

Chapter 2553 Settling Christian's Old Account

As Matthew finished speaking, the scene erupted in an uproar.

"You praised my master yourself. What? Are you afraid of losing and are unwilling to admit defeat?"

"You scoundrel, if you dare to cheat, don't come crying to us when we deal with you later."

Looking at their angry faces, Matthew shook his head lightly.

"You're overthinking. Even if Mr. Murphy is right, it would only end in a draw. Furthermore, I didn't praise Mr. Murphy because he was right. It was simply because I admire his ability to make blind guesses."

Elias' face changed instantly.

"Nonsense, Matthew. If you say I'm guessing blindly, then show me the evidence. This is clearly the north blood safflower."

Matthew sighed lightly and shook his head.

"It seems that you are still pretending to be innocent."

"Grayson, go and bring the cardinal flower from our clinic."

After he finished speaking, Grayson, who was flushing from holding back his laugh, quickly ran away.

At this moment, the three masters felt uneasy.

Following Matthew's reminder, they instantly understood everything.

No wonder they felt the petal seemed familiar from the beginning.

Looking at each other, the three masters wanted to flee the scene.

But with their disciples and many onlookers around, they had nowhere to run.

Soon after, Grayson came out holding a vase of cardinal flowers.

On the tall stems were a dense layer of vibrant cardinal flowers.

"Gee... I don't know why, but these cardinal flowers are exceptionally beautiful this year."

While saying that, Grayson placed the vase before everyone.

At the same time, those vibrant flowers were like a thorn on the three masters' sides.

Since the situation had reached this point, the outcome was already obvious.

The three masters blushed with anger and shame.

At this moment, Elias also directed his resentful gaze toward their leader, Christian.

If it weren't for his reminder at the beginning, he wouldn't have been led astray.

Upon receiving Elias' stare, Christian didn't know how to respond for a while.

He could only vent his anger on Matthew by chastising him, "Matthew, how dare you deceive us?"

Matthew sneered.

"Deceive? Mr. Riley, you're really regressing the more you live. The three of you are the most renowned physicians in Hulwin. Just a few words from me, and you guys are confused, unable to distinguish between cardinal flower petals and herbs? Haha, what a big joke."

When Matthew finished speaking, the onlookers began to whisper and point fingers.

"Tsk, I thought the three masters were very capable, but it turns out they're just empty vessels."

"They don't even know basic pharmacology yet dare to interfere with others' medical practice. How can they call themselves alternative medicine practitioners? What a joke!"

"Who would go to them for medical treatment in the future if they can't even distinguish herbs? Wouldn't that be putting their lives at risk?"

Listening to the whispers around him, Christian turned gloomy, and after a cold snort, he waved his sleeve.

"Hmph! Matthew, after today's incident, our grudge has been set. There's still a long way to go, so just wait. Let's go!"

As he said that, he turned around and was about to lead his disciples away.

However, before he could take a step, Matthew suddenly stopped him.

"Wait a minute, Mr. Riley."

Christian frowned and turned around.

"What else do you want?"

Since Matthew had humiliated him just now, his tone was filled with impatience.

But Matthew didn't mind. He just smiled and took out a stack of prescriptions that were over a foot long.

"Pardon me, Mr. Riley, please take a look. Did you write these prescriptions?"

Seeing this, Christian instantly turned from angry to terrified.

After shaking his head, he quickly denied it, saying, "I did not. They have nothing to do with me."

This sudden change made everyone even more confused.
