

Chapter 434

After the model took the stone and went on the stage, an old man over 60 years old also went on the stage and shouted, "Dear guests, the surface of this stone is already black. There is a saying in the stone field that black goes with the green, and green depends on the black. The green may not be black on the surface, but if the surface is black, then it almost confirms that there will be green inside. As for what can be cut out, it depends on your fate. The starting price of this stone is three thousand yuan, and each next bid should no less than five hundred yuan."

As soon as the old man's voice fell, people under the stage immediately shouted for a price.

"5,000!"

12:51 ■

"8,000!"

"9,000!"

There were continuous calls for price. This kind of stone, which could be seen to be black, would usually be sold at a price of more than 20,000 yuan. A few thousand yuan was too cheap. This kind of stone that could contain jade would be coveted by many people. After all, the most important part of stone gambling was gambling itself. There was already a guarantee that there was something green inside which had already eliminated great risks. The rest depended on one's luck, whether it was worth it or not.

This bidding did not stop until it reached 32,000 yuan.

Henry nodded. Jenny's price for this stone was between eighteen thousand and twenty-one thousand. This price was already very good. If it was placed in the store, it would not be sold at a price of thirty-two thousand yuan. Sure enough, the auction was the place that could arouse people's desire to buy it.

If you managed to buy the raw stones, you could choose to ask the staff to open them on spot or take them to your seat and open yourself.

In the process of the auction, everything was getting better and better. After the first piece of stone, every piece of stone that was auctioned afterwards was worth more than 32,000 yuan.

When the atmosphere was too high, Amy's fiancé, Karl, also couldn't help but bid several times.

"Brother-in-law, do you know how to gamble on stones?" Amy looked at her father and asked Henry cautiously. After asking, she immediately turned her head and looked at her father's reaction.

"A little bit. What, do you want to buy it?" Henry asked curiously.

Amy's eyes flashed a trace of struggle, and she nodded vigorously. "I want to gamble once, but I can only buy one piece. But I don't know anything about stones. Can you help me?"

Henry looked at Amy and then looked at Karl. "Did you encounter any difficulties?"

"No." Amy squeezed out a smile. "I just want to play gambling on stones. How can I encounter difficulties?"

Henry saw that Amy did not want to say anything, so he did not continue to ask. He nodded and said, "Okay, I'll help you."

"Thank you, brother-in-law."

Henry looked at Amy who was so nervous that her body was shaking. He sighed. Whether it was because of Daisy or Amy calling him brother-in-law, Henry couldn't help but help her.

The auction was gradually going on.

"Gentlemen, this stone." The old man on the stand picked up a stone that was 25 centimetres long from the tray. "We can see that there is a whole piece of green under the surface. That is to say, there is a jade at the bottom of the stone. But before it is cut out, the colour of this jade could not be estimated. This stone is sold at a price of fifty thousand, and every raise should be at least one thousand yuan."

"51,000 yuan!" As soon as the old man finished his words, Karl spoke first. He had already taken a fancy to this stone. Before the start of all the auction, all the guests would be issued an auction booklet, which contained the basic introduction of the goods of this auction.

"52,000!"

"55,000!"

"60,000!"

The price of this stone soared all the way. The green colour inside that the old man showed was ten centimetres long and three centimetres wide. If the colour was slightly good, it could be sold for more than 100,000.

Even if it was not too valuable, it could be sold for 20,000 yuan. Therefore, buying this jade with 60,000 yuan was equivalent to gambling with 40,000 yuan. Many people saw through this point, so they did not feel guilty at all when raising the price.

"65,000 yuan!" Karl gritted his teeth and shouted out a price.

Amy looked at the stone on the stage and couldn't help asking, "Brother-in-law, what do you think?"

Henry shook his head. "Don't buy it. It's too risky."

"A big risk?" Hearing this, Karl sneered on the spot. "Do you mean that this raw stone is very risky? Do you know anything about stones? Can't you see that there is such a large piece of green at the bottom? Don't you know how to pretend to understand?"

Looking at the arrogant look of Karl, Henry shook his head and said nothing.

Amy heard that Henry said no to buying it, so she didn't ask more. Amy still trusted Henry very much.

