

Chapter 1304

Anna left the slum with the Section Nine. After they walked out of the slum, the two female Section Nine members helped Anna makeup, so that she would not be recognized on the way.

The people of the Section Nine tacitly did not ask Henry how he could be sure that Princess Anna was here. They guessed that this person must have made some arrangements before he came; otherwise, it was impossible for him to be so accurate. They did not dare to ask him about this matter.

When the evening was over, the Section Nine returned to their place of residence, a luxury saloon in the capital of Antiquity Country. In front was a statue of an ancient deity, and some people came to worship it.

They ordered some food and went back to the room.

"Princess Anna, could you tell us what happened?"

Gardiner was very serious when it came to talking and dealing with serious matters. He knew that Anna could speak Yan Xia's language. He had used Yan Xia's language when he had greeted her in the slums district.

Anna silently ate the delicious food offered by the Section Nine without saying a word.

Gardiner winked at the two female team members.

Two female team members walked up to her.

"Princess Anna, we know this isn't simple. We're part of the Section Nine. We can help you if there's anything you need, but you need to tell us what exactly happened."

"We're as anxious as you are. We now have more than 30 team members missing in Ancient Gods Mountain. We also want to settle this matter."

Anna still kept her mouth shut.

No matter how hard they tried to ask, Anna still did not say anything.

"What should we do? It seems that Princess Anna doesn't want to say anything."

"She's not easy to deal with. We can't force Princess Anna to tell us."

"We have to find a way. If Princess Anna really discovered something, we need to know. That old monster will bring people to Ancient Gods Mountain tonight. If something happens there, our team members inside will suffer."

Gardiner said in a deep voice, "Anyway, we have to go in tonight. We have to see with our own eyes what's going on in the Ancient Gods Mountain."

"In this case, the information Princess Anna can provide is more important to us."

"Unfortunately, Princess Anna refuses to speak. What should we do now?"

It was even more impossible to force Anna to speak. Not to mention Anna's identity as a princess, just her beautiful face could make people from the Section Nine feel sorry for her. This led to a deadlock in the situation.

Just as everyone was worrying about this matter, Henry, who had just finished washing in the next room, came in while drying his wet hair.

"How's it going?"

Henry looked at Gardiner and said, "What's wrong with that old monster?"

Gardiner shook his head and said, "Princess Anna didn't say anything."

"Nothing?"

Henry was puzzled. "Why didn't she say anything?"

"It's really interesting."

A member of the Section Nine interrupted. He was already very angry with Henry for what had just happened. Now that Henry said this, he immediately took it as Henry mocking them that they couldn't even ask a simple question. He immediately retorted, "Who do you think you are?"

"If you ask Princess Anna something, will she reply to you?"

"Who do you think you are?"

Henry looked at Gardiner doubtfully and asked, "An elite team member?"

Gardiner shook his head and said, "Some newcomers have come out to perform tasks. Only one old man has been leading the team and has entered the mountain."

"No wonder."

Henry showed a look of sudden enlightenment. If all the members of the Section Nine were like this, the Section Nine would not have existed for so long.

Gardiner didn't seem to care about these team members. People stood in different positions, and the things they saw were different. Gardiner was thinking about how to complete the task. As for teaching these team members, when the task was done, the instructor would naturally be responsible for it. Gardiner wouldn't take on these tasks. His identity was too high. He didn't bother to do it.

Henry shrugged his shoulders and ignored the Section Nine group members who were talking. He walked towards Princess Anna.

When Princess Anna, who was eating, saw Henry coming over, her pretty face couldn't help but blush, and her eating action also stopped.

"Why don't you speak?"

Henry sat in front of Princess Anna and asked.

"I..." Princess Anna opened her mouth.

"Don't waste time."

Henry interrupted directly. "Is there something wrong with that old guy? Tell me all about it. Is he the messenger of God?"

Under the shocked gazes of the Section Nine, Princess Anna nodded honestly, shook her head, and replied, "Yes and no."

Henry frowned and said, "Get to the point."

"He lied to us."

Princess Anna said, "He's not the messenger of Apollo, he's the messenger of the Heretic God."

"The Heretic God?"

Henry's brows knitted more tightly.

"That's right."

Princess Anna nodded. "I overheard the conversation between him and God. The four hundred children were the sacrificial offerings he had prepared for the Heretic God. He called the Heretic God his master. Everything on Gods Mountain was the work of the Heretic God."

"In the myth of your Antiquity Country, is there a Heretic God?"

"What's the name of this god?"

Henry asked in confusion.

"No."

Princess Anna shook her head. "If he's not a demon, then he's the Heretic God."

"It's strange."

Henry pondered for a while and then looked at Gardiner. "Have you heard of the Heretic God?"

"No."

Gardiner shook his head.

Henry sneered, "I'm afraid it's someone who is playing tricks on us. Since the weirdness of the Gods Mountain has started, as long as we find out the person hiding behind it, all the problems will be solved."

"Then let's go."

Gardiner stood up and said, "I have been so worried these days. Just an old monster is weird enough, and now there's a Heretic God. Well, well, pack up and get ready to work."

Gardiner clapped his hands, and the Section Nine members withdrew their shocked eyes and began to prepare the equipment. They couldn't understand why Princess Anna, who had been silent all the time, said everything after this person appeared.

And this person seemed to be very rude to Princess Anna! "Do you want to go to the Ancient Gods Mountain?"

"I'll go too."

When Anna heard what Henry said, she quickly stood up and said.

"You can't go."

Henry frowned. "Aren't you making trouble for us if you go there?"

"Go home."

"I'm not going home."

Anna shook her head, looking like a little girl.

"You don't want to go home?"

Henry raised his eyebrows and said, "Say again that you don't want to go home?"

Anna was like a frightened animal, with a look of fear on her face, but she still shook her head. "I don't want to go home. I want to go with you."

Henry smiled and asked, "I said, you are just a burden. Why should I bring a burden?"

