

Chapter 2386 The Ten Greatest Families, the Arrival of the Cosbys

20 percent of Creative Cloud Group's shares? Just as a gift? Isn't this a bit too extravagant?

The smug smile on Yann's face froze, whereas the Cunninghams couldn't believe their ears as they stared at Leanna. Who would have thought that Leanna was Matthew's guest?

This gift turned out to be hundreds of billions worth of shares in Creative Cloud Group.

Yann swallowed and asked, "President Sandel, do you know Matthew Larson?"

Leanna turned her head and glanced at him. With a plain smile, she replied, "Mr. Yann, this should be my personal matter, right?"

The meaning behind her words was obvious—whatever relationship she had with Matthew was none of his business.

Ignoring Yann, Leanna went straight to Helen and James. "James, Helen, congratulations and best wishes for your business."

Seeing the arrival of the guest, the gloom between Helen's eyebrows dissipated a lot. Yann, who had been mocked, instantly lost his smile.

The reason why he had been polite to Leanna was nothing more than his desire for the agency rights of Creative Cloud Spray in her hands.

Now that he had been rebuffed, Yann no longer bothered to show the minimum courtesy. "Is seeking help from a friend such a big deal? Who doesn't have friends?"

The person next to him suddenly chimed in, "Mr. Yann, things might not be as simple as what we see. They could be mere acquaintances instead of friends. Isn't that right?"

Yann's eyes lit up and he slapped his thigh upon realization. "That's right. You're right. Young people nowadays can do anything for the sake of their pride. I underestimated you, Matthew. You seemed so honest and straightforward. I didn't expect you to be so cunning. I almost believed it." He guffawed.

Leanna's visage turned grim. "Mr. Yann, we are all adults here. I hope you can speak with some discretion. Do Matthew and I need to resort to lies to save our pride?"

He wore a stern expression as he sneered. "Who knows? After all, this share issue was just something you said verbally. After signing the agreement, it can be privately burned. You can gain pride and not suffer any losses. Besides, if I'm not mistaken, today's guest for this shop is probably only you!"

Yann's eyes were full of self-confidence as if he had seen through their little tricks. Seeing that Leanna was about to argue back, Matthew quickly pulled her back and shook his head. "It's alright. There's no point in arguing with someone like him."

Just then, another announcement was made outside the shop.

"Mr. Milo from the Cosbys, Mr. Milo has arrived..."

Hearing the arrival of the guest, Yann suddenly became uneasy. The Cosbys were one of the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay. Even though Milo Cosby was the third son of the Cosby, his extraordinary martial arts talent and exceptional financial acumen shored him up as the heir of the family several years ago.

Moreover, the Cosbys rarely got involved in internal disputes despite being one of the Ten Greatest Families. Apart from their long-standing grudge with the unrivaled swordsman, they rarely had any conflicts with other forces.

Before this, even if they were invited by the powerful parties, the Wayne family rarely attended. They would send one or two unimportant juniors to make an appearance.

Unexpectedly, Milo had personally visited today. Upon seeing Milo approaching him, Jules naturally greeted him with a warm smile. "It's been a long time since we last met. I never expected that my small ceremony would have the honor to have you here."

Even the other members of the Cunninghams couldn't hide their surprise when they saw Milo.