

Chapter 111

France is a country very dedicated to food and etiquette. Prince Charlie had been trained in a comprehensive etiquette since he was a child. But now, he seemed to have forgotten the etiquette that was deeply rooted in his mind. His attention was completely attracted by the food in front of him.

Holding a knife and fork, Prince Charlie was putting the delicious food into his mouth one by one and tasted it carefully. Only after he finished tasting the last dish did he realize that he had lost his composure.

"Sorry, please forgive me, these things are really delicious!" Prince Charlie did not hide his praise. "I promise, this is the most delicious thing I have ever eaten. Milan, you can make such delicious food with ordinary ingredients. Your cooking skills have exceeded your teacher's!"

Prince Charlie's words made Taff widen his eyes in disbelief.

Prince Charlie smiled at Taff and said, "Taff, you can taste it. I believe that after tasting these delicacies, you will also agree with me."

Taff tried a bass with a suspicious look, put it into his mouth, and chewed slowly. When the bass tasted delicious in his mouth, his expression became extraordinarily wonderful, with joy, loss, and admiration.

What made him happy was that he seemed to see a new inspiration in this bass. What made him disappointed was that he had lost this competition. He had to admire this Chinese woman in front of him. Her understanding of food and her cooking skills were far beyond his own!

"Your Highness Charlie, you flatter me." Milan smiled. "In fact, I was just lucky."

"Milan, I think you can take over your teacher's position when you go back this time, and he will be happy for your achievements." Prince Charlie said sincerely.

Whether it was true or not, Milan didn't agree with him. The dishes on the table didn't come from her own hands, but because of this incident, she saw another way out, a way that allowed her to go further in her road of delicious food.

Milan looked at Henry, who was standing beside her. The man stood there like a calm lake, but if you took a closer look, you would find that this man was like a sea, mysterious and unfathomable.

After the contest, it was impossible for everyone to stay in Di Saint. Prince Charlie said that he would not return to the country immediately. This time, he also wanted to see the ancient country that had been passed down for thousands of years.

Of course, Sylvia would not let go of this opportunity. She offered to choose a guide for Prince Charlie. All the activities of Prince Charlie would be arranged by Lins Group.

Prince Charlie accepted Sylvia's proposal with pleasure and took her business card.

Henry, Sylvia, Milan and Nico went out of the Di Saint.

As soon as he walked out of the restaurant, Henry was interrogated about his cooking.

As for this, he had already thought about how to explain. He told the truth, "There was an old master who taught me some cooking skills, and this time I happened to use them."

None of the three girls believed his explanation. Henry could do nothing about it. What he said was the truth, but he did not tell them who the old master was.

"Henry, thank you very much today. If it weren't for you, we wouldn't have known what to do this time," Milan said gratefully.

Nico also nodded, and there was some embarrassment on her pretty face. She had proposed a lot of ways last night to see how to expose this liar. As a result, she accepted Henry's help today, which made her feel very embarrassed. She felt that he was the kind of villain who would repay kindness with ingratitude.

"We're all friends. There's no need to thank me." Henry waved his hand indifferently.

When they were walking, Sylvia pulled Henry's sleeve and whispered to him, "Come on."

"What's wrong?" Henry took two steps to the side with Sylvia with a puzzled face.

Sylvia handed a name card to Henry. "This is the contact information of Manager Sun of the marketing department. In the next few days make Manager Sun arrange the schedule of Prince Charlie, understand?"

Sylvia didn't tell him everything, but the meaning of her words was very obvious. This was an opportunity for Henry to get close to Prince Charlie so that he could get in touch with the French enterprise.

Henry promised to find a partner within three days, and Sylvia was already very generous for him.

Henry smiled, took the business card and said, "Thank you, President Lin!"

"Don't be so cheeky." Sylvia looked at Henry with anger. "I hope you take work matters seriously, understand?"

"Don't worry!" Henry made an OK gesture to her.

Seeing Henry like this, Sylvia felt more gratified. Anyway, this person was getting better and better.

They went to the parking lot and parted ways. Henry wanted to go back to the company with Sylvia, but he received a call from President Ma.

"Young master, we have already informed the whole country about the Lins medical market, but many people still have doubts about it. After all, you know, it's incredible to us, so we hope that you can give an open lecture." President Ma was careful when talking, fearing that Henry would be dissatisfied.

Henry thought for a moment and replied, "Okay, the lecture is okay. You can decide the place and number of people. I only have one request, no cameras allowed."

Hearing Henry's words, President Ma's tone was full of joy. "No problem, young master. How about tomorrow? The location is in the University of Yinzhou. If you need any equipment, just tell me."

"I'll go to the clinic of traditional Chinese medicine. Are you there?"

"I'll be there!"

It took Henry a whole morning to tell CPresident Ma what he needed to publicly teach, including medical cases, specimen, etc.

In the afternoon, Henry had nothing to do. Thinking that it had been a long time since he went to Spring Residential home, he bought something and went there to see the children.

Spring Residential Home

Jenny Qin, dressed in a loose sports suit of red and white, sat on the grass. Her long hair was tied into a ponytail, which made her look young and full of vigor. Her slender legs extended on the lawn, forming a perfect golden ratio with her upper body. She cupped her cheeks in her hands and looked at the distance with her smart eyes, staring blankly.

Since the last meal at her teacher's home, she had never seen Henry. Every time she came to the welfare home, he wasn't there.

She had wanted to call Henry countless times, but she didn't know what excuse she should use or directly say that she wanted to invite him to dinner? The last time they went to the teacher's house, she used this excuse. Would it be too unrestrained if she used it again?

Chapter 112

Jenny was also very confused about her feeling to Henry. She didn't know if she was just curious about this man, or she had a little bit of crush on him, as if she wanted to see him at all times.

She took out her mobile phone and clicked on the screen. She pressed Henry's phone number with her slender fingers, but she did not press the call button for a long time.

At this moment, a crisp cheer sounded beside her ears.

"Brother Henry, here comes Brother Henry."

"Brother Henry, I want to hug you."

"Wow, is this for me? Thank you Brother Henry."

The children's voices of joy came constantly.

A look of joy appeared on Jenny's pretty face. She turned her head and saw Henry picking up a child and throwing him up forcefully. The child had a happy smile.

"Miss Qin, you're here too," Henry waved to Jenny and greeted her.

Jenny's heart was beating wildly. The girl's reserved attitude made her just nod to Henry. "Well, I haven't seen you for a long time."

"Haha, I'm a little busy recently. I'll go to see the Dean first," Henry put the little fellow in his arms on the ground and ran to the house to chat with Dean Cui.

In Henry's eyes, Dean Cui was his parent. When he did things unscrupulously or when he killed countless people, he would take the time to call Dean Cui and report that he was safe.

If Sylvia was regarded as an angel that Henry met when he was the most helpless, then the welfare home was his safe haven. In Henry's heart, this place held a very important position.

Henry and Dean Cui chatted casually. He looked at Dean Cui's gray hair and his eyes were full of helplessness. Dean Cui had worked for the children for a lifetime. She neither had no children nor got married until now. She devoted her whole life to the welfare home.

"Dean, in fact, you can find someone to take over your work, and you can enjoy your life." Henry persuaded sincerely.

It was not the first time for Henry to make such a proposal. Every time, Dean Cui smiled and told him that she was living a peaceful life in her old age. The Spring Residential Home was her home. Watching the children grow up was her happiest thing. She could accept any upcoming things, but it was just that she worried about these children.

Henry couldn't say anything about such a kind old woman. He was glad that he had met such a good person as Dean Cui when he was a child.

After chatting with Dean Cui, Henry just walked to the big yard of the welfare home when he heard a noise from the children, as well as Jenny's angry comments.

"What's going on?" Henry frowned. He saw that the children were in the courtyard, rummaging through boxes of exquisitely packed fruits. From the packing boxes, they looked like high-grade goods, but most of the fruits in the boxes were rotten or wilted. Even when some boxes were opened, the bottom was full of water.

At the gate of the welfare home, there was a truck with a red cross sign.

It was from this car that those rotten fruits were moved out.

"Hey, they're here again," Dean Cui stooped and walked to Henry. Her wrinkled face was full of helplessness. "These people are branches of the Red Cross. Our welfare institution has always been on the rescue list. But now, hey, you've seen these fruits. The package looks good, but in fact, the things inside can't be eaten at all. Every time they came here, they just took a photo and then left. Once I was not here, and the banana which had been rotten was eaten by a child. Fortunately, the kid was sent to the hospital in time, otherwise, hey..."

When she said this, Dean Cui couldn't bear to continue, and her eyes reddened. Looking at these lively and lovely children, Dean Cui really felt wronged for them.

"This is outrageous!" Henry clenched his fists. "Dean, we must make them give an explanation for this matter. As far as I know, the welfare center's monthly help amount should be a thousand yuan, right? They only come once a month?"

"Good boy, you are still young, and there are some things you don't understand." Dean Cui patted Henry on the shoulder. "The monthly help is about a thousand yuan, but it will be good if children can get three hundred yuan. In this world, ah..."

"It's gone too far!" Henry strode towards the truck.

He happened to run into Jenny, who was walking back. She had just finished arguing with the driver of the truck. Needless to say, it was also because of the fruits.

As soon as Jenny saw Henry's gloomy face, she knew what he was going to do. She grabbed Henry's arm and shook her head. "Forget it. He's only responsible for delivering goods.

What's inside has nothing to do with him."

Henry frowned and looked at the truck driving away. He asked, "Do you know which company they belong to?"

"It's said that it's the branch organization of the Red Cross Association, but we have to ask someone to inquire about the details. I'll ask someone to check it now," as she said this, Jenny took out her mobile phone and made a call.

Henry tried his best to suppress the anger in his heart. He would never let go of the matter today. Even if the truck came to deliver fruits today and gave less to the children, he could bear it. But if he sent a pile of bad fruits, he couldn't bear it! They did not take the children's health seriously at all. How could this be a help? How could they have the face to say that they were doing charity?

"My children, don't eat these fruits anymore. I'll send you some more fresh fruit later, okay?" Jenny looked at the children carefully choosing the fruits that could still be eaten, and she felt a burst of heartache.

The other children of the same age, at their age, enjoyed the care of their parents, and they were the hearts of the whole family. But what about them? Fruit, they could only eat these bad ones. At the bottom of the fruit box, the turbid water exuded a thick stench, but the children didn't care it at all. Obviously, they had already been used to it.

