

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1895

The beihuang region was bustling with noise and excitement these days.

Not long ago, all the great clans had jointly issued a ban order, forbidding all trade associations and sects from selling spiritual herbs and elixirs to the creation sect.

The moment this prohibition was announced, it immediately caused a sensation.

The beihuang region was in an uproar.

In the history of the desolate north, it was unprecedented for so many forces to work together to kill a single force.

The gate of fortune had once again become the focus of the world.

If it was a few months ago, most people in the beihuang region would not have known about the gate of fortune. But now, almost everyone knew about it.

All of this was because of that monster from the lower realm, Tang Hao!

A few months ago, the news of Tang Hao appearing at the gate of fortune and defeating the clone of young master Taixu had caused a sensation.

Then, they heard that Tang Hao had joined the gate of fortune and became its chief disciple.

After that, everyone knew about the gate of fortune.

Over the past few months, countless eyes had been watching the gate of fortune.

They had all heard of the changes in the creation sect over the past few months, such as the rapid development of the alchemy Dao and the continuous recruitment of disciples. However, most of them did not care about it.

The gate of fortune was at most a first or second-rate power. It was not even worth mentioning in the desolate north. Even if it were to develop vigorously, what could it do? it would not be able to cause any waves.

Many people even openly mocked the gate of fortune for being extremely stupid. Tang Hao was a god of death, a jinx, and his enemies were all over the world. The gate of fortune was courting death by taking him in!

Now that the ban order was issued, the laughter became even louder.

“Hahaha! I told you! The gate of fortune is seeking its own death!”

“As expected, he’s making a move! As long as that surnamed Tang is still in the creation sect, those clans will not stop!”

Mocking laughter could be heard everywhere in the desolate north.

“I want to see how unyielding this gate of fortune is and how long they can last!”

“The way I see it, at most one year. In a few more years, the gate of fortune will not be able to survive!”

Everyone started to guess how long the gate of fortune could last under this ban.

The majority of the people were not optimistic about it. If the spiritual medicine and medicinal pills were banned, the creation sect would lose its most important cultivation resource. It would not be able to continue developing and would not be able to sustain itself for long.

The outside world was in an uproar, filled with mockery and ridicule.

In the gate of fortune, it was a different situation.

BOOM! BOOM!

For the past few days, the mountain had been filled with thunderous sounds.

“This one, and this one, blow them all up! Raze it to the ground!”

Tang Hao led the group of fifth tribulation elders and walked through the entire mountain range. Wherever they passed, the mountains were razed to the ground and then opened up into medicine fields.

In just three days, the entire mountain range had changed greatly. At least half of the mountain peaks had been flattened, and hundreds of thousands of acres of medicinal fields had been added.

“This batch of medicinal fields will be used to grow low-grade spiritual herbs!”

“For this batch, plant the medium-grade ones. For this batch, plant the high-grade spiritual herbs!”

With a wave of his hand, Tang Hao divided the herb fields into different regions, which were used to grow spirit herbs of different grades.

“Take these arrays and make tens of thousands of them for me!”

“Study these formulas and make more!”

“Also, recruit more people for me. Recruit as many as you can, and make sure they’re treated well!”

After the medicine fields were opened up, they needed to set up all kinds of formations, such as spirit gathering formations and five elements formations. These were all very important formations. According to the different habits of the spiritual herbs planted, the formations set up would also be different.

Just the creation of these arrays was a huge project.

There were also the various formulas needed to transform the soil and accelerate the ripening of spirit herbs.

Tang Hao didn't do it himself. He wasn't alone now. He had an entire sect behind him. He just had to give out the tasks.

After he was done, he sent out a few of his clones to supervise and guide the work. He returned to his cave abode and took out some celestial water to speed up the ripening of the spiritual herbs needed to make the great supplement pill.

To him, the most important thing at the moment was still to improve his cultivation. He had to refine more great Supplement Pills as soon as possible and raise his cultivation to the peak of the 5th tribulation.

After ripening a batch, he picked out a few beast corpses and refined them into pills.

Every few days, he would be able to refine more than ten great Supplement Pills, all of which were at the fifth tribulation. He kept a few and sent the rest to Zao Huazi.

After taking a few nourishing pills, his cultivation level would increase by a lot, and his progress could be said to be divine.

Then, he continued to refine.

He still had a lot of beast carcasses on hand, of which the 6th tribulation ones were gone, but there were still dozens of 5th tribulation ones, and even more 4th and 3th tribulation ones.

In the blink of an eye, half a month had passed. He had finished refining the fifth tribulation corpse and his cultivation level had also increased by a large margin. He was one step closer to perfection.

"The medicinal effects of the fifth tribulation are still a little lacking!"

Tang Hao said regretfully.

Previously, at Tian Luo mountain, he had swallowed a 6th tribulation great supplement pill. That kind of medicinal effect was really powerful. One pill was equivalent to dozens of 5th tribulation pills. However, the 6th tribulation beasts were too powerful and difficult to kill. They had only killed a few of them.

He estimated that he would need at least 50 five tribulations great Supplement Pills if he wanted to break through to the perfect state.

"The efficacy of the 4th tribulation and 3rd tribulation is too weak. I have to go out again and kill more ferocious beasts. However, there's no hurry now. When the situation in the sect has stabilized, it won't be too late to call Zao Huazi and the others to go with me."

In the following period of time, Tang Hao continued to refine the great supplement pill. He produced batches of great Supplement Pills for the fourth tribulation, third tribulation, and even the first and second tribulation. Tang Hao was too lazy to swallow them, so he threw them directly to Zao Huazi.

When the divine fruit ripened, he refined two more creation divine pills and gave them to Zao huazi.

During this period, he also went out from time to time to check on the progress of various work.

Under the hard work of the entire sect, the transformation of the medicinal fields was very smooth. It could be said to be god-like speed. In just a month, so many medicinal fields had been transformed.

“It’s still a bit lacking compared to the medicinal field in my cave abode, but it’s still considered a top-notch medicinal field.”

Tang Hao was very satisfied with his inspection.

The medicinal fields in his cave abode were watered with celestial water, so they were naturally extraordinary and far superior to all the medicinal fields in the world.

The herb fields in front of him were backed by a high-grade immortal Meridian and were full of immortal Qi. After setting up many spirit gathering arrays, the concentration of immortal Qi had reached an extremely high level. Coupled with the soil that had been transformed by a secret technique, it was not inferior to most of the herb fields in the world.

“This is unbelievable!”

As Zao Huazi and the others looked at the vast and boundless medicinal fields that covered the entire mountain range, they were somewhat dazed.

In just a month, half of the mountain range had been flattened and hundreds of thousands of acres of top-notch medicinal fields had been created. How unbelievable was this? they couldn’t believe that they had really done it.

They were proud and arrogant.

In the entire beihuang region, or even the entire Pangu continent, there was no other sect with such a large number of top-grade herb fields.

With these herb fields and the many secret techniques that Master Tang had imparted to him, his creation sect would have the most solid foundation for development. In another month or two, the ban order would become a joke.

At that time, the entire Pangu continent would be shocked by the gate of fortune!
