qiu began to smile very mysteriously.

He walked to the center of the stage.

Henry looked at Fang Qiu as he asked, "Tell me, what do you need me to do?"

"Sure."

Fang Qiu nodded matter-of-factly and acknowledged him before replying, "I'll show you a meridian-collateral diagram first. After a while, you will tell me directly whether what you see in your body is similar to the diagram."

"Okay."

Henry nodded and replied.

Fang Qiu fished out his phone and showed Henry the meridian-collateral diagram that he had searched for beforehand.

Henry merely looked at it casually.

As a result.

In the end, Fang Qiu forcefully brought the meridian-collateral diagram up to Henry's face and clearly explained the location of all the meridians to the representative.

Under the circumstances, Henry really memorized the meridians.

"What happens next?" Henry asked after he had finished memorizing the diagram.

After memorizing the meridian map, Henry asked.

"Sit down cross-legged."

As Fang Qiu spoke, he demonstrated how to sit in the cross-legged lotus position for Henry.

"Why do I have to sit?"

Henry shifted and smacked his lips, somewhat unwilling to comply.

He had specially wore his most expensive suit to attend this medical conference; he could not even bring himself to wear it on normal days. Even though he was on stage, it was still a place where people walked about and he considered it unclean. He was afraid of dirtying his suit and was therefore very unwilling!

Beneath the stage.

Everyone else was very unconvinced as well.

"Aren't we going to see meridians and acupuncture points?"

“Why does he have to sit?”

He noticed that everyone was confused.

Upon noticing the doubtful faces of his audience, Fang Qiu began to explain, “This is the only way. The sole method a person can see meridians is through insight, also known as Vipassanā!”

Hearing this.

Everyone present in the studio was dumbfounded after hearing his words.

“Insight? Vipassanā?”

“What does he mean?”

The Westerners were completely unaware of what he was speaking of!

Aside from the Westerners, many Huaxia people who were watching the livestream were also not too sure about insight.

“How could our eyes, which are on our heads, see what’s inside our bodies?”

“This is too incredible, don’t you think?”

The civilians who were watching felt extremely unconvinced.

The Chinese Medicine practitioners who were watching the livestream had also heard of Insight, but they never heard of anyone who could do it. As it was too incredible to be true, Insight had always been viewed of as a myth. It was also the reason why everyone was very unfamiliar with the topic.

“Fang Qiu actually brought up Insight?”

“Don’t tell me that he can do it?”

“Could it be that Fang Qiu wants this person to utilize Insight?”

In the Northeast.

“Swoosh!”

Holy Doctor Chu, who had been somewhat disinterested in the talk at first, sat up straight with a flourish upon hearing Fang Qiu speak. He stared directly at Xu Miaolin, who was beside him, and asked, “Tell me, is it true that this student of yours can use Insight?”

“I’m as clueless about this as you are.”

Xu Miaolin was dumbfounded too.

He knew that Fang Qiu had learned some martial arts, and was rather good in it, but he had never heard that his student was able to use the skill of Insight!

In the capital.

In the room of a residential district.

“Insight?”

Li Canming, the professor who studied overseas in the States, immediately frowned after hearing Fang Qiu. “I have never heard of this before. Looks like it’s going to be some ‘marvelous’ stuff that will be completely baseless again!” he muttered.

At the live event.

Everyone was full of doubts.

While everyone else was in a haze of suspicion, Fang Qiu started speaking again, “Insight was first mentioned in Lie Zi’s tome – Zhong Ni. I quote, ‘People who view things on the superficial level do not know how to see their inner workings. Such people will only be able to appreciate the external shells of the things they see, while those who are able truly able to be insightful can find joy from within’.”

“The Taoist text ‘Supreme Lao Zi’s Manual of Insight’ describes this method in detail. Of course, there are also various tomes of all sorts.”

“Meanwhile, in the field of medicine, about 1400 years ago, in the Tang Dynasty of Huaxia, the gifted physician Sun Simiao described in his ‘Prescriptions Worth a Thousand in Gold’ – ‘Practicing Insight will allow one to see the shape and color of internal organs clearly. Do not cease to do so’.”

Just as Fang Qiu was speaking, the earphones and teleprompters of several important guests present at the talk jammed up at the same instant.

Many big shots who were connected to the scene, as well as the translator, were stuck at the same time.

This was because Fang Qiu had just quoted from texts written by Huaxia scholars in Classical Mandarin writing.

The programs did not know how to process the Mandarin language in this form!

Fortunately, Fang Qiu explained it to them.

“This means that practicing Insight will allow someone to observe the shape and color of internal organs, for example hearts shaped like the lotus flower or the spleen turning yellow, or being able to observe the functions and operations of internal organisms. For example, while you practice abdominal breathing, you can see your internal Qi flowing along your meridians.”

“It also means that during ancient times in Huaxia, many people could use Insight to see the meridians in their bodies. It just happened that their descendants either did not know about this, did not practice Insight or chose not to cultivate their skill in it.”

Upon hearing these words.

Upon hearing this, the Huaxia people who were watching the livestream were dumbstruck.

“My, my... Did our ancestors really pass this skill down to us?”

“Is that true?”

“How many things were lost over time after being passed down from our ancestors?”

“Why did I not know that such things existed in medicine?”

“What the hell... Is he trying to get us to attain immortality?”

“Fang Qiu is trying to attain immortality!”

In the blink of an eye.

All of a sudden, a lot of people in the livestream began flooding the page non-stop, claiming that Fang Qiu was about to attain immortality.

In the midst of all that wild flooding, many people began to join in the livestreaming event as well.

There were also a lot of people who were also involved.

“If Fang Qiu is going to ascend to the Heavens, I want to become his disciple!”

“Disciple? Bah! I’m willing to become his lackey even!”

“How low can you stoop? Lackey? Damn it... Can you exercise some self-respect?”

“Do you think that I’ll respect myself once I’m able to ascend to the Heavens?”

Of course.

Naturally, Fang Qiu did not know about all the comments flooding the livestream room.

He stood on the stage.

As he stood on the stage, Fang Qiu continued to speak. “In fact, normal people are not able to use Insight, because they are too impetuous emotionally and are unable to calm their minds down. Of course, Representative Henry is also part of this sub-group.”

Hearing this.

Henry sniggered as he listened to Fang Qiu and grunted coldly.

Obviously, Henry did not believe Fang Qiu at all. He felt that Fang Qiu had been lying for the entire day, and that the Chinese Medicine advocate was trying to stall for time. He noticed that the talk was about to end, and Fang Qiu would be unable to carry out his promise and prove his claims once it was concluded.

Henry had even thought it over – if Fang Qiu’s real motive was to stall for time, he was going to attack Fang Qiu viciously again once the talk ended!

But at this moment.

At this moment, however, Fang Qiu spoke up. “Now, let me help Mr. Henry calm his thoughts down, so that he can utilize Insight.”

Fang Qiu opened his mouth.

Henry was stunned.

Time was not up yet.

“Is Fang Qiu really going to help me use Insight?”

“I don’t believe it at all!”

“Those down there.”

Fang Qiu continued as he walked up in front of Henry. “You are about to witness a miracle!”

As soon as these words came out.