"Jenny, you are a good girl. Don't spend any more money. You take care of these children for a while, but you can't take care of them for the rest of their life. How many welfare centers are there in the country? Can you care about all of them?" Dean Cui's eyes were red. The scene made her feel very uncomfortable.

But what could they do if they didn't feel well? This was the truth. All the children could do was adapt to it.

"I..." Jenny opened her mouth and didn't know how to answer Dean Cui. She understood that Dean Cui was right. She could help them for a while, but she couldn't help them forever. There were so many welfare homes in the country, how much could she help them?

"Dean Cui is right. You can't help these children for a lifetime, so what we can do is to solve the problem from the root." Henry waved his mobile phone to Jenny and said. "Let's go. I've found this branch unit. You drive."

Jenny nodded. They said goodbye to Dean Cui and left the welfare home.

Chapter 113

Henry and Jenny stood in front of the residential area of Swan Lake Town. Looking at this majestic and luxurious residential area, they could imagine that the price of the housing was very high.

"Henry, is that Kevin Lee you're talking about living here?" Jenny's eyes widened in disbelief.

Kevin Lee was the person in charge of the branch of the association.

Jenny had known about the housing price of this community. The price of one square meter was nine thousand yuan. As for the house price in Yinzhou, it could be regarded as the highest price in the city.

Jenny had her own company and her income was relatively stable. But just like that, if she wanted to buy a suite in Swan Lake Town, she would still be under pressure.

A person in charge of the charity association, what was the monthly salary? 5,000 yuan or 7,000 yuan? How could he buy a house here? Jenny did not have to think twice to understand the ins and outs of the matter.

Henry shook his head and answered Jenny's question. "He doesn't live here. This house was bought for his mistress. It's a villa of 280 square meters."

Although Henry's tone was calm, he always made people feel a chill when he spoke.

Jenny took a deep breath and opened her mouth wide. "280 square meters? Bought for the mistress? This ..."

Henry took Jenny into the community. He ran purposefully to a building, the villa bought by Kevin for the mistress.

It was a hot summer, and it was noon. The sun was so hot.

A burst of laughter rang into Henry's ears.

Henry and Jenny stood outside the villa and looked at the swimming pool filled with water in the villa. A man and a woman were lying in the pool, enjoying the iced juice. The man was in his forties, and the woman was only 23 or 24 years old. Her body was hot, and the laughter just now was coming from her.

Henry looked at the photo on the mobile phone, and then looked at the man in the swimming pool. He was sure that this was the person in charge of the branch office of the association. The young woman lying next to him was his mistress, Rose Zhao.

After confirming that, Henry put away his cell phone, pushed open the gate of the courtyard, and walked in.

The iron gate of the courtyard made a creaking sound, attracting the attention of the two people in the pool.

"What's wrong with this security guard? How dare the insurance salesman come in at will?" Kevin was wearing sunglasses, and his tone was full of dissatisfaction.

Henry was wearing his business suit. It was no wonder that Kevin regarded him as an insurance salesman.

Henry curled his lip and said, "Kevin Lee, right? The person in charge of the branch of Red Cross Association?"

Hearing this, Kevin's face changed. "I'm sorry, you made a mistake. I don't understand what that association is. This is my private property. I don't welcome you now. Please go out."

"Haha," Henry smiled contemptuously. "We're all adults. Don't pretend to be confused."

Henry walked to the swimming pool and looked at it up and down. "Gee, good, the quality of life is very high. Look at the beautiful woman beside you. She has long legs and a thin waist."

Rose, Kevin's mistress, looked at Henry unhappily. "You poor wretch, what are you looking at?"

After that, Rose held Kevin's arm and said coquettishly, "Honey, who is this person? I hate him so much. Make him leave."

"Don't worry, just want to ask a question. Give me the answer, and I will go out." Henry put his hands in his pockets. "Kevin, Spring Residential Home should have a thousand yuan as compensation every month. Where is the money?"

Kevin looked at Henry's confident smile. He took off the sunglasses and said, "Boy, I won't play games with you anymore. Who sent you here? How much money did they give you? Which newspaper do you work for?"

"I don't belong to any newspaper. I just want to ask what about the money that was meant for Spring Residential Home. "

"What's the point of spending money on a bunch of orphans?" Rose snorted discontentedly. She crossed her arms over her chest and said, "Their own parents don't want them. It's enough that they won't starve to death. Why should we still spend money to compensate them? It's really funny!"

"Really?" Henry grinned, walked around the pool, and then stood behind Rose.

"What do you want to do? Who told you to be so close to me? Get out of my way!" Rose looked back at Henry with a face full of disgust.

Henry had a smile, but suddenly, all the smile on his face disappeared. He reached out his hand, grabbed her hair, and pulled it hard.

Rose screamed and half of her body was pulled out of the swimming pool by Henry.

Henry reached out his other hand and aimed it at her face. He slapped Rose several times in a row.

The crisp sound of "Papapa" was heard all the time. Henry slapped Rose more than ten times before he finally stopped. Her beautiful face was completely red and swollen at this moment. Blood was flowing from the corner of her mouth. The sunglasses on her face had already disappeared, and her eyes were full of tears.

At the same time when Henry let go of his hand, Rose suddenly shouted loudly and turned over to hit Henry.

Henry had nothing to bear with this kind of woman. He kicked her out of the swimming pool, sending her flying a few meters away.

Rose fell to the ground, and her body was covered with dirt.

"Well, I am far away from you now," Henry clapped his hands.

Rose trembled all over. She pointed at Henry with a face full of hatred. "I want you to die! I want you to die!"

Henry didn't care about her threat at all. He looked back at Kevin and asked, "Answer my question, what about the money?"

Kevin looked at Henry with a gloomy face. "Boy, although I don't know who you are and who let you come, I advise you that there should be some things that you can't control."

Henry dug his ears with the little thumb of his right hand and then glanced at the two-story villa behind Kevin. "What if I want to control it?"

"Then you have to think about the consequences!" Kevin suddenly picked up his mobile phone and sent a voice message. "Someone is making trouble. Come here quickly."

After sending the message, Kevin stared at Henry. "Boy, I advise you to leave now. I can pretend that nothing has happened today. We are all here to make a living. Don't make a big deal out of it."

"Sorry, I don't want to make a big deal out of it," Henry found a small pony in the yard and sat directly on it. "But I really want to know what you mean by big deal."

Jenny stood outside the villa courtyard and watched what Henry had done. She had no sympathy for Rose who had been violently beaten by Henry.

About five minutes later, Jenny heard the roar of a motor. She walked into the yard and pointed to the outside of the villa courtyard at Henry.

Three Land Rover cars stopped in front of the villa's gate. Five strong men came down from each car. Each of them had tattoos on their shoulders. It looked like they were not easy to deal with.

Three Land Rover cars stopped in front of the villa's gate. Five strong men came down from each car. Each of them had tattoos on their shoulders. It looked like they were not easy to deal with.

Chapter 114

At the sight of these five strong men, Rose felt as if she had found her saviors.

"Brother Tiger, beat him to death! Beat him to death!"

Brother Tiger was a bald and strong man, who took the lead among these people. He looked at Rose's red and swollen face and went directly to Henry. He looked down at him and said, "Boy, are you here to make trouble?"

After seeing these men, Henry showed a disappointed expression. "Kevin, you said that you're going to fight to death with me. Are you just looking for these men to threaten me?"

Henry felt funny.

Even if Henry was an ordinary person sitting here today, he would not be afraid of these people. Because he knew that Kevin did not dare to let these people fight against him.

Actually, Kevin's position attracted a lot of public attention. If he made a big noise today, he would not be able to continue his position.

Kevin was a greedy man. How could a greedy man have the courage to fight to death? What's more, how could he go to fight for the mistress?

The disappointed smile and indifferent tone of Henry made Brother Tiger very unhappy. He clenched his fists and said, "Boy, do you think I dare not beat you?"

"Yes," Henry nodded to Brother Tiger without hesitation. "I'm sitting here. If you dare to touch me, I'll consider you a real man."

"You ..." provoked by Henry, Brother Tiger raised his fist and was about to punch Henry in the face.

"Stop!" Kevin shouted quickly to stop Brother Tiger. Henry was right. Kevin did not dare to hit people and did not dare to make a big deal out of it.

Brother Tiger's fist stopped in front of Henry's face, and he glared at Henry with hatred.

Henry winked provocatively at Brother Tiger and said, "Sure enough, you're not a man."

"You ..." when Brother Tiger was about to swear back, Kevin stopped him.

Kevin came out of the swimming pool and walked to Henry. "Boy, you know my identity. And I'm not afraid to tell you that even if I give the money today, will you come to me next month? Do you think those kids can enjoy this money after you have done these things today? Look at these men of mine, you should think it over."

Brother Tiger laughed, "I thought he was a tough guy. It turned out that he came here for the sake of those old, weak, sick and disabled people. Boy, you kowtow to me now, or I will go to the welfare home every day to frighten those children, which is my favorite thing."

After Brother Tiger finished speaking, his group of followers also laughed.

"Do you think that the old woman can withstand a few punches from me?" Brother Tiger raised his fist.

"I guess one punch."

"No, I guess two punches. If you don't believe me, you can have a try!"

Hearing these words, Jenny's face turned red with anger and her whole body trembled.

"You are simply not human!"

Brother Tiger pointed at Jenny's face and said, "Little girl, be quiet. You don't have the right to speak here! If you make me angry, I will force you to do something you don't want to!"

"Hahahaha, that's good. Elder brother, after you've done it, leave something for us." Behind Brother Tiger, there was an obscene laughter.

Jenny was so angry that she gritted her teeth. She didn't know how to fight back, and her tears were coming out.

"Calm down. I'll avenge you," Henry felt the change in Jenny's mood. He then grabbed Jenny's hand and smiled at her.

With his comfort, Jenny's mood eased a lot.

Seeing that both Henry and Jenny were silent, Kevin continued to say, "Boy, what about this world? It's the world of rich people, not the world of angry young people like you. When you see something dissatisfying, you don't have to stand out. Those rich people who have donated have not stood out. Leave here, I'll pretend that nothing has happened. Otherwise, you have to think about it carefully. Today, are you coming to help the welfare home or cause them trouble? Is the fresh fruit enough for their medical expenses?"

