

Chapter 37

Dominick smiled and stood up to change the seat with Leslie. Jensen's heart could not help but sink when he saw this. He did not expect that Leslie had always shown disgust for him.

How did he offend Leslie? Jensen could not figure it out. He could not help but smile awkwardly at Leslie and said, "Leslie, why don't we go over there and have some snacks?"

Leslie glanced at Jensen and shook her head indifferently. "No, I don't like to eat those things."

The corners of Jensen's mouth twitched. Dominick also felt that Leslie was particularly cold tonight. He couldn't help looking at Jensen.

But at this time, Bonnie came over and said to Dominick with shyness, "Dominick, I heard your name when I was very young..."

Dominick smiled slightly. "I can't hear you. Why don't we go to the pavilion over there?"

There was a small pavilion outside Bonnie's hall, where a light yellow lamp was lit.

"Okay, I also want to talk to you!" Bonnie's heart beat faster. She did not expect Dominick to invite her to a private chat.

After Dominick and Bonnie left, Gregory, who was talking with Mya on the balcony, suddenly strode upstairs.

His face was red, and nobody knew what was going on.

Mya came out and whispered into Leslie's ear, "It seems that Gregory has been drugged... His eyes are very excited. You have to be careful."

A cold smile appeared on Leslie's lips as she gently nodded.

Two or three minutes later, Bonnie came over and said to Leslie with a chuckle, "Leslie, I heard that you like collecting paintings. I have some famous paintings upstairs. Come and take a look at them with me. They are famous paintings that even my father is not willing to sell!"

Bonnie looked very familiar with Leslie. She pulled her up and went upstairs. She didn't allow her to refuse at all!

Leslie didn't let go of Bonnie's hand. Mya chased after her, "Leslie..."

"Wait for me downstairs. Bonnie said that there's a painting for me to see, so I'll go and take a look!"

Leslie said with a smile, but secretly sneered. The Bowen family was just an ordinary family, so how could they possibly have any famous paintings?

Sarah and Bonnie's excuse was too stupid. They knew it was just an excuse!

"Where is it?" Leslie went upstairs and glanced at the rooms on both sides of the corridor!

Gregory was in one of the rooms.

Bonnie was about to answer when she suddenly felt a little dizzy and her heart beat very hard. Her whole body was soft and she had no strength at all.

She was shocked. This feeling was strange. It seemed that she did not eat anything.

"It's in... the second room on the left! I'm not feeling well. You go there yourself!"

Bonnie said hurriedly. Her breathing was a little rapid, and her face was suffused with rosy clouds.

Leslie quickly held her up and said, "Bonnie, what's wrong with you? You seem to be very strange..."

"I, I, I am so hot, so hot... Help me to the first room... "

A cold light flashed through Leslie's eyes. "Okay, let's go!"

At this moment, Bonnie felt as if the world was spinning and she couldn't even see anything clearly. She was horrified, but her legs and body seemed to have been drained of their strength. She could only walk with the help of Leslie.

Leslie helped Bonnie to the second last room and pushed the door open, only to find that it was a guest room with several paintings hanging on the wall.

Leslie did not have time to study it. When she put Bonnie on the bed, she kept groaning.

"It's so hot... Ugh.. Ah... Mr. Cohen... Boohoo, Mr. Cohen..."

Bonnie's face was red and her moan was so attractive.

Leslie lowered her voice and said, "Have a good rest. I'll get you a glass of water."

After saying that, Leslie hurriedly walked out of the guest room and closed the door for her.

As soon as Leslie left, the wardrobe's door was pulled open. Gregory's eyes were filled with a strong desire. He only felt that he needed a woman to give vent to his lust!

When he saw Bonnie's body on the bed, he rushed to the bedside and tore off Bonnie's clothes like a hungry wolf...

Gregory's rationality was destroyed by the drug. He couldn't care anything else...

After Leslie went downstairs, she accidentally bumped into a girl who was holding a glass of fruit juice.

The girl immediately glared at her, her beautiful eyes full of contempt. "Leslie, are you blind? Didn't you see me?"

Leslie hurriedly smiled and said, "Sorry, I didn't pay much attention to it."

"Humph, for your sister's sake, I won't argue with you!" The girl raised her chin proudly.

"Your clothes are wet. Come on, let me wipe it for you!" Leslie hurriedly took out her handkerchief and was about to wipe the juice off her sleeves.

"No need, I don't want...Thank you, dear!" Seeing Dominick and Jensen coming over, the proud expression of the girl suddenly became soft and sweet.

"It's not a big deal. Don't be so nervous, Leslie. I didn't blame you!" The girl said with a smile. Dominick, Jensen, and Mya came over and looked at the girl with a delicate smile.

"What happened?"

Dominick asked softly. The girl's eyes lit up and she said with a smile, "It's alright. I accidentally bumped into Leslie and got a little juice on my sleeve. It's alright!"

She was acting!

With a cold smile on her face, Leslie said anxiously, "Fine. I have to bring a glass of water upstairs. I don't know what's wrong with Bonnie. She wants to drink water when she doesn't feel well."

Sarah, who had just come over, heard these words, and her face changed greatly.

Didn't Bonnie and Leslie go upstairs together? The one who stayed upstairs now should be Leslie, not Bonnie!

Also, Leslie had drunk the glass of juice, and now it was time for the drug to work. Why was it like this?

A strong uneasiness rose in Sarah's heart. She quickly held Leslie's hand and asked, "Leslie, is Bonnie not feeling well?"

"Right, where's the water... give me a glass of water!" Leslie hurriedly took a glass of water from here and hurried upstairs.

Sarah felt that something was wrong and followed her.

A few girls had a good relationship with Bonnie, and they also wanted to go with her, but Sarah stopped them, saying that it would affect Bonnie's rest.

Sarah followed Leslie to the second room from the last one. Sarah's face clouded over at once.

Bonnie was actually in this room?

Leslie hurriedly pushed open the door and said, "Bonnie, the water is here, you..."

Suddenly, Leslie and Sarah were shocked when they looked up. In the room, the clothes were scattered on the ground, and on the bed, a couple was entangled with each other crazily!

"Ahhhhh..." Leslie screamed, but it seemed that the couple on the bed couldn't hear her!

Sarah's eyes widened, and she watched all this in disbelief. When Leslie screamed, she came to herself and slammed the door.

"What... what's going on? Why are they... together?" Leslie asked, looking at Sarah in shock.