Once he made the statement, many people held their breaths and focused their gaze on the stage, wondering what Fang Qiu was going to do.

Under the watchful gaze of everyone, Fang Qiu immediately walked up to Henry’s back and suddenly rounded his body, immediately assuming a Standing Stance position.

Fang Qiu walked directly to Henry’s back, and then moved his body round and immediately posed as a standing stance.

He then shifted into the Stance of Five Extremes!

He wrapped his arms together and placed them on the top of Henry's head.

This scene.

The scene caused many people who were watching the livestream and had practiced taking up the stance with Fang Qiu in the past to exclaim in surprise uncontrollably.

"We learned this before as well."

"Isn't that a foundational stance?"

"Damn... Taking up stances can help people to gain Insight? How come I didn't know that they are so powerful?"

Under the exclamation of quite a number of people.

While many people were gasping, Fang Qiu began speaking to Henry. "Shut your eyes."

After hearing this.

Upon hearing Fang Qiu, he immediately followed the Chinese Medicine practitioner's instructions.

After all, he had been selected for the demonstration, so it was natural that he had to cooperate once he was onstage. As to whether Fang Qiu's method would work, they would see after the end of their mutual cooperation.

At this moment...

Fang Qiu had begun communicating in English with Henry to help the Frenchman work better and more directly with him.

“Take a deep breath...”

Fang Qiu said, drawing out his voice very long.

As Fang Qiu’s voice petered out, Henry kept drawing in breaths of air. He breathed in more and more, and he only heard Fang Qiu speak again when his entire abdomen was filled with air. “Breathe out...”

Fang Qiu drew his voice out very long in the same manner as well.

Henry took a long time to breathe out too.

Then.

After that, he repeated the same sequence thrice more again.

Gradually, Fang Qiu began to sense that Henry’s body had begun to relax after the continuous breathing; even his entire expression had also relaxed as well.

Obviously, this meant that Henry’s thoughts were concentrated on his breathing.

Normal people would have a hard time trying to calm down.

A better way to achieve that was through breathing.

Focusing on breathing and listening to Fang Qiu's voice was a way to prevent Henry's thoughts from going all over the place. Once he could control his thoughts, he would naturally be able to calm his mind down.

Naturally, to achieve the desired effect, Fang Qiu had added in a little of his power into his voice, so that Henry would enter a state of calm even more quickly.

It was only until when the Frenchman was completely immersed in the rhythm of his breathing and had completely calmed down that Fang Qiu focused his gaze.

The internal Qi in his body stirred and surged out at the same time, instantly enveloping Henry within them.

Fang Qiu was extremely clear that it would be extremely good if Henry managed to achieve Insight in a year just by relying on this training method.

However, there was no time for him to wait now. As such, he needed to hasten the process.

It was such that he directly used his own internal Qi to stir the Qi in Henry's body, before directing it to flow within the representative's meridians.

He even stimulated Henry's internal Qi to glow!

This was because Henry had never used Insight before, and he had completely no foundation in it. As such, Fang Qiu could only use this method to allow Henry to see the glow given off by his own internal Qi once he used the skill, to be able to see that meridians existed!

Medical Master

Chapter 666: See Meridians!!!

In his unique way, Fang Qiu guided Henry.

Henry focused all his attention on breathing.

With his eyes closed tight, he could see nothing but deep darkness around him.

However, something unexpected happened.

Just as Henry was completely immersed in controlling the rhythm of his breathing, a little bit of starlight suddenly appeared in the darkness in front of him.

Henry was intensely curious about this starlight dot.

“What’s this?” He wondered.

But just as he observed this little starlight, another one in the same size popped up next to it. Then, one after another, many more of them appeared aside like grains of shining sand.

More and more dots of starlight showed up and converged into a sparkling river of light.

Although Henry kept his eyes closed, his vision had been expanding.

Gradually, he saw himself. In his body, there were some streams of starlight flowing. Although they were dim ones, they were indeed starlight.

Upon seeing this scene, Henry breathed quickly and began to wheeze all of a sudden.

His heart raced in panic!

“Breathe out...”

“Breathe in...”

At that moment, Fang Qiu's voice suddenly sounded in his ear again, like a sudden clap of thunder, attracting all his attention.

Unconsciously, Henry started to breathe to the rhythm of Fang Qiu's instructions.

Then, he gradually quieted down.

Neither the people on the scene nor those who were watching the live broadcast knew what was going on.

"What exactly are they doing?" Everyone stared at Henry and Fang Qiu on the stage quietly with bated breath.

When everyone was wondering, they saw that Henry, who was sitting cross-legged on the stage, suddenly seemed to get excited. His movements were clearly shown on the big screen that was specially placed there for the audience.

"Just now, Henry indeed became excited!"

"But why would he get so excited?"

All the people present and the ones watching the live broadcast were full of doubts.

"Did Henry really see something unusual?"

"Could it be that he saw the meridians for real?"

"Hmm?" In a room of a community in the capital, Li Canming's face instantly darkened when he clearly saw Henry's sudden excitement, and he muttered, "Did he really see it?"

Like Li Canming, all the Chinese Medicine practitioners watching the live broadcast paid particular attention to Henry's every reaction. The rest of the audience was also waiting for the result, holding their breath with fixed attention.

On the stage, after Henry calmed down, the starlight before him got increasingly brighter, and his body's interior slowly became colorful.

He even saw that his skin had become transparent, and so did his flesh and blood. Only a river of light formed by countless light dots was flowing in his body. Constantly sending forth light, it went brighter and brighter!

Suddenly, Henry seemed to have found something, his whole body shaking violently, and he could no longer hold on.

He was disturbed.

In an instant, the scene in front of him vanished.

Swoosh!

Without thinking too much, Henry opened his eyes and stood up suddenly, staring at Fang Qiu with his eyes wide open.

Fang Qiu looked at Henry with a smile and asked, "What do you think?"

At that moment, everyone's eyes, whether on the scene or the Internet, were focused on Henry.

Now that the people at the scene didn't even care about following the order of the medical conference, they all shouted and asked loudly.

"What did you see?"

“Did you really see it?”

“You saw it, didn’t you?”

“Say something. What on earth did you see?”

While seeing that the audience kept throwing questions in a loud voice, the host quickly got on the stage.

“Be quiet. Be quiet!”

Standing on the stage, the host raised his right hand and called twice in a serious voice to signal silence. When all of them quieted down, he handed the microphone in his hand to Henry.

However, Henry didn’t take it.

He still stared at Fang Qiu in shock, as if he was completely unaware that the host had put the microphone near his mouth.

After a long time, Henry, whose gaze was fixed on Fang Qiu, suddenly asked, “Did you cast a spell on me?”

His question provoked an uproar from the audience!

All the people watching the live broadcast there burst into an uproar!

“What an astounding answer! Did he really see it?”

“Does this mean that he saw the meridians?”

“Oh my god! Did Fang Qiu help Henry see himself internally?”

“Did he see it? Really?”

On the stage, smiling, Fang Qiu asked, “What you saw just now must be the same as the meridian-collateral diagram I gave you. Am I right?”

Henry, whose brows drew together in a frown, was still in shock. Under everyone’s gaze, he nodded, though reluctantly.

