

Chapter 2326 Terrifying Strength

Emma was naturally displeased when her teammate suddenly exposed her secrets.

As she discreetly glanced at Matthew, she noticed his indifferent expression. This might have indicated that he had not heard their conversation.

"Shut up and stop talking! I said it exists, so it does!"

With Emma's stern voice, her teammate obediently closed their mouth and stepped backward.

On the other side, Matthew could only shake his head in silence.

With his keen senses, there was no way he had not heard those words.

But since Emma said it, Matthew pretended to be oblivious and acted like nothing had happened.

"Fine, over 3000, right!" said Matthew as he approached the strength-testing machine.

Matthew felt an inexplicable sense of familiarity as he laid eyes on the thing.

"Oh, I forgot to ask. What is the maximum weight this strength-testing machine can measure?"

As soon as he said it, the atmosphere instantly quieted down.

Soon, the entire hall erupted with laughter.

"No way. He can't possibly think he can reach the limit of this strength-testing machine."

"Our strength-testing machine is the enhanced version. How dare he?" Rylan covered his chubby cheeks and said it scornfully.

"If he can reach 3000+, I'll just eat this machine."

While Matthew faced the crowd's ridicule, he simply glanced back at them.

Then his gaze returned to the strength-testing machine.

He swung his arm, shook it, and suddenly unleashed a powerful punch with his right fist.

A thunderous boom pierced through the air and almost pierced their eardrums.

The onlookers could not help but cover their ears.

In the blink of an eye, they were all filled with shock.

That strength-testing machine which was three meters high and weighed several tons was forcefully pushed back four or five meters.

And the wall against which it stood was riddled with cracks.

Is he... still a human?

Or a ferocious beast from another world?

Everyone stood there, shocked and unable to believe what was happening now. The scene fell into a profound silence.

Of course, the boys around secretly felt relieved.

Thank goodness Mr. Matthew held back his strength. Otherwise, that punch would have landed on me.

They'd experience an untimely demise, for sure.

As for the person in question, Matthew, he nodded satisfactorily at his handiwork.

"Not bad. I controlled my force quite well," he remarked casually and shifted his gaze toward everyone.

"How about it? Do I qualify now?" It was obvious that he was addressing Emma with those words.

And Emma naturally understood the implication behind them.

Emma could not help but admit that Instructor Matthew was indeed formidable.

However, when she saw Matthew's nonchalant demeanor, a sense of disgust welled up within her.

Hmph, show-off.

Meanwhile, Emma's female teammate, whose admiration had already faded, felt it rekindle.

"Ms. Emma, did you see that? Did you see that? He actually punched and burst the strength-testing machine."

"I really want to see the face beneath the mask of this instructor."

"Have you ever thought that maybe Instructor Matthew is just too handsome? That's why he conceals himself like this."

They might have jumped up in excitement if they did not restrain themselves.

In an instant, several young girls who were just beginning to experience love rested their hands on their chins.

Their minds were filled with endless fantasies.

On the side, Emma saw their infatuated appearance and could only roll her eyes in disgust.

However, he had fulfilled the two requirements she mentioned.

He had already fought the necessary battles and done the strength tests.

Although she was reluctant when she heard Matthew's question, she could only nod.

"In terms of strength, you have indeed met the standards. But if you still perform unsatisfactorily in practical teaching from now on, you'll still be kicked out of our class."

At this moment, Rylan's face was filled with embarrassment and frustration.

Every spark on the strength-testing machine felt like a slap that struck him heavily in the face.

And throughout, Matthew never looked at him once. The feeling of being ignored was so frustrating for him.
