

MIGHTY SK 36

Chapter 36 Stay Calm

"What are you all doing here? Don't you all have work?" A cold voice sliced through the commotion just as Jaden was fuming. Bella appeared with a still face catching everyone's attention.

The senior managers immediately bowed their heads and moved to both sides to make way for her.

Despite Bella's short stay in the company, she was already able to establish a strong reputation.

Apart from Jaden, no one dared to challenge Bella in Silverland Group, let alone offend or displease her.

Everyone knew of the rivalry between Jaden and Bella. Jaden still harbored ill feelings towards Bella especially after she landed her position as president. Jaden was the main candidate for the post had Bella not been transferred. There had been friction between them ever since.

"What's happening?" Bella demanded, walking to Jaden's side.

"I caught this security guard stealing confidential information from my computer. Miss Song, you need to decide what to do with him, on behalf of the company, "

Jaden advised dutifully, hiding his ulterior motifs. He knew Bella wanted to back Peter up, but he was determined to make the situation difficult for her, not as easy as she wished.

Bella didn't know what to do, cursing inwardly. He was speaking in front of everybody so she couldn't openly defend Peter.

She was sure that if she did that in front of her managers, news of her bias would reach the directors in less than 10 minutes and her position as president would be in jeopardy.

As Bella was trying to find the best way to go about the situation, four policemen suddenly came rushing in.

"Officers, thank God you're here. This man stole confidential information. Please arrest him and find out who he's working for!" Jaden immediately requested, grabbing the opportunity to have Peter detained.

Silverland Group was known as the biggest financial group in the Golden City. The police would surely prioritize this issue and immediately jump at Peter.

But as they came closer, they recognized him right away. "Mr. Wang, is that you?"

The officer-in-charge was Richard Xing, Director of the Southern Regional Bureau. He didn't expect that the spy Jaden reported would turn out to be Peter.

"Mr. Xing, you came right on time. I need your help to prove my innocence, " Peter told Richard calmly.

"Innocence? What else is there to prove?" Jaden said in anger. He didn't expect a mere security guard to even be acquainted with the director of the police force.

"Mr. Xing, as an honorable officer, surely you wouldn't bend the law just because you know the person involved, would you? This man sneaked into my office to steal confidential information. I caught him in action. This is the flash drive he used to store the data. We have witnesses and evidence. You have everything you need to arrest him, right now!"

Richard didn't know what to do. Had he known that the reported person was Peter, he would not have come here. Now what? He was holding a wolf by the ears. How would he find a way around this?

Was it wise to arrest Peter? If the allegations were true, then there would not be any problems. But if they weren't, his position as director would surely be in jeopardy.

If he didn't arrest Peter, he'd surely be under scrutiny for his refusal in front of the senior managers of Silverland Group. Neither side wasn't without risk. Realizing that he was in a severely precarious situation gave Richard a very bad headache.

Thankfully, Bella came to the rescue. "You don't have to arrest him right away, Mr. Xing. Peter is denying the allegation. We might as well listen to his side of the story."

"Bella Song, you are obviously covering up for this culprit. I will file a complaint against you!" Jaden accused, pointing a finger at Bella.

"How dare you! Who are you to address me as such? Know your place! As president of this company, I will not hesitate to put a criminal behind bars; but also I am not going to allow any of my employees to be unjustly accused of a crime they did not do."

"If he is a real spy, I won't defend him anymore. But if the allegations against him are proven wrong, then mark my words, I WILL find out who is behind this trickery."

Bella boomed, regaining her control over the situation.

Peter looked at Bella with appreciation. "Mr. Xing, I am wronged indeed, " he explained calmly. "First of all, I have never seen that flash drive before. You can check it for my fingerprints if you want to.

Second, although there is no camera in this office, there are cameras in the corridor outside. You can check the time of when I came in and compare it to the timestamp on the data in the flash drive so you can see if I was able to copy all the pieces of information there, in such a short time.

Third, you can also check his keyboard, mouse, and even his desk, and see if my fingerprints are on there.

Fourth, I can admit that I sat on this sofa for a while. You will surely find my fingerprints on the armrest and the glass if you want to check it too.

Finally, you can check if his computer is wired to anything that would allow for remote access. I believe all these things should be enough to prove my innocence."

What Peter said left everyone silent.

Both Richard and Jaden clearly did not expect a mere security guard to be so calm and clear-minded under a situation as high-pressure as this.

'Is he really just a security guard?'

Jaden felt very uneasy.

Only Bella didn't seem so surprised as she was well aware of what Peter was capable of.

Richard did not waste time. He immediately called for his team to check the CCTV footage and the pieces of evidence Peter suggested.

Jaden's face was white as ash. He knew he lost this battle and there was no way to salvage the situation.

Jaden's secretary was sweating so hard that she couldn't manage to stand up straight. She attempted to slowly exit the scene, but the police stopped her.

Two hours later, all the pieces of evidence were traced back to her. The policemen handcuffed her and took her to their custody. The storm finally subsided.

Although he was taken off the hook, Peter could not help but feel bad that the secretary allowed herself to be arrested instead of admitting that it was all the doing of her superior. It seemed that Jaden had strings that he wasn't aware of.

Back in the President's Office

"You can no longer work at the Security Department. From now on, you'll be transferred to the Logistics Department as my driver. Lisa and Shelly have been performing excellently, so we're going to have them trained to be transferred to the Sales Department," Bella said, looking at Peter.

The Security Department was managed by Jaden. 80% of the staff there were loyal to him. After what happened that day, Bella was sure that it would be difficult for Peter to integrate himself with the team, so Bella had him transferred.

Peter was against the decision on his new assignment at first, but when he learned that Lisa and Shelly were also going to be transferred, he decided that he also did not intend to stay anymore and finally agreed to the transfer as well. "Can I get a raise?" he couldn't help but ask.

"Yes, you may." Bella nodded.

"Are there many beautiful girls in my new assignment?" he asked.

"Yes, there are, " Bella said, starting to feel irritated.

"Will I be able to touch their thighs?" Peter asked excitedly.

"Go away!" Bella snapped. He was unbearable!

'The son of a bitch is so difficult to change. You give him a hand, he takes an arm.'

Peter arrived at the Logistics Department and found that all the other drivers had gone out to work. He felt bored being all by himself.

As his duty was about to end, he received a text message.

"Don't leave after work. Wait for me at the basement parking."

Peter smiled with glee.