Henry's face darkened. He did not expect that these people had already become so arrogant. They even threatened the safety of the children in the welfare home at will.

Henry could let his men deal with these social scoundrels and make them regret coming to this world in a cruel way, but he did not do so.

There are many people like Kevin and many welfare homes like Spring Residential Home in this world. Therefore, he had to solve this problem fundamentally.

Henry's unhappy expression made Rosa feel proud. "What's wrong? Poor man, you were quite arrogant just now, weren't you? Why didn't you talk? Are you dumb? I'm telling you, if you don't kowtow to me a few times today, I'll take people to tear down the orphanage."

Henry ignored Rose's yelling and looked at the time on his mobile phone.

"It's the time. They will come soon."

As soon as Henry finished his words, he heard a sudden brake at the gate of the villa.

A Honda stopped in front of the villa. The door opened, and a middle-aged man in a suit got out.

At the same time, two police cars with sirens slowly stopped in front of the villa.

When Kevin saw the middle-aged man coming out of the car, his face changed. He wrapped himself in a bath towel and trotted to the gate to welcome him.

"Director Zheng, why did you come here?"

Director Zheng took a look at Kevin. There was only a pair of swimming trunks under his bathrobe. He frowned, "Kevin Lee, you really impressed me. I don't even dare to think about buying such a big villa."

The position of director in the association was equivalent to that of the imperial envoy in ancient times.

Kevin gave a fawning smile. "Director Zheng, what are you saying? This house is not mine. It's a friend of mine."

"Really?" Director Zheng snorted, took out a document, and threw it directly onto Kevin.

Kevin took over the document and glanced at it, and his face immediately turned pale.

The document was filled with all his bank accounts, including the foreign bank, how much money there was in it, and the houses under Kevin's name, none of which was left out.

"Director, this ..." Kevin was a little confused. He thought that he had done these things very secretly and had never thought that he would be discovered.

"What else do you have to explain?" Director Zheng stared at Kevin. "If not, go to the police station and have a cup of tea. Our associations were ruined by someone like you!"

"Director Zheng, this is a misunderstanding. These things have nothing to do with me. Someone must have framed me!" Kevin explained repeatedly.

"Framed you? Mr. Zhang framed you?"
Director Zheng showed a funny look.

Chapter 115

"Mr. Zhang?" Kevin repeated these words with a suspicious look. He asked himself that he had always been careful and hadn't offended anyone. Where did Mr. Zhang come from?

"Mr. Zhang he was talking about should be me," Henry stood up from the pony and said. "I gave him this information. Kevin, what do you think? Is it enough? In the past eleven years, your corruption has reached a total of 16 million yuan. This money is enough to send you to prison for the rest of your life."

"Bullshit! I'm not corrupted!" Kevin roared and quickly explained. "Director Zheng, you should believe me. This is not true."

"It's impossible. My husband will never be corrupted. It must be this poor man who deliberately framed my husband!" Rose also spoke.

"Husband?" Director Zheng looked at Kevin strangely. "Kevin, as far as I know, your wife isn't her, is she?"

"We ..." Kevin smiled and didn't know how to explain. He turned his head and glared at Rose, cursing her in his heart.

Rose also realized that she had said something wrong. However, it had already come to this point. She simply made up her mind and said, "Kevin is indeed not my husband, but I love him. This is a matter between us. What I'm saying now is that someone is deliberately framing him!"

"Someone framed him?" Director Zheng smiled. "You mean, Mr. Zhang deliberately framed Kevin? What about his motive?"

"Of course, he's jealous! For someone like him, he's jealous of us for having money, jealous of us ..."

"What a joke!" Director Zheng shouted and interrupted Rose. "Mr. Zhang has been enthusiastic about the charity industry for so many years. The amount of his donation alone has reached tens of billions of dollars. He is jealous of you? He is deliberately framing Kevin? Now the evidence is clear. Kevin, what do you want to say? Go to the court and talk to the judge!"

Director Zheng's words were like a clap of thunder, which left both Kevin and Rose in a daze.

He donated tens of millions of yuan? The young man, dressed in ordinary clothes in front of him, donated tens of millions of dollars?

Rose opened her mouth wide and couldn't say anything.

Two police officers in uniforms came from the car. Without saying anything, they directly took out handcuffs and handcuffed Kevin.

Kevin's face turned pale. He was in this business, so he knew what it meant to donate tens of millions of dollars. Just his one word could affect the whole association. He was completely doomed this time.

What was funny was that he had just told him that this was a world of rich people. He even said that the person who donated money did not speak out. Why dare he do this as a cynical young man?

In the end, he was a clown!

Kevin looked at the handcuffs on his wrist that reflected the sunlight. It was a hot day, but he felt cold all over his body. The rest of his life was gone ...

Rose watched helplessly as Kevin was taken away, but she couldn't say a word. How could he, a poor man, donate billions of dollars?

When the two police officers escorted Kevin to the police car, Henry suddenly opened his mouth and pointed to Brother Tiger and others. "Police officers, take these people away together. Just now they threatened to attack Spring Residential Home. I think it's necessary for you to take them back and investigate them. And this woman, knowing that Kevin's money was all from corruption, she still enjoyed it at ease. She should be considered as criminal and should be sentenced together, shouldn't she?"

The two police officers looked at each other, nodded, and took out the walkie-talkie to call.

Then several police officers got out of the police car and guarded the gate of the villa. They did not let Brother Tiger and others leave. Rose's hands were also handcuffed.

Rose was so scared that she burst into tears on the spot. She kept crying and begging Henry for mercy. Henry ignored her and fixed his eyes on Director Zheng.

"I need an explanation."

"Mr. Zhang, this time, our management was not thoughtful. The high-level management has already held an emergency meeting because of this matter. They will give you a satisfactory answer in the shortest time." Director Zheng smiled, afraid of angering Henry.

"You don't need to give a reply to me, but to those who needed help. During this period, I'll arrange people to patrol all the welfare centers in the country. If I encounter any corruption, I think the end is what your association is unwilling to see. The agreement I signed at the beginning is that all the money I donated will be put into the public welfares. Otherwise, the compensation will be ten times higher. You can consider whether you can afford it or not. Oh, by the way, let me remind you that I have not donated a billion dollars, but billions of dollars."

"Understood, understood!" Director Zheng nodded repeatedly, and his back was already wet with sweat.

Henry glared at Director Zheng coldly. What he did today was not only to punish Kevin, but also to warn the association to eliminate the scums like Kevin voluntarily.

Jenny had heard her teacher mention Henry's donation, but she didn't expect that the amount was so large! At the same time, she also didn't expect that Henry's influence in the association was so great.

After leaving Swan Lake Town, Jenny could not help but feel curious. "Henry, why are you devoted to the charity? Some people do it for fame, some for profits, some for peace of mind, and some for belief in Buddhism. What about you? You don't do it for fame or for benefit. Also, I don't think you are Buddhist."

"Me?" Henry smiled, "I just lived a hard life when I was a child. I hope there will be fewer people like me. If my condition at that time was a little better, my mother wouldn't have left me so early."

"You ..." Jenny looked at the man beside her. Although his words were light, the story behind these words should make people feel desperate.

"Well, let's go to buy some fruit for the children. We must do what we promised them, or we will let the children down," Henry grinned.

Jenny looked at Henry's smile. At this moment, he was like a boy next door.

He ran to the welfare home to play with the children. At six o'clock in the afternoon, he left the welfare home, rejected Jenny's request to drive him back, and walked alone on the road.

In a deserted alley, a black shadow appeared behind him.

"My lord," the black shadow directly knelt on one knee. "You're looking for me?"

"Kill all the people who went in today," Henry said flatly. "And, have you found out the person who wanted to kill my wife?"

"Everyone surnamed Su from Yanjin is being investigated. Very soon, there will be an answer."

"As soon as there is a result, tell me immediately. Any news regarding Sharp Knife?"

"They were surveilling the whole city's communication. We have already exposed Thorn on purpose. Three squads from Sharp Knife have already arrived in Yinzhou, and we are spying on them."

"Okay, you can leave now," Henry waved his hand.

The black shadow behind him flashed away.

Chapter 116

Another day passed. The next morning, Henry cleaned up the house as usual. Today, he didn't go to the company with Sylvia, but went to the University of Yinzhou.

In the Ning Province Medical Association, there were a lot of honorary professors from Yinzhou University. Some of them even worked as part-time teachers. It was very easy for them to give a lecture in a podium.

Today, there were a lot of people in the university. All of them were elders in the medical field from various departments. Some of the older ones had gray hair. These people came to the University today to listen to lectures.

These two words "shaking needles" stirred up huge waves in the Chinese medicine circle.

At first, Yinzhou University had only prepared a small lecture hall for the Medical Association. But when they saw so many famous doctors in the country coming, they immediately changed it to the largest lecture hall in the whole school. At the same time, they also let the students take the initiative to listen to the lecture.

With so many famous doctors gathered together, the students of the medical department of the Yinzhou University certainly would not miss this opportunity. Each of them held a case in their hands and began to consult.

The campus was full of youthful figures everywhere.

"Daisy, there are many professors coming here today. We can't miss this opportunity." Amy, wearing a white T-shirt, held a notebook in her hand, and her face was full of excitement.

Daisy still dressed up so vigorously today. "Don't worry. I have written down all the problems that I couldn't overcome during this period of time. Today, I will figure them all out. Hey, where is Lam Sun?"

"She'll be here in a minute."

At this moment, countless students gathered at the entrance of No.1 Hall of the Yinzhou University. They were discussing medical problems. Some some famous doctors would remind them, would benefit them a lot.

Daisy and others gathered together to discuss case.

There was a patient who was born with a illness and couldn't raise his hands above his head. His big arms were powerless and difficult to train. Among traditional Chinese medicine practitioners, this kind of disease was classified as blood, qi, and meridians. However, when treating it, he had no way to start. The patient's meridians were open, and his blood and qi were active.

This case, in the exercises of Chinese Medicine, could be said to be a very difficult disease.

"Ladies and gentlemen, my friend's name is Ron Liu. He has been studying under Dr. Zhao in Su Province for four years. You can ask him for advice about this disease."

"Hello, everyone." Ron was a young man about twenty-four years old, wearing a doctor's white coat. He greeted everyone, and his eyes were fixed on Daisy and others.

Hearing that it was Doctor Zhao from the province of Su, many people cast envious glances at Ron.