He hadn’t yet figured out what was going on!

But it was true that he had seen it.

As the representative of France and one of the 32 executive members of the World Medical Exchange Conference, Henry was trustworthy and would never lie about such a thing.

He didn’t like traditional medicine or Chinese Medicine. Besides, he was deeply hostile to Fang Qiu. Nevertheless, he wouldn’t deny it if he saw it.

The most important thing was that he had seen it clearly just now.

Those magical things flowing in his body were like a dozen shining rivers, so how could he not see them?

Henry was stunned.

Everyone present was even more shocked.

At the sight of Henry’s nod, everyone in the room gasped.

In their hearts, they cried out, “He saw them, didn’t he?”

“He actually saw them!”

In the online live broadcast room, comments on the bullet screen were increasing fiercely. “He did it! Fang Qiu did it!”

“Sure enough, the meridian finally has been verified!”

“I knew Fang Qiu could make it. That’s great!”

Countless people looked at the screen and cheered.

Meanwhile, all sorts of virtual gifts flooded the screen.

This was the craziest moment of sending gifts in the live broadcast room.

This conference caused a thrill among the audience!

An employee ran into the manager’s office of the Fire Dragon Internet Entertainment Interactive Technology Company in the capital.

“Manager.”

He reported with great excitement. “The reward has exceeded 10,000,000 yuan, and it is still increasing rapidly! The number of people watching the live broadcast at the same time has also exceeded 20,000,000!”

At first, the employee thought that the manager would happily praise him after hearing this exciting news. But to his surprise, the CEO, who was sitting in front of the desk, didn’t even raise his head. He waved at him, indicating that he got it.

After taking a closer look, the employee found that the CEO was watching the live broadcast too.

At the same time, all the Chinese Medicine practitioners who were watching the live broadcast were startled.

“Meridians? Fang Qiu did it. Did he just succeed in making Henry see the meridians?”

“If people can see internally, they surely can see the meridians. However, it’s challenging to reach the realm that this skill requires. I didn’t expect that Fang Qiu could help someone else see internally. It’s amazing!”

“Is he going to surmount this long-standing problem?”

“Well done!”

“Qiu is so awesome. I can tell from that man’s expression that he must have seen it.”

“Qiu did such a fantastic job!”

At Fang Qiu’s home, Fang Qiu’s relatives and friends all praised him.

Somewhere else, all the students of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine who watched the live broadcast cheered.

“Long live Fang Qiu!” They shouted with joy in their hearts.

It was an international conference!

As a representative figure of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, he represented the university even if he was at an international conference.

Fang Qiu's success at the medical conference would undoubtedly benefit the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine. First of all, the reputation of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine would rise quickly. Secondly, because of Fang Qiu, this university would undoubtedly move up to a higher place in the rankings.

Beyond these, under the influence of Fang Qiu, medical institutions all over the country would definitely prefer students of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine to other students graduating the same year.

That was to say Fang Qiu's success brought countless benefits to the students of University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine.

It was no wonder that every one of them was so excited and happy!

"Yeah!"

In Jiang family, Jiang Miaoyu couldn't help jumping up excitedly as she saw Henry nodding in the live broadcast. Her strong reaction startled her parents.

"He actually managed to do this. Amazing!"

In Jiang family, Jiang Mengjie, who also watched the live broadcast, was shocked and then instantly smiled. Looking at the man standing on the stage full of confidence, she whispered with complicated emotions, "When you were in high school, you must have hidden your real abilities. At least, you have never told me that you've practiced Qi for more than a decade!"

"When your student comes back, ask him to come to me."

In the northeast, Holy Doctor Chu told Xu Miaolin.

“Why?”

Hearing Holy Doctor Chu’s words, Xu Miaolin immediately recovered from his surprise and looked at him with vigilance.

He had practiced Qi.

He had gotten some insights about Qi practice and had learned the magical effect of Qi before, so he was not that shocked by Fang Qiu’s performance at the medical conference.

Of course, although he was not shocked that much, he was a little surprised because he had never seen the movements of meridians.

“Why do you have so many questions?”

Holy Doctor Chu looked at Xu Miaolin and said, “When I ask you to call him over, you call him over. Even if I take this disciple from you, what can you do to stop me?”

“Nothing serious. Nothing serious.”

Hurriedly, Xu Miaolin shook his head and stopped seeking the answer.

“What?”

In the capital city, Li Canming jumped to his feet in a state of utter shock.

“How is this possible?”

“It’s impossible!”

“No way! The meridians don’t exist at all. Simply impossible!”

His eyes were still fixed on the live broadcast, as he refused to believe the truth he had seen.

At that moment, from the screen that was broadcasting the conference, he saw that the host quickly asked, “Mr. Hengli, what did you see? Can you tell us in detail?”

Curious to know the answer, Li Canming immediately sat down and continued to stare at the screen.

At the scene, hearing the host’s question, Henry opened his mouth and said, “I saw my body, flesh, and blood. I also saw more than a dozen glowing things flowing in my body like streams. I’ve no idea what they are made of, but their flowing routes were the same as those on the meridian-collateral diagram that Fang Qiu has shown to me.”

His words startled all the audience!

Initially, full of doubts, everyone didn’t dare to believe what they saw. But now, even if they didn’t dare to believe, they had to admit the truth.

It was because Henry had seen it with his own eyes.

He, who was utterly opposed to traditional medicine, actually admitted that he saw the meridians, so how could it not be true?

When Li Canming heard Henry’s confirmation, his face turned ghastly pale, and he collapsed on the chair powerlessly!

Medical Master

Chapter 667: Supernatural Beasts Leviathan and Roc Are Qi?!

“Is everything about Chinese Medicine true?”

“Do meridians really exist?”

“I’m just raising the normal doubts about it. Yes. That’s exactly what I did.”

Li Canming was so flustered that he even tried to find an excuse for himself.

After all, he stood up to question Fang Qiu, but it eventually turned into a slap in the face, which was so embarrassing for him!

At the medical conference, “What’s going on? I really want to know what happened just now.”

On the stage, Henry stared at Fang Qiu and even asked in a pleading tone, “Mr. Fang Qiu, can you explain it to me?”

Everyone’s attention was now on Fang Qiu.

Under everyone’s gazes, Fang Qiu stretched out his hand with a smile and pointed to the electronic timer hanging on the wall. He then shrugged as if saying, “There’s nothing I can do.” Then he said, “It’s time for me to stop.”

Everyone turned to look.

Sure enough, it was already 29 minutes and 59 seconds on the timer.

When they saw the time, the people’s expressions changed. Some of them almost cursed out loud.

Of course, they were not cursing the limited time, but Fang Qiu!

“No, you have to finish it.”

“You can’t leave even if it’s time. You have to explain it to us!”

“That’s right. How can you not explain it since you started it? You have to save your face, right?”

Everyone was furious.

All the people present could not calm down.

In the live streaming room, everyone burst into laughter.

“Good job!”

“Ha-ha, Master Fang Qiu is so precise with his timing.”

“He did it on purpose, didn’t he? Ha-ha!”

“Well...” Sensing that something was wrong, the host immediately turned around and looked at the secretary-general sitting behind the high counter behind him.