The price of the stone on the stage rose all the way. In the end, it rose to 130,000 yuan and was taken by someone. The person who bought this stone was exactly Karl.

Henry looked at the stone that was bought by Karl. It was probably a loss. There was a big crack in this stone. The price of the jade would be greatly reduced, but the big crack was not the most fatal. The most fatal thing was that there was a crack in the crack.

The crack caused great harm to the jade, which directly affected the beauty and price. Even the raw stones with the crack could not be carved. It might be a palm-sized jade. Because of the crack, only one-third of the jade could be taken out, or even less.

In the stone-gambling field, there was a saying that people would rather gamble on stone's appearance than gamble on its crack. It could be seen how important this crack was.

After Karl bought this raw stone, he didn't cut it open for a long time. It seemed that he was going to leave this expectation at the end.

Another few raw stones were auctioned, and the whole auction had fallen into a very hot stage.

"Everyone, today's King Stones have been auctioned, and there are a few pieces of Emperor Stones to be auctioned. Everyone, you should know that the jade from Emperor stones is good, but the cost is higher."

The old man said.

When they heard the words "Emperor Stone", all the people under the stage looked at the stage with keen eyes.

The old man took out a fist-sized stone. It was grey-brown and had no luster on its surface.

"Is this an Emperor Stone?" As soon as the old man took out the stone, someone under the stage couldn't help asking.

"As far as I know, an Emperor Stone doesn't look like this, does it? Although I seldom gamble on stones, I've seen Emperor Stones several times."

"That's right. Even if the best jade in this stone, how much can it be worth?"

The doubts under the stage continued to ring out.

The old man on the stage smiled and said, "Everyone, please listen to me. Everyone knows that the best jade stone in the country is from the South Province. This stone was in the centre surrounded by a couple of Emperor stones. It is described by the local Feng Shui master as the moon being surrounded by the stars. As for what is inside, no one has dared to cut it. This stone is to be auctioned for before Emperor stones, and the starting price is..."

At this point, the old man extended a finger and said, "One yuan."

Henry looked at the stone on the stand with a smile. The reason why the stone would appear here was that it was specially brought for him to see it.

Chapter 435

Henry once dominated the gambling circle around South Province. He knew very well that the people there were very concerned about geomancy. There were only a few stones in the entire South Province, which were extremely expensive. Even if it couldn't be sold, it would be displayed in the shop. Now that this stone was here at Jenny's auction, it must be deliberately done by Stone King.

Even Stone King dared not open this stone!

The gambling industry was very superstitious. For example, Stone King, even if he knew that there were some jades in some stones, he would not cut them open. In their eyes, people's luck was limited, and one should not open too many stones during his lifetime. Regarding this type of stone, opening one during entire life was more than enough.

Looking at the stone on the stage, Henry was about to bid when he heard a voice coming from the private room on the second floor.

"50,000!"

50,000!

The bidding price from the second-floor private room caused an uproar among the crowd.

Did he want to spend 50,000 buying this stone? He must be crazy!

Another voice came from the first floor before the shout for 50,000 from the second floor had died down.

"100,000."

As soon as the voice was heard, everyone in the hall turned to look at the speaker.

Amy looked at Henry in surprise. "Brother-in-law, are you going to spend 100,000 to buy this jade stone?"

"Yes." Henry nodded. "But I don't think 100,000 yuan will be enough."

Henry had been to the South Province's stone-gambling world, so he knew that some people, in order to win a prize, they would offer a lot of money to open the moon surrounded by the stars. Just now, the person on the second floor directly offered a price of 50,000 yuan. It should be such a person.

The corners of Karl's mouth curled up and he said without any scruple, "Idiot, how can you teach others to gamble on stones after buying such a piece of waste of 100,000 yuan?"

Henry did not pay attention to Karl. He would deal with this guy after getting that stone. His attention was now focused on the stone on the stage.

After Henry bid 100,000 yuan, the people on the second floor were silent for a few seconds. "Two hundred thousand."

"Two hundred thousand!" A man downstairs opened his mouth wide. "Is he crazy? How could he buy such a stone for two hundred thousand?"