Doctor Zhao was a well-known doctor across the country. If he could learn from him, his future achievements would be limitless.

"Brother Ron, do you have a solution to this disease?"

One of them couldn't help but ask.

Ron nodded and said, "I don't have a perfect solution, but I've discussed this case with the teacher countless times. And we got some results."

Hearing Ron's words, everyone's face was full of joy.

Although Ron did not make it clear, everyone knew what he meant. After discussing it with Doctor Zhao, there was a result. Didn't that mean that there was a solution?

Ron stood there and looked at everyone casting eager eyes at him. He was very satisfied. His eyes wandered on Daisy, Amy and Lam, who had just arrived, for a long time before he opened his mouth.

"For this disease, I named it muscle function syndrome. For this kind of disease, we can stimulate the patient's acupuncture points in a great way according to the position of the patient's disease. This symptom, although it looks like the patient's meridians are connected, in fact, it is not the case..."

Ron stood there and talked slowly. The eyes of the people around him made him more excited as he spoke.

Some people who were keen on learning had already begun to take the pen and quickly wrote down these things.

While Ron was talking excitedly, a voice suddenly interrupted him.

"Nonsense! In medicine, every step is trembling as if you are walking on thin ice. Every movement and every thought of yours needs to be responsible for the life and safety of the patient. Now, you are here, talking nonsense!"

The tone of this voice was so harsh that everyone's eyes turned to look at the speaker.

"Brother-in-law?" Daisy widened her eyes. She did not expect that it was Henry who had just spoken.

Amy and Lam also looked at Henry curiously.

Ron, who was talking slowly, paused for a while and looked slightly unnatural, because he clearly knew that he had never discussed any treatment methods with the teacher about this so-called muscle disease. The deep stimulation of the muscle he had just said was totally to show his vanity and made himself look smart. Now he was scolded like this, which made him feel very embarrassed.

Ron glanced at Henry and asked, "Who are you? The result of the discussion between me and the teacher, is it nonsense for you?"

"Yes, who is this person?" A student looked at Henry.

"You don't know medicine, do you? The thing Ron said was said by Dr. Zhao from the province of Su. Are you saying that Dr. Zhao is talking nonsense?"

"That's right!" A person rolled his eyes and looked at Daisy. "Daisy, did you just say that this person is your brother-in-law? What is he doing? Is he also a doctor?"

Daisy shook her head. "He's not a doctor, but my brother-in-law must have a reason to say that."

"Ha!" Ron snorted. "Reason? What reason? A person who doesn't know medicine, come and tell me the reason?"

"I'm talking about attitude!" Henry said again, "The purpose of learning medicine is to save lives, not to let you talk too much. You have to know that as a doctor, you have to be responsible for every word you say. Do you know what the consequences will be if you use the methods you just said on patients?"

Henry shouted. His momentum was so strong that when he spoke, the students around him had to listen to him and did not dare to interrupt.

Henry glanced around these students and finally fixed his eyes on Ron. "If you do this, the patient may bleed both of his arms because of excessive stimulation, and the consequences would be serious. It may make his arms lose function forever! You don't even have this common sense, and you should ask me to take care of it!"

After Henry finished speaking, he pointed to those students. "And you, you don't have the ability to distinguish at all. You can read whatever others say and you can't distinguish whether they are right or wrong. Think about it in your mind. For a person whose meridians are in perfect condition and whose meridians are intertwined with blood, forcing to stimulate the acupuncture points, what will happen? Hasn't your textbook written this kind of basic thing?"

Henry's words ended, and none of these students dared to refute. They stood in the same place and were lost in thought.

Chapter 117

"Daisy, brother-in-law is so handsome!" Amy put her hands on her chest and looked at Henry's figure with sparkle in her eyes.

"Yes, he's very handsome." Lam also nodded. Henry did have an indescribable charm when he scolded the others.

Ron was a little embarrassed by Henry's words. Now that he heard the two beauties who looked at each other said that Henry was handsome, he couldn't bear it anymore.

"What a joke!" Ron laughed. "Who are you? A student of the medical department? Or a doctor?"

Henry shook his head. "Neither."

"Haha!" Ron sneered. "Then what qualifications do you have to order me around? Who do you think you are? Let me tell you, the patient is sick, and the one who is treating him is us, doctors! I can treat him in whatever way I want. It's not your turn to talk nonsense!"

"Who? I thought he was a famous doctor. He came to question Doctor Zhao's disciple, but in the end, he was wrong. Could you please go away?"

"Are you crazy?"

The students who had just been criticized by Henry were also in a bad mood, and they spoke out one after another.

Henry glanced at these people and felt cold in his heart. He shook his head helplessly. "Forget it. It's hard to get along well with you. With your attitude, you don't deserve to be a doctor in the future, and you won't even admit such an obvious mistake! You can read the textbook and see what the consequence of excessive stimulation of acupuncture points will lead to!"

Ron stiffened his neck. "A textbook? What's wrong with the textbook? You didn't come here to teach me after reading two pages of the textbook of traditional Chinese medicine, did you? Do you know why we came to the University of Yinzhou from thousands of miles away today? I'm not afraid to tell you. There is a miracle doctor here today. All professor-level doctors come here for this lesson. My master and that miracle doctor have known each other for a long time. The miracle doctor once said that medicine needs to be bold, and it needs to be improved! A doctor like you, what do you know?"

As soon as Ron finished his words, the applause and applause suddenly came from beside him.

"Good! You need to be bold, brand new, breakthrough. Do you hear me? Ron's master is an old acquaintance of that miracle-working doctor. If you question Ron, aren't you questioning Doctor Zhao and that miracle-working doctor?"

"Get out of here. Don't make a fool of yourself here, or you'll disturb us from studying."

"Get lost!"

Voices rang out from the students' mouths one after another.

Daisy and the other two women watched anxiously. "Don't say anymore, my brother-in-law..."

"It's okay." Henry reached out his hand and stopped Daisy's words. "Let them talk. There are some people who can't make sense. Daisy, the older you are, the more people and things you will see. You will understand what the ancients said."

"Which one?"

"The forest is big, and there are birds everywhere."

Henry laughed. He didn't stay here with these students, but walked aside.

Daisy and the other two girls didn't stay here anymore. They followed Henry at a quick pace.

Ron looked at the three women leaving because of Henry. The eyes that looked at Henry were full of resentment.

"Brother-in-law, why did you come to our school today?" Daisy did not ponder over the problem of the case just now. She kept up with Henry and asked curiously.

"Alas." Henry sighed heavily, sitting on a small stone bench under a big tree with a face full of grievances. "Isn't it because your sister, the black-hearted businessman, squeezed the laborers? Today, I came here to work for her!"

Hearing that, Lam and Amy secretly covered their mouths and smiled. Amy said, "Brother-in-law, you really don't know how lucky you are. Daisy's sister, the president of Lins Group, is Sylvia Lin, known as an iceberg beauty. Others can't even have a chance to be bullied."

"Yes." Lam also said, "Try it if you don't believe it. If you want to divorce Daisy's sister, she will have a lot of suitors."

"Haha." Henry giggled. "I'm just grumbling. By the way, you guys were discussing medical knowledge just now. Are you students?"

"Yes." Daisy nodded. "Medical university has been under construction. It is estimated that it will finish at the end of this year. At that time, we will be separated in the groups. Brother-in-law, at that time, I have to ask you to help me move again."

"It's not a big deal." Henry waved his hand. "Daisy, once you learn medicine, you can work directly in your sister's hospital. That's not bad."

"Hey, let's talk about it later. We don't have to think so much." Daisy responded and said in a hurry, "Brother-in-law, I won't hold you anymore. The lesson will start soon. We have to hurry up. I heard that a miracle doctor will give a lecture."

"Okay, go." Henry waved his hand and watched the three women trotting away.

At the same time, his cell phone rang. It was President Ma. He told Henry that everyone had arrived and carefully asked where he was.

"I'll be there soon." Henry replied. He hung up the phone, narrowed his eyes, and looked for the hall.

Originally, Henry only wanted to explain his medical philosophy and show the needles in today's lecture, but through what just happened, he thought that it was necessary for him to do a few more things today.

When the three girls ran to the hall, they were shocked by the sea of people in front of them. Not to mention that the seats were full, even the aisles were full of people. Those teachers and professors who usually focused on preparing lessons were also sitting there, waiting for the lesson, like students at this time, and took the pen and notebook.

"Daisy, over here!"

In the seat, Wade waved at Daisy with all his strength. Beside Wade sat two of his men.

When the two followers saw Daisy, they all showed a flattering smile. They quickly got up and left the seats for Daisy and the other two.

"Well, not bad. You have a bit of a gentleman's demeanor." Amy patted Wade on the shoulder. "By the way, after you wipe your eyelids, there will be more men. If you exercise more in the future, it will be good enough if you can become like her brother-in-law."

"Amy, don't laugh at me. I get muscles similar to brother-in-law's muscles easily." Wade made a bow. After the last incident, he was like Amy, calling Henry brother-in-law. And in his heart, he admired Henry very much.

"You know yourself a little better." Amy nodded.

As soon as Daisy and others sat down, they heard a sarcastic voice behind them.

"Hey, who is this? What, where's your brother-in-law? He ran away in disgrace?"

Daisy looked back and found that the speaker was Ron's friend, who was sitting next to him with a disdainful smile on his face and looking at Daisy and others.

"Watch your way of talking. Who do you think has run away in disgrace?" Amy warned with an unpleasant look on her face.

Chapter 118

"Just talking about your brother-in-law! Didn't he just talk big? If you have the ability, you can ask him to do the right thing!" Ron's friend crossed his arms in front of his chest and said with a smug look, "He's such a good-for-nothing. He only knows how to pretend. What the hell is he?"

Wade, who was sitting there, stood up immediately and directly shouted at Ron's friend, regardless of the number of people on the scene, "Who the hell are you? Who are you talking about?"

This time, Wade made a lot of noise and attracted many people's attention. The medical experts from other provinces all frowned. One of the older doctors even stood up and strode over there, asking in a loud voice, "What's the matter?"

"Master." Ran stood up in a hurry. The doctor who came to ask him was the well-known doctor Rick Zhao in Su Province.

Rick nodded and said, "There are so many seniors here. It's impolite for you juniors to make a fuss here!"

