

Chapter 2644 Tearing Apart the Facade

At this point, Bennett was still unaware of the seriousness of the situation. When he saw Osiris turning away, he intended to approach and taunt him further. However, as he took a step forward, his older brother, Erwin, pulled him back. In front of him, a barrage of bullets riddled the area.

"Cursed hell, Osiris, have you gone mad? I'm the third young master of the Zedler Family. If anything happens to me today, I'll bloody slaughter the whole Keller Family!"

Without waiting for Erwin's intervention, Bennett unleashed a frenzy of firepower.

On the other side, Osiris was already infuriated to the point of near madness. When provoked further by Bennett, his eyes became bloodshot.

"Bennett, do you think I would fear you and your old man?!" Beneath his low voice, Osiris' aggressive aura began to spread.

"You piece of trash, are you looking for a fight? How dare you speak about my father like that?! I'm going to rip your tongue off!"

Although the two brothers were plotting to seize control of the patriarchy from Mortimer, they would never allow outsiders to provoke them in such a manner.

Erwin, on the other hand, was relatively composed. While he felt anger, he managed to control his emotions. He held onto his younger brother and confidently spoke, "Osiris, take your words back, apologize to the Zedler Family, and I will let it slide. Otherwise, when my father personally pays a visit, it won't be as easily resolved. You know my old man's temperament!"

Osiris sneered, "Huh, you think you can intimidate me with that half-dead old man? Do you actually think I'm that easily frightened?"

Erwin's face darkened as Osiris continued to insult his father repeatedly. "Shut your mouth, considering the filth you just spewed from yours. You Keller Family won't export a single screw from our family's docks."

Erwin, known for his refinement, was now burning with rage.

Osiris retorted with a mocking smile, a tone of disdain in his voice, "Hahaha, you want to use the docks to suppress the Keller Family? Wake up, Zedler Family. It's clear you've declined.

"Let me tell you the truth: the Keller and Durham Families have already reached cooperation. Currently, there are seven or eight harbors under construction in Seraphis. When the time comes, even if you beg us, the Keller Family won't export a single feather from your Zedler Family's docks. Your port business will go bankrupt. Hahaha!"

Erwin's face underwent a sudden change. How is this possible?! Their main source of income was the import and export trade through the docks. If Osiris' words were true, their port business would undoubtedly face a significant decline.

On the side, Bennett cared very little about things other than martial arts and power, let alone his family's business. He was quite ignorant in most other matters. However, when he saw Osiris' obnoxious face, Bennett's annoyance grew. "Laugh your *ss, you dimwit!"

Instantly, Osiris' smile vanished. Having been repeatedly insulted, the suppressed anger within him surged again. Since they had torn apart the facade, he no longer felt the need to hold back.

Trembling, he swiftly grabbed a firearm from one of his men and opened fire on the Zedler brothers without hesitation. Thankfully, the Zedler brothers had exceptional reflexes and managed to dodge quickly to the side, but the barrage of bullets took the lives of several guests.

The sudden turn of events led to chaos in the area.

"F*ck, the Kellers are seriously mad. They actually dare open fire at the Zedler brothers."

"Quit chattering and get out of here, or we'll be meeting our makers."

Seeing the bodies of their comrades on the ground, all the guests scattered and fled the scene.

Even Enzo began signaling his men to retreat to prevent any casualties from Osiris' irrational behavior.