"500,000 yuan," Henry said lightly.

A jade stone with the starting price of one yuan rose to five hundred thousand yuan in just four bids! Everyone felt that their minds are about to explode. Some people who had a million yuan on their accounts had felt that they had stepped into the ranks of the rich, but now they knew that they were poor.

"500,000 yuan? Do you have that much money? You have to pay for the legal penalty if you don't have money to pay!"

Karl snorted disdainfully. He looked at Henry's clothes, and he didn't seem to be a person who could afford 500,000 yuan.

After Henry offered a price of five hundred thousand yuan, Amy's father glanced at Henry a few more times.

"One million yuan!" The man on the second floor said again, and at the same time, he added, "Brother, it's just a piece of jade stone. Let's make a deal. There's no need to fight to the death, right?"

There was a semi-transparent glass in the private room on the second floor. The people in the lobby couldn't see the person inside, but judging from his tone, although the price was doubled, he was not as relaxed as before. After all, no one would feel nothing when they bought such a small piece of stone with one million yuan.

"Two million." Henry leaned against the seat and shouted out this number.

When the crowd heard Henry's bid, they didn't know what to say. Just now when they were bidding on the stones, one stone was sold for tens of thousands of yuans, another for one hundred thousand yuan. They also had a kind of audacity to spend a lot of money. But now compared with Henry, they were just small shots playing around.

The second floor said, "Dude, do you really want to fight with me to the end?"

Listening to this voice, Henry didn't even look at the second floor, still leaning against the seat.

"Sir, your price is two million yuan. Is there anyone higher?" The old man on the stage asked loudly, with a smile on his face.

"Two million once." The old man shouted and looked around. He waited for a few seconds, but no one said anything. "Two million twice."

"2.20million!" There was another voice on the second floor.

Now that he was bidding, he was no longer as confident as he was just now.

"3 million!" Henry didn't hesitate and directly offered a price.

Two young people, a man and a woman, were sitting in the private room on the second floor.

"Brother, he went too far. Does he want to mess with us? I want to teach him a lesson!" The young woman said. She looked about 23 or 24 years old. She was tall and had long black hair. Her features were delicate and lovely.

When the woman was talking, she raised her small fist and inadvertently revealed the arrow hidden in her sleeve.

The young man frowned. "Check your attitude, we are not at home. Also, hide the things in your sleeve. These things are illegal!"

"Humph, this is specially given to me for self-protection. Who can blame me?"

The young man walked to the front of the glass and looked at the hall below. "Let's wait and see. Even if he gets it, it will be useless to him. We can buy it later."

The young man could not keep up with the price of three million yuan. The jade stone was sold to Henry.

The staff handed the stone to Henry on the spot and brought professional tools at the same time. Everyone looked at Henry and wanted to see what he could cut out.

Henry didn't let everyone down, and he began to cut.

One-third of stone was cut off directly. The onlookers felt pain in their hearts. This cut cost one million yuan. Looking at his was of cutting, he didn't feel distressed at all. What should he do if the treasure inside was destroyed?

Henry cut from top to bottom, and there was no obstacle, which proved that nothing was nothing inside.

"He's simply a fool. He bought such a thing with three million yuan, and there is nothing inside." Karl said.

Henry frowned.

When others saw Henry's expression, they all understood. It seemed that this time, his money was wasted.

Henry chopped again and cut off a layer of the surface, but he still didn't see anything. He frowned even more tightly.

Henry frowned like this, not because he didn't cut anything as everyone thought. On the contrary, Henry felt something unusual about this stone. That kind of thing gave him the feeling that it was like...

Fire Crystal!

Henry cut for the third time. This time, he didn't cut as smoothly as before. He cut half-way through, and he encountered an obstacle.

"There is something inside?" There was a voice in the crowd.

"The knife stopped. It seems that something is inside. It must be a treasure."

"This time, he has earned a lot!"

"Not necessarily. Don't forget that the cost of this stone was three million yuan. Now half of it has been cut off. Even if the jade is of the best quality, how much is it worth?" The crowd was discussing while watching Henry's action. They were eager to know what could be cut out from it.
