

Chapter 2320 The Reason the Orleans Clan Set Off to Bainbridge

When everyone took their seats, Ella questioned while swaying her legs. "Dear all, why did you summon me back in such a hurry today? Is there something going on?"

It was late fall; the time when fruits in the mountains were ripening. She spent those days in the mountains harvesting fruits to her heart's content. So, the sudden summon did somehow annoy her.

The lord of Lunar Cave, Asuna, rose from his seat. "Charm Master, the re-election of Martial League in Bainbridge is about to begin. As one of its four major organizations, we should participate. We have always been absent for the past few sessions. Now that you have returned, the Martial League has already sent an invitation some time ago. We should show join the re-election campaign again."

The Martial League was jointly established by four forces—the Dao Sect, the Fo Sect, the Orleans Clan, and CAUMP.

The Dao Sect and the Fo Sect did not interfere with worldly affairs, whereas the Orleans Clan remained hidden from the world.

The responsibility of managing the Martial League naturally fell into CAUMP's jurisdiction. Needless to say, if the Martial League encountered any major issues, the representatives from all four forces would show themselves.

For instance, events like the re-election of the Martial League.

However, in recent years, the Orleans Clan did not have a Charm Master because it was once dominated by Lord Voodoo.

Although the Martial League did not interfere in the affairs within the Orleans' territory, they did not recognize the status of Lord Voodoo. That was why Orleans Clan had been absent for the re-election activities.

Now, things were different; the Charm Master had returned, so they could finally stand tall with pride.

Despite Asuna's enthusiastic claims, Ella still looked puzzled because she was completely unaware of all this.

On the other hand, Uaena added, "Charm Master, haven't you always been thinking about Matthew? If we travel to Bainbridge, you will be able to see him!"

Jinny immediately jumped off the huge chair and ran to Uaena. "Uaena, is that true? If we go to Bainbridge, can I meet Matthew?"

The leaders were embarrassed. How is Matthew Larson more important than our clan's glory? It hurts, Charm Master.

Uaena nodded seriously, and Ella was over the moon.

"Uncle Asuna, let's join that event in Bainbridge!" Although the reason for the trip was a bit hurtful, the subjects were able to achieve their objective.

"When do you plan to depart?"

She glanced at him and tested the water while biting her finger. "How about now?" Her beady eyes widened in anticipation.

Generally speaking, everyone was supposed to follow the Charm Master's orders. Yet, it was too early to hit the road right now.

It was their comeback after long years. They should be well-prepared for the visit.

"It's too rushing to depart right now. How about we prepare ourselves for three days before setting off?"

The leader beside him nudged him and motioned him to look at Ella. Tears were pooling in her eyes, flustering the man.

"Let's rest for one night and set off tomorrow."

"Okay, that's settled then. We will depart first thing in the morning." Ella finally compromised with a grin and left the hall.

"Blackie!"

A black shadow flashed across. Once the girl rode on its back, the panther jumped away. "Let's go. We have to prepare a gift for Matthew!"

In the meantime, the breeze caressed the leaders' resentful faces.

"Asuna, are you serious? Preparing everything in just one night?"