Gardiner, who was watching from the side, beat his chest and stamped his feet. This was Princess Anna, and there were countless men in the world who fell in love with her. But this guy, he couldn't wait to get rid of the princess! Sure enough, women liked scum, this kind of people!

Chapter 1305

Princess Anna's face was full of fear, but she still said, "Anyway, I don't care. I just want to go with you, but I won't go home."

"Still being stubborn?" Henry strode over and grabbed Anna's collar. "I warn you one last time. Before I get angry, you'd better go home obediently and don't cause me any trouble. Do you hear me?"

Henry's attitude towards Princess Anna made everyone in the Section Nine open their eyes wide.

Peng!

At this moment, with a loud sound, the door of the hotel room where the Section Nine stayed was kicked open. Then, armed soldiers rushed in from outside. They aimed their weapons at the Section Nine. Each of them had the symbol of the Antiquity Country's royal family.

A middle-aged captain with a big beard pointed the weapon in his hand at Henry and shouted, "Release Princess Anna!"

"This's great." Henry smiled and said to Princess Anna in his hand, "It seems that you have to go back this time even if you don't want to."

Princess Anna pursed her lips, looking like she had been wronged.

"Release Princess Anna!" The middle-aged man holding the weapon shouted at Henry again.

"What are you shouting for?!" Before Henry could say anything, Princess Anna said to the middle-aged man with dissatisfaction, "Who let you come over? Get out! You're so annoying!"

The middle-aged man with a big beard was stunned by Anna's words. They had been looking for Princess Anna for a whole day. Finally, they got a message from a spy saying that when they saw Princess Anna in the hotel, they immediately came over for fear that something bad would happen to her. But now it seemed that Princess Anna was still very angry because of their arrival?

The bearded man and the others were stunned, and the people of the Section Nine were even more stunned!

Only Gardiner, with grief and indignation on his face, thought, "This scumbag Henry is such a playboy! How can a beauty like this like Henry?"

The bearded man had a bitter look on his face. "Your Highness, please come back with us."

"No, I'm not coming back." Princess Anna shook her head.

"Go back!" Henry pushed Anna out.

"No, I don't want to." Princess Anna held Henry's arm with both of her arms, as if she was not going to let him go.

The bearded man and the others, who had come to the rescue with loaded guns, did not know what to say when they saw this scene.

"Let go of me!" Henry pried Anna's arms open, only to find that her long and slender legs were wrapped around Henry's waist.

Henry really wanted to hit Anna in the neck, but after thinking about it, he decided to let it go.

The middle-aged man with a beard waved his hand, and the team members who came in all put down their weapons. They were 100 percent sure that this was not a kidnapping. They were afraid that the princess had kidnapped someone.

"Hahaha." A laugh came from outside the room. "Anna, you have to get married anyway. It's not appropriate for you to stick around a strange man like this. Do you want to destroy the reputation of our family?"

"Bah!" Anna did not see anyone. Just hearing this voice, she showed a disdainful look. "Laquanda, you influenced my father and want me to marry that old guy. You go and marry him! Do you think that everything will be yours after I get married? Dream on."

"Anna, that's your fault. He's the emissary of God, it should be your honour to marry the emissary of God." A handsome 30-year-old man with blond hair walked in. "And this gentleman, you're so close to my sister. Do you want to die?"

After he entered the room, Laquanda looked at Henry with a fake smile on his face.

Henry glanced at Laquanda, and then looked curiously at Anna. "Is this your older brother who studied abroad?"

"Yes." Anna nodded. "I hate him the most. If it weren't for him, I wouldn't be arranged to marry that old guy."

"Fine." Henry shrugged his shoulders. "I'm not in the mood to care about your family affairs. Now you'd better go back."

"I'm not going back," Anna said as she held Henry's arm. "I'm even more annoyed when I saw this annoying guy."

"Hello." Henry looked at Laquanda. "Can you go away? I'm persuading your sister to go home. She won't come back if you stay here."

"You want me to go away?" Laquanda seemed to have heard a big joke. "In my Antiquity Country, you want me to go away? Are you out of your mind?"

Henry sighed and said, "Don't take it seriously. I'm just talking about a solution. Whether you can accept it or not, it's your business."

"Catch him!" Laquanda suddenly shouted.

The middle-aged man and others had already put down their guns, but then they raised the guns again and aimed at Henry.

"Drop your guns!" Princess Anna shouted. "What do you want to do? To rebel?"

"Rebel? In my opinion, the one who wants to rebel is you, my dear little sister." Laquanda laughed. "The engagement between you and the emissary of God has already been settled. Now that you've escaped and you are together with another man, the relationship between you and him is ambiguous. Are you trying to bring shame to our family? I feel that people like you no longer need to stay in our family. Your existence will only bring shame to the family."

"Well, can you end it quickly?" Gardiner glanced at the watch on his wrist and said, "We don't have much time now. Can you stop playing with these two children?"

Gardiner's words were meant for Henry.

"Hey." Henry sighed. He took out his mobile phone and dialled a number directly. "Hello, yes, it's me, your daughter is here, and your son is here too. Come and take them with you. You can find the place. Hurry up, I'll give you five minutes. If you don't come in five minutes, I'll kill your son."

After Henry finished speaking, he hung up the phone.

Laquanda didn't know what Henry was doing.

But Princess Anna was very clear. She clenched her fists and said, "Don't wait for five minutes. Go and kill him now."

"What the fk." Gardiner widened his eyes. "Such a beautiful girl, with such a cruel mind?"

Henry rolled his eyes at Gardiner and said, "Do you think the princess of the royal family is innocent? If we didn't show today, nothing would happen to her. You acted like a hero saving the beauty, and let her pretend to be innocent and sweet. Is she really innocent and sweet? Of course not."

Gardiner's face was full of tears. "Old words are really reasonable. The

ke. re beautiful a woman is, the better she is at deceiving. I will never our lieve in beautiful women's words in the future."

hry and Gardiner were chatting with each other, and apparently, they t a n't care about the current situation.

Chapter 1306

Laquanda turned around, and when he saw the people, he was slightly stunned. "Father..."

