

Chapter 1315

Gardiner put a dirty smile on his face.

The person was surprised.

"Still don't know how I found out?" Gardiner said, "I noticed you are not Henry a long while ago. To protect the kids from harm, I didn't do anything. Do you think that I don't understand the language of Antiquity Country? The way you speak it is very different from how Henry would do. So you think I'm illiterate? Do you know that to become the boss of Section Nine, they'll check your diploma?"

Gardiner pinched his fingers. The neck of fake Henry broke.

"Pooh, go to hell!" Gardiner ripped off the human skin mask of the fake Henry. Under the mask was a disfigured face. To impersonate Henry, the person sacrificed his own face.

Gardiner turned around and squinted toward the Mountain of the Gods. He murmured, "Why did you rush me out? For capturing Henry? I'm the reason Henry came here in the first place. If I can't get him out, my reputation will go down the drain."

Gardiner started to warm up, "Fighting without Qi. It's a piece of cake!"

He then picked up two pieces of palm-sized stone and headed toward the Mountain of the Gods.

Unlike the last time, Gardiner had known the secret of the mountain. Without other people's misleading, Gardiner traveled fast, even at night.

On the top of the Mountain of the Gods, there were dozens of bodies lying under Henry's feet. Henry had broken the neck of the fake Gardiner, too. However, there were still dozens of people besieging Henry.

He was exhausted. All the fighters were strong and skillful. Most of them had undergone Alvin League's body modification.

If Henry weren't trained by people from the City of Hell, he would have been seriously hurt.

Henry panted. He was covered in the blood of his enemies and himself. He glanced around the situation and prepared for another round of battle.

"Attack! He won't hold on for long!"

One of the fighters shouted, the rest charged at Henry again.

One fighter reached Henry. But his eyes suddenly rolled back, and the fighter fell down the ground.

Behind the fallen fighter was the real Gardiner.

Gardiner was holding two big stones, knocking the back of the head of the fighters.

Henry guessed that the real Gardiner was here just by the way the fighter was killed.

"What takes you so long? Cough, cough," Henry laughed but immediately coughed. He had badly been injured.

"Shut your mouth. Let's finish it quickly! The rental company is still charging the Ferrari!" Gardiner said while knocking people's heads with the stones.

At this moment, Henry was a hundred percent sure that this person was the real Gardiner Zhao.

As the First Brother of Section Nine, Gardiner was a formidable fighter even without using Qi. Alvin League's fighters could no longer pose any threat to Henry.

Soon, Henry and Gardiner were the only ones standing.

They were exhausted and panting.

Gardiner gave Henry a thumbs-up and said, "You're the man. Fighting so many people by yourself!"

Henry also gave Gardiner a thumbs-up and said, "Back at you. Come to fight without bringing people."

Gardiner gasped his breath and then said, "How can I show off my awesomeness if I bring a bunch of helpers? I want to feel like a lonely hero fighting against the world! Speaking of which, what did you see in there?"

"Not a thing. The fight started before I had a chance," Henry shook his head, "What's in the mountain?"

"Nothing," Gardiner shook his head, "They dug the mountain hollow and filled it with machines. The machines can make the mountain change its outlook. Do you know why Alvin League took action after you are inside of the mountain?"

"Framing Noble Berserkers. They diverged people's attention to the ancestral lands of the families. Then they used you to take me here. If anything goes wrong, Noble Berserkers and those families are the suspects. Only Alvin League won't be suspected," Henry said while sitting down.

"F*ck, I feel like a tool," Gardiner sat down and lit a cigarette.

A cigarette of time later.

Henry got up and asked, "What's next?"

"What's next?" Gardiner rolled his eyes, "Return the car first. If I knew this is how things go, I wouldn't have rented that Ferrari just to show off. Let's go to the ancestral lands next."

"No," Henry shook his head, "Don't you think something is off?"

"Off what?" Gardiner was puzzled.

Henry stared at the ground under his feet. "All they have ever done send out a message. They want us to leave this place. I know. It looks like Alvin League wants to capture me. But to be honest, the manpower they sent out is far from ample."

"You mean..." Gardiner saw Henry's point.

"There must be someone playing tricks on us. Let's go in and have a look!" Henry headed toward the ancestral temple.

"Okay, let's make things clear first. I don't mind going with you. But you'll have to pay for the extra car renting fee!" Gardiner threw away the cigarette butt and followed Henry.

"I'll buy you a new Ferrari. Happy?"

"Don't bother, I'm not that kind of person," Gardiner shook his head with a serious look on his face, "Ferrari is just good for occasional fun driving. According to my age, I need a Rolls-Royce."

"Git."

In a hotel in Antiquity Country.

More than a dozen Section Nine members dragged their exhausted bodies to one of the luxurious hotel rooms.

A person was sitting there. The person wore a white mask without facial features.

Section Nine members all behaved respectfully when they saw the masked person.

"How was it? Did Gardiner go back?" A female voice sounded.

"Your Highness. He went back," said the leader of Section Nine members.

"Haha, it is getting interesting. They are sure to find out the real secret of the mountain. Alvin League, I would have left you people alone if you weren't plotting against Noble Berserkers. If you want to play, let's play it big. The deadlock has been going on for too long. I believe my beloved Henry can make everything clear," The masked person stood up and walked toward the French windows. She took her mask off and looked toward the Mountain of the Gods.  1

Chapter 1316

Henry and Gardiner entered the ancestral temple.