"Master, it's not my fault." Ron explained in a hurry. "Just now, I was discussing some academic things with everyone. As a result, a person came. He was neither a doctor nor a medical department. He began to say that what I said was nothing and began to scold me."

"Yes, yes, yes." The man next to Ron also quickly got up and said, "Dr. Zhao, that person not only said bad things about Ron, but also about you."

"He was talking about me?" Doctor Zhao frowned, and his face looked a little angry.

Ron smiled awkwardly. In fact, Henry did not say anything about Doctor Zhao just now. It was just that Ron had brought Doctor Zhao in when he was bragging, while Henry was reprimanding Doctor Zhao about the so-called method that was studied by Doctor Zhao with Ron. When others heard it, they thought he was also scolding Doctor Zhao.

"Doctor Zhao, that man is friends with those in front. We just said a few words, and they stood up and shouted." Ron's friend pointed to Daisy and others.

Doctor Zhao looked at Daisy and others with dissatisfaction. As a doctor with a reputation in Su Province, it was a shame for him to be publicly reprimanded by some younger generations.

"Little girl, where is your friend? Can you let him come out to confront me? What on earth did I, Rick Zhao, do to offend him and make him talk bad things about me in front of so many people?"

"Sorry." Daisy shook her head. "Doctor Zhao, my brother-in-law is not here."

"Of course he is not here!" Ron said. "He is neither a doctor nor a student. How can he stay here? People like him can only show off on the surface."

"Yes." The man next to Ron nodded. "You guys, because such a person shouted in front of so many seniors, I'm afraid you are just like him. Let me see that you'd better leave here. This lesson is not for you students."

The faces of Daisy and the others turned pale. They really didn't expect that Doctor Zhao would come out and stand up for Ron. Moreover, according to Doctor Zhao's words, they didn't intend to let this matter go so easily.

"What's wrong? Don't you want to leave yet? Do you want me to drive you away?" The man beside Ron crossed his arms over his chest. He was also a doctor's disciple.

In their hearts, the reason why they came with their teacher was that they were invited here. And the students of the University of Yinzhou were a group of bumpkins. They were lucky enough to attend a class after admiring these doctors for a long time. They were extremely grateful, they would not say anything nor shout.

Daisy and the others looked at each other.

"Apologize or go out." Ron's friend said again.

"What the hell are you talking about? I don't listen to you anymore. You bastard!" Wade cursed loudly. He was not a good-tempered man.

"Haha, he's indeed not a good person."

Dr. Zhao stood there and didn't say anything, just looking at Daisy and others.

With a flick of his sleeves, Wade was about to walk out of the hall.

Daisy and the other girls were also unhappy. They stood up and walked out of the hall.

Henry's voice rang out at this moment.

"Confront? Well, who wants to confront me?"

Henry, who was wearing a suit and taking light steps, came in from outside.

"Teacher, it's him." Seeing Henry, Ron sneered.

"Oh?" Rick glanced at Henry and said unpleasantly, "Young man, is it because of your medical skills that you were talking bad about us when you were outside just now?"

Looking at the face of Doctor Zhao, Ron and the others showed joy in their eyes. "Boy, let's see how arrogant you are now."

"Dr. Zhao, you misunderstood. My brother-in-law didn't say anything about you just now." Daisy explained in a hurry.

"Yes." Henry also nodded. "You misunderstood."

Looking at Henry's attitude, Ron and the others all sneered. "Didn't he just act quite arrogantly? Why did he become so timid now?"

They were about to say something and beat Henry to a pulp, but they couldn't say a word about what he said next.

"I don't even know who you are, so why should I say bad things about you? Am I very idle? Or are you famous?" Henry looked at Doctor Zhao with a strange face.

Doctor Zhao was a little confused by his words. After a few seconds, he came to his senses and pointed at Henry with trembling hands. "Young man, you are very arrogant!"

"It's none of your business whether I'm arrogant or not. Let's talk about right now." Henry smiled indifferently. After telling Daisy and others to sit down, he strode toward the podium.

"This guy is so lawless!" Seeing that Henry didn't take his master seriously, Ron was furious. "Who let him in? Let him get out of here! This is not his place to stay."

"Don't worry, I'll give you an answer right away." Henry turned his head and smiled at Ron. Then he snapped his fingers and said loudly, "President Ma, please choose a patient who has weak muscles and arms and put it on the screen."

Henry's words shocked Ron and others. What was this person doing? How could he directly command President Ma?

Daisy and the others didn't think so much. They all knew that the lesson this time had something to do with Lins Group. The lecturer was hired by Lins Group. As the husband of the head of Lins Group, it should be normal for Henry to issue an order.

As soon as Henry's voice fell, a picture of the patient's weak muscles appeared on the big screen.

Henry strode to the podium, unbuttoned his suit, threw his jacket, and stood in front of the microphone in only a shirt.

The entire display hall became silent at this moment. Everyone looked at him. Some people guessed what he was going to do, and some people guessed. What was he doing?

"Hello, hello!" Henry tested the tone of the microphone and then said. His voice, through the microphone, was clearly heard by everyone.

Chapter 119

"Everybody, originally I was not so irritated, but some things just happened and made me very unhappy. According to the original schedule, I was invited by President Ma to tell you a new medical concept, as well as a demonstration of the acupuncture technique like shaking needles. But now, I have something else to do first, such as making a comparison with that doctor."

Henry pointed to the place where Rick Zhao was standing. As soon as his voice fell, the whole hall was in an uproar.

Daisy and others opened their mouths wide and looked at the podium in surprise. Today, the news about the highly-skilled doctor's lecture spread throughout the whole campus. Everyone knew it, but Daisy and others had never thought that the highly-skilled doctor was Henry!

Rick and Ron, and the others were all a little confused. What did he mean? This man was the miracle-working doctor who was going to give a lecture today? This...

Ron felt a shiver in his heart. He did not expect that this person in front of him was actually the magical doctor? How... how could this be possible?

As for questioning Henry's words, they didn't do it at all. Now President Ma of Ning Province Medical Association and Lewis Yan were both there. Who could pretend to be a miracle doctor?

"That's enough. Everyone, calm down." Henry raised his hands and pressed down the void.

The previously noisy display hall became quiet again.

"Let's do things one by one. Since the doctor wants to confront me, I'll do it. Please take a look at the screen." Henry made a gesture of inviting everyone to look at the case map.

"The patient on the picture is born weak and can't raise his arms above his heads. It's difficult for him to train. What do you think is the reason?"

"It's possible that the meridians of the arms are damaged."

"Qi and blood are not in a good condition."

"Maybe it has something to do with the bones."

As soon as Henry finished speaking, all the physicians began to speak, just like the students who rushed to answer the teacher's questions in the class.

Henry nodded and said, "Let's add three more conditions. The bones are intact, the Qi and blood are smooth, and the meridians are connected. So, please think about it again."

After Henry added these three conditions, these doctors fell into a temporary silence.

"It's not easy to judge. You have to touch his bones."

"Yes, or should take a X-ray."

Henry smiled and said, "Guys, do you think that there is something wrong with the neck, which could affect the arms?"

After Henry finished, many old doctors' eyes lit up.

"Very likely! There is a saying in our doctors of Chinese Medicine that a slight change will affect the whole body. If there is something wrong with the shoulder and neck, and it would indeed affect the arms. The root cause of this disease can't be found in the arms."

"That's right. It's indeed a good idea to start."

A group of doctors came up with many possibilities and began to discuss.

Ron, who was sitting in his seat, had a very ugly look on his face at this moment.

"Well, I'll tell you another way." Henry stopped everyone's discussion and said, "If you don't start from the neck, you should stimulate the pressure points of the neck as much as possible. What do you think?"

"Try to stimulate the acupuncture points as much as possible?" An old Chinese medicine doctor was confused. After thinking for a few seconds, he said, "I don't think it's right. If the patient's arm is fine, the Qi and blood are smooth, and the meridians are active, then the patient's arm is likely to be stained with blood if the patient is stimulated again. The result of this effect is likely to make the patient's arms lose function forever."

"That's right. I'm sure this method won't work."

"It's all nonsense."

"It's like a man who doesn't know medicine and talks nonsense."

One physician after another denied Henry's statement.

In the seat, Ron's face turned pale. He looked terrible. His friend was no longer as arrogant as he was just now.

Henry smiled and looked at the place where Rick was. He said, "Doctor, it seems that we don't need to confront each other again. The so-called method that your apprentice worked out with you has already been rejected by so many people present."

"What? Rick came up with the method of stimulating the acupuncture point just now?" A doctor asked on the spot.

It could be said that Rick was absolutely a famous doctor. How could he come up with such a stupid method? Even with a little common sense, he would not come up with such a method.

"Don't talk nonsense!" Rick scolded. "When did I come up with such a method?"

"Dr. Zhao, your apprentice just told us that this is the method that you worked out together. My brother-in-law said that the method was wrong, so he was laughed at by your apprentice. Just now, you also asked my brother-in-law to come out and confront you." Daisy said to Dr. Zhao.

Doctor Zhao immediately understood what was going on. He glared at Ron with a furious face and said, "Ron, what did you say?! You openly told everyone about this kind of vicious method, and also said that it was what I said? What were you thinking?"

Ron was so frightened that he shivered all over. "This, I..." He hurriedly lowered his head and did not dare to look into Rick's eyes. He could not say that he did not have any ulterior motives. He just wanted to show off in front of a beautiful woman, but he was exposed, right?

Rick was so angry that he could not help gasping for air.

"Well, I don't think it's necessary to carry on. No matter how much we talk about it, the result will be the same." Henry waved his hand and the casebook behind him was closed.

Henry picked up the microphone. "Everyone, I know very well why you are here today, and so do you. With regards to the so-called medical principles, you have already had your own ideas after so many years of working in this industry. If I tell you, you may also feel that I am talking nonsense, so I won't say anything boring or polite. What I want to talk about today are only two points. First, creation, I will tell you later about that. The second point is the brain!"

Henry pointed at his head and continued, "President Ma, may I ask, do you have confidence in my medical skills?"

"Of course." President Ma, who was sitting in the first row, said without hesitation. A person could do the shaking needles, could for sure do many other things. It was as if a person had a Lamborghini. Did he only have a Lamborghini? Lamborghini was not his property, it was just a reflection of his wealth.

It was the same with Henry. The shaking needles were not all his medical skills, but only the reflection of his medical skills.