"Shut up!" The man immediately shouted, "Kneel down!"

Even though Laquanda didn't understand anything, he still obeyed and knelt down.

"Not to me!" The man said again in Henry's direction, "To him."

"To him?" Laquanda stared at Henry with wide eyes.

The members of Section Nine looked at the people coming in and widened their eyes. "They, are they..."

In the news, they had seen these two people many times.

"Yes, the king of Antiquity Country." Gardiner nodded his head and confirmed their speculations.

When they heard Gardiner's words, their eyes widened. What the hell was going on? What had happened before and what had happened now confused them.

First, Princess Anna scolded her guards. Now, it was the presence of the ruler of Antiquity Country.

Henry looked at the people and said with a smile, "It seems that you were just downstairs. You didn't come up because you wanted your son to teach Anna a lesson?"

The king smiled and said, "Anna escaped from marriage, so it's normal to teach her a lesson, but I didn't expect that she was with you."

"I found her today too. Take your son and daughter away. I still have something to do."

Henry's tone of speech sounded like an order.

"This..." Laquanda knelt there, not knowing what was going on.

"Haha!" Anna laughed out loud. "Laquanda, continue acting so arrogantly! You actually dare to take on the King of Hell. Let's see who will be able to save you. You're dead for sure!"

The King of Hell!

Anna's words shocked everyone on site.

Everybody had heard about the King of Hell.

The leader of the team, the bearded middle-aged man, immediately revealed an expression of respect. In the past, the King of Hell left two sentences for the guard team of their Antiquity Country. These two sentences were well known by every guard member. In their hearts, the King of Hell was a god-like existence. No wonder Princess Anna acted like this in front of this person. It turned out that he was the legendary King of Hell! Who in the palace didn't know that Princess Anna fell in love with him?

Laquanda, who was kneeling there, revealed a shocked expression on his face. He knew very well who the King of Hell was. Even though he had never seen him before, the King of Hell, the Lord of Radiant Island, no matter which title it was, it was enough to crush him, one of the future successors of Antiquity Country.

"Enough." Henry flicked at Anna's white forehead. "I don't want to kill anyone. Go back home with your parents."

The King of Hell! He was the King of Hell!

The people in the Section Nine all stared at Henry with wide eyes. They also heard the name of the King of Hell, but they really didn't expect that the King of Hell was actually at this age and looked so young.

"That's right, he's just a jerk." Gardiner curled his lips.

Henry looked at the people of the Section Nine and shook his head. "If my Reapers were like you, I'm afraid there would be no Radiant Island."

Originally, Section Nine were not convinced by Henry, but after knowing Henry's identity, they all kept silent and even showed an embarrassed expression when they heard Henry's words.

Henry looked at the king and said, "Take your children home. I still have something to do today. Don't push Anna to get married. There are some problems with that so-called messenger of God. I'll go and have a look."

"Something is wrong with the messenger of God? How is it possible?" The queen immediately said, "He has descended from Ancient Gods Mountain. We will welcome the messenger of God, I..."

When the Queen said this, she suddenly opened her eyes wide and looked at the scene in front of her.

"The miracle you're talking about, is it like this?"

Behind Henry, a big angel with 12 wings appeared. The angel held a holy wand and radiated holy light. In front of the big angel, the queen and others could not help but have an impulse to kneel down.

The queen was about to kneel down subconsciously, but she was stopped by an invisible force.

"Haha, if the so-called miracle is like this, there are a lot of us." Henry chuckled and winked at Gardiner.

Behind Gardiner, a completely black demon suddenly appeared. It bared its fangs and waved its claws, opening its bloody mouth to the queen.

The queen screamed in fear.

As for the king, although what happened in front of him was beyond his cognition, he still remained calm and asked, "What the hell is going on?"

"It's magic." Henry shrugged his shoulders, and the big angel behind him suddenly disappeared.

The demon behind Gardiner also disappeared at this moment.

The frightened queen's face turned pale.

Henry smiled and said, "If the so-called miracle is like this, then I can only say that you still don't know the world."

"Could it be that there is something wrong with the messenger of God?" The king began to waver. It was not so simple to waver a king in a country where all the people believed in Gods. If it weren't for Henry's identity and what he had just shown, the king would definitely not believe him.

"Father, that old guy is indeed not a good person. I overheard his conversation with someone else. His owner is the Heretic God. He chose the children of our country in order to offer sacrifices to the Heretic God," Anna said at this moment.

"That's terrible!" The king's face changed. The old monster told him that it had to choose the children to welcome the arrival of God. For those children, it was a great baptism, but now it became a sacrifice. Didn't that mean that those children would die?!

"Alright, I won't waste time with you." Seeing the king's expression, Henry knew that the old monster had probably already set off. "Prepare a car for us and take us to Ancient Gods Mountain."

On the Ancient Gods Mountain, dark clouds were surging. Vast amounts of dark clouds covered the sky above the Ancient Gods Mountain. Everyone thought that this was a miracle.

There was a divine temple in the mountain. The one who was consecrated in the divine temple was Zeus, the main God.

In the past, people of Antiquity Country would go up to the mountain to salute every time it was a festival. But now, they could no longer go up this mountain. Noone could access the mountain within a five-kilometre radius. The cars would malfunction when they drove to this range. All communicative equipment was also useless. People said this was the prelude to the arrival of gods.

Therefore, when they were escorted to five kilometres away from Ancient Gods Mountain, Henry and the others could only walk from there.

The people of the Section Nine had already been ready to get to the mountain, and all the field first aid equipment was available.

The sky had completely darkened. Looking at the sky not far away, the dark clouds kept rolling, as if the sky might collapse at any time.

Henry and others did not see the old monster.

"Let's go. It's best to stop the old monster directly. This should be the most convenient way." Gardiner clenched his fists.

"It's difficult." Henry shook his head and looked at the players of the Section Nine. "Based on their experience, I'm afraid the old monster has already found you."

Chapter 1307

In Section Nine, everyone looked ashamed, and no one dared to contradict.