The secretary-general began negotiating with several directors around him about how to deal with this matter.

In the end, in response to the request by all the people at the conference, the secretary-general suggested that they extend Fang Qiu’s speech time to forty minutes.

As soon as the proposal was made, 10 members of the Standing Committee, as well as 32 members of the executive committee, immediately approved it.

In this regard, Fang Qiu smiled slightly.

This was what he wanted!

Before that, he had spent most of his time explaining about Chinese Medicine. In the end, he deliberately waited till there was only five minutes left. Five minutes was very short, but it was enough to prove the existence of meridians.

In this case, if these doctors of Western Medicine wanted to hear an explanation, there would be no time for that at all.

The only way was to extend the time!

That was why he did that.

It was because Fang Qiu had calculated the time himself.

Half an hour was not enough at all. It took a very long time to explain about Chinese Medicine. Therefore, Fang Qiu simplified the elaboration of Chinese Medicine many times in order to achieve this effect.

However, as far as Fang Qiu was concerned, it did not matter whether he had more time or not because he had finished telling all he wanted to say about Chinese Medicine and also proved the existence of meridians.

As for the explanation, although it was his duty to do that, it was not necessary for him.

Therefore, Fang Qiu looked completely indifferent at this moment.

He was thinking, "Whether you give me more time or not, it's up to you. Anyway, it won't mean much to me!"

In the live streaming room, everyone burst into an uproar.

“Ha-ha, Fang Qiu is so awesome.”

“Damn, these people are all attracted to Fang Qiu, aren’t they?”

“Master Fang Qiu is so charming that even the westerners can’t resist his charm.”

“This should be the first man in history who was successfully granted more time on the stage in a medical conference and it was even strongly demanded by all the people present. Amazingly, it was approved by all of them as soon as the proposal was made!”

After the people calmed down, they looked at Fang Qiu eagerly, waiting for him to explain.

“Ahem, ahem...”

Fang Qiu faked a cough, turned around, walked to the podium, thought about his speech and then said, “As Mr. Henry said, what he saw just now were meridians. At the same time, he was sure that what he saw was exactly the same as the meridians which were recorded in Huaxia. Then I guess you must be very curious. What is the light that Mr. Henry mentioned?”

“What is it?” Henry asked and so did everyone present.

“It’s Qi!”

Fang Qiu said, “Qi flows from the meridians, which proves the existence of Qi and meridians. As for why it can’t be seen by the naked eye, only people with Insight can see it. It’s because Qi itself can’t be seen or touched, not to mention the tracking of its flow.”

“So, what is Qi?”

“First of all, you have to know that the Qi in Chinese Medicine is not the air that you are familiar with, but it has the same nature as the air. You can’t see or touch it. Why is it that you recognize the existence of air, but can’t accept Qi?”

“Qi, it’s not air. Then what’s that?”

“It’s Qi, which is a bit different from the Qi we talked about earlier.”

“In China, the upper part of this character is ‘wu’ and the lower part is four points. ‘Wu’ means that you can’t see it, but it exists.”

“Four points indicate that it can flow and fill the universe. And it can also transform into all things in the universe.”

“In ancient Chinese books and records, there are a lot of descriptions about Qi. But they were afraid that it would be studied by people with bad intentions, so the descriptions in the books tend to use a metaphor.”

“Over 2300 years ago, there was a master named Zhuangzi in Huaxia who wrote an article called Being Free and Unfettered. He wrote, “In the northern ocean there is a fish, called the leviathan and its size measured in li is unknown. This fish changes into a bird called the roc, whose back is so wide that no one knows how many thousand li in width it covers. When the bird rouses itself and flies, its wings are like clouds, hanging over the sky. When it moves in the sea, it is preparing to fly to the southern ocean, which is the Celestial Lake.”

“People have to recite this article during the college entrance examination, which is the biggest exam in Huaxia, but no one knows that the content of this article is actually talking about Qi!”

When he said that, all the Huaxia people who were watching the live streaming were astonished!

“Is Being Free and Unfettered talking about Qi?”

“Holy sh*t! That’s an ambiguous meaning!”

“Isn’t Being Free and Unfettered talking about the Supernatural Beasts—leviathan and roc?”

“Are leviathan and roc Qi?”

“How come I don’t know that?”

....

On the stage, Fang Qiu continued, “Under the navels of the Huaxia people, there is Dantian. Under the sea, it is called the northern ocean and the southern ocean is above our heads.”

“Refine the vital essence and turn it into Qi. Refine Qi and turn it into Spirit. Then meditate. Make it rise to the top.”

“In the northern ocean, the leviathan changes into a bird going to the southern ocean. It talks about the Qi of the human body. Of course, it talks about not only the Qi, but also cultivation. It also talks about the Qi of heaven and earth because the human body is like a small universe and small earth. It means the same.”

As soon as he finished speaking, the Huaxia people who were watching the live streaming were even more confused.

“What the f*ck, are you talking about cultivation?”

“Leviathan and roc are Supernatural Beasts, but there are no such animals in the modern world, so it’s very likely that the author is using metaphors to write this article.”

“But, since there are no Supernatural Beasts, how can there be any cultivation in the modern world?”

“Is there really a way to cultivate in this world?”

“What the f*ck, if this is true, then I’m so close to cultivation. I used to recite Being Free and Unfettered when I was a student.”

“According to what Fang Qiu said, this article is very likely to be a secret cultivation method passed down by the ancient powerful talents!”

“Oh my god, this cultivation method is so difficult to understand. If I can time travel, how can I become Long Aotian if I can’t even understand the cultivation method?”

Although people were making a lot of jokes, almost everyone was shocked by Fang Qiu’s knowledge.

They didn’t know that Being Free and Unfettered, the first chapter of Zhuangzi, could be so amazing.

Those who knew a little about this suddenly thought of something after Fang Qiu finished speaking.

This was Zhuangzi!

Zhuangzi was one of the three Metaphysics of Taoism!

When they thought about this, they suddenly realized something.

Maybe what Fang Qiu said was exactly what Zhuangzi wanted to express. Their comprehension of this article before was wrong!

There were even many people who secretly made up their minds that after listening to Fang Qiu’s speech, they would go and read Being Free and Unfettered and the whole Zhuangzi!

However, compared with the Huaxia audience, all the western audience at the conference were even more stunned.

When they heard what Fang Qiu said, they felt as if they were listening to a myth.

More than 2,000 years ago?

Zhuangzi?

Big bird?

Big fish?

They could not understand it at all!

Everyone was looking at Fang Qiu eagerly.

All of them seemed to be expressing their feelings with their eyes, “Can’t you just say something that we can understand?”

On the stage, Fang Qiu did not stop. Instead, he continued to speak. He talked about it for eight or nine minutes. During this time, he mainly talked about what Qi and meridians were, as well as their effects and some records in the ancient Huaxia books.

All the people present seemed to be listening attentively. They couldn’t understand it at all because there were too many classical Chinese expressions in Fang Qiu’s speech.

However, they felt that Fang Qiu was so astonishing!

In the live streaming room, most of the people who were watching the live streaming sighed with emotion. They felt that the classical Chinese they had learned was fake. How could it be so completely different from what Fang Qiu had learned?

