

Chapter 2920 Dispersal and Investigation

Matthew had arrived at the scene early on, but he had not taken any action. Even when the crown prince was held at gunpoint, he remained calm. He knew that Kasen and the others had already positioned sniper rifles on the nearby mountain.

If the crown prince had given the signal, Jackie's henchmen wouldn't have had a chance to shoot.

However, Matthew was surprised when Jackie, who had been filled with hostility, suddenly withdrew. His momentum dropped instantly, and when he locked eyes with Matthew, he could sense the fear in the other party's gaze.

There was no need to continue observing in this case. Matthew stepped forward and appeared next to the crown prince in the next second.

Jackie was astonished by Matthew's swift speed and widened his eyes. He finally understood why Darren said Matthew was fast. When he saw Isambard following closely behind, Jackie's momentum diminished.

At the same time, he began to curse Darren, the fool who didn't know any better. What kind of important person did he offend? He regretted accepting those ten gold bars. He might pay a heavy price today.

Matthew was unaware of Jackie's thoughts. He glanced at the intimidating henchmen in front of him and calmly spoke. "Put away your guns. Today is an auspicious day for starting work, and I don't want to see unnecessary bloodshed."

There were too many people on the other side. Although they couldn't harm him, there were many villagers watching the scene. If something unexpected happened, they could easily get hurt.

Upon hearing this, Jackie quickly ordered his subordinates to put away their weapons.

But the crown prince was not satisfied. "You said you'd take me down even if God showed up, didn't you?"

Jackie's expression changed. He glanced at Matthew and Isambard, opened his mouth, but dared not say anything more. He could only silently lower his head.

Although the crown prince didn't know why Jackie suddenly backed down, he no longer had any playful intentions.

"What are you still doing here? You want us to give you VIP treatment? As security guards, you should stick to your duties and not overstep your boundaries. Otherwise, I will chop off your hands. This is the first and last time, do you understand?"

Jackie's expression changed. Although he was filled with anger inside, he maintained a smiling face. "Yes, yes, I understand. Gentlemen, I apologize for the intrusion. There won't be a next time." After nodding and bowing, he hurriedly left with all his subordinates.

The crown prince stared at their departing figures, his eyes filled with a desire for revenge.

"Boss, should I get rid of them?"

"Not yet. The villagers' information may not be completely accurate. Let's send someone to gather more information about them first. If the information is true, then we can consider taking action."

Matthew was not afraid of these hidden figures. What he feared the most was their sudden disappearance. He couldn't stay in Seraphis forever, so he had to find the source of Night Vine before taking action to resolve this once and for all.

The crown prince, understanding the situation, shrugged helplessly. Just when he finally found something exciting to do, he couldn't take action.

Matthew, observing the crown prince's expression, naturally knew what he was thinking. "Alright, you'll have plenty of opportunities to take action in the future. For now, let's focus on dealing with the current situation."

After saying that, he turned to the villagers and spoke. "Alright, everyone, disperse and go back home to eat and rest. We'll continue tomorrow. Don't worry, Jackie won't cause any more trouble in the future."

Unless he wants to get himself killed.