There were mountain roads all along the way to Ancient Gods Mountain.

It was pitch-dark in the sky. The group of nine strode forward like shooting stars. A five kilometres journey wasn't a long one for them. They travelled at full speed and arrived at the foot of Ancient Gods Mountain within 18 minutes.

Along the way, Henry and others did not see the old monster.

"No, that's not right."

Gardiner shook his head and said, "I heard from them that the old monster set out half an hour earlier than us. He has four hundred children with him, so he can't be too fast. We didn't see any footprints on the way. The old monster didn't take this road at all. He has another way into Ancient Gods Mountain."

"Yes."

Henry nodded and looked at the mountain in front of him with a frown. "Since the abnormality of the Ancient Gods Mountain was caused by the old monster, he naturally knows what is inside. No matter what, we have to go up."

The so-called Ancient Gods Mountain was not a single mountain, but a continuous mountain range. Through the moonlight, one could see that on the mountainside of the Ancient Gods Mountain, there were vague statues of gods.

Originally, the people of Antiquity Country had constructed a staircase that led directly to the top of the mountain and extended to the front of every temple. However, some time ago, the divine thunder fell from the sky and smashed those staircases into pieces. Now, they could only climb up the mountain.

As soon as Henry and the other eight people stepped into the Ancient Gods Mountain.

"Boom!" "Boom!"

With a loud bang, a bolt of lightning flashed across the sky. Then, the continuous rain poured down. The extent of the rain's praise was even enough to block people's sight.

"This..." One of the nine people looked back and found that everything was the same as usual and that the torrential rain only came out of the Ancient Gods Mountain.

This strange scene made everyone have a bad feeling in their hearts.

Due to the heavy rain, the mountain road suddenly became muddy. Although Henry and Gardiner had excellent strength and were not affected, the other seven team members were not as powerful as them, so it was particularly difficult for them to move forward on this muddy mountain road.

Strange stones and dense vegetation grew on Ancient Gods Mountain.

It took them half an hour to get to the mountainside.

"Let's take the shelter here."

They saw a statue. It had been sculpted a long time ago, and now it had been beaten badly by the wind and frost. Plus, the sky was dark and heavy rain poured down, so they couldn't see the appearance of the statue.

It was like being consecrated in the body of a concave mountain. They hid by the statue's side, just enough to shield them from the rain.

The rain was too heavy, and when they reached the mountainside, they could clearly sense that the wild wind was wreaking havoc. A huge rock began to move, and it rolled down from the mountain. Passing by the group of people, the seven squadmates were filled with terror. If these stones were aimed at them, they would find it hard to hide halfway up the muddy mountain.

"Something's not right."

Henry frowned.

"Your Majesty, everything is normal."

A member of the Section Nine spoke. Since they knew Henry's identity, they had been particularly respectful to him. Although Henry also told them that he was no longer the King of Hell, they still called him king.

"It's because it's too normal."

Gardiner said, "In such a normal situation, why did the two teams lose contact?"

"If they can't use communication tools, are they also be unable to use their legs?"

Gardiner said as he patted the raindrops on his body.

Seeing Gardiner's action, Henry suddenly froze there.

"Why are you looking at me?"

"Is there a ghost behind me?"

"I'm warning you, it's late at night and we are on the mountain again. Don't mess around."

Gardiner stared at Henry with a strange look.

"No, I'm not."

Henry shook his head. "What were you doing just now?"

"I'm wet..." Gardiner suddenly stopped halfway through his words. Like Henry, he was stunned.

A few seconds later, Gardiner said with an ugly look, "Have you tried?"

"Yes."

Henry nodded and said, "I've tried it."

"What's going on?"

Gardiner knitted his brows heavily.

"Something's wrong. I'm afraid someone is designing it all."

Henry said in a low voice.

Gardiner kicked away the rubble under his feet. He seemed to be very anxious at this moment.

The seven members of the Section Nine were completely confused. They didn't know what the two were talking about at all.

In fact, for masters like Henry and Gardiner, the Qi in their bodies had a natural reaction, which was when they were in danger, the Qi would automatically form a layer of Qi-shield to resist the outside impact, including when the rain fell.

But along the way, they were caught in the rain all the way. They didn't realize this. If it rained outside without an umbrella, they would be wet. This was a normal human mind.

But just now, Gardiner's action of slapping the rain made Henry suddenly realize that the Qi-shield that would naturally form outside their bodies did not work. Then, the two men just tried it. Here, they could not control the Qi! As a strong man who had stepped into the Divine Realm for many years, Gardiner had been used to the feeling that he could control the Qi at all times. But now he suddenly could not control the Qi. This made him panic and became particularly anxious.

As for Henry, although he had not been in the Qi-controlling realm for a long time, he also felt that he had lost his backer.

"There's something wrong with this place. Let's go up the mountain first and figure out what's going on. We can't stay here any longer."

Gardiner made up his mind. Regardless of the heavy rain, he immediately chose a path and walked up the mountain.

"Wait a minute."

Henry stopped Gardiner who was walking away and said, "Look behind you."

"Behind me? What's wrong?"

Gardiner turned his head.

A member of the Section Nine said with a serious face, "Boss, the path is gone..." They used a small path to the stone statue to take shelter from the rain, but now they couldn't find the path. In front of them, there were all weeds, strange stones, and a towering tree, standing on the mountainside.

This strange scene left a shadow in everyone's heart.

Gardiner, who was already anxious, became even more irritable at this moment. He kept pacing back and forth, gasping for breath.

In Gardiner's current state, it was obvious that he could not continue to issue orders. Henry had become the backbone of everyone.

"Mark our way. Let's go first. Let's continue up the mountain."

Henry ordered.

The team members of the Section Nine made marks skillfully, and they scratched a few scratches on a stone.

"Look, there's a mark here. It's left behind by one of our men."

The person who made the mark suddenly spoke.

"I'm afraid they have also encountered the same situation. Let's not think too much about it. Let's talk about it after we reach the top of the mountain."