The most important thing was that no matter how hard they tried, they all felt that what Fang Qiu said was true. Even some Chinese teachers who were watching live streaming began to doubt their own knowledge.

It seemed that it was almost time.

Fang Qiu finished explaining about Qi and meridians. As everyone was watching, he said, "Now, let me tell you why Mr. Henry can see meridians."

As soon as he said that, everyone became more attentive.

Finally, he got to the point.

They thought the extra time was running out.

"The reason is very simple."

Fang Qiu said, "First of all, it's because I helped Mr. Henry enter into the state of meditation, which means that he has completely abandoned all distracting thoughts. He is completely relaxed to the extreme."

"In addition, Mr. Henry has sufficient Qi in his body."

"When these two conditions are met at the same time, Mr. Henry can see the meridians in his body."

Obviously, Fang Qiu said that on purpose.

He couldn't say that he was the one who injected it. If he were to say it out loud, then it would be too awesome.

He knew that there must be people in Wulin who liked to watch the live streaming, so he could not reveal too much of his strength. All he needed to do was to let them think that he was a fan of practicing Qi.

Looking at the time, ten minutes was about to pass. But the audience had not heard enough yet. They still did not know how to practice the art.

Medical Master

Chapter 668: This is a Hypnosis Hoax!!

Without Fang Qiu's help, how could they see it?

How could they cultivate Qi?

How to use Qi?

How could the meridians be used?

How did the Huaxia Chinese Medicine doctors use Qi and meridians?

He did not tell the audience all these things!

In a blink of an eye, ten minutes passed.

He had not talked about the crucial things yet. And time was about to run out again. What should they do?

For a moment, everyone at the conference was stunned.

Should they give Fang Qiu more time?

“Pitter-patter...” Just when everyone was hesitating and did not know what to do, Henry, who had been so shocked, suddenly stepped forward and walked to the podium, two steps at a time. Even though the podium could only fit one person, he still rushed up and stood face to face with Fang Qiu, glaring angrily at him.

Everyone present was very confused.

Fang Qiu was even more confused. “What is this guy going to do?”

People began to whisper under the stage.

The whole conference hall became a little noisy.

“Humph!” Just when everyone was puzzled, Henry suddenly snorted angrily, grabbed the microphone from the host next to him and then shouted loudly, “I think everyone has been deceived!”

“This is simply a hoax from the beginning to the end!”

All of a sudden, there was an uproar as soon as he finished speaking.

“What does this mean?”

“Could it be that he didn’t see it?”

“What’s going on?”

“Why did he say that it’s a hoax?”

“Has Mr. Henry found a flaw? Is this a play directed by Fang Qiu?”

“Why is it a hoax?”

“Mr. Henry, why did he say that? He is one of the 32 executive members of the medical conference. No matter what he says, he should be responsible for it!”

All the people started heated discussions.

Everyone present, including the ten members of the Standing Committee of WHO, began to whisper.

“Didn’t you see the meridians?”

Fang Qiu looked at Henry calmly and asked.

Henry first nodded to confirm it and then added, “I did see it. But what I saw is very likely to be fake.”

“That is to say, I was deceived by you and then you even wanted to use me to deceive everyone!”

“Fake?”

Li Canming, the post-doctor who had returned from the United States and was depressed earlier, suddenly came to his senses when he heard this. He straightened his body and his dull eyes suddenly lit up with excitement. He said in a trembling voice, “Yes, yes, it must be a lie. Expose him! Expose him right now!”

Undoubtedly, this was his last hope.

All the people at the conference looked at Henry in confusion.

“Why?”

“Since you’ve seen it, why do you say it’s fake?”

“Was he deceived?”

Everyone felt very doubtful.

On the stage, Henry still had his eyes fixed on Fang Qiu. As everyone was confused, he said this sentence, word by word, “Everyone, don’t forget about the art of hypnosis!”

Everyone was astonished!

“That’s right. It’s done by hypnosis!”

Henry continued, “I did see the meridians just now, but I couldn’t figure it out for a long time. Now I understand why I can see the meridians. The reason why I could see them was probably that I was hypnotized. In the state of hypnosis, I was led into the dream, and then I saw the so-called meridians in the unreal dream.”

“All of this is very obvious, isn’t it?”

“As soon as it started, Fang Qiu let me see the meridian-collateral diagram in advance. I remember that in hypnosis terms, it should be called psychological suggestion!”

“After looking at the meridian-collateral diagram, Fang Qiu kept explaining about the meridians, so as to deepen the psychological suggestion he planted in me. When it’s almost time, he found an excuse to help me and then forcibly altered my breathing rhythm, using the rhythm of my breathing to make me fall into a state of hypnosis.”

“After I was hypnotized, he began to intensify the psychological hint that he planted on me before.”

“That’s why I can see the meridians and Qi in the dream, which is exactly the same as those shown in the meridian-collateral diagram!”

Henry’s mouth curved into a sneer as he said, “I felt that something was wrong just now. Now I finally understand. No wonder you want me to see the meridian-collateral diagram in advance. You just want me to prove your lie.”

“In fact, he shouldn’t have let me see it, but unfortunately, he showed it to me, which let me sense the critical point and see through his plan!”

“That’s right. This is a hoax from the beginning to the end!”

“Fang Qiu is the biggest liar!”

After Henry finished speaking, all the people present felt as if something had exploded in their minds.

They were shocked, which caused an uproar.

Everyone looked at Fang Qiu in shock.

In the past forty minutes, with his meticulous thinking and interesting speech, almost everyone was deeply curious about Chinese Medicine. Most of them had already believed what Fang Qiu said and were even ready to study Chinese Medicine carefully when they went back.

In the past forty minutes, Henry actually stood up again.

Although he didn’t deny that Fang Qiu had let him see the meridians, he questioned Fang Qiu from another point of view!

The most important thing was that his questions were also quite reasonable, so everyone who believed in Fang Qiu started wavering in their opinions about him.

Looking at Fang Qiu, all the people present did not make a sound.

Everyone was waiting, waiting for Fang Qiu to give them an answer.

Was everything that had happened just now really done through hypnosis?

On the stage, Fang Qiu looked rather calm. He looked at Henry without any panic and said, "Whether it's hypnosis or not, it's easy to verify it."

"We can just find someone who has never seen the diagram and get him to see the meridians in his body!"

Everyone felt it could work when they heard that.

According to Henry, he had seen the meridian-collateral diagram before, which meant the psychological suggestion had been planted in him. If one had not seen the meridian-collateral diagram, there would not be any suggestion.

However, what would be tricky was that everyone at the conference had seen it.

On the big screen of the conference hall, the meridian-collateral diagram that had been found by the conference's staff was on display.

"However, everyone at the conference had seen it. It's impossible to find a person who had not seen the meridian-collateral diagram on the spot."

Speaking of this, Fang Qiu raised his hand, pointed to the timer hanging on the wall and said, "It's almost time. We have no time to waste."

As soon as he said that, everyone was anxious.

“Who cares about the time now?”

“That’s right. Hurry up and find someone!”

“Whether it’s hypnosis or not, we must figure it out!”

“If you can’t find anyone at the conference, you can go out and find someone else!”

