

Chapter 2791 Setting The Stage

On that morning, after Matthew and Prince Gadel concluded their discussion, they discreetly returned to Concordia under Prince Gadel's protection.

Upon their arrival, Matthew immediately sought out the Crown Prince.

"I have a task that I need your subordinates to undertake."

...

"Have you heard? The Keller Family and the Durham Family branch conspired and stole the underwater treasure of the Durham Family."

"We have been aware of this for quite some time. Didn't the Keller Family voluntarily return all their earnings to the Durham Family?"

"You only know part of it. The Keller Family secretly withheld a significant portion of priceless treasures, hidden in their secret chamber."

As rumors spread, more and more information about the Keller Family's hidden treasures circulated within Seraphis.

"Matthew, what impact will this have on the Keller Family? Even if this rumor spreads throughout Seraphis, it won't truly affect them."

Since the crown prince learned about the Keller Family's frontline fighters attacking Matthew, he immediately gathered his subordinates and planned to use The Crown Prince transport ship to annihilate the Keller Family.

However, Matthew intervened. "All we need to do is ensure that everyone hears about the Keller Family possessing a batch of priceless treasures."

"But not everyone is foolish. How can those forces believe such baseless rumors?"

Any discerning person could tell that this is merely a fabrication. This matter had been completely exposed, and the Keller Family wouldn't dare to withhold anything unless they were tired of living.

Matthew smiled faintly. "Whether they believe it or not is not important. Although there aren't many forces in Seraphis that hold grudges against the Keller Family, there are still quite a few."

"We'll release this information, and naturally, someone will use it as an excuse to make trouble for the Keller Family. We will act once the situation has escalated."

Annihilating the Keller Family was not difficult, but the trouble lay with the other forces associated with them. According to Prince Gadel's speculation, if the Keller Family dared to carry out this assassination, there must have been other princes supporting them. The only uncertainty was which prince it was.

Furthermore, the Keller Family had close ties with the arms dealers in Druira, and dealing with the ripple effects would have been troublesome. Stirring up trouble directly would have faced significant resistance, and they would have also suffered substantial losses. Taking it step by step would have been the most suitable approach.

After Matthew released the information, many forces indeed started to respond.

At one point, negative news about the Keller Family began to circulate within Seraphis, and this was the groundwork that Matthew had prepared to deal with the Keller Family.

Accompanied by all his subordinates, the crown prince boarded the warship.

"Prince, that is the Keller Family's transport ship," On the front of the warship named 'Fitz,' one of the subordinates pointed to a nearby transport ship and explained.

"Very well; increase the power and ram it to destruction for me!"

As soon as the words were spoken, the ship under the crown prince's feet suddenly shook. With the propellers spinning rapidly, the speed of the warship increased dramatically, and it collided head-on with the Keller Family's transport ship.

The vice-captain on the other ship walked to the edge of the ship with a grim expression. "Seeking death! You blind fools dare to collide with the Keller Family's transport ship."

Already frustrated due to the continuous spread of rumors in Seraphis, the vice-captain was further angered by the collision.

The crown prince wasted no words with him either. He propelled himself onto the other ship like a cannonball.

Smack!

With a crisp slap, the crown prince grabbed the collar of the vice-captain.

"D*mn you! I was sailing just fine, and you dare block my way. Now, you even dare to complain in front of me," After delivering his words, the crown prince slapped the other person several more times.

Seeing their vice-captain being assaulted, the crew members immediately drew their weapons and aimed them at the Crown Prince, who had suddenly appeared on their ship.

"Haha, thinking of making a move, huh? Bros, surround them for me."

As soon as the words were spoken, dozens of grappling hooks rose into the air and securely gripped the railing of the transport ship.