Henry said, "If someone is playing tricks, there must be a purpose. When we catch him, all the problems will be solved."

The crowd nodded and continued to climb.

"Do you think we've encountered something unusual?"

One of the team members said in a low voice, "I heard that Ghost Barriers are like this. Just as we were walking, we got lost. We didn't even know where we were."

Chapter 1308

Ghost Barriers?

In this storm of dark clouds, those folk stories of Yan Xia unconsciously emerged in everyone's mind.

The fierce wind blew against their faces along with the rain, and the grass in front of them grew. It really was like they had come to the wilderness of the countryside in folk stories.

"Don't scare yourself. What Ghost Barriers? Maybe it's because of the weather that we aren't able to distinguish the direction." An elder member of the Section Nine members said.

"Wait, what is this?" The Section Nine members, who had just carved marks on the stones, stared at a piece of stone buried in the ground in front of them, revealing only half of it. "This is the stone that I just marked."

"How is that possible? The stone with the mark you've made is clearly below. We've already walked up the mountain for more than ten minutes!"

"Look over there." A female squad member's face was filled with terror as she pointed to the side.

The people suddenly saw that the stone statue where they had just taken shelter from the rain was not far away from them.

Such a scene made the two female members tremble involuntarily because what was happening now was really too strange. They had been up the mountain for more than ten minutes, but the stone statue appeared in front of them again. The torrential rain covering the mountains and the road under their feet were all chilling.

"Could it be that it is just a stone statue similar to the one we saw just now? There are countless stone statues of different sizes on this mountain. If this stone statue is a certain guardian, then it is probably not the only one. There is nothing wrong with the appearance of two, or even three or four." Someone made this guess.

This speculation made everyone feel much more at ease.

"It's possible."

They used this reason to comfort themselves.

The rain in the sky was still very heavy, and there was no sign of stopping. The heavy wind was blowing the heavy rain, and raindrops were blowing on their faces. The footprints left on the mountain road immediately disappeared in the heavy rain.

Everyone continued to walk to the top of the mountain. More than ten minutes later, the same stone statue appeared again.

"Impossible! How could this be?" The Section Nine members who made the marks spoke again, and he touched the stone that he had made his own mark. In order to avoid being mistaken before, he deliberately used a sharp knife to draw a few symbols on it, and now it appeared again. It was absolutely impossible for him to be mistaken.

"It seems that we really met a Ghost Barrier." A male team member spoke. He pointed to the stone statue in front of them and appeared again.

He said, "I just made a few markings on the stone statue. Look, this is what I left behind before."

"Ghost Barriers? Did we really encounter ghosts?" A female team member's legs were trembling. They were not afraid of powerful enemies, but this kind of strange thing, for these women, was too much to handle.

What people feared the most was the unknown. What was happening now was touching the unknown fields in their lives.

Henry had been walking in the front. He frowned all the way without saying a word. But when he observed carefully, he found that Gardiner's pace was in a complete mess. It proved that the anxiety in his heart was still growing.

"We can't continue on," Henry said. He was the backbone of the team now, so he gave orders. "Go take shelter from the rain first. We have to find out what has happened. Otherwise, I'm afraid we will never go up the mountain."

While talking, Henry looked at the foot of the mountain. They had walked back and forth for more than half an hour, but they were still in the position of the mountainside, and the height had not changed much.

The group of people returned to the stone statue to take shelter from the rain. Gardiner, who was unable to control his Qi, had completely lost his mind. He did not say a word and no one knew what he was thinking.

Under the dark night, the heavy rain poured down. Henry and others stood around the stone statue, and the blurred face of the stone statue seemed to reveal a cruel smile.

"I heard from the old man that if you meet Ghost Barriers, you must see the road clearly. Use the flashlight to direct the road ahead. Whether there is a road or not, you have to walk straight." One of them said in a trembling voice.

"This isn't a Ghost Barrier." Henry shook his head. "I'm afraid we've been trapped in some people's maze. It's also clear why the people who came in before couldn't go out. They were also trapped in it. From now on, we'll go down the mountain."

"Yes, let's leave this place first." The frightened female member quickly agreed with Henry's proposal.

Henry was now giving orders. If Gardiner did not object, no one would object. Everyone took a short break and was ready to go down the mountain.

But when they were looking for the way down the mountain, they found that the road they had just taken disappeared again.

The stone seemed to be a mountain that was concaved inside. When they walked into this cave, they couldn't see the surroundings of the mountain. They didn't know when the path they came from disappeared, nor did they know how it disappeared.

"Let's go." Henry did not go to the rails. He stepped on the mountain slope and went down.

The crowd followed Henry. The mountain road was very slippery, and they were careful with every step, including Henry. He could not control his Qi now, and his strength was only at the peak of a normal person's strength. Once he lost balance in this situation, he would inevitably be seriously injured, even if his life would not be in danger.

They went down the mountain all the way from the slope. They saw a protruding rock outside the mountain. When they reached the top of the rock, they were all stunned.

Because the protruding rock was nothing special. It was the top of the hidden stone statue in the concave mountain. They went down the slope and back to the place where the statue was located.

"Damn it! Damn it! We definitely saw a ghost!" The youngest member of Section Nine kept muttering. "We're trapped by ghosts. We can't get out of here."

The timid female squad member had been so frightened that her face was pale, and she couldn't speak.

Henry also frowned. Although he didn't believe in the so-called Ghost Barriers, he couldn't explain what had happened at the moment.

Henry looked at the team members who were panting and said, "Take a rest first and recover your strength."

The few of them jumped off the protruding rock and once again returned to the place where the statue was located.

When they saw this statue again, everyone felt a kind of fear. They felt as if they had been cursed and were completely trapped here. They could not go up the mountain, but they couldn't go down the mountain either.

The crowd sat around the stone statue, eating compressed biscuits and watching the heavy rain in front of them. No one made a sound. Except for the sound of the heavy rain, no other sound was heard.

Gardiner wanted to light a cigarette, but after he pressed the lighter a few times, there was no flame. The irritable Gardiner threw the lighter on the ground and smashed it to pieces.