Everyone urged one after another.

Instantly, there was a lot of noise.

This was the second time. The solemn conference hall was filled with noise. Last time, it was also noisy was due to Fang Qiu!

“Be quiet, everyone!”

Seeing that it was becoming a bit tense, the host quickly took the microphone and shouted at the audience, “Now, we’re still in the middle of the medical conference. As for the following verification, we need to propose and vote for it.”

Only when he said that did the noise gradually die down.

When the people finally calmed down, the host quickly turned around and looked at the secretary-general.

“Well.”

The secretary-general stood up directly and said, “I will not say anything more. Just vote on the spot. If you are willing to let Fang Qiu continue so he can do the verification, we can find a suitable volunteer. If you don’t want to, we can continue with the following agenda.”

“Now, let’s vote!”

After that, the secretary-general was the first to raise his hand in agreement because he also wanted to know if Fang Qiu had hypnotized Henry.

Since the secretary-general had raised his hand in agreement, how could the others not agree?

It was unanimously agreed by all the people once again.

All the people agreed to let Fang Qiu continue to do his verification on the spot.

Even if there wasn’t enough time, they could still wait!

After all, everyone knew that this was very likely to be the most crucial turning point of modern medicine. This page could not be turned over so easily, no matter if it was true or false. Since Fang Qiu had already stood on the stage and proposed it, they had to verify it carefully and get the result!

Of course, the secretary-general also thought so.

As the secretary-general of the World Health Organization, he did not dare to take it lightly when faced with such a turning point that could greatly change modern medicine.

The most important thing was that Fang Qiu really cured his diabetes. Therefore, he always believed in Fang Qiu, even though he felt that what he did was very magical!

The proposal was passed.

Under the secretary-general’s arrangement, 12 people were picked from the 32 representatives and 10 members of the Standing Committee to form a supervision group, which consisted of 4 members of the Standing Committee of WHO and 8 members of executive members of the World Medical Exchange Conference.

After it was formed, the supervision group immediately walked out of the conference hall and went out to find a suitable person. Anyway, it was impossible for people outside to see the meridians before.

After all, this was Switzerland.

After the supervision group left, there was an awkward silence in the conference hall.

They could have continued with the conference, but in this case, who would still be in the mood to listen to the contents of the rest of the agenda?

Everyone at the conference was whispering to each other, discussing whether Fang Qiu was lying or not.

Seeing that the situation had become so tense, Zhang Zhiming, as the representative of Huaxia, felt very anxious. He stood up directly, walked to Fang Qiu and asked nervously, "Is it true that people can see the meridians?"

"Of course it's true."

Fang Qiu replied confidently, "It's not hypnosis!"

Only then did Zhang Zhiming let out a sigh of relief.

He was also worried.

After all, when Fang Qiu stood on this podium, he was not representing himself only. He also represented the entire Huaxia. If this was exposed as a fake, it would completely ruin the whole country's image!

In the online live streaming room, all the Huaxia viewers who were watching the live streaming were also talking about it.

“Fang Qiu did not hypnotize him, right?”

“I don’t think it’s hypnosis. We’ve seen Fang Qiu’s talents, haven’t we?”

Seeing the heated discussion on the screen, Luo Jialong suddenly laughed and said, “If you think it’s hypnosis, type 1 to leave a comment. If you don’t think it’s hypnosis, you can just send a gift.”

As soon as he finished speaking, the gifts flooded into the online live streaming room. No one typed in any comment and keyed in 1, on the bullet screen.

Luo Jialong was dumbfounded!

Medical Master

Chapter 669: The Verification From a Child!

At Fang Qiu’s home in Linxi County, all his relatives and friends were also talking about it.

However, just as everyone was talking about it, Fang Qiu’s younger cousin, who was about 13-years-old and had a bright look about him, suddenly opened his mouth, “Don’t you think that even if it’s hypnosis, Fang Qiu is so awesome that he can actually hypnotize people in such a short time?”

“It can’t be hypnosis.”

“Little boy, don’t talk nonsense!”

“Henry must have seen it. It’s definitely true!”

In the northeast, Holy Doctor Chu looked at Xu Miaolin and asked, “Did your disciple hypnotize him?”

Xu Miaolin did not know how to answer him for a moment because he also did not know how Fang Qiu did it, so he could only say, "Do you admit that I'm knowledgeable?"

When he said that, Holy Doctor Chu's eyes narrowed immediately.

It looked as if something bad was going to happen!

Xu Miaolin's heart raced and he quickly said, "It can't be hypnosis. It absolutely can't be hypnosis!"

Holy Doctor Chu asked curiously, "Oh? Are you sure?"

Xu Miaolin shook his head and said, "I'm not sure. First of all, I have never seen anyone being hypnotized in order to let him see the meridians. Besides, I know my student very well. He has never fought a battle without confidence, let alone on the stage of the World Medical Exchange Conference. He will never risk the honor of the country and Chinese Medicine!"

At the same time, people from other places were also discussing it.

Many people in Huaxia supported Fang Qiu because he had shown his strength to everyone repeatedly. Since he dared to stand on the world stage, he would definitely show his actual strength to the whole world!

However, while they trusted and supported Fang Qiu, they were also worried about him.

On the spot, before anyone could reach any conclusion, the supervision group that had gone to look for someone had already returned.

Needless to say, they managed to find a suitable person after they went out.

Everyone's eyes were fixed on them when the supervision group came back.

When they took a closer look, they saw that the supervision group had brought back a little boy.

It was a child who was not even ten years old.

Everyone was stunned when they saw the little boy holding a toy in his hand, with a confused look on his face.

No one had expected that the supervision group had actually found a child.

Actually, the supervision group had given this serious consideration before they found the child.

These days, the adults could not be relied on. After all, adults had experienced a lot at their age. Maybe they had really seen the meridians.

This little boy was born in Switzerland. He definitely would not even know what kind of place Huaxia was. He must have never seen the meridian-collateral diagram. Moreover, children were pure in nature and would not lie. As for the verification, a child was undoubtedly most suitable.

When they found the little boy, people from the supervision group confirmed it over and over again and they had even recorded a video.

Finally, it was confirmed that the little boy did not know anything at all. The group member did not tell the little boy anything either. After discussing the matter with the child's parents, they directly brought the little boy over.

Soon, they entered the hall.

Seeing so many people sitting in the conference hall, the little boy could not help but feel a little scared.

He followed behind the supervision group timidly. He did not dare to look at one spot for more than a second and seemed rather flustered.

When everyone on the scene saw the little boy, they smiled at him kindly as they did not want to scare him.

..

Soon, people from the supervision group led the little boy near the podium and comforted him so that he would be at ease. Then he was taken to the stage.

When the little boy came on the stage, Fang Qiu immediately greeted the child with a smile. Of course, he used English. After that, he immediately said to the little boy, "Hello, I'll play a game with you later. You don't need to be nervous, okay?"

The little boy nodded hesitantly. "OK."

All the people present could understand Fang Qiu clearly because he spoke in English.

The reason why he spoke English was that he wanted to act fairly so that everyone could see that he would not take the opportunity to reveal any information to the child.

Also, no one at the conference would give Fang Qiu any chance to reveal any information.