"Okay." Henry nodded and asked, "President Ma, I'm going to teach you medical skills now. Would you like to learn it? How much do you believe in what I want to teach you?"

"Of course I am willing to learn. I believe everything you want to teach me."

"Everything? Haha." Henry laughed and said, "President Ma, I tell you that if I chop off your head with my axe, I can save you. Do you believe it?"

As soon as Henry finished speaking, there was a burst of laughter in the hall.

"This..." President Ma's face was a little embarrassed. "Young master, although I believe in your medical skills, I certainly can't believe such unrealistic things."

"Yes, unrealistic things, don't believe it." Henry raised his head and looked at the last rows of seats in the comprehensive hall. "Everyone, you are students, but you must have the ability to distinguish right from wrong. Some things are wrong, but you should be brave enough to question them. Don't follow them blindly."

Hearing Henry's words, those who had no brains to support Ron just now felt extremely ashamed. At the same time, they blamed Ron for this matter. "If you hadn't been pretending, how would we have done such a thing!"

Chapter 120

In the lecture, although there were countless elders in the medical field, no one dared to disagree. Mater Yan was sitting there listening carefully, and didn't dare to speak.

Henry talked about many new ideas, which made some doctors confused, while some were excited, as if they had discovered a new continent.

Soon, the lecture came to the part that everyone was looking forward to the most.

This was a demonstration of a shaking needle! Penetrating into the wooden table with the shaking needles!

When the doctors heard the news at that time, their first reaction was that they didn't believe it. The lesson this time was also a process for them to seek confirmation.

A camera was accurately locked in Henry's right hand, and the action of his hand was shown on the big screen.

Everyone was watching carefully and concentrated as if they were afraid of missing something.

On the right side of Henry, there was a solid wooden table with a cotton bag on it. All kinds of silver needles were inserted in the cotton bag.

"Gentlemen, the technique of the shaking needles lies in the cooperation between the fingers and the wrists. I will slowly explain this kind of thing to you later."

Henry said through the microphone. As soon as his voice fell, his right hand, under the capture of the camera, quickly took out a steel needle. With a flick of his wrist, half of the steel needle went into the table.

"Inserting needle under the influence of the wrist!" An old doctor with gray hair exclaimed, and his eyes stared at the screen. "It turned out to be the way of twisting the wrist. The long-lost method of putting the needle has appeared again."

"Mr. Guo, is there any explanation for this?" A doctor asked curiously.

"Of course." The old doctor nodded. "The difficulty of shaking the wrist and planting the needle is no less than shaking the needle. But many people won't notice this. By shaking the wrist, the most strength can stimulate the silver needle to stimulate the acupuncture points as fast as possible. Under certain circumstances, just the technique of shaking the wrist and planting the needle can save your life."

On the screen, Henry's hand was as fast as a phantom, and he couldn't even be caught the camera clearly. The silver needles in the cotton bag were reduced one by one, and more and more silver needles were stuck on the table. At this moment, the solid wooden table was like tofu, which could not stop the silver needles from piercing in at all.

A total of thirteen needles were all stuck on the table. If looked carefully, the arrangement of these needles seemed to have some kind of connection, but it was also difficult to imagine what that connection was.

A doctor held his breath and looked at the silver needles stuck on the table. Suddenly, his eyes lit up as if he had thought of something. He couldn't help trembling and shouted, "Acupuncture points! He simulated the human pressure points on the table. This is... incredible! He's so familiar with the human pressure points that he can imitate them on the table!"

The doctors who were still confused about the connection of these silver needles just now suddenly realized what had happened after hearing what he said.

"Those are acupuncture points!"

"Left a little space for the heart, and the rest of the needles were all on the acupuncture points."

"That's not all!" Another senior physician stood up and looked excitedly at the stage. "Young master, tell me, did you do it with the Thirteen Deadly Needles?"

"Thirteen Deadly Needles!"

"It's known to be the needle technique that can kill the Yama!"

"Impossible!"

All the physicians couldn't help but speak. Everyone turned their eyes to the stage to get their response.

Henry nodded. "Yes."

"Oh my god, it's really the 13 Deadly Needles!"

"Teacher, what's so special about the 13 Deadly Needles? Isn't it just sticking 13 silver needles in the acupuncture points? If this is the case, isn't it enough to call these 13 acupuncture points as the 13 Deadly Needles?" A young doctor asked the teacher beside him.

"Of course not." The old doctor shook his head. "With 13 Deadly Needles, the needles are different, and there is a mystery hidden in the needles. The simplest point is that when each silver needle is inserted into the body, it can achieve the effect of locking the Qi!"

"The Qi lock! Each of them!" The young doctor opened his mouth wide. He studied traditional Chinese medicine and had heard of the that Qi lock. If a person could use silver needles to lock Qi, then it meant that this person's acupuncture level had already reached the extraordinary level. And the 13 Deadly Needles, each of them could actually achieve the effect of Qi lock, and it was still the most basic? This... was unbelievable!

"Look, it's shaking, it's shaking! It's a shaking needle indeed!" Someone shouted.

Everyone's eyes were focused on the big screen. On the screen, the 13 silver needles that were stuck on the table were shaking at an extremely subtle and fast frequency.

At this moment, there was no exclamation or screaming. There was only holding his breath and concentrating.

Everyone was staring intently at the screen, not even daring to breathe. Their eyes were as if they were appreciating a piece of art.

Even though Lewis Yan and others had seen the shaking needles before, at this time, their eyes were still attracted by the shaking needles and showed a fascinating look.

After a long time, the gray-haired old doctor was the first to regain his strength and couldn't help saying, "Put the needle in by twisting the wrist and make 1/3 of the needles penetrate into wood. He imitated the acupuncture points of the human body on the empty table, and even used the 13 Deadly Needles to add the needles into his body! This is... a monster!"

No one refuted the old doctor's words. He could do so many things with just one needle. If he was not a monster, what was he? Genius was not enough to describe him!

"Chinese medicine can be saved! Chinese medicine can be saved!" Someone shouted, with tears in his eyes. What Henry showed was not just what surprised him, but moved him. Such a superb technique could make people unable to be jealous. For Chinese medicine practitioners, it was a supreme honor!

"Young master, who is your master? Which master?" Someone couldn't help asking.

"Sorry, I can't tell you." Henry smiled and said, "Everyone, this is the end of the lecture. The first class of the Lins Group will officially be held in a week. I think the condition has been told to all of you. During this period, you can sign up."

As soon as Henry finished his words, someone couldn't wait to say something.

"Sign up! I want to sign up!"

"Me too!"

"President Ma, I'll send you the information of all the people in our clinic now. You must give us this quota!"

Henry looked at this scene and smiled with satisfaction. It seemed that the teaching that he had prepared was effective.

Just as many doctors scrambled to sign up, Henry spoke again, "By the way, President Ma, there are some people that we don't accept. For example, the one who talks nonsense, the one who doesn't differentiate between right and wrong, and... the one who blindly follows."

As soon as Henry's voice fell, Rick, Ron, and the others suddenly changed their faces. "Is he just talking about me?"

Chapter 121

Henry's words made all the people in the hall look at Rick. Some of the people who were familiar with him showed pity in their eyes.

It would be a waste of such a good opportunity for Rick.

Rick's face changed a few times, and he said in a low voice, "Young master, it's just a misunderstanding between you and me. Don't you think you're too petty?"

"That's right. I have offended you, it had nothing to do with my master!" Ron also opened his mouth and hurried to remedy it. He did not care about whether he could learn something from Henry. What he cared about now was that his master would vent his anger on him. In this case, his future for the rest of his life would be gone.

"You think? I don't think so." Henry laughed and pointed behind him. "Please look at the screen. This is the video I just recorded with my mobile phone."

On the big screen behind Henry, Ron was making a scene outside the hall.

"Let me tell you, the patient is sick, and the ones who are treating him are us, doctors! I can treat him in my own way. It's not your turn to talk nonsense!"

Ron's eyes were arrogant and his words were harsh.

Such words made the doctors sitting in the hall open their eyes wide at the moment. They said that they could treat him in whatever way they wanted, making them wonder if they had misheard him.

"Wicked guy! He's a good-for-nothing!"

"Rick Zhao, you have been a doctor for decades, and you have a good reputation in the industry. Why do you teach such a disciple? The patient put his life in our hands, and we should be responsible for him. We can treat him as we like?! Is it said by a doctor? Is it said by a person?"

"This kind of person is not worthy of practicing medicine!"

In the hall, scolding voices rose one after another. Some of the old physicians were even more excited.

"Doctor Zhao, I, Henry Zhang, am not the target of this matter. Before everyone practices medicine, we will always remember the words 'heart of the doctor's parents'. There is an old saying in China, 'The son's committing mistakes should be blamed to his father's failure to teach him. If your disciple can say such words, it is directly related to you. Now, please go out.'

Henry held the microphone and made a gesture of invitation.

Rick's face darkened, and he looked at Ron with a trembling body.

"Master, I..." Ron's face turned pale.

"B*stard!" Rick heavily waved his arm and slapped Ron in the face. The voice was clear and loud. "I don't have a disciple like you. From today onwards, I'm not your teacher!"

After Rick's slap ended, he ignored Ron. He turned around and bowed to Henry, who was standing on the stage. "Young master, you're right. For an evil disciple to say something like this, it does indeed have something to do with me. I think I'm a good doctor, but I'm not a good teacher. I've learned a lot from what happened today!"

After Rick finished his words, he turned around and walked out of the hall.

Ron had a panicked look on his face. He called out the teacher and hurried out to follow him.

The person who had been following Ron did not dare to make a sound now. He followed Ron gloomily and went out of the hall. As for the students who had just ridiculed Henry with Ron, they also had no face to stay here and went out of the hall.

Outside the general hall, Ron stood there in a daze. He knew that today's thing made him have no possibility of practicing medicine in the latter half of his life. So many predecessors in the medical field were here today. Although China was big, there was no place which would accept him.

"You are pretending to be sad, aren't you? You didn't only talk nonsense, but you even hurt us." A student came out and looked at Ron with a look of dissatisfaction.

"That's right. What kind of miracle-working doctor is he? He's standing in front of you, but you don't even know him. What the hell!"

"Bah!"

A series of mocking sounds sounded in Ron's ears. Ron's heart completely sank to the bottom. His whole person was also pushed into a bottomless abyss. On the road of medicine, there would never be a day when he could turn over.