Chapter 1309

A strange atmosphere was spreading in everyone's heart.

Henry and others just sat around the stone statue, and no one knew what they were thinking in their minds.

"Look, what's that?!" A member of the Section Nine suddenly pointed to a place not far away.

They saw a figure, with a hoe on his shoulder, walking quickly on a mountain path. The path was not discovered before.

They saw a figure with a bamboo hat on his head and a linen coat.

"Quick, go up and ask them." When the crowd saw the figure, they immediately came to their senses and ran to the path.

However, when they reached the path on the mountain, they found that the figure in the linen coat had completely disappeared. It was as if he had never appeared. Raindrops the size of beans fell onto the mountain path, and they couldn't even track the footprints.

Henry and others looked in front of them. This mountain road had been extending all the way, and there was no place to hide.

"Let's go and take a look."

Everyone had no other choice at the moment. They could only follow this path and continue on. This mountain road was something they had never seen before.

They walked for another ten minutes. Along the way, they were all trembling with fear. They were afraid of encountering the stone statue again. The stone statue was like a nightmare, which entangled in their hearts and could not be dissipated.

After walking for more than 20 minutes, everyone suddenly breathed a sigh of relief. They didn't slow down all the way, but they didn't see the stone figure again.

"Huh, we may have really met a ghost barrier. The figure just now was our guide who took us out. We have already walked out of the scope of the stone statue." A member of the team had a happy expression on his face.

The look on the faces of the rest of the people had also become much more relaxed. As long as they did not continue to go back and forth in the circle, they could go wherever they wanted.

This mountain road was winding up and down. In the darkness, there was no end at all.

They went down the mountain road for another 10 minutes, 20 minutes, 30 minutes, 40 minutes, 50 minutes.

One hour!

After an entire hour, they were still walking on this mountain road, as if they would never be able to walk out of it.

"We won't be trapped again, right?" One of them said. Ever since they came to the mountain, they had been shrouded in strangeness. If anything happened now, they would think about it as a folk story.

"Look, it's that person!" The timidest woman pointed. Not far away in front of them was the person wearing a bamboo hat and a linen coat, and a hoe. He was faintly discernible in the darkness on the road ahead, and he strode forward.

"Chase him!" Henry shouted. They had no other choice.

They immediately ran after the figure, but no matter how hard they chased, they could not completely catch up with the figure. Sometimes, they were about to catch up with the figure. However, when they turned a corner of the mountain road and saw the figure again, the figure appeared in a distant place.

"Stop, we can't go after him." Henry stretched out his hand to stop the crowd.

"Your Majesty, why aren't we chasing after him? He's a guide. He's capable of bringing us out." A member of the squad said frantically.

"He doesn't exist." Henry shook his head.

"He doesn't exist?" A few people were stunned.

The smallest woman's face instantly turned pale. "He doesn't exist, you... you... you mean, he... he's a ghost?"

Henry shook his head and said, "I don't know if he's a ghost or not, but he really doesn't exist. Look at his trousers. It's raining so heavily and he's walking on such a muddy road. Although his feet are covered with mud, his trousers are very clean. He doesn't even exist in front of us."

"We're doomed!" The woman wailed. "We really did see a ghost."

"You stay here and don't move." Henry left a word and then walked forward alone. This time, Henry didn't walk very fast, and the distance of his every step was exactly the same.

In this way, after Henry walked for half an hour, the people from the Section Nine appeared in front of him.

Seeing Henry coming from behind, the faces of the crowd became ugly again. They thought that they had walked out of the deadly loop, but the result was that they were stuck in another loop.

The heavy rain continued to fall fiercely.

The raindrops fell in front of the crowd and hit the mountain road under their feet, forming a sentence.

"Those who violate the gods are not allowed to go up the mountain. Those who have impure souls are not allowed to go up the mountain. All of you should stay here and wait for the judgment of the gods!"

The appearance of this line of words had once again cast a shadow over everyone's hearts.

Blasphemy the gods! Their souls were not clean!

"We're doomed! We've been judged by the gods! The gods trapped us here and don't let us leave."

The raindrops cleared the line of words in front of them and formed a line of words again.

"If you want to see the gods, you must be pure-hearted. You have to farm for 20 years and worship the gods every day. 20 years later, you will see the gods."

This line of words appeared for about twenty seconds, and once again it was washed away by the rain. After the line of words was washed away by the rain, the pouring rain suddenly became much smaller, which also relieved everyone's sight and allowed them to see farther.

"What's that?" A man pointed to the front. "Look, there's a thatched cottage over there."

The crowd looked in the direction he was pointing at, and sure enough, they saw a hut on a cliff.

"Let's go and have a look," Henry said in a low voice.

The crowd walked toward the cottage. This time, the cottage was not so far away and they soon came to the front of the cottage.

Soon after, they discovered with shock that this cottage wasn't located here alone. Instead. This was a calm side of the mountain, and there were no less than a hundred cottages. They were all located here.

"Creak."

The door of the cottage at the very front was pushed open from the inside, and a man in his fifties came out with a torch in his hand. He looked at Henry and the other eight people with a puzzled look on his face, then he said a bunch of words.

Gardiner and the others were full of doubts. They couldn't understand what the other party was talking about.

"It is their language, and it is also extremely ancient. Many pronunciations are different now." Henry explained. Then, he replied to the other party, conversing with the other party.

"Who are you? What are you doing at Holy Fire Town?"

"We want to go up the mountain." Henry pointed in the direction of the top of the mountain.

Upon hearing this, the other party immediately revealed a look of horror. He quickly waved his hand and said, "You can't go up the mountain. The gods don't allow us to casually disturb them. The gods are resting."

"Gods? Is there a god on the mountain?" Henry asked.

"Oh, my God." The man looked up at the sky and prayed. "Great Apollo, please forgive these ignorant people."

The heavy rain in the sky started to rage again.

"The god is angry, the god is angry." The man holding the torch went back into the house in horror and closed the door.