The host then said directly as if he did not want Fang Qiu to say anything else to the child, "Okay. Let's start now!"

Then, with everyone watching, Fang Qiu started with a smile.

Just like what he did before, Fang Qiu taught the child to sit cross-legged and then guided the child to take a deep breath, like how he guided Henry.

After a while, the little boy with his eyes closed, suddenly tilted his head and made a confused sound, "Eh?"

Fang Qiu knew that the little boy had seen it.

All the people present also widened their eyes.

In fact, compared with adults, it was easier for children to see the meridians.

It was because the child was young and the innate Qi in his body had not dissipated too much. The Primordial Qi in his body was sufficient. Although a child was quite active in thinking, an adult could not compete with him once he entered the state of meditation.

Therefore, with the help of Fang Qiu, not only did the little boy start his meditating quickly, but he also was able to see the meridians quickly.

“Haha...” All of a sudden, the little boy chuckled. He even stretched out his hand and made a grabbing gesture in the air in front of him as if he was playing.

The little boy seemed to be immersed in it and began to talk with a bright smile. “I got you. I got you.”

Of course, his eyes were still closed.

It surprised all the people at the conference.

The little boy’s voice was very clear and his smile and expressions were very natural. Beside him, Fang Qiu did not say a word or even move at all.

In other words, the little boy was still awake and was not hypnotized.

The reason why he closed his eyes was that he saw things that no one else could see.

Fang Qiu stopped channeling his internal Qi and said, “Okay. The game is over.”

At this time, the little boy's expression suddenly changed. He was joyful and excited just now, but he suddenly became a little bereft. "Don't go, don't go, where are you going?"

Then the little boy opened his eyes and pouted.

When the host saw that, he did not give Fang Qiu any chance to speak. He quickly stood up, stepped forward, squatted beside the little boy and asked, "Could you tell me what you saw just now?"

As soon as he mentioned what he had just seen, the little boy immediately became excited and said, "I saw a lot. So many little stars gathered together and forming a river of starlight."

"Wow..." When he said that, the whole room was in an uproar.

It was true. The little boy actually saw it. What he saw was exactly the same as what Henry saw, which was a river of starlight formed by little stars.

The river of starlight was the meridians!

The child would not lie.

Besides, before they did this, he did not know anything at all. He only knew that this was a game. Therefore, since the child said so, he must have seen it!

He had never seen or even heard of meridians before. Even if he was hypnotized, it would never have such an effect!

People watching the live stream were excited!

"Long live, long live Fang Qiu!"

“Haha, these foreigners must be dumbfounded. This is not hypnosis. Meridians really do exist!”

“Fang Qiu is so awesome. What a slap on the foreigners’ faces!”

Standing on the stage, Fang Qiu glanced at all the people under the stage who were shocked. He smiled slightly, walked to the child, and asked, “Could you draw those rivers you just saw on your body?”

All the people present nodded fervently when they heard that.

That was right.

It did not mean anything even if the little boy saw it. He had to draw it to make sure if it was the same as the meridian-collateral diagram.

What if it wasn’t?

What if the starlight river that the little boy saw was different from the position of the meridians?

If that were the case, it would not be able to prove the existence of meridians.

The only way to prove it was to let the child draw the starlight river he saw!

For a moment, people showed their respect for Fang Qiu, while focusing on whether the child could draw or not.

After all, it was proposed by Fang Qiu himself.

This meant that Fang Qiu was a very trustworthy man. He was not the kind of person who would take advantage of the situation and get away with it. If he dared to suggest it, it meant that Fang Qiu was really capable.

At the same time, everyone sighed with emotion. “Fang Qiu is really a bold and strong person!”

Not only people at the conference, but the audience in Huaxia also exclaimed.

After hearing Fang Qiu’s request, the little boy immediately nodded determinedly. Then, without saying anything else, he tucked his toy under his left arm, raised his right hand, and pointed at his body, saying, “I can. I saw three lines here and then three lines here. I also saw three here...”

The little boy was pointing and drawing as he spoke.

Without knowing what the meridians were, the lines drawn by the little boy were exactly the same as the meridian-collateral diagram!

This time, all the people were stunned.

On the stage, Henry, as one of the supervisors, fell silent completely.

First of all, he tried it himself and then he stood up to question it. He even strongly requested to be part of the supervision group to find the most suitable person. Now the result was confirmed by the person that he had so carefully selected.

In this regard, he had nothing to say.

He understood that this really could not be an act of hypnosis, because the little boy had never seen meridians before.

He could see and draw it, which meant that there were meridians in his body.

Since the little boy had meridians, then everyone in the world had meridians too!

It was not only Henry, but all the people present fell silent too.

They were in a state of shock!

It was a kind of extreme shock that came from the bottom of their hearts after careful verification. It was so astonishing that they had nothing to say!

In the online live stream room, the Huaxia audience went crazy.

“Awesome!!!”

“It’s true. It’s not hypnosis. It’s true!”

“There are really meridians. There are really meridians in the human body. Haha... Fang Qiu did it. He made it!”

Everyone was cheering for Fang Qiu.

Undoubtedly, this medical conference astounded the whole world.

The person who shocked the world at this conference was Fang Qiu. And the thing that Fang Qiu used to shock the world was Huaxia Chinese Medicine!

Medical Master

Chapter 670: The Conference Concluded!

In Linxi County, people at Fang Qiu’s home broke out in thunderous cheers. Everyone was particularly excited because Fang Qiu had succeeded!

“Yeah!” In the Jiang family, as soon as Jiang Miaoyu saw the little boy drawing the meridians he saw on his body, she jumped for joy and cheered.

Beside her, Mr. and Mrs. Jiang were stunned.

Jiang Miaoyu did not realize it until she saw her parents’ expressions. She immediately faked a cough and then sat down as if nothing had happened.

“Awesome. My old classmate is able to solve such a difficult problem.”

Jiang Mengjie was also jubilant.

In a factory at the foot of a remote mountain of Jiangjing, Fang Qiu’s three roommates heaved a collective sigh of relief, “Phew...”

Sun Hao said, “Fang Qiu is not only the youngest among us, but also the most gifted!”

“You didn’t see it before?”

Zhou Xiaotian laughed and said, “I’ve told you long ago that Fang Qiu is a monster!”

Zhu Benzhen nodded seriously in agreement, “Yeah, he’s a monster.”

Zhao Shanlin looked at the three of them and then looked at Fang Qiu in the live stream, smiling broadly.

In the northeast, seeing that Fang Qiu had proved the existence of meridians through a foreign little boy, Holy Doctor Chu immediately said excitedly, “Great! Chinese Medicine has really come back to life this time!”

Xu Miaolin also nodded with emotion, “That’s right.”

Both of them were prominent figures in the Chinese Medicine industry. As one of the three holy doctors, Holy Doctor Chu had gained considerable prestige. As one of the fifty highly-skilled doctors, Xu Miaolin was also a genius who had once been renowned in the whole Chinese Medicine industry.

Both of them knew very well about the development and the current predicament of Chinese Medicine.

Therefore, they all knew how difficult it was to make Chinese Medicine become prominent again!

All of them had worked so hard for this during their entire lives.

