

Chapter 2421 The Appearance of Thea

Amidst a highly tense situation, a woman in a crimson dress with a high slit walked gracefully from a distant corridor toward the group of Emsgate youths.

As she approached, she adjusted the pristine white sable fur draped over her shoulder.

It seemed that she wanted to cover up the cleavage on her chest.

This person was none other than Thea, the elder of the Sky Palace.

"Seniors of Orleans, why are you so angry?"

"They are just a group of ignorant kids."

When Thea learned that Neil was planning to confront Matthew, she followed the few young men secretly into the hotel to ensure Neil's safety.

However, when she arrived on that floor, she was surprised to see that group of inexperienced youths having the guts to confront the Orleans.

Thus, she decided not to hide any longer.

While she could ignore the life and death of others, if Neil faced danger, she had to step forward to protect him.

As Thea spoke, a faint fragrance began to drift through the air.

Smelling this scent, Matthew smiled slightly.

It was another pretty low move, the bewitching technique.

He then observed the reactions of the Orleans elders.

If they couldn't even defend against such a move, Matthew would be worried about the safety of Ella in Orleans, despite her already formidable strength.

However, he was just being overly cautious.

Since the day they were born, these Orleans elders had been living in Orleans.

In the morning, they inhaled the invigorating miasma to clear their minds.

At night, they took in a hint of poison, aiding their sleep and calming their nerves.

In such an environment, their resistance to toxins had long been maximized.

Therefore, Thea's bewitching technique, which relied on fragrance, did not affect them at all.

Moreover, in Asuna's eyes, the seductive Thea was far less charming than the female toads from Lunar.

Asuna sniffed disdainfully and sneered.

"Don't resort to such petty tricks. You're just embarrassing yourselves. If you're wise, take these brats and leave. Today, we are hosting distinguished guests. We don't want any trouble to arise. You guys are lucky."

His tone grew deeper gradually as he spoke.

Upon hearing this, Thea felt embarrassed. However, the other party had the advantage in numbers.

If they fought, it was uncertain whether she could withstand the attacks of dozens of Orleans elders.

By then, it was also uncertain whether she could protect Neil and leave safely.

At this moment, it was not the time to fight for preserving reputations.

Considering this, Thea signaled her juniors behind her to leave first, indicating a retreat.

However, despite her intentions to withdraw, the two young men were stubborn.

"Ms. Bagshaw, why should we be afraid of them?"

"We warriors of the Land of Divinity have no fear."

Before his older brother could finish speaking, Hroderich added.

"No one can insult the Pascal Family. Let's defeat them first, and then kill Matthew. Hahaha!"

As soon as their words fell, the two brothers were instantly shrouded in a dark aura.

Meanwhile, Thea's attention remained entirely focused on Asuna directly in front of her.

She never expected that the two stubborn youths behind her would charge toward Matthew.

D*mn it!

Seeing this scene, Orlaith felt a strong desire to give up.

Originally, she brought the Pascal brothers along because of their incredible strength.

Who could have imagined that not only were they incredibly strong, but they were also reckless?

Now that they finally had a chance to escape, these two idiots impulsively provoked the other party.

Useless teammates!

But no matter how much she cursed in her heart, it had already happened.

As for the two brothers, at the moment they charged forward, they were sent hurtling back at an even greater speed, crashing heavily into the wall and leaving behind two large craters.

Then, the two brothers coughed up blood and slowly fell.
