

Chapter 32: Love Him Well For Me

Liam emerged from the bedroom, now dressed in a white casual outfit. His stern demeanor had softened, making him look as young as a college student ready to hit the basketball court.

Suzy was still pondering how to keep him from following her. After all, going out with Liam would attract too much attention. What if someone took pictures of them together?

"Let's go."

"Mr. Park, do you think there might be any paparazzi or colleagues from our company nearby? Won't it be risky to be spotted together?"

However, Liam seemed completely unconcerned. "What's the harm in that?"

Since he was so nonchalant about it, Suzy had no choice but to follow his lead.

At the upscale supermarket, which had few customers and tight security, everyone was busy with their shopping, and there wasn't much nosiness around.

However, Suzy made a conscious effort to maintain some distance from Liam. She went to the spare ribs section and politely asked the vendor to weigh them promptly.

Finally, with the spare ribs in hand, she turned to tell Liam they could leave, only to see someone standing beside him.

It was Sophia.

This was the second time Suzy had seen Sophia.

Even during off-hours, Sophia still looked elegantly dressed, with a branded cardigan paired with a high-end designer skirt. As she spoke with Liam, her smile became even more graceful and charming.

Seeing them together, they truly looked like a perfect match!

Suzy glanced at her own outfit, the spare ribs in her hand, and her white T-shirt paired with jeans.

She felt far from elegant.

Suddenly, she saw Liam's eyes scanning the surroundings, probably searching for her!

On impulse, Suzy quickly hid behind a nearby shelf.

"Why am I hiding..."

Subconsciously, she didn't want to stand next to Sophia!

But it seemed like fate was playing a joke on her. Just as she lifted her head, she saw Sophia standing right in front of her.

"I remember you. Your name is... Suzy Chase, right?"

"Yeah, that's right," she replied, trying to force a smile despite feeling awkward.

Sophia gestured behind her and smiled. "Are you the one Liam was looking for you just now? He's over in the daily necessities section. You should go find him quickly!"

Realizing that Sophia had guessed correctly, Suzy nodded and quietly replied, "Okay."

Just as she was about to leave, Sophia suddenly called her back.

"Please, take good care of him for me, can you?"

Suzy remained silent.

"I know about your relationship with him, and I know he's doing this to provoke me, but I can't help it! In a few more years, he'll understand my good intentions."

Sophia, in her high heels, stood in front of Suzy once again.

She earnestly held Suzy's hand. "Consider it a plea from me. Take good care of him on my behalf for the time being."

Suzy naturally had no idea about the complexities between Sophia and Liam, but it seemed like Sophia had her reasons.

Furthermore, from Sophia's words, it was evident that she was certain her relationship with Liam wouldn't last long!

"Miss Burns, regarding Mr. Park and me, it's a contract between the two of us. I'm just fulfilling my obligations; the contract doesn't include loving him on your behalf."

Perhaps because Sophia didn't expect the girl who hid from her to respond so directly, she furrowed her brows slightly.

"Are you saying... you've developed feelings for Liam?"

"No, Miss Burns, please don't overthink it," Suzy replied crisply. "It's just that I am me, and you are you; I can't replace you."

"Have you looked in the mirror?"
