

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1419

“Profound formation Dao? How is that possible?”

A group of human youths mumbled, their faces dazed.

They all knew that this kid surnamed Shi was very powerful in the array Dao. He had broken through the array breaking list of the heaven-equal Department in one fell swoop. He was previously third, and not long ago, there was news that he was first.

However, they had always thought that this kid was only outstanding among the younger generation. They had never thought that his level was already close to the level of the ethereal enlightenment, comparable to those leading grandmasters.

“This kid ... Is he a monster?!”

Their hearts were filled with shock as they stared blankly at the figure standing proudly not far away.

The figure was tall and straight, as heroic as a sword. His cloud robe was fluttering wildly, and there were Dragons made of spiritual Qi circling around him. He looked majestic and peerless.

“F * ck me!”

The Red Bird had long been dumbfounded.

Was this demeanor still the same weakling that he had ridiculed before?

This commotion had spread throughout the entire mountain range. The other giant beasts and human youths in front of the other herb gardens all stopped moving and looked up in shock.

“This commotion ... What happened there?”

They hesitated for a while, then moved one after another, flying over.

When they saw it clearly, they were all shocked as if they were struck by lightning.

“That ... Could that be a spirit vein?”

They pointed at the dragons with trembling fingers and exclaimed in shock.

“It’s that kid from the equal heaven Department! Oh my God! Could it be him?”

When they saw the figure clearly, they cried out in alarm again, becoming more and more shocked.

“What ... What is he doing?”

As the number of old Dragons increased and their auras became more and more terrifying, their minds trembled. They were uneasy and even a little frightened.

Tang Hao gently raised his hand and extended a finger toward the barrier.

In an instant, all the old Dragons around him rushed out and pounced on the barrier.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

A series of loud explosions shook the heavens and earth.

The barrier kept shaking. After each attack, its light became dimmer. After a short while, it was about to break.

“This ... How is this possible?”

Seeing this, everyone was a little confused. Even though the Qi of the spirit vein was powerful, it couldn't be that powerful!

“He cut off the spiritual energy source of the defense array. Without the support of spiritual energy, the power of the defense array will naturally be greatly reduced. It won't last long!” Someone with sharp eyes said.

As soon as he finished speaking, there was a loud bang, like the sound of glass breaking.

The defensive array was broken!

The ancient herb garden also revealed its true appearance. There was a vast herb field with many spiritual herbs and trees growing inside. Two rays of light were dancing among the spiritual trees.

They were two chubby babies, and they were the precious medicine!

Everyone was stunned for a moment.

“It’s broken! It’s so easy to break?”

They were in a daze.

“Look, it’s fast!” Tang Hao turned around and flicked his sleeves. His expression was calm and relaxed.

Everyone was speechless.

They were already speechless. What else could they say in the face of such a monster that could even activate a spirit vein?

After the bird recovered from its shock, its face twitched a few times. This brat actually broke the array so quickly. Could it be that he really wanted to eat that stone?

He turned around and glanced at the huge rock. His face darkened.

He was a noble heaven burning Sparrow. How could he eat this kind of stone? if word got out, he would be laughed at!

“Look! There are two precious herbs!”

After everyone regained their senses, they all looked towards the medicine garden. When they saw the two precious medicines, they all revealed fervent expressions.

Many giant beasts were eager to make a move. However, when they saw the dragons flying in the sky, they were all stunned and suppressed their greed.

This kid’s strength might not be much, but he was protected by an array and was not to be trifled with.

They could only watch as Tang Hao walked in, grabbed the two precious herbs, and swallowed them.

“Damn it, I’ve worked so hard for half a day and got nothing. This kid is good, he caught two at once!”

Everyone was extremely envious.

After collecting the other spirit herbs, Tang Hao walked out of the herb garden.

He coldly glanced around and snorted. He suddenly raised his hand, and a ball of spiritual light appeared in his palm. He threw it down and it hit the ground.

Then, he moved forward, took out another item, and hit it into the ground.

He walked forward step by step, continuously sending balls of spiritual light into the ground.

“What is he doing?”

Everyone was stunned. Vaguely, an ominous premonition arose in their hearts.

“You brat, what are you trying to do?”

The heaven burning Sparrow cursed.

Tang Hao's eyes were as sharp as lightning." "You feathery animal, I'll kill you first and make you into soup!"

The heaven burning Sparrow was stunned and couldn't believe its ears.

This weak little brat actually wanted to kill him and make him into soup to drink?

This was simply preposterous!

"Stinky brat, you, you, you ... You've got guts. You actually want to eat me? I'll roast you in one breath and then swallow you!"

He screamed in anger.

"Hmph!" Tang Hao grunted. He lifted his foot and stomped on the ground.

Instantly, boom boom boom! The ground exploded and crumbled. More spirit Qi gushed out and turned into Dragons that rushed toward the bird.

“Little brat, come! Do you think I’m afraid of you?!”

The heaven burning Sparrow fell into a state of madness. Its body suddenly expanded countless times, and its burning wings spread out, covering the sky like clouds.

He shrieked and flapped his wings, bringing up monstrous flames that poured down.

In an instant, the entire world turned into a sea of fire.

Step by step, Tang Hao rose into the air. His eyes glowed with a divine light that was as bright as lightning. Under his feet, countless streams of spirit energy surged out and turned into a Dragon that pounced into the sky.

The world was split into two halves, one half filled with spiritual Qi, and the other half was a sea of fire.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

The spirit Qi collided with the sea of fire, causing continuous explosions.

Although The Burning Sky Sparrow continued to screech and crazily ignite its flames, it was still unable to withstand the vast and majestic Qi of the spiritual pulse. It was constantly forced back and showed signs of decline.

Tang Hao stretched out his hand, and the five-colored spear flew out. He clenched his fist, then threw it toward the sky.

Whoosh!

The battle spear turned into a shooting star, rushing up and piercing the sky.

Wherever it went, the sea of fire was easily torn apart and split into two. In the end, under the horrified eyes of The Burning Sky Sparrow, it pierced through its left wing and nailed it.