Chapter 1310

It was raining heavily again.

The hearts of the seven team members of Section Nine were covered with a layer of haze. The gods were angry. In this way, they began to believe that in this world, the gods really existed. Otherwise, why were the heavy rain and dark clouds only covering the Mountain of the Gods? Why were they trapped in the mountains unable to go up or down? Why would so many cottages suddenly appear?

On every cottage, the doors are closed. The rain slid down from the roofs, and the sky was dark. The so-called Holy Fire Town was like a dead town.

"Let's find a place to take shelter from the rain first," Henry said. The rain was too heavy, and the several Section Nine members had already had symptoms of a cold. If it went on like this, the fever could not be avoided.

They knocked on several doors one after another, but none of them were willing to open the doors for them. There was not even a single sound coming out of the doors. Other than the person they had just met, they had never seen anyone else.

In the darkness and under the heavy rain, it seemed to be a place where the dead lived.

"Your Majesty, look over there." A trembling member of the squad pointed in front of him.

They walked through all the thatched cottages. On the mountain wall, they saw the stone statue. And the big stone which had the mark on was also there, half-buried in the earth.

This stone statue was like a nightmare, invading their souls and making them feel fear.

At the foot of the stone statue was the lighter that Gardiner smashed before.

Everyone's moods were exceptionally heavy. They had never thought that they would hate a stone statue so much.

Gardiner, who had been anxious in his heart, jumped up and kicked at the stone statue's head.

"Boss, we can't do that." A member of the Section Nine quickly stood in front of Gardiner and said, "Boss, this statue is the endorsement of the gods. We can't destroy it. Once we anger the gods, we will all die here."

"D*mn the gods!" Gardiner cursed. "A bunch of tricks."

"It's definitely not just playing tricks, Boss." The timid female member shivered. "It's definitely a deity. We've angered the deity this time, and the deity is punishing us. We must not show any disrespect to the deity."

"Your Majesty, what do you think? Should we follow the instructions of the gods?"

"Let's talk about it later." Henry leaned against the stone wall and closed his eyes. "Let's talk about it in the dawn."

Since Henry said this, no one said anything more. Yes, everything would be decided when it was dawn. This sentence was often said by the people of Yan Xia. Whenever something happened, they would talk about it in the dawn.

Tonight, everyone, both physically and mentally, was extremely tired. When they relaxed, the tiredness soon swept over. Everyone leaned on the mountain wall, listening to the sound of the rain outside, and fell asleep.

The next day, Henry was woken up by a noise. He opened his eyes and saw that there was a crowd in front of him. A group of people in linen clothes with hoes and rakes in their hands surrounded him and others, talking something or some words that even Henry couldn't understand.

Gardiner and others were also awakened one after another. The heavy rain had stopped and the dark clouds in the sky dispersed. The warm sunshine shone on everyone, making them feel warm and comfortable after being drenched in the rain for several hours last night.

"Who are you? What are you doing in front of the Statue of Light?" A woman in her fifties, with a hoe on her shoulder, spoke. Henry understood what she meant.

"Ancestral Temple?" Henry turned his head in a daze. He found that he was sitting in a building similar to an ancestral hall. The statue behind him had become a human figure at some point. It was the image of Apollo from the myth, holding the Holy Fire and bringing light to the world.

The people of the Section Nine had also noticed the changes in their surroundings. This filled their hearts with endless doubts. Last night, it was obvious that they were sleeping in the groove of the mountain. How did they wake up here? They were in an ancestral hall, and the stone statue behind them had also changed.

"They blaspheme against the gods. Beat them to death, and then use them to pay their respects to the gods!" In the crowd, someone roared loudly, and a group of people with hoes and rakes rushed into the ancestral hall.

Although the members of the Section Nine didn't understand what these people were talking about, they knew what they were going to do according to their actions.

Under this situation where the language was incomprehensible, it was undoubtedly very difficult to explain. In addition, these people were so emotional that they wanted to solve the current problem first. They were all experienced elites who had been trained. Although they were still lacking in the ways of doing things, they were not comparable to ordinary people in terms of strength. They wanted to subdue these people in front of them first.

However, the outcome of the fight was completely beyond their expectations.

A peasant woman with a hoe in her hand kicked over a Section Nine elite with one kick.

The three strong men surrounded Henry. Their strength was so terrible that Henry felt the pressure. It was just that they didn't know any fighting skills, just like the boorish men fighting. Although they didn't have fighting skills, their speed and strength were very fast. People from the Section Nine didn't fight back at all. Only Henry and Gardiner wouldn't be completely suppressed by the other two. As for the other seven people, both men and women, they were beaten black and blue in a short time. They were tied up and thrown out of the ancestral temple.

When Henry and Gardiner saw this, they also gave up resisting. After being punched twice, they were tied up and brought outside the ancestral temple.

Outside the temple, there were countless farmhouses. In front of the farmhouses, there were children playing. As for the cottages that they saw last night, they disappeared again. Not far away, there was a large field of terraces, and there were people farming inside.

Faced with this situation, the people in the Section Nine gradually became a little numb. From the moment they stepped into this mountain, everything began to become strange.

Several Mulberry Trees were in front of the ancestral temple.

An old man with grey hair walked to the people who were tied up and said something.

Gardiner and the others also couldn't understand.

Only Henry would occasionally reply to the other party, but they did not chat for a long time.

After a while, the old man turned and left, and the rest of the people also took the tools back to the field.

"Your Majesty, what's going on? What did you say to them?"

"Their language is very old, and there are many syllables that I can't understand." Henry shook his head. "But they probably mean that we are sleeping in the place of the gods, disturbing the peace of the gods, so now they have to ask the gods for instructions, and how to deal with us."

"Your Majesty, I'm afraid we've really come to the place of the dead. According to legend, the mulberry tree is the gate to the Mortal Realm and the Netherworld. We just came out from there. This should be the Netherworld... Otherwise, how can we explain the existence of these people? The Mountain of the Gods in Antiquity Country has never been inhabited!"