The mountain stopped being a mystery to Henry and Gardiner after they figured out the truth.

While searching in the ancestral temple, they found out the two statues could be turned. After turning both the statues for a full round, the floor they were standing on started descending.

The floor's speed was fast. But there wasn't any noise coming from the descending. Henry and Gardiner could only hear the raining sound, which was created to cover up the unavoidable mechanical sound. That's the reason why people of Alvin League could shift the outlook of the mountain when Henry was asleep.

While Henry and Gardiner were descending, the view in front of them changed.

They saw a huge science and technology base. Inside the base, there were numerous precise scientific instruments. Henry also saw many screens were showing surveillance video feeds. Judging by what showed on the screen, Henry suspected that surveillance cameras were watching every part inside of the mountain.

An ancient shrine was located in the base too. A lifting platform was under the shrine. It could be lifted on the top of the mountain anytime without raising suspicion.

At this moment, there was no one in the base.

"Sh*t, the base is huge. I guess those sons of b*tches have scooped the mountain totally hollow. What metal are they using? It can actually support the weight of what remains of the mountain. Alvin League did spend a lot here," Although this was not Gardiner's first time getting down, he was still shocked to see all these, "How much have they spend? Think about how much meat you can buy with the money."

"Why don't you build yourself a cattle? Get yourself a farm full of cows to eat!" Henry pouted. He kept checking around.

"No one is around. What else do you want to see?" Gardiner lit another cigarette. He took out his cell phone and wanted to take a selfie with the statue near the shrine.

"Do you think that people of Alvin League are rich and stupid? They wouldn't scoop the mountain empty just to play pranks?" Henry rolled his eyes, "I saw many Alvin League's experimental creatures outside. Some of them were not even fully developed yet. I think Alvin League sent those out right after the experiment. I'm sure Alvin League's gene lab is here. It's weird that with what has happened up there, nothing special has been done here. By the way, where is that old freak?"

"I don't know," Gardiner shook his head, "We fought. The old freak was beaten and ran away injured. I didn't go after him since I needed to look after all the kids."

While speaking, Gardiner took a selfie.

"I'll change the time stamp as the day after tomorrow and post it then so I can get myself a couple of days' rest. What a smart and handsome person I am!" Gardiner praised himself.

"A good rest is better than anything else in the world," Henry agreed with Gardiner. He then continued, "You are so lucky. I can only buy a couple of buildings for fun, and I get bored after a few days."

Gardiner's smile disappeared immediately. He tried to push down his anger, but still, he yelled to Henry, "F*ck off!"

Henry and Gardiner checked every corner of the base, and nothing out of ordinary could be found. But the more normal the base seemed, the more unsettled they felt.

Logically speaking, a defense mechanism should be implemented in a base like this. According to Henry's knowledge of Alvin League, they wouldn't abandon such a huge and well-equipped base so easily. If they had to leave this place, they would definitely destroy all the files before the evacuation. But at this moment, everything just looked too normal for the situation.

"Let's go and see what's in here."

There were many doorways to different corridors around the base. Each corridor led to a different location of the mountain. But all the doors were wide open.

Henry and Gardiner got inside one of the corridors. There were rooms along the corridor. Henry and Gardiner could see inside of the rooms through the glass opening on the door. Those rooms were all dorm rooms and storage rooms, and nothing special about them either.

At the other end of the corridor, there was another hall. It was a similar control room like the one Henry and Gardiner first got in. The only difference was that the previous room was for controlling the outlook of the mountain, and this one was for controlling machines under the mountain.

Through numerous surveillance video feeds, Henry saw that Alvin League had been drilling into the earth. They had reached hundreds of meters below the surface.

Henry and Gardiner were staring at one of the screen.

The image showed on the screen made them frown.

Henry said, "Just as I expected, Alvin League set up a base here for stealing Antiquity Country's inheritance. If all the inheritance around the world undergoes great changes, as a country where all the legends started, the inheritance of Antiquity Country would attract the most attention, and it is located under the mountain!"

The ancient customs and methods were usually considered superstition. However, no one could say that they were totally useless. It was very possible that hundreds of years later when the technology was so advanced that human illness could be cured by machine alone. But it didn't mean that taking medicine was an ancient superstition.

Mountain of the Gods wasn't a name given by a contemporary person. The name had existed for thousands of years.

The inheritance of Antiquity Country was located under the mountain.

"What is the inheritance of Antiquity Country?" Gardiner was curious and excited.

Unlike the legends of Yan Xia, all the legends of Antiquity Country were associated with Gods. There was the God of all gods who controlled thunder, the invincible God of Wars, and the Sea God who was the ruler of all water. They all have their reputation in legends around the world, and the inheritance of Antiquity Country was associated with them.

The inheritance of Yan Xia only about the human beings that actually existed.

Henry and Gardiner found many pieces of research in this control room.

After read through the research, Henry said, "Alvin League can't open the door to the inheritance of Antiquity Country because they haven't found the way to break the spelling guarding it. They are still looking for the key."

"Alvin League is ambitious. They even put their hands in the matters of Antiquity Country. What on earth are they up to?" Gardiner frowned.

"Maybe they have told us through the title of their project, creating Gods," Henry took a deep breath. He held up one of the research folders, "Read it for yourself. Alvin League believes that the tombs of the gods are buried underneath, along with the descendants of the gods. They hope to get the DNAs of the gods and study them. I think part of the reason they are excavating the mountain is to find the DNA in the rocks."
