

Chapter 2476 New Appointments in the CAUMP

Even more infuriatingly, the group of Martial League elders had concealed their auras using Dao Sect's concealment array and even disguised and concealed their forms.

All of it was aimed at using Matthew to anger her and wait to take Winona down completely the moment she took action against Matthew.

Ultimately, Winona returned to their base with unadulterated anger.

Upon swiftly arriving in her room, she quickly retrieved some healing pills for her internal injuries. Then, she immediately sat cross-legged and began the healing process.

After a long time, she finally spat out a mouthful of dark blood, and her complexion improved somewhat.

That night, Winona summoned Aspen once again.

"Miss St. Clair, you're injured," Aspen said with concern when he saw Winona's slightly weakened state.

Winona waved her hand indifferently. "It's nothing, just minor injuries."

Then, she instructed gravely, "I have two important tasks for you to carry out.

"First, add Charley Henderson to the list of Cathay's top assassins like Matthew Larson. They are the warlords of Cathay, and they've been dragging down our Land of Divinity's progress for over two decades.

"Both of them have the potential to succeed their predecessors, and we absolutely cannot allow them to fully grow. Especially Matthew—I suspect his connection with the Solitary Family. You need to pay extra attention to his movements during this time. If he comes into contact with anyone suspicious, report it immediately."

After recording the tasks, Aspen saluted and left. The two crucial pieces of information and instructions were transmitted back to Emsgate as quickly as possible.

On the other side, several elders left with a hint of disappointment after their deceptive method failed.

Unable to grasp any leverage, they had no way to deal with Winona and could only give her a small reprimand.

Inside the ward, only Matthew Larson and the two high-ranking members of the Martial League remained.

"Matthew, you must pay attention to your own safety in the coming days. I suspect that Winona already suspects you."

Seeing Matthew's puzzled expression, Blake patiently explained, "Your lousy excuse would never have fooled Winona. Based on her reaction, she likely deduced the timing of your acquisition of the Solitary Nine Needles.

"Also, the entire Emsgate and the head of the Solitary Family share a deep feud. So from now on, you must stick to the story that the Solitary Nine Needles were a reward from the CAUMP. Do you understand?"

Matthew nodded in acknowledgment. Of course, he also noticed the flaw in Blake's words.

"Elder Carr, do you know the person who gifted me the needles?"

Deep down, Matthew truly wanted to know the identity of the person who had saved his life, healed his injuries, and given him divine weapons. If given the chance, he naturally wanted to personally express his gratitude.

Of course, he was cautious about speculating too much regarding the relationship between the two sides.

However, Blake just shook his head lightly.

"I do indeed know the person, but he doesn't want to reveal it, and I'm sure he has his reasons. Don't expect to get anything out of me. You'll naturally know when the time is right. No need to rush.

"By the way, speaking of this, there are a few matters I'd like to discuss with you. The first one concerns your appointment and transfer."

At that, Blake signaled to Rhett, who acknowledged and went up to Matthew. "Firstly, the first-generation vaccine for the "Zombie Virus" is now in the stage of mass production. You've made significant contributions in this regard.

"So, the CAUMP has decided to officially appoint you as an elder of the CAUMP, ranking you among the Elder Council. Your medical skills are more than sufficient for this role."