Chapter 1311

At this moment, everything around Henry and others was harmonious. People were working in the fields, children were playing with each other, couples were showing love to each other in the fields, and smoke was already rising from some farmhouses.

However, this harmonious scene made Henry and the others feel cold in their hearts.

They had never heard of the existence of Holy Fire Town on the Mountains Gods in Antiquity Country. The town, and those thatched huts last night, seemed to have appeared out of nowhere. Either the so-called Holy Fire Town appeared out of nowhere in the world, or they appeared in Holy Fire Town. They preferred to believe the latter, after all, The last night had been so strange that they wondered if they had stepped into the underworld.

For the whole morning, Henry and others were tied here. Until noon, when the sun was in the sky, the old man appeared again and talked a lot with Henry.

Then, several strong men who guarded Henry and others walked up and untied all the ropes.

The members of the Section Nine cast a puzzled look at Henry.

Henry explained, "They said that the gods punished us by asking us to farm here for 20 years, and then we can leave."

Only then did Henry have the opportunity to look around. At the moment, they were standing on a huge platform, at the top of a mountain. However, there were no temples on the top of the mountain. There were only farmhouses.

So Strange!

All of this made him feel weird.

While Henry looked around, a few people threw their hoes and rakes in front of Henry and others. Then they pointed to a wasteland for Henry and others, telling them that the land behind them was the wasteland.

Next to the wasteland, there was also a house, which was the same as the farmhouses around.

Everyone picked up the hoe and rake, and then arrived in front of the farmhouse. They pushed open the door. Inside was decorated in an extremely ancient style, and the dark fireplace was really antiques.

A member of the Section Nine looked around and then said, "Many of the stones in here no longer exist in the modern world."

"Look at this..." A person, who was inside the room, and saw a wooden horse. The wooden horse wasn't very large, only half a meter tall. Its middle was empty. Upon closer inspection, one could see that within the wooden horse, there was a place for people to stand. "This is...Trojan horse?"

Next to the wooden horse, there was a design drawing, proving that the wooden horse was still in the midst of designing.

In the history of Antiquity Country, the Trojan horse's reputation wasn't any less than that of a wooden ox. But here, there was actually a drawing like this?

Just as everyone was wondering about the design sketches of this Trojan horse, someone knocked open the door of the farmhouse.

The old man stood in front of the door and said something.

Henry's expression froze slightly, and then he gave some answers.

When the old man heard that, he walked away with a puzzled look.

"What were you talking about?" Gardiner asked.

Henry took a deep breath and said, "He asked me, whether Paris was defeated..."

As soon as Henry finished his words, all the people in the room fell into silence.

There was Trojan horse, and there was also Paris.

In Antiquity Country, during the 13th century BC, on the day Paris, prince of Troy, captured the queen of Sparta, war broke out between Antiquity Country and Troy.

The old man just now asked whether Paris was defeated or not. It was thousands of years ago!

"They're definitely not human! Definitely not! This is the Ghostdom! We really can't get out! We can't get out!" The youngest member of the Section Nine continued to murmur, "We have to listen to the will of the gods. Right, the gods want us to go and farm."

As the man spoke, he picked up the hoe and walked out of the farmhouse with a blank face.

Henry frowned and looked at Gardiner. Gardiner did not speak. He took out the cigarette and put it in his mouth. He looked for fire everywhere, but he could not find it.

"I want to atone for my sins. I want to leave this place. I don't want to stay in the Ghostdom. I don't want to stay in the Ghostdom!" The most courageous woman let out a scream, then ran out of the room with the rake in her hands.

The other five members of the team looked at each other. Even though they didn't say anything, they also picked up their tools and walked out. From the looks of it, they also felt that they had been brought to the underworld.

Gardiner walked out of the room with a wooden stick. More than ten minutes later, he came back with a lit stick and lit a cigarette for himself. His anxious expression eased a lot.

Gardiner lit more than a dozen of cigarettes in succession and breathed out clouds of smoke. Soon, the small farm was surrounded by clouds and mist.

Gardiner observed for a while and then said, "What do you think about this?"

"There has to be someone playing tricks. What Ghostdom? This really is interesting. The ancient text the deity showed us yesterday was in Yan Xia's language?" Henry revealed a sneer.

"What about me?" Gardiner took another drag on his cigarette. "Do I have to continue with my acting?"

"Of course." Henry said, "The stranger you are, the faster they will take action. Let's see what they intend to do in the gourd. I'll go out and see for myself tonight. I'll leave this place to you."

"Okay." Gardiner stubbed out the cigarette in his hand, showed an anxious look again, and walked out of the farmhouse.

The seven members of the Section Nine had all started to farm. They were very unfamiliar with the place, but no one dared to slack off. As for food and other issues, the compressed biscuits that they brought would be enough.

When the sky turned dark, another dark cloud covered the sky, and a light drizzle began to fall.

Until late at night, when the light drizzle turned into a heavy rain, Henry left the farmhouse. There was only one road in front of him, and that was to go downhill.

In the dark night, no one noticed that Henry, who was walking in the rainy night, jumped down from the platform on the top of the mountain. When Henry was alone, he was very fast. Although he couldn't control his Qi, with his strength, he wouldn't even bend his knees when he jumped a few metres at a time.

In the darkness, Henry jumped down continuously. Suddenly, in front of Henry, more than a hundred thatched cottages appeared. They saw these thatched cottages yesterday on a rainy night.

Just like last night, there was no one here. Except for the sound of the heavy rain, there was only silence.

A figure wearing a bamboo hat, a linen coat, and a hoe appeared in front of Henry. The figure strode along a small road. This time, Henry noticed that the man's trousers were also covered with mud and that he left footprints on the ground when he walked. Although the footprints were quickly washed away by the rain, they really existed.

Henry immediately sped up and rushed toward the man. The distance between them was shortened in a short time.

Henry grabbed the shoulder of the man.

The man stopped abruptly and turned his head, and then a face appeared in Henry's eyes.

And Henry, at this moment, was completely stunned.
