

Chapter 2886 Rocco And Garrett's Connection

Upon arriving at the White Elephant Manor, Garrett slowly brought his luxurious vehicle to a stop.

"Good day, sir. Please present your VIP card!"

This was the rule of the White Elephant Manor, which only recognized cards, not identities. The two main features of this place were its confidentiality and security. There was no need to worry about being followed. Upon entering the manor, all customers would wear a uniform mask and be led by the receptionist to the labyrinth below, eventually reaching their respective rooms. No customer was allowed to wander around during this process.

"Sir, this is your private room. Enjoy your meal."

The manor, although technically a unique restaurant, was more accurately a hub for the exchange of various confidential information.

After Garrett put on his mask, he opened the door to his room, and someone was already waiting for him inside.

"Mr. Rocco, I didn't expect you to arrive so early!"

Indeed, the man before him was Rocco, who was also the behind-the-scenes Mr. Larson of this manor.

To outsiders, he had always been the chief strategist of the crown prince, but his true identity was that he was Garrett's ally.

Upon seeing Garrett, Rocco quickly stood up and bowed in a manner exclusive to royal nobility.

"Greetings, Your Highness Prince Garrett!"

"Mr. Rocco, what are you doing? We are like brothers. There's no need for such formalities."

Garrett quickly stepped forward, helped Rocco straighten up, and then both of them sat down. After exchanging a few pleasantries, he went straight to the point.

"I called you here for two reasons. One is to get an update on the secret operations of my elder brother, the crown prince, recently. On the other hand, I also have some things I want to discuss with you."

After the meeting, Rocco respectfully revealed all of the crown prince's secret plans.

"Well, the crown prince is indeed bold and daring to place his own people in front of our father. If our father knew about this, he would not let him off easily."

Of course, this was just a casual remark by Garrett. Even if he exposed this matter, there would be no evidence, and it would only alert the enemy. Moreover, even if the king was angry, considering the royal family, he would choose to suppress this matter and, at most, reprimand the crown prince.

Without a fatal blow and great certainty, the princes would not harm each other. The beneficiaries of their conflict would be the other princes.

"As for the black-robed man you saw at the Concordia banquet, Your Highness Garrett, I haven't been able to find out his identity. The crown prince is keeping a tight grip on this matter. Apart from him, even his other close confidants don't know about it."

Garrett didn't dwell too much on this matter. "They're just a few thugs and can't affect the overall situation. By the way, I just learned about a mysterious matter concerning the Cathay Bainbridge Bane Family."

With that, Garrett relayed the entire conversation he had with Eleanor to Rocco.

After listening, Rocco frowned and pondered for a while before responding, "This matter is strange, but we have very little information at the moment. The awakening of the White King's bloodline could just be a smokescreen put out by the Bane Family. I need some time to verify this matter. Once I have news, I will inform Your Highness immediately."

Garrett waved his hand. "No problem, this matter is just a mystery. It doesn't have much impact on us. Just treat it as news. Listen and observe. Don't spend too much energy on it."

In recent years, the old king's health had been deteriorating day by day. As a prince, his primary goal was still the struggle for the throne. As for other matters, unless something happened, they could all be put aside.

"Mr. Rocco, please sow discord between the crown prince and Gadel. If they could start fighting, that would be the best..."

The next topic turned to instigating relationships and secret planning. The two began to discuss.