Chapter 943 A Peck on the Cheek

Benjamin ignored him. He can follow if he wishes. "Mr. Watts is following us!" the children shouted when they turned to look behind and spotted Kingsley's car.

"Okay. Sit properly now." Arissa gave them a yank to get them to sit straight. "How was school today?" "Mommy, we learned a lot today and played games..."

All six children scrambled to be the first to share about their day. Arissa smiled as she listened to what the kids were saying and occasionally added a comment.

Benjamin's lips curled upward slightly as he observed the lively interaction between her and the children. "Mr. Graham, why did you come to pick us up from school so early today?" Jasper asked curiously while staring at Benjamin.

Benjamin replied softly with a tender gaze, "Your mommy is treating us to lunch, so I came over with her to pick you all up!" Jasper turned around and asked Arissa, "Mommy, you're treating us to lunch?"

Arissa nodded. "Mm-hmm. I'm taking you all out for a meal!"

"Yay!" Jesse clapped her hands happily. Benjamin gazed at the adorable little girl before lifting her onto his lap. "What would you like to eat?"

The child's large eyes stared right into his, and her apparent dimples added to her cheeky and cute demeanor. Benjamin gently pinched Jesse's cheek.

"I eat whatever I want?" she asked. Benjamin could not bear to refuse when he saw the little girl's expectant expression. He nodded. "You're so nice, Mr. Graham! I want to eat grilled chicken
