Dorothy paused before saying “Until everything is cleared up, I'd rather not have my name on anything”

This time, Kent didn't respond right away. He stayed silent for a long while

“Do you any idea how much pressure Mr Lopez faced for this?”

Dorothy was at a loss for words

“Honestly we been with Mr. Lopez for years, and I've never seen go out a limb for before. He's a businessman, and he should

In either case, the ones at a disadvantage always got the short end of the stick.

Seeing that Dorothy remained silent, Kevin suddenly let out a sigh

Dorothy suddenly realized that she had never once considered Everett's perspective

Just like she did whenever she faced any difficulty
Even worse, she had doubted Everett before her first thought was to cut ties with him soon as possible, then naively think she could clear her name alone.

Dorothy had never been involved in any romantic relationships before.
Her feelings had suddenly weighed on her like a mountain out of nowhere.

"Dorothy found you

And you just rejected them with a cold face I've never seen you troubled or distressed. So the guy you're talking about, is he an exception in your heart? Was Everett an exception?" Everett paused briefly but didn't turn around.

“You should apologize to her from the beginning. You own her that” he said.
“You Heather was almost hysterical, “you never believed me, did you?”
Dorothy didn’t have any evidence against her and most people were on her side

So Everett should be on her side too in all aspects of consideration. But why did Travis choose Dorothy

I bank. I’ll admit it was my fault and apologize to her

Dorothy tossed and turned all night.

She hugged his mom

Unable to sleep. There was a call from Everett caused quite a scene at the hospital.

In truth, Dorothy didn’t find Amanda’s reaction surprising. Families of their status would naturally their son to marry someone of equal standing who would be a stepchild, Heather the illegitimate child, was doing better than her in many aspects, education, talent, and qualifications

On top of Heather and her mom wouldn’t tell the Lopez family that Heather was a bastard child

Finally Dorothy’s phone rang

When she saw Everett’s name on the screen, she felt her heart skip a beat. It was a heavy feeling, yet

Did I make you? Everett’s voice was husky and low, probably from staying up all night.

“No, how’s Amanda doing?”

“She’s okay. The doctor said she is no longer in danger.”

Dorothy responded, they fell

After a while, she suddenly broke the silence, “Do you need to stay at the hospital the whole time to take care of her?”

“Yes. She left the hospital already

“Can you come pick me up then?” Dorothy patted her lips, “I’ve been not used to sleeping at Karen’s

Dorothy waited for a second but heard his voice. She asked tentatively “Everett?”

I’m coming to pick you up now. He answered

Putting down her phone, Dorothy heaved a sigh of relief. She felt she wasn’t afraid of any obstacles in her future anymore

Suddenly she made up her mind that as long as Everett backed down, she would win.

She felt much lighter after making that decision!!
Domthy did feel tired even if she did sleep about she on up, changed,

Everett, in his white home wear, was typing away at his computer at the dining table. He was communicating about some company matters with his brows slightly furrowed. A steaming hot breakfast was almost ready in the kitchen

She hoped the moment could last forever.

Hearing the tune, Everett looked over Dorothy, can eat soon

"Mmm Dorothy nodded, shuffling over and asked, "Need any help?"

"Just wait"

She obediently sat on the other side of the dining table. and propped up her face as she watched him

Everett was really good looking
