

Chapter 2470 Terrifying Power

The surrounding lights seemed to dim as the scene became chilly.

At this moment, Charley's expression turned serious.

To be honest, that kind of chill that he felt was a different kind of coldness as it seeped into his consciousness.

"It seems that I can't be careless anymore."

After whispering these words, Charley finally released the three-foot green blade that he had been holding in his arms.

For a moment, the fierce aura combined with the icy sword energy swept through the surroundings.

The original seal inside his body also disappeared instantly as the cold aura that originally permeated the arena dissipated at a rapid rate.

After being pushed back by dozens of meters, the two fighters finally reached a balanced state.

The reason why he could survive alone in the Far North all these years was because of the sword in his hand.

In the huge arena at this moment, the cold and hot aura formed a distinct storm.

The terrifying aura even pushed the referee to the edge of the arena.

Just as his nimbus trembled and he was about to take another step, a figure suddenly appeared behind him.

"Go down first. Leave the rest to me."

The person who came was Blake.

The power involved between the two sides was too immense.

Once it erupted, it was highly likely to affect the fighters below the stage and the spectators at the scene.

He personally went up to the stage specifically to control the aftermath of the battle between the two sides.

When he nodded, Rhett and the other elders approached the arena's surroundings, ready to deal with any change in the situation.

As for the current battle between the two sides, their aura was already at the extreme.

At this moment, a cold voice came from under the black robe.

"Among my peers, you are the first one to push me to this extent."

On the other side, Charley just shrugged.

"Heh, in the past five years, you are the first one who could push me to my limits."

Who was being afraid of whom?

Moreover, what he said was indeed true.

In the past five years of training in the Far North, he had encountered all kinds of powerful beasts, so there was no such thing as fear for him.

Of course, the black-robed servant was unaware of this.

The black giant claw on her back suddenly struck forward and swiftly reached Charley.

Although the speed of the giant claw was extremely fast, his reaction was just as quick.

Before the claw could get close, Charley disappeared from sight in an instant.

At this moment, the black giant claw fell heavily on the arena.

Accompanied by the appearance of numerous cracks on the diamond rock.

Countless pieces of debris shot out like bullets and quickly flew toward the surroundings.

Fortunately, due to Blake's arrangement, the area around the arena was already surrounded by a group of Martial League elders.

When the countless pieces of debris came flying, they immediately took action.

With a powerful aura, the debris turned into powder one after another.

At this moment, Blake couldn't help but breathe a sigh of relief for his temporary decision.

Otherwise, there would have been numerous casualties at the scene.

In the meantime, the battle continued.

After dodging the opponent's attack, Charley finally launched his own move.

With his figure flashing, he quickly arrived in front of the black-robed servant.

As he stepped forward with his left foot, he bent his body as the sword in his hand swung upward.

Facing this sudden attack, the other giant claw, which was behind the black-robed servant, suddenly came down to protect her.

At this moment, the edge of Charley's sword closed in.

With the remnants of countless victories and failures, the sword directly collided with the giant claw.

In an instant, the terrifying aftermath even caused the Diamond Rock to be revealed.

"Young people nowadays are so energetic, aren't they?"

After sighing, Rhett led the elders to take action once again.
