

Chapter 2631 Shawn Calls for Reinforcement

Meanwhile, Shawn, upon disembarking from the transport ship, swiftly traversed the water's surface and arrived on the deck of the Maria cruise ship.

"Matthew, your sidekick has arrived! Did you miss me at all?" With an excited expression, he strode forward boldly, his booming voice echoing throughout the cruise ship.

Amidst the perplexed gazes of onlookers, Shawn, showing no familial restraint, walked straight into the main hall.

"Matthew, did you miss me?! I—holy sh*t!"

As the menacing muzzles of guns turned toward him, Shawn suddenly froze. What's going on? I thought Matthew asked me to fetch him! Aren't these people being overly intimidating?!

His loud voice had now become the center of attention for everyone on board.

"Kid, who are you? Get lost quickly. Don't be a bother here, or I'll send you off as well," Isambard furiously berated the stranger upon seeing him.

Though Shawn was in a state of confusion, he couldn't tolerate someone insulting him.

"Who am I? I'm your father, you old b*stard! How dare you act so arrogantly in front of me?! Are you so eager to meet your maker?!" He raised his head and glared fiercely at the man in front of him, his nostrils flaring.

Isambard's face turned beyond grim in response, making him feel even worse than if he had eaten something vile.

Avril, seeing this outsider speak so rudely to her grandfather, furrowed her brows and stepped forward, scolding, "Insolent! Do you even realize where you are? Someone, throw this rascal into the sea."

Afterward, she discreetly glanced at Enzo, seeing his lack of reaction, and she breathed a sigh of relief. Avril, despite her arrogance, was still aware of social niceties. After all, doing business wasn't easy, and as long as Enzo didn't take drastic action, things would be fine.

The others directed looks of astonishment at Shawn, their gazes filled with bewilderment. Birds of a feather sure flocked together. So be it that Matthew had behaved provocatively, but to think his friend was just as foolish, actually openly challenging the Stubber Family. Most importantly, the fearsome big shot, Enzo, was also present. These dozens of cold guns didn't discriminate!

The members of the Stubber Family, upon hearing Avril's command, armed themselves and advanced menacingly toward Shawn. Behind them, several individuals aimed their firearms at the suddenly arrived Shawn.

"What the heck, you're ganging up on me?! That's not fair!"

"So what if we are? It's on you to act so recklessly before the Stubber Family. Are you prepared to face death?"

Stirred by the opposing party's challenge, Shawn found himself momentarily disoriented by the situation. He could only cast an inquiring look at Matthew.

Matthew shook his head in resignation. He hadn't anticipated Shawn's inclination for mischief. It was evident that the fireworks from earlier had been his doing. Such audacious antics were characteristic of Shawn. "What are you doing, standing there? Call for reinforcements! Get your weapons ready!"

The supplies he had requested for Concordia could endure a thorough inspection two or three times over, so dealing with this bunch in front of him was a minor matter.

In hindsight, Shawn finally realized what was happening. He let out an "Oh" and, looking at the imposing group of people in front of him, couldn't help but smirk. "Heh, I'm not targeting anyone, but I just want to say that everyone here is nothing but garbage!"

The crowd was utterly stupefied. This f*cker has certainly never seen the dark side of society before!

"We're garbage?! Let's teach him a lesson!"

"This kid must know no bounds; subdue him!"

Even Enzo, who had remained calm and composed the entire time, couldn't help but darken his expression upon hearing these words.

Shawn, in the face of this massive confrontation, remained entirely unflustered. He continued to raise his chin in the air and snort dismissively. "Boys, someone's looking for trouble. Get your weapons ready!"

The next second, the continuous roar of motorboats could be heard all around the ship. Along with the dense patter of footsteps, a well-equipped group of followers emerged onto the deck, quickly taking positions behind Shawn while crouching. This show of force left everyone momentarily stunned.