In the hall, Henry's lecture continued. After he performed so many magical acupuncture techniques, everyone's attitude toward him became more respectful.

As the saying went, one who reached the highest level was the first to learn. At this moment, age seemed to be not so important. Academic study was the first priority.

Daisy and the others sat on their seats, looking at Henry on the stage and feeling excited.

"Daisy, brother-in-law is really handsome. If he isn't married yet, I would chase after him." Amy put her two small hands together tightly and said excitedly.

Lam blinked her long eyelashes and said, "I would chase him, too."

"You damned girl!" Amy reached out and pinched the soft flesh on Lam's waist. "You want to be my rival in love with me?"

"That's right. What do you think, hahaha."

Henry originally set the time for the lecture in the morning, but the doctors who arrived here were too enthusiastic. After the lecture was dismissed, they asked Henry one by one for advice. It was not until 4 o'clock in the afternoon that he was finally free.

In this way, the doctors were still unsatisfied and said that they must ask Henry for advice in the next training.

Henry wiped the sweat from his forehead. He didn't feel like a teacher at all. He was like a little girl who had been bullied one by one.

A few minutes after he had some free time, Daisy, Wade and a few other people started to pester him again.

"Hello, brother-in-law!" As soon as Wade saw Henry, he stood straight, like a recruit meeting an instructor.

"Magic Doctor, can you give us a chance to perform?" Amy said as if she was joking.

"Hum." Henry crossed his arms over his chest, looked Amy up and down, and said in a frivolous tone, "Little girl, how are you going to do it? I have a very high requirement."

"Really?" Amy twisted her slim waist and stretched out her arms to wrap around Henry's neck like a water snake. "What do you think of picking, Mr. Zhang? Hum?"

Amy exhaled like a orchid, with a delicate fragrance. Her youth was accompanied by a sense of charm, which was particularly exciting.

Henry smiled awkwardly and said, "Well... let's do something else, such as running, playing ping-pong or something else."

"Tsk." Amy curled her lips and pushed Henry away. She turned around and looked at Wade and others with a proud face. "See? I told you that brother-in-law is a henpecked."

Henry, who was a little timid at first, immediately jumped up when he heard this. "Who said my wife is strict? My status at home is beyond your imagination!"

"Come on, brother-in-law!" Daisy covered her mouth and chuckled. "If you are in charge, then do you dare to sing with us at night?"

"Fine, I'll go. What's there to be afraid of!" Henry patted his chest.

At eight o'clock in the evening, it was getting dark. Henry belched and wandered around the drinking street near the university with Daisy.

Chapter 122

It was the first time for Henry to come to the wine street of the university town with the idea of drinking. The street vendors, the fragrant snacks, all made Henry feel very interested.

Daisy and others were very experienced. They chose a KTV, booked a room, ordered a beer set, sat in it and began to sing.

Wade's two followers gave Henry a cigarette and a glass of wine, which made Henry a little embarrassed.

At half past nine in the evening, the sky had completely darkened. Henry and the others were also playing happily when the door of the box was suddenly kicked open.

Kicking open the door, it was a young man with short brush cut hair. He looked like a student. Behind the short-haired young man, there were a few followers.

At the sight of the man, Wade, who was still singing, frowned and put down the microphone. "Ivan Guo, what are you doing?"

The short-haired young man named Ivan Guo stretched and crossed his arms behind his head. He looked around casually and said, "I don't mean anything bad. I just want to see it. What's the matter? Why didn't you look me first when you arrived at the wine street?"

Wade's underlings all stood up and shouted at Ivan, "Who do you think you are? Making Wade say hello to you!"

Another younger brother, Ken Yang, also snorted. "They are all from the Green Leaf. Do you think you are qualified to make our brother Wade say hello to you?"

"Do you want to die?" Ivan's henchman also scolded him.

"It doesn't matter. Let them talk tough." Ivan waved his hand indifferently to his men and continued, "Wade, I think you'd better not call yourself Green Leaf. It's not shameful to say that your elder brother is a good-for-nothing now. Leopard Kurata? Haha, you are already a good-for-nothing! If someone disable your hands, you shouldn't have the face to claim to be the boss of Green Leaf. Now he should be replaced by our elder brother Long!"

"What did you say?" When Wade heard this, he directly stood up and rushed toward Ivan while waving his fist.

Ivan didn't move. Two men directly came out from behind him and pressed Wade against the wall so that he couldn't move. The two men were obviously not students. The machetes at their waists were shocking.

Ivan did not look at Wade, but looked at the three women in the box. "Wade, you said that you arrived at the wine street and didn't say hello to me first. How to solve this issue? Why don't you let these beautiful women talk with us?"

Wade was pressed against the wall by the two of them. He gritted his teeth and squeezed out a sentence, "Ivan, don't push your luck!"

"Push my luck? So what if I want to push my luck?" Ivan smiled and did not take Wade and others seriously at all.

Ivan said as he walked towards the room.

"If you take another step forward, I'll break your legs." Henry, who had been sitting there without saying a word, picked up a glass of iced beer and gulped it down.

Upon hearing Henry's words, all the Wade's followers who were afraid of the two guys with machetes felt greatly relieved.

"That's right. My brother-in-law is here. What am I afraid of?"

Henry's existence made them feel as if there is nothing to worry about.

The things that Henry did in the casino that day were still vivid in their minds. Facing dozens of professional fighters, Henry held the field by himself. No one dared to resist. Ivan was nothing compared with those professional fighters!

Ivan subconsciously stood where he was and looked at Henry. "Who do you think you are?"

Wade, who was held down, smiled and said, "Ivan, my brother-in-law is here today. I don't want to get into trouble. I advise you not to get into trouble."

"Really? Then I'm going to get into trouble?" Ivan looked at Henry provocatively and pretended to be slow. He raised his right leg and took a step forward.

A contemptuous smile hung on Ivan's face. It seemed that he was saying to Henry, "Try to touch me."

Henry sat in the seat and watched Ivan's feet slowly lift and then fall. The moment Ivan's feet touched the ground, Henry picked up the bottle on the table with and threw it at Ivan's head.

The beer bottle was smashed on Ivan's forehead. He also subconsciously covered his forehead and took a few steps back.

"You... ah!"

Ivan had just spoken tough words when he felt a sharp pain in his leg. The pain made him unable to say anything else. He could only scream.

Henry put the broken bottle in Ivan's calf with force, and blood spilled on the ground. Such a direct and bloody scene made the two men who pressed Wade take a deep breath.

They were active in the wine shop near the university town with machetes hanging on their waists, which could only frighten the college students. If they really wanted to do something, they absolutely would not dare to do it.

Henry listened to Ivan's scream and snorted. "If you don't have the strength, don't follow the example of others to show off. Get out!"

Ivan sat on the ground, looking at his bleeding calves. His eyes were red, and he was trembling with fear.

The two men holding Wade looked at each other and forced themselves to calm down. Then, they said to Henry, "Brothers, which gang do we belong to? Our Green Leaf's men cannot be beaten like this!"

"Ha." Henry chuckled, sat down on the sofa and poured himself a glass of beer. "I'll count to three. Whoever dares to stand in this room, I'll disable him."

Henry picked up his glass and said without even raising his eyes, "One."

When Henry said disable, the people brought by Ivan felt a burst of palpitation. They just saw with their own eyes how the ruthless man in front of them did it. He did not hesitate at all.

"Two." Henry put the glass to his mouth and drank it.

"Good! You have guts. I want to see how you will get out of this street today!" The two men who held Wade loosened their hands and dragged Ivan, who was sitting on the ground and crying with his legs crossed, out of the box.

The room became quiet again.

Wade let out a sigh of relief and smiled bitterly at Henry. "Brother-in-law, I'm sorry to make you laugh at me this time."

Henry frowned and asked curiously, "Is there any internal conflict within the Green Leaf Society?"

Wade nodded and said, "Brother-in-law, you don't know that the Green Leaf Society has always been the largest underground association in Yinzhou. It can be said that the Big Boss, Thunder Monster, has forbidden us from doing anything illegal. In addition to fighting hard, he doesn't let the members of the Green Leaf touch gambling and drugs, and doesn't let the people in the underworld reach the university town. It can be said that the Green Leaf is an underground umbrella of protection. But some time ago, the Big Boss, Thunder Monster, had successively changed his position and gave up the president to the Big Miss, which caused many people to be unconvinced, so..."

"So they're divided into two factions?" Henry rolled his eyes. This was a movie plot!

Chapter 123

Wade also felt that this plot was somewhat dramatic. He smiled at Henry embarrassedly and said, "Brother-in-law, it's like this. Originally, there were people inside Green Leaf who refused to obey Big Miss. As a result, Green Leaf did several more things. My elder brother Leopard Kurata, the original second master of Green Leaf, was seriously injured in several fights. Now his hands are completely destroyed. The person who coveted my elder brother's position jumped out all of a sudden."

Henry nodded thoughtfully. He had fought with the Leopard, so he had a general understanding of the strength of the Leopard. When dealing with ordinary people, Leopard Kurata was an expert, but for the practitioner, his skills were very ordinary. And recently, Green Leaf had fought several times, Henry also knew that Leopard was obviously not a match for those people. Several times when he fought, he had been seriously injured. Moreover, in terms of the relationship between them, he had to call Leopard uncle.

In the past, Henry would have been too lazy to deal with such underworld matters. But now, he and Helen had so many things connecting them. Green Leaf was in internal strife, and he couldn't just sit back and watch.

Henry asked Wade again, "Who is the brother Dragon he just mentioned?"

Wade replied, "Brother Dragon is a spectator in the university town. He is very good at fighting. It is said that he retired from the runner-up of the provincial tournament. Over the years, my big brother has been sitting in the second-in-command position. Brother Dragon was very dissatisfied in his heart. Now my big brother is injured, he immediately wants to take the position. But he doesn't dare to show it too obviously. He just lets his people bully us in the university town."

Henry listened and felt a little funny. In his eyes, Wade's dignified behavior was like a child's play.

It was not that Henry had never encountered such a case of usurping for power, but the only thing he had encountered was to bury the bomb and kill the murderer. The way this brother Dragon did things was quite different from the other way around.

"Okay." Hearing this, Henry was not in the mood to deal with it. Helen should have no problem dealing with this so-called brother Dragon.

Because of what happened to Ivan, the three girls in the room sang a few more songs, and they had no interest, so they were ready to leave.