Now they finally saw the hope of the rise of Chinese Medicine!

“It’s over, it’s all over.” In a familiar room in a residential district in the capital city, Li Canming collapsed in front of the computer table again, his face pale. He was in a complete daze.

He wanted to come back to the country and publicize his identity as a post-doctor who had returned from the United States so that he could become a top Western Medicine talent in the country and enjoy the respect of people.

But now, everything was over.

This was all of his own doing.

A vast number of netizens would not let him go.

The moment Fang Qiu proved the existence of meridians, countless viewers who were watching the live stream immediately logged into Weibo and rushed directly to the comment area of Li Canming’s Weibo to insult him.

“You just would not shut up. Now, it is a slap in the face for you, isn’t it?”

“Hurry and send a video to let everyone see how swollen your face is!”

“Why don’t you challenge him again? I’d like to see what kind of tricks you will play this time.”

“Open your fu*king eyes and take a good look at how awesome our Chinese Medicine doctor is. In this era, it doesn’t matter if you worship foreigners, but you can’t belittle your own country. Go back to the U.S. Don’t embarrass yourself in our country!”

Li Canming’s Weibo immediately came under fire as many people continuously peppered it with insults.

Many people who initially did not pay any attention to the live stream were now in a hurry to find it after they saw what was posted on Weibo. While they were looking for the live stream, they scolded Li Canming along with the netizens.

In the blink of an eye, more than 100,000 comments appeared below Li Canming’s Weibo, which were all scolding him.

Just when everyone was happily cursing and venting their anger, a different voice appeared.

“Don’t scold him. We still have to thank him. If it had not been for him, we would not have seen Fang Qiu perform so well on the world stage.”

“You’re right. Thank you, post-doctor who returned from the U.S, for willingly becoming Fang Qiu’s stepping stone. Haha.”

When all the people in Huaxia were talking about it, the medical conference officially concluded in Switzerland.

After Fang Qiu proved the existence of meridians, the people at the conference did not pay too much attention to the balance of the agenda, because the impact of Fang Qiu on them was too great.

At this moment, everyone knew that traditional medicine, which was represented by Chinese Medicine, was about to rise!

And it went straight to the world stage in such an aggressive manner!

This was definitely the most earth-shattering change in the medical field in history!

When the conference ended, Fang Qiu was surrounded by numerous people when he was about to leave the conference hall.

These people were like bees, swarming around Fang Qiu and asking for advice. They wanted to know more about Chinese Medicine before the others. They wanted to seize the opportunity before the new era of the medical community started!

With the end of the medical conference, the live stream in Huaxia was also over.

The moment the live stream room closed, all the employees inside the Fire Dragon Internet Entertainment Interactive Technology Company went crazy.

“Wow...” All kinds of triumphant cheers were heard in the building.

There was no doubt that the live stream this time was a huge success.

As soon as the live stream was closed, the technical staff of the company collected all kinds of data.

The most amazing thing was that the number of viewers exceeded 25 million, which was an unprecedented event in the history of the live stream on the Internet.

Although live streaming on the Internet had not been totally popular throughout the country, the number of viewers watching the live stream on the Internet increased considerably after several years of development.

But even so, because there were too many live streaming platforms and thousands of streamers on each platform, the highest number of live streaming viewers never exceeded one million!

But now the Fire Dragon platform actually made it to 25 million. This was the actual data collected by everyone entering into the live stream room and watching the live stream. Those platforms with tens of millions of viewers could not compare with it in terms of popularity.

According to the common practice of the live streaming industry, if the actual viewers could be converted to more than a few hundred times popular value, then the popular value of the live stream this time would probably reach several billion, or even tens of billions!

The mere thought of this number was terrifying!

Obviously, the Fire Dragon live stream platform had created a miracle. Even in the future, it would be very difficult for anyone to surpass it.

In addition to the data on the network live stream platform, there were also ratings of the TV applications, which also reached 20% in the whole country.

This kind of ratings could even be compared with the top variety shows and the annual TV series.

There were cheers of jubilation in the company's building.

None of them had expected that this live stream would turn into such a grand occasion.

Just as they were cheering, a technical staff suddenly stood up, turned to look at the CEO who was celebrating with everyone and shouted, "Manager, manager! The reward amounts from the live stream this time has reached 20 million and it's just the data in Luo Jialong's room. The rewards from the other live stream rooms have not been counted yet!"

Everyone was stunned as soon as they heard that.

This was the fastest way to make money that they had ever seen.

In just three days, the live stream had actually created a brand-new multi-millionaire!

Everyone felt that it was like a dream.

They witnessed with their own eyes that a multi-millionaire was born and he was so close to them.

The CEO stood up and said, "Thank you for your hard work. Although it's only been about an hour, everyone helped the company successfully complete this live stream during this hour. As a reward for your hard work, everyone will get a bonus. In addition, this month's salary will be three times that of last month!"

When he said that, all the people in the company felt even more ecstatic.

Looking at the excited employees, the CEO turned around and went back to his office. After closing the door, he could no longer hold back and laughed excitedly.

Although most of the profits of this live stream were given to Luo Jialong, the rewards from the other live stream rooms were still a lot. The most important thing was that his Fire Dragon platform would definitely be the leading one in the industry, because of this live stream.

He did not even need to think about it. Tomorrow, someone would definitely come with a huge sum of money to talk to him about investment opportunities!

At that time, would he still be short of money?

He did not even need to worry about the development of the company.

"Beep, beep, beep..." In Switzerland, as soon as the live stream was over, Luo Jialong, who came out of the WHO building, also received a call from Fire Dragon company.

Luo Jialong answered the phone, "Hello?"

A familiar voice came from the other end of the phone. "It's me."

Luo Jialong said with a smile, "Is it the administrator?"

A voice came from the other end of the phone, "Kid, you've earned a lot this time. According to the statistics, the reward from over an hour's streaming this time has reached 20 million. Our staff from the financial department have already transferred the money to you. We'll do it in this way this time. Next time, we'll still pay according to the contract you signed. Is that okay?"

Luo Jialong nodded and said, "Of course. I'm a man of my word."

The administrator said, "Okay. When you come back home, you can check the account yourself. If there's any problem, you can call me."

Luo Jialong said, "Okay." and hung up.

He was able to fly to Switzerland to do this live streaming, as well as find a way to sneak into the medical conference, which meant that he was not short of money.

In fact, doing a live stream was just his hobby. Originally, he could complete this live stream according to the normal live streaming contract, but he was so angry because this administrator tried to suppress him. Now, all the money went to him.

Twenty million.

A total of 20 million.

He earned 20 million within an hour!

Luo Jialong was shocked.

Then he was filled with ecstasy!

“I’m rich, I’m rich. This is the money I earned by myself, haha.”

Luo Jialong laughed smugly.

Half an hour after the end of the medical conference, the western media also received the press release from the medical conference.

However, they did not like the official report.

Besides, they knew that something big had happened at the medical conference.

After they inquired about it, all these media reporters began posting their articles with great excitement.

“The wonder boy from the East has proved that there are meridians in the human body?”

“Whether it’s real strength or hypnosis, the oriental boy has shown the whole world that Chinese Medicine is about to rise!”
