

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1927

“This guy ... He’s a lunatic!”

“When did the Qin clan produce such a character?”

The crowd elder and the other two stared at Tang Hao.

“Could he be a demon-level genius of the Qin clan?”

“No way! Even geniuses rarely choose this kind of Supreme great Dao. Ordinary great Dao is more than a hundred years old, but this Supreme great Dao is less than two or three hundred years old, or even longer. Even with the reincarnation Lake, it can’t be that fast. ”

“Yeah! The reincarnation Lake is just a little more convenient, but it can’t be that fast. I think he will regret it sooner or later!”

“I think so too!”

The three of them shook their heads in the end.

In their opinion, it was unwise and even stupid to choose the reincarnation Dao as the first Dao.

“Forget it, it’s none of our business!”

“Right! We can’t stop him if he’s willing to spend so many years trying to break through to the 6th tribulation!”

Very quickly, they lost interest and turned around.

Tang Hao had already released his divine sense and immersed it in the lake.

In an instant, countless images surged towards him. The lake water beneath him contained countless reincarnations of all shapes and sizes.

In order to comprehend the reincarnation doctrine, Tang Hao had comprehended many reincarnations. He had even swallowed a reincarnation pill and experienced reincarnation himself.

However, all of them combined were not as many as the reincarnations in the lake.

“Let’s first comprehend this!”

In the countless reincarnations, Tang Hao had chosen one.

Every experience was a reincarnation. In this life, Tang Hao was a cultivator. He was born in a mountain village and had ordinary qualifications. He entered the path of immortality with amazing perseverance, but it was not smooth. He had experienced countless setbacks and hardships along the way and finally cultivated to the perfected immortal realm.

But in the end, because of his talent, he stopped at this level and died of depression.

His experience was completely different from Tang Hao 'S. He seemed very ordinary.

However, in the world of cultivation, there were only a few monstrous geniuses. Most of them were just ordinary cultivators.

A reincarnation cycle might seem long, but in reality, it only took two to four hours.

After the cycle of reincarnation ended, Tang Hao woke up and heaved a long sigh. His expression revealed his vicissitudes and fatigue.

Every time he experienced reincarnation, he felt as if he had personally lived a life. That sense of reality made it difficult for him to pull away from his original role.

“Three hours!”

Tang Hao did some calculations.

He frowned. According to this calculation, how many years would it take to experience all the reincarnations here?

He didn't have that much time.

“Why don't I try to experience multiple reincarnations at the same time? this way, it should be much faster.” Tang Hao muttered.

After thinking for a while, he felt that it was feasible. At the same time, he could experience reincarnation, so it was not difficult to operate. Moreover, with the strength of his primordial spirit, he could definitely withstand it.

In the past, he did not do this because he did not have the conditions to do so. A method like the reincarnation pill could only allow him to reincarnate again and again.

And now, there were so many reincarnations in this Lake, which was simply too convenient for him.

“I'll try to comprehend two at the same time!”

Tang Hao started from the simplest point, splitting his mind into two and beginning to experience the two reincarnations at the same time.

After more than two hours, he opened his eyes. After he calmed down, he grinned.

This method was effective!

For ordinary cultivators, this might be difficult and not easy to do, but Tang Hao was different. His spirit was special. After cultivating the “virtual God Scripture”, his spirit was strong and could even split into thoughts and create countless split souls.

Later on, he cultivated the pure yang Scripture and integrated pure Yang Qi into his spirit, making it stronger and tougher.

After that, he cultivated the transcendence Sutra and advanced to the primordial soul, which made him even more powerful.

Not to mention, he had even devoured the primordial spirit of old man black sky.

This method of separating one’s mind and soul while experiencing reincarnation at the same time was a piece of cake for him.

“Next! Three types!”

Tang Hao began to increase the number of reincarnations. He split his mind into three and reincarnated three times.

After he succeeded, he continued to increase it.

One split into four, one into five ... Soon, it was one into ten, and Tang Hao was still doing it with ease.

Then, he began to double it, directly dividing it into twenty.

Then, it was 50,100 ...

Just like that, it reached 1000.

Only now did Tang Hao feel a trace of pressure. Splitting his mind into a thousand parts and experiencing a thousand reincarnations at the same time was something that most cultivators didn’t even dare to think about, and definitely couldn’t do.

For normal cultivators, if they split their mind into so many parts, even if they did not collapse, they would not be able to comprehend reincarnation and reincarnation doctrine.

Only people with extremely powerful primordial spirits like Tang Hao could do that.

After adapting, Tang Hao continued to increase the number. Soon, he was able to divide his mind into two thousand parts.

As a result, his efficiency was increasing at a terrifying speed.

Those xiuzhe could only comprehend one life at a time. They would spend more than two hours to accumulate one comprehension. However, he could experience more than two thousand lives and accumulate more than two thousand comprehensions in more than two hours.

This efficiency was more than 2000 times higher.

If those xiuzhe were walking, then he was riding on a rocket, advancing at a crazy speed.

Of course, there was no lack of intelligent people among these xiuzhe. Some of them would have thought of this method, but their primordial spirits were definitely not as strong as his, and their efficiency would not be as high as his.

As he reincarnated again and again, Tang Hao's efficiency increased continuously. His comprehension of the reincarnation doctrine also became deeper and deeper.

He had already comprehended the reincarnation doctrine and bore Dao fruits. His grasp and understanding of the reincarnation doctrine were extremely deep. If he wanted to master it and grasp the Dao laws, what he lacked was accumulation.

The more reincarnations one comprehended, the deeper one's accumulation, and the closer one would be to great completion.

Ten days had passed, and his efficiency had reached a terrifying level. Every day, he was able to comprehend tens of thousands of reincarnations, and this number was still increasing.

After he had completely comprehended the reincarnation cycle beneath him, Tang Hao stood up, changed his position, and continued to comprehend.

In the beginning, he only changed once every ten days or so, but after that, seven or eight days were enough.

He kept changing his position and gradually moved towards the center of the lake.

As his comprehension grew deeper, faint veined patterns began to appear around him. At first, they were invisible to the naked eye, but gradually, these veined patterns became more and more obvious.

This was the Dao pattern.

Reincarnation Dao pattern!

It was an existence that was one level higher than the light of reincarnation.

The appearance of the Dao pattern also meant that Tang Hao was getting closer and closer to the great completion.

"Soon! It's almost there!"

Tang Hao was excited when he noticed the Dao pattern. He knew that he was close to success.

He didn't continue to speed up. His current speed was already fast enough. If he continued to maintain this speed, he would be able to comprehend the reincarnation Dao and completely master the reincarnation Dao law!