As soon as they walked out of the door, they saw a crowd of people gathering around the door of the bar. The leader was the two young men with knives who had just held Wade. Ivan was supported by someone and stood aside.

Seeing this, Wade's face immediately darkened.

"Ivan, do you want to put an end to this?"

"Wade, it's none of your business now! I'm going to get even with him!" Ivan pointed at Henry. "Boy, weren't you arrogant just now? Why don't you continue to be arrogant and show me?"

Henry looked at the black mass of people gathering outside the bar. There were at least more than 30 of them.

Henry remained calm in the face of these people.

"Brother-in-law, let's call the police." Daisy and the other two girls stood behind him with some fear. In this kind of situation, even the boys were afraid of it, let alone the girls.

"I'm fine." Henry patted Daisy's shoulder and comforted her. He took a step forward and looked at the 30 people in front of him. He said,

"Whoever wants to fight, stand out!"

As soon as Henry finished speaking, more than 30 people around the bar looked at each other. None of them took the first step.

Henry had already expected this scene. These people seemed to have a large number of people, but to put it bluntly, they were all here to join in the fun. The person who really wanted to help Ivan get revenge would really take action at the first sight of him.

Ivan felt a little embarrassed when he saw that the people he called were unmoved, so he winked at his men beside him.

Seeing so many people on his side, the henchman was also confident. He took a deep breath and strode out. "I'm going to fight you today. What do you think?"

As soon as the underling finished his words, Henry grabbed his collar and slapped him in the face, making a loud and clear sound, which stunned the underling on the spot.

"Get out!" Henry kicked his man back into the crowd and continued, "Who else wants to fight?"

None of these people dared to make a sound, including the two young men with machetes hanging at their waists. None of them dared to make a noise now.

It could be said that such a scene made people want to laugh. More than 30 people were aggressive, but they were scared by one person and dared not to say a word.

Just as the atmosphere was a little awkward, a frivolous voice sounded outside the crowd.

"Who is it? Making trouble in Green Leaf's territory?"

Hearing this voice, Ivan and others were all happy, while Wade's face was even darker.

The crowd spread out a road. A short man, who was about 1.6 meters tall, walked over from the road with his hands clasped behind his back toward Henry and the others. The rest of the people respectfully called him Brother Tiger.

"Who is this?" Henry asked curiously. Every time there was something big happened to Green Leaf, Henry would not see so many people. Today, it was a good day.

Wade whispered, "Brother Tiger, he is Brother Dragon's right-hand man. As long as he is here, Brother Dragon will naturally not be far away. If he is here, today's matter will be difficult to deal with."

Wade's face was very ugly. Obviously, he was still very afraid of the so-called brother Dragov.

Brother Tiger, who was only 1.6 meters tall, walked up to Henry and lit a cigarette for himself. He looked up at Henry and said, "Boy, are you really arrogant? Do you know whose territory this is?"

Wade took the initiative to say, "Brother Tiger, we shouldn't be blamed for this. It's Ivan..."

"Shut up!" Brother Tiger shouted and glared at Wade. "Do you want me to talk to you? You're so rude!"

"Yes... I'm sorry." Wade lowered his head and looked very reserved. "It's just that Brother Tiger..."

"I told you to shut up. Didn't you hear that?" Brother Tiger threw the cigarette in his hand at Wade. Sparks splashed on Wade's body, and he didn't dare to move.

Brother Tiger's eyes returned to Henry. "You asked me just now. Who else wants to fight? You can beat Green Leaf's men?"

"Brother Tiger, this matter has nothing to do with my brother-in-law. It's just a personal affair between Ivan and me..."

"I want you to shut up!" Brother Tiger raised his foot and kicked Wade directly.

A cold light flashed in Henry's eyes. He clenched his fists. Just as he was about to make a move, he heard another shout.

"Ah Hu! Let's go! Something happened!" An impatient voice came from outside the crowd.

At the same time, the people around Henry bowed in unison and called out "Brother Dragon".

Henry also happened to see this so-called brother Dragon. He was a strong man. The calves exposed in the air were full of explosive power. At a glance, it was obvious that he was a master of martial arts.

Brother Tiger, who was in a bad mood, said something bad to Henry after hearing the three words. He was so lucky that he made a gesture of cutting his own throat to Henry.

Henry's mobile phone rang at this time, and Helen's anxious voice rang on the phone.

"Henry, Black Thunder and Four Direction Sect have come!"

Chapter 124

Rainbow Private Club was located in the suburb of Yinzhou. In the eyes of most citizens, there was only one impression of this club- expensive!

Club covered a large area with a vermilion gate. People who didn't have a strong family background could just look at it.

In the parking lot in front of the entrance of the Rainbow private club, usually there are only luxurious cars, but there was an exception today.

A RAV 4 was parked in the parking lot. Compared with the cars such as Mercedes-Benz and Land-Rover, this RAV 4 was quite eye-catching.

The car door opened, and Henry got out with Wade, Daisy, and the other two girls.

The Rainbow Club did not have a fancy decoration. Instead, it was a place like a private chateau. At this time, the sky had already turned dark. At this time, the vermilion door was like a bloody mouth in the middle of the night.

In front of the main entrance of the club stood a row of men in black suits.

Wade saw with his own eyes that brother Dragon and Brother Tiger had entered the club.

Wade swallowed a mouthful of saliva and said, "Brother-in-law, are you going to take us in? I heard that they were booked up by Green Leaf tonight and said that there was a big matter to solve."

"Let's go. I'll bring you in to have a look." Henry patted Wade's shoulder and strode towards the entrance of the club.

Henry immediately came over after receiving Helen's call. There was only one reason why he brought Wade here. He was waiting to help Wade vent his anger.

Wade pulled Henry's sleeve and said cautiously, "Brother-in-law, we may not be able to get in."

"Aren't you one of Green Leaf's men?" Henry looked at Wade curiously.

Wade nodded and said, "Brother-in-law, I'm their man, but my level is not high enough."

"It doesn't matter." Henry waved his hand indifferently. "Just wait for you to act a little bit."

After that, Henry did not wait for Wade to speak again and went straight to the front door. At this time, Wade had no time to persuade him, so he had to follow Henry. When they approached the gate, Wade was a little frightened, for fear of being discovered by others. The rules of the Green Leaf Gang were very strict. The association had important things to do, and he came here without an invitation. He would be punished heavily.

Seeing that they were getting closer and closer to the door, Wade became more and more nervous in his heart, and he unconsciously lowered his head.

"Stop, what are you doing!" One of the men in a suit shouted, and Wade was so scared that he started to tremble.

Wade looked up and saw that the people around him were looking at him as expected.

"I..." Wade opened his mouth. Before he could speak, he heard Henry's voice.

"We work for Leopard!"

"Leopard? Why I haven't seen you before?" One of the underlings asked in confusion. Through the dark night, he couldn't recognize Henry's face. When he saw Henry's face clearly, he couldn't help but shiver and his legs went weak. He was the one who had participated in the big fights in Rosy Night Club and Roman Holiday Inn, so he had a very deep impression of the man in front of him.

"What's wrong? Haven't you seen us before?" Henry's mouth curved into a smile.

The henchman who was talking quickly lowered his head. "Yes, yes, please come in."

Henry snorted, turned his head and waved to Daisy and the others, and then strode into the gate.

He let out a sigh of relief and hurried to catch up with Henry.

When they entered the vermilion gate and stepped on the dirt road, the shade of the trees in front of them became fierce and threatening, as if a group of demons were going to swallow the whole world in the future.

"Brother-in-law, it looks a bit scary." Lam held one of Amy's arms, and her whole body was curled up.

"Brother-in-law, what are we doing here?" Daisy asked in confusion.

"Of course we came for revenge!" Henry answered without thinking, "Those people were so arrogant just now. Did they pretend to run away?"

After passing through this shady path, they saw that the lights were bright. The two floor-like villas were built in the manor, and each villa was brightly lit.

Around the villa there are wooden gazebos, barbecue grills, and even rockery, artificial creeks. There are fish swimming in the clear stream. Many chic things, showing the expensive price of the clubhouse.

At the entrance of an underground cellar, there stood four members of the Green Leaf in suits. As soon as Henry and the other five people appeared, they were questioned.

"We are Leopard's men," Henry said the same sentence. After that, he was brought into an underground cellar.

The entrance of the wine cellar was very narrow, which was only wide enough for two people to walk side by side. The steps built with mud were very old-fashioned. When Henry walked up the first step, he could smell the strong aroma of the wine. The further he walked in, the wider the road was until he appeared in a hall. In the hall, there was a bottle of grape wine. Beside each bottle of wine, there was written the year and process of making wine.

The floor of the hall was covered with white tiles, and a huge crystal chandelier hung over the top of the head. When the lights were turned on, colorful lights shone on the expensive solid wood wine cabinet.

It was the first time for Daisy and the other two girls to come to this kind of chateau, and they looked at the wine curiously.

"Hello, do you want any wine?" A young and handsome male waiter, dressed in a black and white vest, walked out of a corner of the hall and asked respectfully.

Henry smiled and shook his head. "No."

"Please follow me." The waiter made a gesture of inviting them, and then turned his head to lead the way.

If they didn't enter the underground cellar, no one would have thought that there was a different world in the underground cellar just on the ground. They entered through a narrow entrance, and the space inside was unexpectedly large.

Henry and the other five people followed the waiter, passing through several wine cellar halls in a row, and finally stopped in front of a wine cabinet.

The waiter put his hand on the third row of the fifth bottle of red wine on the wine cabinet. With a gentle twist, the wine cabinet let out a squeaking sound and slowly moved away in front of Daisy and the other two women, including Wade's shocked eyes.

"Please." The waiter bent down and made a gesture.

As the wine cabinet slowly moved away, the scene behind the wine cabinet also came into view. Except for Henry, the other four people's mouths were wide open.

What appeared in front of them was an underground boxing field! From the perspective of the whole boxing field, it was the size of at least two football fields. In the field, there were not only the fighting ring that was commonly used for boxing, but also an iron cage! On the iron cage, there were dried bloodstains, which were black. It was unknown how many people left blood on it.

For everything happening here, Daisy and others had never thought about it.

Henry looked at all this calmly. Helen had just sent him a message to tell him about the things here, but even if she did not say it, Henry would not be surprised. He knew that almost every city had such an unknown place.
